

ARCHIVE COLLECTION

RANDALL LIBRARY

L741,

N77

C35

2005. 1. 2

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2011 with funding from LYRASIS Members and Sloan Foundation

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 1 July 11, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

University Administrators Watching Outcome of Legislative Session

University administrators are monitoring legislative activity not only due to budgetary concerns, but because of interest in legislation affecting future construction on campus.

"The North Carolina House of Representatives is considering several key issues of great importance to UNCW this week," said Mark Lanier, special assistant to the chancellor. "Foremost among them is the budget, which contains system-wide cuts of approximately 2.4 percent. This is the same amount as adopted by the Senate last month." He added that the House budget proposal also contains full funding of the university's enrollment increase, and unlike the Senate version, funding for student financial aid.

Lanier said funds for enrollment growth are critical for an expanding institution like UNCW.

"Without the funding, we would have to serve more students with fewer resources," said Lanier. Financial aid funds are critical in order to protect student access to higher education, especially as tuition increases, he added.

Although some political observers have expressed concern that the legislature might adjourn without a budget, Lanier said House leaders anticipate having a budget on the floor within the next week, after which a conference committee will address differences between the House and Senate versions.

"I expect that a budget will be finalized near the end of July," said Lanier, adding that the governor's office has removed most of the restrictions on state spending implemented before July 1.

In addition to watching the budget battle, Lanier is following the progress of House Bill 1726 or the UNC Nonappropriated Capital Bill. This measure, under consideration by a House subcommittee chaired by Wilmington's Rep. Thomas Wright, would authorize several self-liquidating projects including the University Union expansion as well as renovations to Wagoner and Westside Halls and some residence halls.

Another piece of legislation to watch is the non-binding, public referendum on an education lottery, said Lanier. The measure, approved by the House Rules Committee Tuesday, will appear on the November ballot if passed by both legislative chambers, he said.

"If voters approve the referendum, the General Assembly would have to reconvene in a special session to adopt a lottery," Lanier said, adding that specific use of lottery proceeds could be determined by the legislature or a second public referendum.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, and to fax, send to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor by telephone, call ext. 7223.

Furst Named Chair of Art and Theatre

Effective July 1, Donald Furst assumed the chair of the Department of Art and Theatre. He succeeds Kemille Moore who took over as director of the General College.

Furst

In announcing the appointment, Jo Ann Seiple, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, called Furst "a talented teacher and internationally recognized artist who has received every teaching excellence award bestowed by the college, UNCW and its board of trustees as well as the UNC Board of Governors."

Furst, whose primary teaching areas are printmaking and computer animation, has displayed his work in exhibitions throughout the U.S. and around the world including Poland, Germany, Japan and China. His art is on permanent display at Harvard University's Fogg Art Museum and the Pratt Graphics Center in New York.

A faculty member since 1985, Furst earned a Master of Fine Arts Degree in printmaking from the University of Iowa.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Recreational Swim

With the completion of renovations to the Seahawk Natatorium in Trask Coliseum, campus recreation announces the return of recreational swim hours which are noon to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday.

UNCW Magazine

The spring/summer 2002 issue of UNCW Magazine is on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/alumni/UNCWmagazine/ss02. The printed version, normally mailed to alumni, faculty and staff, was eliminated due to the state budget crisis.

WSO Auditions

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will hold auditions Aug. 20 in Kenan Hall. Prospective members will be asked to play a required repertoire and to sightread. For an audition package, call 791-9262.

The WSO is a 55-member group made up of musicians from the community and UNCW. During the concert season, rehearsals are held every Tuesday evening. Six concerts are scheduled for the upcoming performance season.

NURC and the Monitor

The National Undersea Research Center at UNCW is providing assistance with recovery efforts of the Civil War ironclad USS Monitor. Through July 31, the R/V Cape Fear will support dive efforts to the wreck, located approximately 20 miles offshore from Cape Hatteras.

United Way Volunteers

The Cape Fear Area United Way is seeking volunteers to assist with its annual fall fund-raising drive. Volunteers will be needed 12 to 20 hours per week from August to November; training will be provided. For more information, contact Siobhan Jackman at 798-3911.

Award Nominees Sought

July 15 is the deadline to submit nominees for the Distinguished Faculty Award established by the UNCW Alumni Association Past Chairs' Council.

Nominees must be/or have been a full-time faculty member with a minimum of seven years of service to Wilmington College and/or UNCW. The award may be given posthumously. The recipient will receive a $500 cash award and a medallion.

Nomination forms can be downloaded in PDF format from the alumni association Web site, www.uncwil.edu/alumni. Letters, limited to two pages in length, must indicate how the nominee meets the criteria set forth. Send nominations to Patricia Smith, Wise Alumni House, by fax at ext. 2685 or e-mail smithpc.

Common Reading Program

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center encourages faculty and staff to utilize the Common Reading Program's selection of The Sunflower by Simon Wiesenthal in appropriate classes, seminars and activities. NPR commentator Bruce Feiler will present "Jews, Christians and Muslims: Unity and Discord Among the Children of Abraham" at 7 p.m. Sept. 30 as part of the Leadership Lecture Series and the Common Reading Program. For more information, call ext. 7600.

Opera House Auditions

The Opera House Theatre Company will hold auditions for A Streetcar Named Desire at 7 p.m. July 24 at the Lucile Shuffler Center, 2011 Carolina Beach Road. For more information, call 762-4234.

Blues Festival

The Cape Fear Blues Festival will be held July 25-28 at various venues in Wilmington. For more information on this annual event, sponsored by the Blues Society of the Lower Cape Fear, call 350-8822 or visit the Web site www.capefearblues.com.

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in Leadership Wilmington 2003, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

Sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation Inc., the program educates participants about community challenges and needs and the dynamics of social and economic changes in the region.

Candidates are sought from corporate, educational, professional, nonprofit and government sectors. Selection criteria include leadership potential, community involvement, accomplishments and recommendations. Tuition is $595 and includes expenses for the initial reception, retreat, community sessions, speakers, notebooks and graduation program. An application fee of $15 is also charged.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213 or e-mail corbett@wilmingtonchamber.org.

Women's Basketball Camp

The UNCW Women's Basketball Program will sponsor a summer day camp July 29 through Aug. 1 for students ages eight to 15. For more information, contact Elizabeth Lee at ext. 3418.

Let's Read! UNCW & You

Wilmington resident and writer Tom Morris, retired professor of philosophy at the University of Notre Dame and author of 12 books, will discuss The Art of Achievement: Master the Seven Cs of Success in Business and Life on Let's Read! UNCW & You.

Throughout July, the program will air at 12:30 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 (The Learning Network of the Cape Fear) and Charter Communications Cable Channels 4 and 18 in Carolina Beach and Pender County, respectively.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Submissions for this section are published in order received. Due to the volume of submissions, there can be a two- to three-week delay in publication. Your patience is appreciated.

Ann Pabst, William McLellan and Erin Meagher, biological sciences, received $3,500 in supplemental funding from the National Marine Fisheries Service for the project "Measuring Surface Body Temperatures of Dolphins in the Eastern Tropical Pacific: Is Thermal Stress Associated with Chase and Capture in the ETP-Tuna Purse-Seine Fishery?"

Larry Cahoon, biological sciences, received $33,000 from the Town of Lake Waccamaw for water quality monitoring.

Steven Emslie, biological sciences, received $11,120 from the National Science Foundation to study abandoned penguin colonies and climate changes in Antarctica.

Jim Herstine, HPER, received $4,995 from North Carolina Sea Grant for a case study utilizing signage to protect barrier island dunes and sand ridges.

Liping Gan, physics, received $12,500 from the National Science Foundation for the project "Precision Measurements of Electromagnetic Properties of Light Pseudoscalar Mesons at 12 GeV via the Primakoff Effect."

James Merritt, CMS, received $24,852 from the National Marine Fisheries Service for a Cape Fear River estuary fish assessment and hurricane impact study.

John Tyrell, chemistry, received $18,000 from Process Technology Optimization Inc. to analyze substituted toluenes.

Wade Watanabe, CMS, received $18,839 from North Carolina Sea Grant for the project "Aquaculture of Southern Flounder: Improving Fingerling Production and Development of Growout Technology."

Ami Wilbur, biological sciences, received $31,538 from the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation for the project "Taxonomic Status of the Potentially Endangered Key Silverside (Medidia Onchorus) in Southern Florida with Recommendations for Conservation."

Mike Mallin, CMS and biological sciences, is a member of the editorial board of the Journal of Experimental Marine Biology and Ecology.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: Pro-form Space Saver electric treadmill. Good condition. $175. RCR compact three-disc CD player. Excellent condition. $100. Call Morgan at ext. 3280 or 842-5861.

For sale: German shepherd pups. AKC registered, strong German/Shutdown background. Born May 25. $700. Call Joe at ext. 7455.

For sale: 3BR, three-bath town home in Forest Cove, 1.2 miles from campus. Very private, on premium lot. 1,450+ square feet. Large living room, kitchen with pickled maple cabinets, pantry/laundry room area, large walk-in closets and ceiling fans. Oversized fenced courtyard on side, patio in back, large storage unit outside and two parking spaces. Gas heat. Ten-foot ceilings downstairs, large windows in every room. Lots of extras. For sale by original owners. Available January 2003. $122,000. Call 350-1116.

For sale: 1BR, one-bath condo at the Waterway Lodge, Wrightsville Beach. Overlooks Intracoastal Waterway. Top floor. 500 square feet. Full kitchen. Swimming pool. Live in it or use rental income. $125,000. Call 256-9109.

For sale: 1998 Bayliner Classic Cuddy, 19 foot with 140HP Mercruiser. Still under warranty. Fun boat. $8,000. Call Chris at 798-8013.

For sale: 2001 giant Sedona mountain bike. Like new. All alloy parts, stainless spokes. Kept indoors. $200. 2001 Suzuki GS500 motorcycle. Like new, garage kept. 6,400 miles, lots of extras. $3,800. Call 798-8984.

For sale: 2BR, one-bath beach cottage at Carolina Beach. 1,250 square feet. 50 by 125 lot with large oak trees and landscaped yard. Large deck with spa room. Three blocks from ocean and boardwalk. Near school, grocery store and shops. Reduced to $130,500. Call 458-3158 or 352-5302.

For sale: Scrambler "sit-on-top" ocean kayak. Great condition, fun boat, $250 firm. 7-foot, 3-inch BicSport mini-Malibu surfboard. Great learning or backup board, indestructible. Used about 10 days. $225 firm. Specialized Rockhopper mountain bike, 19-inch frame, rigid fork and tail. Needs new tires and a tune-up. $125. Contact Chris via e-mail at felgelac or call 342-9986 and leave a message.

For sale: 1989 Honda Accord. Four-door model with five-speed transmission, air, cassette. New tires, exhaust system and brakes. Very dependable. $2,395. Call ext. 3453 or 791-7868.

For sale: Two reserved-seat tickets for July 13 Dave Matthews concert in Virginia Beach. $80, paid $100. Call ext. 3453 or 791-7868.

For sale: 1.04kt diamond solitaire ring. 14kt yellow gold, cathedral style shank, $3,500. Two diamond anniversary bands, each contains 12.02 point full-cut round diamonds set in 14kt yellow gold. $250 each. Call Linda at ext. 3540.

For sale: Spacious two-bedroom historic district apartment with large living room, dining room and screened porch; fireplace with gas logs; new appliances including washer/dryer and refrigerator. Central air and heat; private entrance. $975/month. Call ext. 3666 or 762-7915.

For sale: Farmer's dining table, natural-finished top with green legs, six chairs, $100. Call Michelle at 791-6209 or 233-3296.

For lease: 2BR, two-bath town house at Merestone. Two-car garage. Very clean, lots of storage. All kitchen appliances. $850/mo. Would consider purchase option. Call Gloria at ext. 3876 or 395-2121.

Wanted: Roommate to share three-bedroom, two-bath house near Gordon Road. $500/mo. Includes utilities. References requested. Call 790-3490.

For sale: 3BR, two-bath town home in Lions Gate, 139,900. Call Patrice Willetts at 395-4100.

For rent: 4BR, two-bath house near the beach. Great neighborhood, pets OK. $1000/mo. Call 395-8299.

Free to good home: Nine-year old gentle, sweet female black lab. Housebroken, prefers indoors, does not like cats. Call Lori at ext. 4184.

Trustee Meetings

The UNCW Board of Trustees will hold its quarterly committee meetings July 18 at the Executive Development Center at Landfall. The business affairs and external affairs committees will meet at 10 a.m., and the educational planning and programs committee will meet at 1:30 p.m. The full board will meet at 9 a.m. July 19 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite.

Student Recreation Center Appreciation Days

The Department of Campus Recreation is sponsoring its inaugural University Appreciation Days July 17-20 at the Student Recreation Center. Tours of the facility will be offered every half hour between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Recreation center personnel will conduct a question-and-answer session about personal fitness, wellness and body composition testing from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 18 in the lobby.

During appreciation days, faculty and staff can bring up to two guests for the tours. Spouses and/or partners of employees as well as retirees are eligible for membership. For fee information, call ext. 7443.

Voice Mail Fee Increase

Due to the statewide budget crisis, the planned increase for voice mail services scheduled for fiscal year 2002-03 will be delayed until the 2003-04 fiscal year. Effective July 1, 2003, voice mail services will increase $2 per line per month.

Office Relocation

The Office of the Dean of Students is located in the University Union, Rooms 200 and 214. The main telephone extension, 3119, and individual staff members extensions are the same.

Mark Your Calendar

UNCW's annual service awards luncheon will be held from noon to 2 p.m. Aug. 7 in Wagoner Hall.

VAX Maintenance

The UNCW VAXcluster will be down for maintenance from 1 to 5 p.m. July 19. This may affect some e-mail and other services. Direct questions to Mike Sheehan at ext. 3027 or Ellen Gurganious at ext. 4227.

Shipping Services

Faculty and staff can send personal off-campus shipments through UPS at central stores. For more information, call ext. 3180 or 3097.

Retirement Planning

Jennifer Willis, a 401(k) representative with Supplemental Retirement Income Plan of N.C. will be available from noon to 5 p.m. July 17 and 8 a.m. to noon July 18 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an appointment, call ext. 3160 or contact the BB&T plan administrator at 800-722-4015 to order an enrollment packet.

Employee Evaluations

Employees have until July 31 to appeal 2001-02 performance evaluations. All SPA performance evaluations must be finalized by July 15. For more information, contact human resources at ext. 3274.

B-GLAD Training

The Project B-GLAD facilitation team will conduct a training session from 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 14 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive.

B-GLAD stands for Bisexuals, Gays, Lesbians and Allies for Diversity. This training, conducted under the sponsorship of the Office of Campus Diversity and Department of Human Resources, provides information on some of the challenges that gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered persons encounter on campus. To register to attend, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274 or e-mail grimese.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Laketa Alderfer, computing services; Jane Baldwin, pharmacy; Amy McElhinney, biological sciences, and Christopher Stone, disability services.

Shared Leave

Anna Campbell, CMS; Tammy Grissett and Lori Smith, university police; Carrie Hoyle, purchasing; Celeste Jones, auxiliary services; and David McKeown, physical plant, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

To donate leave, submit an application for leave form (HR2.10L), check the "donated leave" space, and include the recipient's name and department. Indicate the number of vacation hours being donated, and sign and date the form. A supervisor's signature is also required.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23004 Police Office I and/or Trainee	July 12
23005 Immunoassay Development Specialist	July 12
23006 Program Assistant V	July 12
23007 Budget Assistant	July 12
23008 Office Assistant IV	July 12
23009 Office Assistant IV	July 12
23010 Housekeeper	July 12

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Recycling Reminders

UNCW's recycling program will collect the following: aluminum soft drink cans; plastic containers marked one or two; clear, green or brown glass; business paper (letterhead, typing, bond colored tablet or notebook paper, business forms and white and green bar computer paper); newspaper; and corrugated cardboard. Direct questions to ext. 3621.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 2 July 18, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in Leadership Wilmington 2003, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

Sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation Inc., the program educates participants about community challenges and needs and the dynamics of social and economic changes in the region.

Beginning with a two-day retreat Sept. 5-6, Leadership Wilmington is divided into 15 community sessions, a consensus meeting and graduation in March. Sessions will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursdays at various locations and will center on topics such as diversity, communications, health care, law enforcement, planning for growth, education and transportation.

Candidates are sought from corporate, educational, professional, nonprofit and government sectors. Selection criteria include leadership potential, community involvement, accomplishments and recommendations. Tuition is $595 and includes expenses for the initial reception, retreat, community sessions, speakers, notebooks and graduation program. An application fee of $15 is also charged.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213 or e-mail corbett@wilmingtonchamber.org.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Cashier's Closure

The cashier's office and students accounts will close at 1 p.m. July 19 due to computer system maintenance. The offices will reopen at 7:45 a.m. July 22.

ARAMARK Director Accepts Promotion

Tom Williamson, director of ARAMARK food services, was promoted to resident district manager in Florida.

"We wish Tom much success in this new endeavor with ARAMARK at the University of South Florida," said Sharon Boyd, associate vice chancellor for business affairs. "The university is grateful for his contributions during his nine-year tenure. He has been a real asset to UNCW, and he will be missed."

Administrative Policies and Procedures Update

The university has adopted the new campus-wide administrative policy "Master Planning for Campus Physical Development," which explains the master plan contents, preparation, review and approval process including the approval of building sites. The over-arching goal of master planning is to maintain a vital balance among competing needs for effective campus physical development and the efficient use and management of available land and other related university resources. During periods of unusual growth in the number of facilities to be managed and/or expansion of the physical space such as UNCW is now experiencing, master planning is particularly important.

Employees are encouraged to read the policy, which is published in the Administrative Policies and Procedures manual on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/sp/admproc/fac100.htm.

Academic Affairs Reorganization

Reorganization within the Division for Academic Affairs resulted in the following changes effective July 1: Paul Hosier, interim provost; and Rebecca Porterfield and Melton McLaurin, associate provosts. Christie Prentice, ext. 3389, is the point of contact for Hosier. For Porterfield, the contact is Tonice Brewer at ext. 3137, and for McLaurin, it is Gloria Willis at ext. 3876.

Insert - Sponsored Programs Grant Writing Workshop

For information, go to www.uncwil.edu/news/communique/osp\_insert.pdf

OFFICIAL NOTICES

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Trustee Featured in Business Journal

A. P. Carlton, a member of the UNCW Board of Trustees, was profiled in the June 28 edition of Business Journal. Carlton, a partner with the Raleigh law firm Kilpatrick Stockton, begins a one-year term as president of the American Bar Association in August. He is only the second North Carolina attorney to hold the post.

Note of Appreciation

Lori Sumpter, Center for Leadership Education and Service, would like to thank university employees who donated leave during her mother's illness.

"Without those donated hours, it would have been impossible to stay with her," said Sumpter. "I know the true meaning of friends and thank you all."

FOCUS ON

FACULTY AND STAFF

---

Julian Keith, psychology, was lead researcher in a study linking cardiopulmonary bypass surgery to impaired memory and attention. The study appears in the July issue of Neuropsychology, published by the American Psychological Association and is available online at www.apa.org/releases/cpb\_surgery.html

Ned Martin, chemistry, presented the poster "Modeling the NMR Shielding Surface over Selected Organic Functional Groups" at the annual meeting of the Canadian Society for Chemists in Vancouver, British Columbia. It was co-authored by former students Kimberly Nance and Justin Brown.

Stephen Skrabal, Robert Keiber and William Cooper, chemistry, received $57,000 in supplemental funding from SERP for the project "Speciation, Fluxes and Cycling of Dissolved Copper and Zinc in Estuaries: The Roles of Sediment-water Exchange, Photochemical Effects and Interactions with Chromium."

UNCW in Surfing Girl

UNCW is featured in the August/September issue of Surfing Girl magazine as one of the Top 10 U.S. colleges at which to surf, skate or snow "while still studying to be the world's top female rocket scientist or something equally amazing."

Directory Update

Gloria Sasser is now in the Department of Accountancy and Business Law. Her office is in Cameron Hall, Room 230, and her extension is 3509.

Barbara Woodbury transferred to advancement research in Alderman Hall, Room 108. Her extension is 2660.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Julia Beer, athletics; Tony Copeland, computing services; and Thomas Freshwater, physical plant.

VAX Maintenance

The UNCW VAXcluster will be down for maintenance from 1 to 5 p.m. July 19. This may affect some e-mail and other services. Direct questions to Mike Sheehan at ext. 3027 or Ellen Gurganious at ext. 4227.

Employee Evaluations

Employees have until July 31 to appeal 2001-02 performance evaluations. Direct questions to human resources at ext. 3274.

Shared Leave

Tammy Grissett and Lori Smith, university police; Barbara Heath, chemistry; Carrie Hoyle, purchasing; Celeste Jones, auxiliary services; David McKeown, physical plant; and Georgie Stephens, admissions, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23011 Office Assistant III	July 19
23012 Fitness Coordinator	Aug. 9
23013 CADD Equipment Design Technician	July 26
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

SUMMER ADS

---

For sale: German Shepard pups. AKC registered, strong German/Shutzhund background. Born May 25. $500. Call Joe at ext. 7455.

For sale: Powered space saver treadmill with incline and heart rate monitor. Walk or run compatible. $450 or best offer. Will deliver. Matching couch with love seat and ottoman, $250 or best offer. Call ext. 4168 or 352-0983.

For sale: 2001 Quintana Roo Kilo triathlon bike. Bull horns and aerobars, two water bottle racks, seat post bag and two spare tubes. Very low miles. $1,400 new, selling for $1,200. Contact Chris at mystoneybaby9@hotmail.com or 228-8067.

For rent: 4BR town home in Carlton Place. Master bedroom downstairs, den with fireplace. Three bedrooms upstairs, full bath, one-car garage. Near UNCW. Call 792-0803.

For rent: 1BR apartment in historic district. Hardwood floors. All appliances. Air conditioning, heat, gas and water included. Pets considered. $575/mo. Call 791-0849.

For rent: 3BR, two-bath home in historic district. Air conditioning. Deck and off-street parking. Washer/dryer and all appliances. Heat, gas and water included. $990/mo. Call 791-0849.

For sale: Thane Fitness Orbitrek. Monitors time, speed, distance and calories. Great condition. $100. Call Lola at ext. 3083.

For sale: Two wedding dresses. Sizes 4 and 16. E-mail Lucy at joneslj@priscillaatglissonp.com.
Free: Composted horse manure for gardeners. Call Claudia at ext. 3821.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 3 July 25, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Leutze to Retire in 2003; Search for Successor to Take Precedence

Chancellor James R. Leutze announced plans to retire effective June 30, or when his successor has been identified and appointed. The July 19 announcement followed the regular meeting of the UNCW Board of Trustees.

In making the announcement, Leutze commented that he looks forward to "leading UNCW for the next year, continuing its great progress. An important part of the current strength of UNCW will be that the university can attract an outstanding pool of candidates," he said.

As the university begins the process to seek his successor, Leutze pointed out the necessity to delay the provost search until a new chancellor is on board.

"Paul (Hosier) has agreed to serve two years as interim provost," Leutze said. "Because of the close working relationship between the two positions, it is important that the next chancellor have input in the selection process."

Leutze, who has led the university since July 15, 1990, has overseen a growth in the student body from 6,978 to its 2001-2002 level of 10,600. Along with growth in quantity, the university has grown in quality of the student body. Predictors for the incoming freshman class for 2002 is an average SAT of 1112 and an average high school GPA of 3.67.

Leutze

In addition, under his leadership, research funds coming to the university have grown from $2 million in 1990 to $15.8 million in 2002. Leutze has also reached out into the region with programs designed to enhance the quality of life in southeastern North Carolina and to improve economic development prospects.

"Jim Leutze has done an outstanding job of serving both the interests of UNC Wilmington as well as the UNC system through his long tenure in North Carolina higher education," said Larry J. Dagenhart, outgoing chair of the UNC Wilmington Board of Trustees.

"The trustees are indebted to him for the vision and leadership he has brought to our campus and the growth and progress that his tenure as chancellor has engendered. It will certainly be a challenge to find a comparable replacement," he said.

UNC President Molly Corbett Broad said of Leutze's decision: "I am genuinely grateful to Chancellor Leutze for his many years of service to the University of North Carolina. Under his watch, the quality and stature of UNCW's academic programs have improved markedly during a time of rapid growth. "Over the past 12 years," added Broad, "he has worked to strengthen ties with the local community, expanded the reach of the UNCW's public service activities and lent his support to regional economic development efforts. UNCW has benefited greatly from his leadership and commitment, and I look forward to working closely with Chancellor Leutze during the remaining months of his tenure."

In coming weeks, a search committee will be appointed by the UNCW Board of Trustees and charged by President Broad. The new chancellor, upon nomination by the president, must be elected by the UNC Board of Governors, the policy-making body of the 16-campus University of North Carolina.

Board of Trustees Elect New Officers

During the July quarterly meetings of the UNCW Board of Trustees, the following officers were elected for the 2002-03 academic year: Franklin Block, chair; Jeff Etheridge Jr., vice chair; and Alfred Carlton Jr., secretary.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Need a Web Page?

Employees and university units that need a basic Web page should contact Laurie Peterson, computer science, at ext. 3906 or e-mail pattersonl. During the fall semester, students enrolled in her CSC 105 courses will create these pages as class projects.

Natatorium Is So Cool

Project design and management installed a temperature control and dehumidification system in the natatorium in Trask Coliseum.

According to Dave Allen, head coach of swimming, "the control we now have over the environment is amazing and makes this facility much more usable than what we had in the past."

Jeff Brown served as project manager.

Aquarius on The Learning Channel; Completes Mission with NASA

Aquarius, the world's only undersea research laboratory that is managed by UNCW/NURC, is included in the documentary Ultimate 10 Engineering Triumphs. This film premieres Aug. 4 on The Learning Channel, which is seen locally on Time Warner Cable Channel 45. Consult local television listings for the program's exact air time.

Aquarius was also home for three NASA astronauts, crew commander Jeff Williams (Lt. Col., U.S. Army), Gregory Errol Chamitoff and John Daniel Olivas, and one space habitability engineer, Jonathan Dory, from the Habitability and Environmental Factors Office at SPACEHAB Inc.

As part of a nine-day mission this month, the team lived underwater using the lab as a space analogue for working and training under environmental conditions that are similar to many of the challenges faced in outer space.

UNCW habitat technicians Byron Croker and Michael Smith assisted with the mission.

Interest Meeting for Bible Discussions

Faculty and staff interested in forming a brown bag luncheon group to discuss theological or biblical topics should meet from noon to 1 p.m. in the University Union, Room 206. For more information, contact Nancy Cooper, United Christian Campus Ministry, at 799-8497.

WSO Auditions

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will hold auditions Aug. 20 in Kenan Hall. Prospective members will be asked to play a required repertoire and to sightread. For an audition package, call 791-9262.

The WSO is a 55-member group made up of musicians from the community and UNCW. During the concert season, rehearsals are held every Tuesday evening. Six concerts are scheduled for the upcoming performance season.

Sept. 11 Commemoration

The Student Government Association is planning a candlelight vigil for the evening of Sept. 11 in commemoration of last year's tragedies. Departments that are planning commemorative events are asked to e-mail Angie Roth, campus activities and involvement, at rothar or call ext. 3827 to coordinate campus efforts to observe the one-year anniversary of the Sept. 11 events.

Common Reading Program

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center encourages faculty and staff to utilize the Common Reading Program's selection of The Sunflower by Simon Wiesenthal in appropriate classes, seminars and activities. NPR commentator Bruce Feiler will present "Jews, Christians and Muslims: Unity and Discord Among the Children of Abraham" at 7 p.m. Sept. 30 as part of the Leadership Lecture Series and the Common Reading Program. For more information, call ext. 7600.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Submissions for this section are published in order received. Due to the volume of submissions, there can be a two- to three-week delay in publication. Your patience is appreciated.

Karen Wetherill, education, received $10,000 in supplemental funding from the UNC Office of the President for UNCW's Coach 2 Coach Teachers on Loan Program.

Ned Martin, chemistry, had the article "Modeling Through-space Magnetic Shielding Over Ethynyl, Cyano and Nitro Groups" in the Journal of Molecular Graphics and Modeling. The paper was co-authored by former graduate student Kimberly Nance.

Philip Furia, creative writing, was interviewed about Irving Berlin for the July 8 U.S. News and World Report article "The Rag Trader."

Steven Errante, music, received $16,683 in supplemental funding from the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra to promote the enjoyment and understanding of symphonic music in the region.

Joan Willey, Robert Kieber and Stephen Skrabal, chemistry, received $153,107 in supplemental funding from the National Science Foundation for the project "RUI: Iron Speciation in Rainwater, the Influence of Organic Complexation, Photochemistry and Redox-Active Trace Constituents."

Martin Posey, Robert Roer, Scott Quackenbush, David Royce, Richard Dillaman, Steven Kinsey and Thomas Shafer, biological sciences, received $198,920 in supplemental funding from the National Science Foundation for the project "Juvenile Blue Crab Use of Low Salinity Areas: Cost and Benefits."

Namings Honor Retired Administrator, Benefactor

Two opportunities to honor a longtime administrator and a university benefactor were officially recognized during the UNCW Board of Trustees meetings July 18 and 19.

Dan and Irmgard Plyler at the June unveiling of Plyler Drive.

Daniel Belk Plyler was acknowledged for his 37 years of service to Wilmington College and UNCW with the renaming of M Street in his honor. The late William E. Sisson was honored with the dedication of the lobby in the Center for Marine Science as the Sisson Hall of Exploration.

Plyler received a replica of the street sign from the trustees at their full board meeting July 19. He retired as a professor, but had the longest tenure as a dean at the university. Between 1970 and 1989, Plyler served three years as chair of biological sciences, two years as assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs, three years as academic dean and 10 years as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

A formal ceremony to dedicate the William E. Sisson Hall of Exploration was held July 18. This 2,750-square-foot space features several interactive exhibits including a model of Aquarius and "A to Z: Oceans and Human Health." The sculptures "Schooling Blue Fish" by Michael Van Hout and "Free Floating" by Dumay Gorham are also on display.

Sisson Hall of Exploration located in the Center for Marine Science.

Sisson, a successful businessman who built an independent oil company that he sold to Sun Oil Company in 1973, lived at Wrightsville Beach. In 1988, he donated a remainder trust to UNCW, which, following his death in 1997, was valued at more than $800,000. Proceeds from this endowment will support marine-related projects. Sisson family members who attended the dedication included wife Alice, son and daughter-in-law Bill and Joy Sisson, daughter Penny Rushmore, and grandsons Ari and Misha Sisson, who assisted in the hall's unveiling.

Leadership Wilmington

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in Leadership Wilmington 2003, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

Sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation Inc., the program educates participants about community challenges and needs and the dynamics of social and economic changes in the region.

Beginning with a two-day retreat Sept. 5-6, Leadership Wilmington is divided into 15 community sessions, a consensus meeting and graduation in March. Sessions will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursdays at various locations and will center on topics such as diversity, communications, health care, law enforcement, planning for growth, education and transportation.

Candidates are sought from corporate, educational, professional, nonprofit and government sectors. Selection criteria include leadership potential, community involvement, accomplishments and recommendations. Tuition is $595 and includes expenses for the initial reception, retreat, community sessions, speakers, notebooks and graduation program. An application fee of $15 is also charged.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213 or e-mail

SUMMER ADS

For sale: AKC German Shepard pups. Two females left. Champion German-Schutzhund bloodlines. Born May 25. $400. Call Joe at ext. 7455.

For rent: Spacious two-bedroom historic district apartment with large living room, dining room and screened porch; fireplace with gas logs; new appliances including washer/dryer and refrigerator. Central air and heat; private entrance. $975/month. Call ext. 3666 or 762-7915.

For sale: Ocean kayak. Good condition. Seat and paddle included. $300. Call 540-5158 and leave a message.

For rent: 2BR, one-bath house in Carolina Place. Completely renovated. Hardwood floors. $1,000 security deposit, $715/month rent. Call Bitsy Shaw at ext. 3769.

For sale: Beautiful three- to four-bedroom home in Lansdowne. 2,400 square feet. Large private, wooded lot. Great neighborhood and school district. Priced to sell. Call Dick at 791-3261 or Jane at ext. 7823.

For sale: 3BR, two-bath home, 3602 Princess Place Drive. Custom-built brick ranch with two-car garage. Covered patio. Grill and picnic tables remain. Fence and security system included. Call 256-0032.

For sale: 2001 Quintana Roo Kilo triathlon bike. Bull horns and aerobars, two water bottle racks, seat post bag and two spare tubes. Very low mileage. $1,400 new, selling for $1,200. Contact Chris at mystoneybaby9@hotmail.com or 228-8067.

For sale: Green Kenmore dryer in excellent condition. $50. Call Helen at 675-0701 or ext. 3613.

For sale: 16-foot Landau Jon boat. 25HP Nissan motor with less than 50 hours of usage. Includes trailer and console. Asking $4,300. Call 686-8692.

Work Assistants

All departments and offices that hire work assistants must list positions with career services. This database provides students with one central place to seek employment on campus. Fax employment positions to ext. 4257 or e-mail Lisa Small at smalll. Direct questions to ext. 3762.

Randall Library Exam and Intercession Schedule

Randall Library will observe the schedule listed below during exams and between sessions.

July 26 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.
July 27 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.
July 28 Closed

From July 29 to Aug. 18, the library will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, closed on weekends. On Aug. 19 and 20, the library will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Summer School Relocation

The Office of Summer School has relocated to the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. It reports to Rebecca Porterfield, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs. Tonice Brewer, ext. 3345, and Patricia Deanes, ext. 7181, are the points of contact for summer school.

Employee Evaluations

Employees have until July 31 to appeal 2001-02 performance evaluations. For more information, contact human resources at ext. 3274.

Mark Your Calendar

UNCW's annual service awards luncheon will be held from noon to 2 p.m. Aug. 7 in Wagoner Hall.

B-GLAD Training

The Project B-GLAD facilitation team will conduct a training session from 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 14 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. To register to attend, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274 or e-mail grimesl.

Capaccio Named Seahawk Club Executive Director

Mike Capaccio, who joined UNCW's athletic department three years ago as director of basketball operations, was named director of athletic development and executive director of the UNC Wilmington Student Aid Association (Seahawk Club).

Peg Bradley-Doppes, athletic director, made the announcement Tuesday following a national search to replace former director Chris Delisio.

"We are extremely pleased with Mike's selection," said Bradley-Doppes. "He has done a wonderful job with the basketball programs and with sports-specific fund-raising. I am confident he will exhibit the energy and enthusiasm that the position requires and lift us to another level."

Capaccio, 44, began his collegiate career as a coach, directing the McHenry County College (Crystal Lake, Ill.) program from 1983 to 1989. As head basketball coach and coordinator of prospective students at Indian Hills Community College in Ottumwa, Iowa, Capaccio directed a highly successful junior college program, which included marketing and promotions for the Warrior Club. On the court, he coached national championship teams in 1997, 1998 and 1999 and was voted National Junior College Coach-of-the-Year in 1999. Seven of his players were drafted or played in the National Basketball Association.

The Chicago, Ill., native came to Wilmington in 1999 in the newly created position of director of basketball operations. He assisted the men's and women's programs in several different areas including academics, community service, travel, alumni relations, special events and fund-raising.

Capaccio's success in the fund-raising area led to his being named director of student athlete operations last fall. In that capacity, he was responsible for soliciting private and corporate donations for all of UNCW's 19 intercollegiate teams.

Capaccio earned his bachelor's degree in secondary education from the University of Mary (S.D.) in 1981 and completed his master's in education at Drake in 1993.

Capaccio

Shared Leave

Cathey Blake, printing services; Tammy Grissett and Lorin Smith, university police; Barbara Heath, chemistry; Carrie Hoyle, purchasing; Celeste Jones, auxiliary services; David McKeown, physical plant; and Georgie Stephens, admissions, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

To donate leave, submit an application for leave form (HR2.10L), check the "donated leave" space, and include the recipient's name and department. Indicate the number of vacation hours being donated, and sign and date the form. A supervisor's signature is also required.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Jeffrey Lesley, university union; and Shannon Miles, financial aid and veterans services.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23012 Fitness Coordinator	Aug. 9
23013 CADD Equipment Design Technician	July 26
23014 Capital Projects Manager	Aug. 2
23015 Irrigation/Spray Specialist	Aug. 2
23016 Marine Specialist	Aug. 2
23017 Field Technician	Aug. 2
23018 Admin. Assist./Secretary	Aug. 2
23019 Office Assistant IV	Aug. 2
23020 Office Assistant III	Aug. 2

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 4 Aug. 1, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW's Aquarius Hosts Student Winners of Essay Contest

Two students from Pennsylvania and South Carolina wrote their way to win a visit to America's "Inner Space Station" Aquarius.

Marissa Chmiola, a 10th grader at Cedar Cliff High School in Harrisburg, Pa., and Andy Steadman, an eighth grader at Laing Middle School in Mt. Pleasant, S.C., wrote prize-winning essays describing why they would want to live aboard Aquarius, an underwater laboratory where researchers and scientists live and work on the seafloor for extended periods of time through the use of saturation diving. Located 60 feet underwater and 3.5 miles offshore in the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary, Aquarius is owned by NOAA and operated by NURC/UNCW.

Chmiola

Steadman

Steadman, who arrived for the trip a certified diver, deemed his visit to Aquarius "the ultimate scuba dive, really cool."

Chmiola, who completed free certification to make the dive, said, "The scuba class was a lot of hard work but fun. I can't believe I've gone from not knowing how to dive to visiting Aquarius in four days."

The students were accompanied by a parent and their sponsoring teachers. Steadman's teacher Robin Sheek said she planned to write about the experience for a marine educator's magazine as well as present a paper at a symposium on how the trip will help her enhance classroom activities.

Chmiola and her teacher Angela Watkins plan to write about their experiences and produce a short video.

"This is an incredible experience that will help me convey the sense of excitement that I have about exploration and teaching," said Watkins.

The contest winners' July visit coincided with a nine-day Aquarius mission conducted in partnership with NASA that utilized the underwater lab as a space equivalent for working and training. Aquarius' environmental conditions are surprisingly similar to many of the challenges faced in outer space, said Steven Miller, director of NURC/UNCW.

"Andy and Marissa were able to meet a unique group of scientists – both astronauts and aquanauts," said Miller. "I think this contest helped create new ambassadors who can speak to the importance of preserving our oceans and their resources."

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Charlotte Executive Named UNCW Trustee

Charlotte executive Krista S. Tillman was named to the UNCW Board of Trustees. Appointed by the UNC Board of Governors, her term expires June 2003.

Tillman is president of BellSouth North Carolina Operations. During her extensive career with the telecommunications company, Tillman has held numerous positions including president of small business services in Atlanta and director of public policy and planning in New Jersey.

After completing a bachelor's degree in mathematics at Georgia State University, Tillman earned a master's degree from the School of Industrial Engineering at Georgia Institute of Technology. She also completed the Executive Business Program at Emory University and the Executive Leaders Program at Boston University.

Tillman, who resides in Charlotte with her husband Paul and son Garrett, is active in the community serving on numerous boards and committees including the North Carolina Business Committee for Education, Charlotte Center City Partners and the North Carolina Blumenthal Performing Arts Center.

Tillman

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Exhibit to Feature Local Artist Patricia Palmer

The University Union Art Exhibit Series, sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, will feature the display "Spiritual Vibrational Awakening and Insight into Self" Aug. 12 through Sept. 30 in the University Union Living Room. The exhibit spotlights the work of local artist and healer Patricia Palmer.

A Meet the Artist reception is scheduled for 5 to 7 p.m. Aug. 22 at the display with a presentation by Palmer starting at 5:30 p.m. These events are free and open to the public. Limited edition prints of the artist's work will be on sale at a 40 percent discount.

"Spiritual Vibrational Awakening and Insight into Self" demonstrates an attempt to draw both from my past and present experiences to offer a type of artistic therapy for each individual mentally, physically and spiritually, said Palmer. Her work is about "empowering people to make a positive difference in themselves, their communities and the world." She added that spirituality, nature, color and humanity are the major sources of inspiration for her paintings.

According to Palmer, the precise combination and placement of colors, patterns, designs and symbols create a form of "vibrational" medicine providing feelings of peace, relaxation, uplift and comfort to the viewer. One does not need to understand it to receive its benefit, or rather experience it, Palmer said.

Known as "Ancient One," Palmer is a spiritual artist, counselor and author. She is also certified in numerous healing alternatives such as Reiki master/teacher, clinical and medical hypnotherapist, lymphologist and spiritual healer. These backgrounds are reflected throughout her art, writing and teaching.

Need a Web Page?

Employees and university units needing a basic Web page should contact Laurie Patterson, computer science, at ext. 3906 or e-mail pattersonl. During the fall semester, students enrolled in her CSC 105 class will create these basic pages.

Aquarius on Learning Channel Aug. 4

Aquarius, the undersea research laboratory that is managed by UNCW/ NURC, is included in the documentary Ultimate 10 Engineering Triumphs. This film premieres Aug. 4 on The Learning Channel, which is seen locally on Time Warner Cable Channel 45. Consult local television listings for the program's exact airtime.

WSO Auditions

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will hold auditions Aug. 20 in Kenan Hall. Prospective members will be asked to play a required repertoire and to sightread. For an audition package, call 791-9262.

CPA Review

Candidates for the November Uniform CPA examination can register to take the Becker Conviser CPA review which will be offered from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, Aug. 19 through Oct. 23, in Cameron Hall. Immediate registration is available, or candidates can wait until they have attended the first three classes for free. For more information on this program, sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Department of Accountancy and Business Law, call 800-443-3045 or contact Richard Roscher at ext. 3507 or visit the Web site www.beckerconviser.com.

Cynthia Ho Tapped to Head Women's Golf Team

Cynthia Ho was named women's golf coach Friday following a national search. She joins the program after 10 successful seasons at Longwood University in Farmville, Va.

"Cindy Ho is an exceptional coach and her vast experience make her a welcomed asset to the Seahawk athletic family," said Peg Bradley-Doppes, athletics director. "Coach Ho's successes have been built upon her ability to provide a positive, nurturing environment for her players. Her commitment to excellence on the course and in the classroom make her an ideal fit for UNCW."

Ho, a 1992 graduate of Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas, led Longwood to a pair of National Golf Coaches Association Division II National Championships titles (1993, 1995) and the 1994 Eastern College Athletic Championship.

"I'm thrilled and honored to be a part of an institution that has such a tremendous reputation both academically and athletically. I look forward to working with the talented players on the team and the challenge of taking them to a high level. I feel this program has unlimited potential given its location and support from the school and community," stated Ho.

Ho

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Mike Mallin, biological sciences and CMS, had the article "Pollutant Removal Efficacy of Three Wet Detention Ponds" published in the Journal of Environmental Quality, vol. 31. His co-authors were Scott Ensign, CMS, Tracey Wheeler, a former biology graduate student, and David Mayes from the City of Wilmington Storm Water Services.

Thom Porter and Steve Harper, management and marketing, had their article "Tactical Implementation: The Devil Is in the Details" accepted for publication in Business Horizons.

Chris Dumas, economics and finance, was featured in the July 3 State Port Pilot article "Good Beach Equals Good Business." The story outlines Dumas' research to develop an economic model to determine the impact of beach renourishment on tourism.

James Merritt, CMS, received the following funding to support the Lower Cape Fear River Program: $1,650 each from Fortron, the Wright Corp. and the towns of Southport and Warsaw; $8,750 from the town of Wrightsville Beach; and $11,000 each from Global Nuclear Fuels, Carolina Power and Light and BASF Corp.

Martin Posey, biological sciences and CMS, is a member of the editorial staff of the journals Marine Ecology Progress Series and Journal of Experimental Marine Biology and Ecology.

Darrell Irwin and Cecil Willis, sociology and criminal justice, presented the paper "Mapping Violence and Drug Arrests: Concentration or Diffusion of the Hot Spot?" at the Modernizing Criminal Justice conference in London, England. Irwin's article "Alternatives to Delinquency in Harlem: A Study of Faith-Based Community Mentoring" was published in The Justice Professional, vol.15.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: 2000 iMac Blueberry with external disk drive, DVD player, upgraded memory, loaded software: Word, Photoshop, Illustrator, etc. $450. Call Mike at 512-1455.

Wanted: Wilmington pied-a-terre for two-to-three nights per week by commuting senior staff member. Small garage apartment would be ideal. No kitchen required. Call Kate at 328-2880 or ext. 4082.

Yard sale: 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Aug. 24 Carleton Place Townhomes. Furnishings, clothes, collectibles, antiques, appliances. A portion of the proceeds benefit Elderhaus and the Bargain Box of Wilmington. For more information, call 793-3422.

Rent to share: Seeking male or female to share three bedroom house near UNCW. Quiet neighborhood. Three miles from campus. No smoking. $320/month includes utilities. Call 352-6024 or e-mail knightron@hotmail.com.

For sale: Women's Rip Curl spring suit. Size eight. Like new, worn only four times. $100. Call Kris at ext. 4262 or 395-5510 after 7 p.m.

For rent: 3BR house in Beau Rivage golf course community. Two full baths, fireplace, two-car garage. Twenty minutes from campus and downtown. Call 395-1011.

For sale: 1996 four-door 4X4 Jeep Cherokee, 66,000 miles, $7,000; 15.7 cu. ft. Kenmore upright freezer, $275; GE Profile washing machine, $100; 27-inch Hitachi color TV, $250; This End Up twin trundle bed with side rails, light pickled finish in excellent condition, $250; Gateway 2000 system, 166 MHz Pentium with CD drive, 17-inch color monitor, Windows 95 and other software, $250. Call Paul or Susan at 798-9434.

For sale: 1,625 square-foot, three-bedroom, two-bath home in Ogden. Nice neighborhood. One-car garage. Fourth room upstairs and lots of storage in the attic. Nice, corner lot. Motivated to sell. Call 686-8692.

For rent: 3BR bungalow in historic neighborhood of downtown Wilmington. Completely renovated with hardwood and tile floors throughout. Central air/heating, washer/dryer, off-street parking and spacious storage shed included. Easy walking distance to the river and downtown attractions. No smokers or dogs. $750/month. Call Steve at 3077.

For sale: Large Jacuzzi. Gray marble tub, seats six. Jets, bubbles and waterfall effects. Full cover. Must see to appreciate. $1,500. Call 686-2580.

For sale: 16-foot Landau Jon boat. 25HP Nissan motor with less than 50 hours usage. Includes trailer and console. Asking $4,300. Call 686-8692.

For rent: Spacious two-bedroom historic district apartment with large living room, dining room and screened porch; fireplace with gas logs; new appliances including washer/dryer and refrigerator. Central air and heat; private entrance. $975/month. Call ext. 3666 or 762-7915.

Celebrate Wilmington!

Exhibit: Birth of the American Modern, Aug. 1, 2 and 4 Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum.

Exhibit: Presidential Golf—The Memorabilia of White House Golfers, Aug. 1-31 Cape Fear Museum.

Play: Dick's Island, 8 p.m. Aug. 2-4 and Aug. 16-18 City Stage, 21 N. Front St. For information, call 342-0272.

Lecture: "First Saturday Seminar" focusing on tourism and the Cape Fear River, 9 a.m. Aug. 3 Environmental Education Center, 617 Surry St. For more information, call 762-5606.

Musical: The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, 8 p.m. Aug. 7-11, 16-18 and 23-25 Thalian Hall. For tickets, call 343-3664.

Exhibit: Double Vision, featuring architectural images of Wilmington, 7:30 p.m. Aug. 7 WHQR Gallery.

Play: Greaser Tuna, 8 p.m. Aug. 9-11, City Stage. For information, call 342-0272.

Free day: Airlie Gardens, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 10. For New Hanover County residents.

Concert: Shipwrecks and Sea Songs with John Golden, 8 p.m. Aug. 10 WHQR Gallery.

Festival: African-American Heritage Festival, Aug. 10-11 Robert Strange Park.

Fund-raiser: A Midsummer Night's Dream II: A Cabaret to Benefit DREAMS of Wilmington, 7 to 10 p.m. Aug. 15 Coastline Convention Center. For information, call 772-1501.

Directory Update

Melton McLaurin, associate vice chancellor of academic affairs, is at ext. 3876. His office is still in Alderman Hall, Room 111.

Test Center Closures

The Computer-based Testing Center will be closed on Aug. 14 and Sept. 10 and 11 for software updates and certification. Direct questions to Dianne Matthews at ext. 7444.

Farewell Reception

The Office of the Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs will host a farewell reception from 2 to 4 p.m. Aug. 5 in the University Union Living Room for Mark Williams, director of financial aid and veterans services. Williams is leaving UNCW after five years of service to attend law school at Campbell University.

Safety Shoe Showroom

For employees who are required to wear safety shoes and who need to purchase them, the safety shoe mobile showroom will be on campus from 8 a.m. to noon Aug. 1 in the physical plant complex. Departmental budgets must support $70 of the purchase price of the shoes; employees are responsible for the remainder. Direct questions to Claude Brown in purchasing at ext. 3155.

Copier Billings

Due to card readers that were off-line for wiring upgrades, July copier billings reflect data collected through July 14. August billings will reflect copies made from July 15 through Aug. 25. The cutoff date for billings remains the 25th of each month. Direct questions to printing services at ext. 3183.

Final Summer Ads

The Aug. 8 issue of the Campus Communique is the final edition that will feature summer ads.

Summer Hours End

The university resumes its regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday schedule Aug. 12.

Work Assistants

All departments and offices that hire work assistants must list positions with career services. This database provides students with one central source to seek employment on campus. Fax employment positions to ext. 4257 or e-mail Lisa Small smallll. Direct questions to Small at ext. 3762.

Library Schedule

Randall Library will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and closed weekends through Aug. 18. Hours on Aug. 19 and 20 will be 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

B-GLAD Training

The Project B-GLAD facilitation team will conduct a training session from 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 14 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive.

B-GLAD stands for Bisexuals, Gays, Lesbians and Allies for Diversity. This training is sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity and Department of Human Resources. To register to attend, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274 or e-mail grimese.

Shared Leave

Cathey Blake, printing services; Tammy Grissett and Loris Smith, university police; Barbara Heath, chemistry; Carrie Hoyle, purchasing; Celeste Jones, auxiliary services; David McKeown, physical plant; and Georgie Stephens, admissions, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Service Awards Luncheon

UNCW's annual service awards luncheon will be held from noon to 2 p.m. Aug. 7 in Wagoner Hall.

Bookstore Discount

Faculty and staff are eligible for a 20 percent discount in the UNCW bookstore. This discount excludes adopted textbooks, special orders, sale books, class and alumni rings, periodicals, discounted merchandise, health and beauty aids and food. To receive the discount, present your university ID at the time of purchase. Discounts also apply to departmental purchases.

The bookstore will participate in the North Carolina Tax Holiday Aug. 2 and 3. Tax exempt items include textbooks, clothing, school supplies and book bags. Each item must be less than $100 to qualify for the exemption.

For more information, contact the bookstore at ext. 3188.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Joseph Drakeford, university police; Edmon Minton, physical plant; and Brenda Riegel, business affairs, support services.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23012 Fitness Coordinator	Aug. 9
23014 Capital Projects Manager	Aug. 2
23015 Irrigation/Spray Specialist	Aug. 2
23016 Marine Specialist	Aug. 2
23017 Field Technician	Aug. 2
23018 Administrative Assistant/Secretary	Aug. 2
23019 Office Assistant IV	Aug. 2
23020 Office Assistant III	Aug. 2
23026 Accountant I	Aug. 9
23027 Office Assistant IV	Aug. 9
23028 Culture Laboratory Technician	Aug. 5

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 5 Aug. 8, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

University Honors Employees' Service

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington held its 27th annual service awards luncheon Wednesday in Wagoner Hall. Employees listed below were recognized for achieving five-year anniversary levels of state service. Retiring employees were also honored.

5 Years of Service

Shane Baptista	Beverly Jolly
Janet Beyma	Queen Jones
Phillip Brown	Patricia Kline
Jason Bunthoff	Evelyn Lagoe
Mary Carver	Sharon Lindgren
Jeanne Cole	Cassandra Little
Todd Curry	Victoria McKay
William Deale	Jeffrey Medlin
David Dickman	Anne Nemmers
Daniel Dunnagan	Daniel Noonan
Sandy Easley	Betty Robinson
Pamela Edens	Shirl Sawyer
Jeffrey Fullwood	Carol Sgambati
Judith Gale	Margie Shields
Gregory Greene	Jeffrey Stanfield
Crystal Greene	Michelle Starks
Whitford Hayden	Randall Turner
Lonnie Hollis	Millie Vickers
Anne-Cameron Hosea	Kevin Violette
Joseph Jernigan	Edith Webb

15 Years of Service

Lee Brinkley	Deborah Gay
Joseph Browning	Betty Gurganus
Jerome Bullock	Anne Howell
Billie Cherry	Daylon Jones
Kathryn Dennis	Linda Macrae
Danny Edens	Patsy Odom
Joseph Ellison	Robert Riley
William Ferencak	Heather Smith
Joseph Fizer	Clifton Spencer
Kay Fryar	Stephen Swart
	Barbara Woodbury

20 Years of Service

Kathy Eckles	Stephen Mastro
Mary Greene	Cleta Mosley
Alnita Hannible	Alice Penland
Sharon Harris	Malou Stokes
Suzanne Helms	Brenda Teague
	Laura Warren

25 Years of Service

Jeffrey Brown	Helen Rice
Nancy Maready	Sandra Rogers
Deborah Price	Linda Wright

Retirees

Anne Kendrick	Patricia Ellis
Melton McLaurin	Rebecca Jones
David Miller	Louis Leiner Jr.
Yousry Sayed	Grace Corbett
Doretha Stone	Shirley Yarbrough
Harry McLamb	William Deale
Catherine Campbell	Arnold Siko
Charles Lewis	Patricia Joseph

10 Years of Service

Dan Aspenleiter	Linda Ferrell
Henry Batts	Ann Greene
Sharon Baucom	Chet Harvey
Mary Browning	Connie Johnson
Samuel Chance	Jutta Lovas
Pamela Christie	Joann McDowell
James Coston	Janet McGee
Michelle Dickens	Steven Perry
Joe Dickey	Manley Pridgen
Benjamin Ellison	Henry Styron
	Harold Thompson

Upgrade to Interrupt Telephone Service for Five Hours

A telecommunications system upgrade will affect the entire UNCW phone system Aug. 9.

The system will be down from 6 to 11 p.m. for a major telecommunications upgrade that will enable the university to consolidate its communications into a network that will support existing circuit-switched and new Internet Protocol (IP) technologies, said Bill Vereen, director of telecommunications in the Information Technology Systems Division. In the event of an emergency, callers can use 790-2343 to reach campus police during the upgrade period. This work will not affect saved voice mails.

The initial benefits of the upgrade will not be apparent to faculty, staff and see Phone Upgrade on Page 3

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Bowling League to Hold Organizational Meeting

The UNCW Mixed Bowling League will begin Sept. 5 and will bowl at 6 p.m. Thursdays at Cardinal Lanes on Shipyard Boulevard. The league will compete for approximately 24 weeks and is open to all UNCW employees, their spouses, adult family members, friends and alumni. Prospective league members should attend an organizational meeting scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Aug. 29 at Cardinal Lanes. For more information, e-mail Lisa Allred at allredl.

Buy a Ticket to Drive

Win a 2002 Ford Ranger pick up truck in the State Employees Association of North Carolina raffle. Tickets are $1 each; proceeds benefit the SEANC scholarship fund. A 25-inch color television will also be awarded. The drawing will be Sept. 7 at the SEANC convention in Greensboro. To purchase tickets, contact Gloria Crowell, CMS; Tommy Guinn, physical plant; or Gloria Sasser, accountancy and business law.

Note of Appreciation

Patricia Smith, executive director of alumni relations, thanks all the faculty and staff who donated books to Wise Alumni House. "The bookcases of this historic house are full with the generous contributions of many from UNCW. They definitely add to the décor," she said.

WSO Auditions

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will hold auditions Aug. 20 in Kenan Hall. Prospective members will be asked to play a required repertoire and to sightread. For an audition package, call 791-9262.

The WSO is a 55-member group made up of musicians from the community and UNCW. During the concert season, rehearsals are held every Tuesday evening. Six concerts are scheduled for the coming performance season.

Jazz Ensembles Auditions

The Department of Music invites interested musicians to audition for one of its jazz ensembles. Auditions will start at 5 p.m. Aug. 22 in Kenan Hall, Room 114, and are open to UNCW students as well as members of the Wilmington community, including talented high school students.

Musicians can schedule an appointment to audition by calling the Department of Music between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, at ext. 3390; at least 24 hours notice is required. Additional times to audition may be available upon request.

Previous jazz experience is helpful but not required. Auditioning musicians will perform a piece of music of their choosing. They must be able to play major scales as well as sightread.

Need a Web Page

Employees and university units needing a basic Web page should contact Laurie Patterson, computer science, at ext. 3906 or e-mail pattersonl. During the fall semester, students enrolled in her CSC 105 class will create these basic pages.

Brown Bag Discussions

United Christian Campus Ministry is sponsoring a biblical/theological brown bag luncheon group for faculty and staff. Meetings will be from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays in the University Union, Room 207. For more information, call Nancy Cooper at 799-8497 or e-mail uccmwil@yahoo.com.

Howell Film Premiere

The documentary Claude Howell: His Life, His Art... His World will premiere at 7 p.m. Aug. 9 in the Cameron Museum of Art Reception Hall.

This 20-minute video combines scenes from the Wilmington area that inspired Howell along with fragments of commentaries he recorded for WHQR during a 20-year period. Howell was founder and first chair of the university's art department.

Copies of the documentary will be on sale in the museum gift shop for $15. Proceeds will support museum outreach efforts.

Heidi Messina, UNCW-TV, Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, served as the documentary's online editor.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Jane Bailey, business affairs, and Annette Coneglio Anderson, public service and continuing studies, were elected to the board of directors of the Thalian Association as treasurer and secretary, respectively. The association, which has supported community theatre since 1788, has five main stage productions and four children's theatre productions a year.

Troy Alphin and Martin Posey, biological sciences, received $6,755 from North Carolina Sea Grant for the project "Evaluation of the Biological Filtration Capacity of the Oyster in Small Tidal Creek Systems."

Robert Buerger, environmental studies, and Jeffrey Hill, James Herstine and Denis Auger, HPER, received $8,000 from the North Carolina National Estuarine Research Reserve for the project "The North Carolina National Estuarine Research Reserve: Understanding Visitors, Resource Impacts and Their Implications."

Lynne Snowden, sociology and criminal justice, had the article "The Impact of the 1996 Benefit Provisions on Migrant Farm Worker Recovery from the Hurricane Floyd Disaster" published in In Defense of the Alien, vol. XXIV.

Kate Walsh, UNCW-TV, presented the workshop "Creative Partnerships for Educational Access" at the 2002 International Alliance for Community Media conference in Houston.

For sale: Craftsman 10-inch radial arm saw, $250. Call ext. 4186 or 799-8616.

For rent: 2BR, two-bath condo in Lauren Place at North Chase. Dishwasher, refrigerator, stove and washer/dryer. $750/month. Deposit required. Call Barbara at 270-3866.

For sale: Computer desk and chair, $225. Day bed with new mattresses and sheets, $270. Colorful bunk bed, $200. Call 791-2842.

For sale: Beautiful three- to four-bedroom home in Lansdowne. 2,400 square feet. Large private, wooded lot. Great neighborhood and school district. Priced to sell. Call Dick at 791-3261 or Jane at ext. 7823.

For sale: 2000 Honda Accord LX. Four-door. White with tan interior. CD player, keyless entry, four-cylinder. Well maintained. Extended warranty. Asking $15,000. Call ext. 7007.

For rent: 3BR, two-bath house. 315 N. Wallace Avenue. Garage, den, living room, dining room. Call 791-1687.

Roommate wanted: Female teaching professional seeking like person to share beautiful waterfront home. $750/month plus utilities. Call 395-0046.

For sale: Women's Rip Curl spring suit. Size eight. Like new, worn only four times. $100. Call Cris at ext. 4262 or 395-5510 after 7 p.m.

Wanted: Responsible person to pick up children, ages four and seven, from two schools in the Pine Valley area; bring them back to family home; prepare snack; assist with homework; and help with bath. Childcare experience preferred. References required. Non smoker. Reliable transportation with back seat required. Call Tammy at 395-1892 after 6 p.m.

For sale: 1964 Boston Whaler, 13-foot standard and trailer. Motor started last time, prop does not turn. Project boat. Value in classic boat and trailer. $1,550 or best offer. Two matching, high quality, Karastan machine-made Oriental rugs. Predominant color is rose. Very clean, good condition. Approximately 8 x 12 and 5 x 8 feet. Both for $900 or will sell separately.

For sale: White, single day bed with mattress, $50. Call Laura at ext. 3083.

Wanted: Wilmington pied-a-terre for two to three nights per week by commuting senior staff member. Small garage apartment would be ideal. No kitchen required. Call Kate at 328-2880 or ext. 4082.

For rent: Spacious two-bedroom historic district apartment with large living room, dining room and screened porch; fireplace with gas logs; new appliances including washer/dryer and refrigerator. Central air and heat; private entrance. $975/month. Call ext. 3666 or 762-7915.

For rent: 3BR bungalow in historic neighborhood of downtown Wilmington. Completely renovated with hardwood and tile floors throughout. Central air/heating, washer/dryer, off-street parking and spacious storage shed included. Easy walking distance to the river and downtown attractions. No smokers or dogs. $750/month. Call Steve at ext. 3077.

This is the final issue to feature Summer Ads. The university returns to its regular operating schedule Aug. 12.

Union Art Exhibit

The exhibit "Spiritual Vibrational Awakening and Insight into Self" will be displayed Aug. 12 through Sept. 30 in the University Union Living Room. The exhibit features works by local artist and healer Patricia Palmer.

A Meet the Artist reception is scheduled for 5 to 7 p.m. Aug. 22 at the display with a presentation by the artist starting at 5:30 p.m. These events are free and open to the public.

Phone Upgrade continued from Page 1

students, but it sets the stage for UNCW to offer new features and capabilities, said Vereen.

"One immediate change is an enhanced 911 system," Vereen said. "As it stands now, a 911 call from campus is relayed to the county's emergency management center, and all they know is that it's from the university. With the upgrade, the center will have the exact location from where the call originated."

In a life-or-death situation where the caller couldn't provide his or her location, this enhancement could be the means to reach the caller in a timely manner, said Vereen.

"In the coming months, we plan to offer caller ID, too," Vereen added. "This is a feature that many of our students have requested."

He said the caller ID function would provide the number for incoming calls only. For employees and students who call off-campus locations, the system will not display campus numbers to caller ID-equipped phones.

The system upgrade will enable ITSD to plan future advancements in IP and communication technology for the university, said Vereen. Routing calls to cell phones when faculty, staff and students are away from their offices or residence halls and adding a software-based application that allows a laptop or computer to have all the features of a desk phone are other potential benefits of the upgraded hardware, he added.

The new system, scheduled for installation Friday, will involve six representatives from Convergion and Avaya Inc. and virtually everyone in telecom, said Wesley Padgett, a customer liaison in the university's telecommunications department. Convergion and Avaya are companies that specialize in providing voice and data networks to businesses and organizations.

The five-hour service interruption period was scheduled to inconvenience the fewest people, said Padgett.

"It's summer. The university's between classes, and there are no summer programs on campus," Padgett said. "The down time will enable us to install, test and troubleshoot the system."

Telecommunications maintains more than 5,200 phone connections. This includes standard phones in offices and residence halls as well as the dial-up connections that monitor fire and burglar alarms and specialized applications like SEALINE and the financial aid call center.

"When everyone comes to work Monday, they should find the system operating as usual," said Padgett. "If someone does experience an unusual telephone problem, they should report it to the operator."

Submit After Hours Building Access

Individuals who authorize student after hours access to academic buildings or computer labs should provide updated lists to UNCW police by Aug. 21.

Access will not be granted without current written authorization from the professor/director who controls the room/lab. This is to insure the safety and security of university members and their property. Lists from previous semesters will be destroyed.

Submit access lists by campus mail or e-mail to police@uncw.edu. Phone calls will not be accepted to authorize student access.

Phone System Down

The entire UNCW phone system will be down from 6 to 11 p.m. Aug. 9 for a system upgrade. In the event of an emergency, callers can reach campus police at 790-2343. Saved voice mails will not be affected.

International Friendship Program Seeks Hosts

Faculty and staff are invited to participate in the International Friendship Program sponsored by the Office of International Programs by hosting an incoming international student. Individuals, couples or families can participate in this cultural learning experience. Approximately 50 students will be attending UNCW from Australia, United Kingdom, Japan, China, Ecuador, Finland, Sweden and other countries.

Students live on-campus, so hosts would offer off-campus experiences. Possible activities might include occasional meals together, assisting with transportation needs, visiting local sights, or simply relaxing and learning from one another about different cultures. For more information contact, Miranda Boykin, international programs, at ext. 7009 or e-mail boykinm@uncw.edu.

Fall Faculty Meeting

Faculty are encouraged to attend the fall faculty meeting scheduled for 4 p.m. Aug. 20 in the Cameron Hall Auditorium.

Office Relocation

The Office of Institutional Research has relocated to Burney Support Center. Telephone numbers for staff members Nanette Manning, Julie Teague, Nancy Hill, Steve Drew and Evelyn Lagoe, remain the same.

Discount Coupons

Discount coupons for admission to Carowinds and King's Dominion theme parks are available in human resources. Four general admission tickets to Carowinds are $79.99; offer valid through Oct. 6. Admission for four to Kings Dominion is $99 through Sept. 2. Call ext. 3160.

Summer Hours End

The university resumes its regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday schedule Aug. 12.

Test Center Closures

The Computer-based Testing Center will be closed on Aug. 14 and Sept. 10 and 11 for software updates and certification. Direct questions to Dianne Matthews at ext. 7444.

Randall Library Schedule

Randall Library will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and closed on weekends through Aug. 18. Hours of operation on Aug. 19 and 20 will be 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Shared Leave

Cathy Blake, printing services; Keri Franklin, auxiliary services; Tammy Grissett, university police; Carrie Hoyle, purchasing; Heather Voiselle, film studies, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

B-GLAD Training

The Project B-GLAD facilitation team will conduct a training session from 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 14 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive.

B-GLAD stands for Bisexuals, Gays, Lesbians and Allies for Diversity. This training is sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity and Department of Human Resources. To register to attend, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274 or e-mail grimesl@uncw.edu.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Susan Albach, career services; and Patrick Carroll and Kimberly Copeland, CMS.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23012 Fitness Coordinator	Aug. 9
23026 Accountant I	Aug. 9
23027 Office Assistant IV	Aug. 9
23028 Career Development Counselor	Aug. 16
23029 Culture Laboratory Technician	Aug. 16
23030 Construction Estimator I	Aug. 16
23031 Budget Assistant	Aug. 9

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Common Reading Program

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center encourages faculty and staff to utilize the Common Reading Program's selection of The Sunflower by Simon Wiesenthal in appropriate classes, seminars and activities. NPR commentator Bruce Feiler will present "Jews, Christians and Muslims: Unity and Discord Among the Children of Abraham" at 7 p.m. Sept. 30 as part of the Leadership Lecture Series and the Common Reading Program. For more information, call ext. 7600.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 6 Aug. 15, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Sandra Harris Receives 2002 UNCW Staff Award of Excellence

Accounting technician Sandra Harris received the 2002 UNCW Staff Award of Excellence presented at the university's 27th annual Service Awards Program in Wagoner Hall Aug. 7.

Frank Block, chair of the UNCW trustees, congratulates Sandra Harris.

Harris, who works in the university's Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, was honored for her public service efforts in the greater Wilmington community. She is a member of the board of directors of New Hanover County Community Action and active in the Community United Effort (CUE). A non-profit organization, CUE promotes awareness of and aids families of missing persons. For the last two years, Harris has been a member of the Harbor Foundation which seeks housing for those in need in the local community.

The Staff Award of Excellence, presented annually, recognizes an employee whose service to the university exemplifies outstanding state service, innovation, public service, human relations or safety/heroism. This year's other nominees were Marybeth Bianchi, alumni publications coordinator in university relations; Phillip Brown, media specialist and editor of the Campus Communique in university relations; Lenwood "Bo" Dean, office assistant for the Honors Scholars Program; Andrea Dorow, assistant dean of students in the Division of Student Affairs; D. Mark Gay, research technician in the Department of Biological Sciences; Tommy Guinn, electrician with the physical plant; Nancy Hill, computer production specialist in institutional research; Marvin Jones, computing consultant in student affairs; Kathy McDaniel, director of community development in public service and continuing studies; and Sandy Rogers, office assistant in the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice.

As this year's recipient, Harris received a $1,500 award presented on behalf of the UNCW Board of Trustees, a reserved parking space for one year, three days of vacation leave, a presentation clock and a framed certificate. In addition, her name will be engraved on a plaque which is on display in Alderman Hall. The recipient of the UNCW Staff Award of Excellence is nominated for the Governor's Award of Excellence.

Mary Gormto, vice chancellor for university advancement, was mistress of ceremonies.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Chancellor James R. Leutze with the nominees for the Staff Award of Excellence (pictured left to right) D. Mark Gay, Sandra Harris, Nancy Hill, Kathy McDaniel, Leutze, Sandy Rogers, Phillip Brown, Marybeth Bianchi, Lenwood "Bo" Dean and Andrea Dorow. Not pictured - Tommy Guinn and Marvin Jones.

Glimpses of America

Playwright and performance artist Anna Deavere Smith will present "Snapshots: Glimpses of America in Change" at 7 p.m. Feb. 5 in Kenan Auditorium. This performance is part of the Leadership Lecture Series sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center.

In "Snapshots: Glimpses of America in Change," Smith combines the power of words and theatrical performance to transform herself into the different voices of the many people she has interviewed during racial conflicts. In addition to theatrical work, Smith has appeared in the films Dave, Philadelphia and The American President. She has a reoccurring guest role on the TV series The West Wing.

Smith

Winner of the prestigious MacArthur Foundation "genius" fellowship, Smith founded the Institute on the Arts and Civic Dialogue based at Harvard University in 1998. She is a tenured professor in the Tisch School of the Arts at New York University with an additional affiliation at the NYU School of Law.

Her performance is co-sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity. Admission to the lecture is free for UNCW students, faculty and staff; $7.50 for all others. For tickets, call the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Hall of Fame Tickets

Tickets for the 2002 UNCW Athletic Hall of Fame induction ceremonies are $10 and are on sale at the Trask Coliseum ticket office. This event, scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Feb. 2 in the Warwick Center Ballroom, will honor four former student-athletes: Garry Cooper, Burak Erdem, Heather Fenton and Lou Howard.

Call for Nominations for UNCW Honorary Degrees

Honorary degrees, which are granted by the faculty and trustees of UNCW, are the highest accolade the university can bestow on an individual who is not currently employed as a member of its faculty or staff. It is given to honor an individual who possesses outstanding qualities and talents, who has made exceptional contributions to the field of his or her endeavor and who exemplifies the highest standards of personal integrity and civic responsibility.

Nominations may be made at any time by any member of the university community. Forms are available at the Office of the Provost or the office of any academic dean or department. A single page supporting the candidate's qualifications should accompany the nomination form.

Additional information on the evaluation and approval process is available in the Faculty Handbook which is accessible on the World Wide Web at http://www.uncwil.edu/fac\_handbook.

Community Service continued from Page 1

Rankings: When it Comes to National Service America's "Best Colleges" Are its Worst," by Joshua Green, and supporting data are on the Web at www.washingtonmonthly.com/features/2001/0201.green.html.

In addition to the work-study paid community service, UNC Wilmington students gave 28,089 service hours in the community during the 2000-2001 academic year.

Make a Difference in a Child's Life

Volunteers are needed to tutor third grade students in New Hanover and Pender counties for the state end-of-grade tests. Tutors can select their school and must commit to three hours of training followed by one hour of tutoring per week for 10 weeks from February through April. For more information, contact Denis Carter at ext. 3540 or e-mail carterd@uncw.edu.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Submissions for this section are published in order received. Due to the volume of submissions, there can be a two- to three-week delay in publication. Your patience is appreciated.

Barry Wray, information systems and operations management, presented "Incorporating Negative Information into Rule Induction: An Analysis of a Kanban-based JIT Production System" at the National Meeting of the Decision Sciences in San Francisco. The paper was co-authored by Rick Mathieu of St. Louis University and Ina Markham of James Madison University.

Mike Mallin, Scott Ensign, Matt McIver and Chris Shank, CMS, biological sciences and chemistry, had the paper "Demographic, Landscape and Meteorological Factors Controlling the Microbial Pollution of Coastal Waters" published in Hydrobiologia, vol. 460. The paper was co-authored by Patricia Fowler of the North Carolina Division of Environmental Health.

Andrew Dutka, Sherman Hayes and Jerry Parnell, Randall Library, had the article "The Surprise Part of a Librarian's Life - Exhibition Design and Preparation Course" published in the College and Research Libraries News Journal, vol. 63, no. 1.

David White, chemistry, had "Can Semi-empirical Quantum Mechanics Be Used to Predict the Spin State of Transition Metal Complexes? An Application of De Novo Prediction" published in the international journal Inorganic Chemistry. The paper, which was co-written by undergraduate student Aaron Gillespie, resulted from a collaboration with co-authors Thomas Cundari, graduate student Corneliu Buda and undergraduate student David Ball from the University of Memphis.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Biological Sciences Seminar

John Bruno from the Department of Marine Sciences at UNC Chapel Hill will present "Landscape-scale Rarity and Metapopulation Dynamics in a Marine Plant Community" at 2 p.m. Jan. 25 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

UNCW Trustee Named Among Legal Elite

Larry Dagenhart, chair of the UNCW Board of Trustees, was listed among the state's legal elites in the January issue of Business North Carolina. Dagenhart, a member of Smith, Helms, Mulliss and Moore of Charlotte, was cited as one of the top attorneys in the business law and corporate counsel categories.

Port City Comedy Jam

Comic Bill Bellamy will perform at 8 p.m. Feb. 2 in Kenan Auditorium for the Port City Comedy Jam sponsored by the Association for Campus Entertainment. Bellamy, a former host of MTV Jams and HBO's Def Comedy Jam, appears in the WB sitcom Men, Women and Dogs. Tickets are $10, $2 for UNCW students and are on sale at the University Union information desk and the Kenan Auditorium box office.

Interracial Dialogues

The YWCA Interracial Dialogue Study Circles will begin five-week meeting schedules in February. Led by two co-facilitators, the circles offer participants a chance for reflection on personal experiences regarding race relations. Groups are limited to a maximum of 15. For more information, contact Amber Milliken at 799-6820.

Mad for Stars

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Mad for Stars - Cinema Icons" through Feb. 28 at its first-floor art wall. Seventy-five Hollywood stars are featured. Included in the display are items from the Minot West Godwin Photograph/Memorabilia Collection, which is housed in the library's Special Collections.

MLK Commemoration

Dramatist Jim Lucas will be the featured performer at UNCW's 2002 Martin Luther King Jr. commemoration scheduled for 7 p.m.

Jan. 24 in Kenan Auditorium. The event, sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity, is free and open to the public.

Advance tickets are required, call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Lucas has received national acclaim for his dramatic recitations and interpretive readings depicting the life and times of King.

Lucas

Women's Soccer Honored

For the second consecutive year, UNCW's women's soccer team was named to the Academic All-America list by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. To be eligible, teams must have a cumulative 3.0 grade point average. UNCW and the College of William and Mary were the only Colonial Athletic Association teams honored.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday - Chicken and dumplings, mushroom shepherd's pie, macaroni and cheese, black-eyed peas, whole kernel corn, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday - Sweet and sour pork over rice, baked cheese ravioli, peas and mushrooms, carrots, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Physics Colloquium

Gurudas Ganguli from the Naval Research Laboratory, Washington D.C., will present "Plasma Dynamics in the Earth's Auroral Region" at 8 p.m. Jan. 31 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212.

Movie Makers Lecture

Jeff Godwin, a special effects and makeup artist, will lecture at 2 p.m. Jan. 25 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Program. Godwin, the author of Simple Makeup Effects, worked on Blue Velvet and The Last of the Mohicans.

NAACP Heritage Ball

The UNCW chapter of the NAACP will hold its annual Heritage Ball at 7 p.m. Feb. 22 in the University Union Hawk's Nest. The event, which includes a dinner and dance, will feature a talk by Benjamin Ruffin on "Stairway to Heaven: Taking It Step by Step."

Ruffin, chair of the UNC Board of Governors, is a lifetime and Golden Heritage member of the NAACP. In his speech, he will explain how small organizations and groups can make a difference in the community.

Tickets are $10 per person for UNCW students, $15 for all others and are on sale at the University Union information desk. Tickets for couples are $25.

Friends of UNCW Funding Available

The Friends of UNCW are accepting grant proposals through Feb. 22 for departmental projects that do not require substantial funding.

Founded in 1963 to assist in the accreditation of Wilmington College, Friends of UNCW support and promote educational, scientific and charitable projects on behalf of the university. For an application, contact Gennie Beatty at ext. 3751.

Personal Hygiene Donations Needed

The UNCW Fellowship of Christian University Students is collecting personal hygiene items for the Domestic Violence Shelter. Donations will be accepted from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Jan. 30 through Feb. 1 at the University Union. Full-sized products are preferred.

Administrative Update

Allocation of Expansion Funds (General Funds)

The expansion budget provides for the expansion of existing programs, new programs and salary and benefit increases. Continuing and one-time budgetary increases to the total departmental base budget must be requested as expansion items.

The university has adopted a new administrative policy (BUD 1.10) explaining the logic and process used in allocating university (general funds) expansion funds. This policy is published in the Administrative Policies and Procedures and on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/sp/admproc/bud110.htm.

New College Students

Faculty and staff interested in attending the video conference "The New College Student: Trends, Values and Priorities" scheduled from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Feb. 7 in the University Union, Room 100, should contact Heather Smith, assistant to the vice chancellor for student affairs, at ext. 3735 or e-mail smith.

Weight Watchers

The Weight Watchers at Work Program will begin its next 15-week session Feb. 6. The group meets from noon to 1 p.m. Wednesdays in the James Hall conference room. For more information, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274.

Writing/Reading Place

The Writing/Reading Place offers peer one-on-one writing consultations to students across the curriculum. Staff members can conduct a 15-minute presentation to classes on services that students can expect. To schedule an appointment, call ext. 7155. To aid students, faculty should send copies of current assignments when recommending students to the Writing/Reading Place.

Testing Program

The National Testing Program, located on the second floor of Westside Hall, provides information and testing for the following: GMAT, GRE, PRAXIS, TOEFL, MAT, LSAT, PCAT, AHPAT, CLEP, MMPI personality test and Myers-Briggs type indicator and certification testing. For more information, contact Dianne Matthews, who is now the program's full-time coordinator, at ext. 3065.

Spring Break in Paris

Jim McNab, international programs, will lead a study group to Paris March 2-9. The approximate cost is $950 and includes accommodations and airfare departing from Raleigh. Interested students should call ext. 3859. The trip is limited to 15 participants.

W-2 Distribution

In accordance with Internal Revenue Service regulations, 2001 W-2 forms will be distributed Jan. 31. Currently enrolled undergraduate students will receive forms at their UNCW post office boxes. Currently enrolled graduate students and permanent employees at their departments. Forms for temporary employees and all others will be mailed to permanent addresses.

Retirement Vendors Visits

David Haden, a representative with VALIC, will be available to discuss retirement programs on the second Wednesday of each month in human resources starting Feb. 13. To schedule an appointment, call at 791-4659.

Tamara Langham, a representative with Lincoln Financial Services, will be in HR Jan. 30 and Feb. 12 and 27. To schedule an appointment, call 1-800-434-5507.

Shared Leave

Patricia Aburahmeh, student affairs, and Tammy Haynes, Randall Library, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Nominees Sought for Teaching Awards

Faculty, staff, students and alumni interested in nominating professors for the Chancellor's Teaching Excellence or Distinguished Teaching Professorship awards should submit a nomination letter by Jan. 25 to the provost's office. Award descriptions and criteria are available at www.uncwil.edu/aa. Click on the link "Nominations for Teaching Awards."

Staff Training

Advanced Connections, 9 to 11 a.m. Feb. 22, March 1 and 8.

Basic HTML, 10 to 11 a.m. Feb. 12.
Creating Web Pages with Front Page I, 10 to 11:30 a.m. Feb. 19 or noon to 1:30 p.m. Feb. 27.

Financial Strategies for Successful Retirement, 6:30 to 9 p.m. Feb. 12, 19, 26 and March 5 or Feb. 14, 21, 28 and March 7.

Supervisory Resources, 9 a.m. to noon Feb. 20.

Timekeeping 101, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26.
Time Management, 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Feb. 15.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
22095 Learning Specialist	Feb. 8
22096 Graphic Designer	Jan. 25
22097 Program Assistant V	Jan. 25
22098 Office Manager	Jan. 25
22099 Office Assistant IV	Jan. 25
22100 Office Assistant III	Jan. 25
22102 Maintenance Mech. IV	Feb. 1
22103 Grounds Worker	Feb. 1
22104 Budget Processing Specialist	Feb. 1
22105 Office Assistant IV	Feb. 1
22106 Processing Assistant III	Feb. 1

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

This is recyclable.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 7 Aug. 22, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Class of 2006 Arrives; New Year Begins

UNC Wilmington began its new academic year Aug. 21 welcoming the Class of 2006.

These freshmen, who total approximately 1,600, have an average SAT of 1129; their mean high school GPA is 3.65. They enter an institution whose surging enrollment, growth of academic reputation and emphasis on community outreach led local leaders to recently select it as the Cape Fear region's top institution.

"The Wilmington Star-News surveyed 357 community leaders earlier this year to determine the effectiveness of area organizations," said Mimi Cunningham, assistant vice chancellor for university relations. "Results, published last month, placed UNCW at the top of the list among institutions such as New Hanover Regional Medical Center, Cape Fear Community College, WECT-TV, General Electric and the New Hanover County Board of Commissioners."

In the same survey, UNCW's chancellor, James R. Leutze, was named the region's top civic leader.

Returning students, faculty and staff will notice a flurry of construction underway including work on a 62,500-square-foot residence hall that, when completed, will house 263 students and an 82,000-square-foot facility to house the Watson School of Education.

"The university's major performance venue, Sarah Graham Kenan Auditorium, is undergoing the first stage of renovations that will improve handicap access to the facility. The lobby is getting a fresh coat of paint and we're replacing the stage's grand drape," added Cunningham. She said that the auditorium's 35-year-old chairs are gone, and new seating installation is underway. Updates on campus construction projects are posted on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ba/projmap/projmap.htm. Site maintenance is through the Office of Facilities in the Division for Business Affairs.

Students can also take advantage of new academic offerings at the university. UNCW's first doctoral program, leading to a Ph.D. in marine biology, accepted its inaugural enrollees. The university also added a post-baccalaureate certificate in environmental studies, Bachelor of Science in Statistics, Bachelor of Arts in Public Administration and International Affairs, and minors in choral music and economics for non-business majors.

Across the schools and colleges, UNCW added 28 new faculty members. In addition, a number of administrative changes took effect July 1: Paul Hosier was appointed interim provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs; Robert Roer, professor of biological sciences, was named interim dean of the Graduate School and Research; Kemille Moore, chair of the Department of Art and

see New Year Begins on Page 3

Teachers Recognized at Faculty Meeting

A trio of educators received Distinguished Teaching Professorships at the university's annual fall faculty meeting Aug. 20.

Timothy Ballard, associate professor of biological sciences; Joanne Rockness, professor of accountancy and business law; and Bradford Walker, associate professor of curricular studies were honored for "outstanding contributions" to UNCW's instructional program. The award comes with a Distinguished Teaching medallion and a three-year

see Teaching Awards on Page 3

Ballard, Rockness and Walker

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Study Abroad Planning Seminar at Warren Wilson

Warren Wilson College will host the seminar "Foreign Study: The Best Teaching You Will Ever Do" Sept. 20 and 21. Seminar topics include "Recruiting Students: Getting Your Voice Heard Over the Din," "The Many Facets of On-campus Orientation," "The Many Labors of an On-Site Director," "Liability Issues for Directors and Institutions" and "Preparing Students for Re-entry Shock." All presentations are free and open to the public.

The 27-member South Atlantic States Association of Asian and African Studies, of which UNCW is a participant, is sponsoring this event.

For more information, contact Paula Kamenish, English, at ext. 3617 or e-mail kamenishp.

Thirsty Tome

Randall Library will host Thirsty Tome, a coffeehouse-style reading, at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 22 on the library's first floor. Students and faculty, including Clyde Edgerton, Philip Gerard, Wendy Brenner and Sarah Messer, will read from original works. Refreshments will be served.

UNCW-TV to Broadcast Wilmington at Ground Zero

UNCW-TV will air Wilmington at Ground Zero at noon Sept. 11 on The Learning Network of the Lower Cape Fear which is seen on Time Warner Cable Channel 5. Additional showings will be held at 4 and 9 p.m.

The program, filmed at the city's Number 9 Fire Station at Landfall, features remembrances of last year's terrorist attacks by local citizens. Hosted by Betty Ann Sanders, the program will feature interviews with Greg Fix, a fire fighter who was at ground zero searching for his friend and colleague Brian McAleese, and Camille Yorkey, a pastor and author, who ministered to the needy at ground zero.

Jackson

Jackson Named Assistant Baseball Coach

Scott Jackson, skipper of the Wilmington Sharks, was named an assistant coach for UNCW's baseball program.

"We're excited to have Scott join our staff," said Mark Scafl, head coach. "He brings another level of enthusiasm and knowledge to the program."

Jackson led the Sharks, a summer college team, to the second-best record in its league. An assistant at Campbell University in 2001, Jackson will work with the Seahawks in several capacities including pitcher training and game day preparation.

A 1998 graduate of Campbell, Jackson was a three-time All-Academic honoree for the Camels. Prior to UNCW, he served as an assistant at Wofford and Barton colleges.

Involvement Carnival

Student organizations as well as area agencies, businesses and churches totaling more than 100 groups will participate in the annual Involvement Carnival scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Aug. 28 on the Campus Commons. For more information, call ext. 7722.

Ed Lab Tutoring

Does your child need help with reading, writing or math? The Ed Lab is accepting children in kindergarten through sixth grade for tutoring in reading and math.

UNCW students work one-on-one with children for 60 minutes once or twice a week on the university campus. Tutoring sessions start Sept. 9 and continue through Nov. 21. For fee information, call ext. 3633.

Ford Truck Top Prize in SEANC Scholarship Raffle

Win a 2002 Ford Ranger pick up truck in the State Employees Association of North Carolina raffle. Tickets are $1 each; proceeds benefit the SEANC scholarship fund. A 25-inch color television will also be awarded. The drawing is Sept. 7. To purchase tickets, contact Gloria Crowell, CMS; Tommy Guinn, physical plant; or Gloria Sasser, accountancy and business law.

Aug. 29 Reception to Honor Student Artists

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center will host a reception to honor the student artists whose work has been displayed in the Warwick Center Lobby since May. The reception will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Aug. 29 at the exhibit.

Brown Bag Discussions

United Christian Campus Ministry is sponsoring a biblical/theological brown bag luncheon group for faculty and staff. Meetings will be from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays in the University Union, Room 207. For more information, call Nancy Cooper at 799-8497 or e-mail uccmwil@yahoo.com.

Bowling League Meeting

The UNCW Mixed Bowling League will begin Sept. 5 and will bowl at 6 p.m. Thursdays at Cardinal Lanes on Shipyard Boulevard. The league is open to all UNCW employees, their spouses, adult family members, friends and alumni. Prospective league members should attend an organizational meeting scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Aug. 29 at Cardinal Lanes. For more information, e-mail Lisa Allred at allredl.

Shannon Eileen's "For Kera" is part of the student art exhibit.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

From the Provost: New Year, New Challenges

by Paul Hosier

Hosier

Welcome to the 2002-03 academic year at UNC Wilmington! Summer is gone and we now turn our attention to an academic term that holds the promise of both challenges and opportunities for us all.

Freshman Move-in, sponsored by the Division of Student Affairs, was a huge success, and a large number of our 1,600 new students were settled into residence halls in just a few hours - thanks to literally hundreds of volunteers from across the campus and the greater Wilmington community. Freshmen, as well as our returning upperclassmen, are eager to explore the university and all it has to offer to them. One of the hallmarks of UNCW is the student-centered focus of our faculty and staff, and I am certain that this value will be fully expressed across the campus again this year.

New academic programs, including the B.S. in Statistics, M.A. Ed. in Elementary Education (joint UNCW/ECU Onslow County program) and the post-baccalaureate certificate in environmental studies, begin this semester. We are especially proud of the Ph.D. program in marine biology and its inaugural enrollment of three students. We in academic affairs, working in concert with the Information Technology Systems Division, look forward to providing additional resources this year to assist faculty in use of the technologies in place.

UNCW's budget situation continues to be very serious, and I would be remiss in not conveying to you that reductions now being considered by House and Senate conference committees will greatly impact our ability to deliver all the classes, programs and other activities offered in previous years. The $200 campus-based tuition increase will provide modest increases in academic base budgets, fund additional financial aid to hold harmless students receiving aid, increase student development services personnel and supply salary increases for faculty members in need of structural adjustments. In this difficult year, we will rely more heavily on the Division of University Advancement to seek alternative revenues to support our mission; the division is currently working on strategies to increase private funding for the university including chaired professorships and merit scholarships for our best and brightest students.

Construction utilizing bond monies and other revenue streams continues unabated, and you can see and hear signs of this activity throughout the campus. Under the capable leadership of the Division of Business Affairs, the programming, design and construction of academic buildings, an addition to the student union, residence halls, and parking lots will continue to take place this year. This activity may be somewhat disruptive at times, but the "end products" will enhance the university's ability to deliver a high-quality education in a safe and inviting environment.

I very much look forward to working with each of you this academic year. In this resources-limited year, our educational mission will be challenged. This is a time when the perseverance and resourcefulness of our faculty and staff will be tested. We have overcome adverse conditions in the past at UNCW; I have no doubt that we will do the same this year. My best wishes for a rewarding academic year!

New Year Begins continued from Page 1

Theatre, assumed the directorship of the General College; Todd Berliner, professor of English, became head of the Film Studies Program; Donald Furst, professor of art, was named chair of the Department of Art and Theatre; and Karen Wetherill was named associate dean for organizational development and outreach in the Watson School of Education.

Teaching Awards continued from Page 1

$5,000 stipend. Walker also received the UNCW Board of Trustees Teaching Excellence Award. Presented on behalf of the trustees, the award recognized his significant contributions to higher education and service to students. This honor comes with a one-time stipend of $1,500 and a medallion.

The Award for Faculty Scholarship was presented to William Cooper, professor of chemistry. This annual award, which can be given to up to three faculty members, honors significant contributions to the university and the academic community through research, scholarship and creativity. Full-time faculty members are nominated for this recognition by their peers; recipients receive a $1,500 award and plaque.

Seven other award-winning teachers were also recognized. Robert Blundo, social work; Deborah Brunson, communication studies; Michael Messina, chemistry; Charles Earney, accountancy and business law; and Hengameh Kermani, curricular studies, were honored as recipients of the Chancellor's Teaching Excellence Award; Janet Ellerby from the English Department was recognized as the recipient of the Graduate Mentor Award; and Stephen McNamee, sociology and criminal justice, was honored as UNCW's winner of the Board of Governors' Award for Excellence in Teaching. These recipients were announced in the spring.

Cooper

Messina, Blundo, Bullock and Kermani

FEATURES

Global Serve to Begin Planning for Annual Spring Mission

UNCW's Global Serve, a program in the Center for Leadership Education and Service (CLES), will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. Aug. 26 in the University Union Living Room to begin planning for its major mission.

Each spring, this student organization completes a service mission trip alternating between the United States and a foreign location. This past spring, a group of 13 students, faculty and staff worked with Habitat for Humanity on a project in South Dakota.

Although Global Serve is a student-run organization, coordinators said they would welcome an increase in participation from employees.

"Faculty and staff could suggest possible sites for next year's major mission," said senior Raven Davis, a Global Serve coordinator. "They could also give us input based upon places they have visited or share information or readings in support of causes about which they are passionate."

Deb Bowen, a lecturer in social work, Ann Greene from printing services and CLES director Shelly Hoover participated in the South Dakota mission to build a home on Rosebud Indian Reservation.

"The trip was such an enlightening experience," said Bowen. "Not only did I learn about Native American customs, but about UNCW students."

Greene agreed saying the trip provided the chance for students to see "we're not just collecting tuition or teaching classes."

She added the experience also leveled the playing field.

"It doesn't matter whether you're a tenured professor or a freshman. There were a dozen people who had to work together as a team to accomplish our mission," said Greene. "Instead of talking diversity, we lived diversity. We shared our strengths and experiences with students and others."

According to Davis, the group installed sheet rock and cement board siding on a house for Tim Soldier and his two daughters during the team's one-week stay in Mission, S.D.

"We were befriended by several individuals in the community who taught us about the area and culture," said Davis. One day was reserved to see area historical sites such as Mount Rushmore and the Crazy Horse Memorial.

In addition to the annual spring trip, Global Serve attempts to complete one service project locally each month. Davis said, employees could participate in the monthly projects and assist with fund-raising efforts for the spring mission.

Above: UNCW employee Ann Greene (second from right) helped Global Serve build a house in South Dakota this spring. Last year, she accompanied the group to Mexico. Trip participants had the opportunity see historical landmarks such as Mount Rushmore (below).

"Faculty and/or staff participants would get to know the other group members through the meetings and local projects. Team building is one of the most important elements of our time together, and fund-raising is always crucial to the mission," said Davis.

For more information on Global Serve, call ext. 3877.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new faculty members:

College of Arts and Sciences

Anne Berkeley and Tommy Macon, art and theatre; Frederick Scharf and Gregory Chandler, biological sciences; Robert Hancock and Cecilia Keiber, chemistry; Jennifer Chin, communication studies; Eric Patterson, computer science; Clyde Edgerton, creative writing; Eric Henry, earth sciences; Donna McGiboney, Miguel Jimenez and Pascale Barthe, foreign languages and literatures; Candace Ashton-Shaeffer and James Brown, health and human sciences; Glen Harris, history; David Rells and Susan Simmons, mathematics and statistics; Dianna Walsh, philosophy and religion; Bryan Myers and Richard Ogle, psychology; and Arthur Frankel, social work

Cameron School of Business

William Harmon, accountancy and business law; and Martha Andrews, management and marketing;

School of Nursing

Jeanne Kempainen

Watson School of Education

Dennis Kubasko, Jeff Ertzberger and Aimee Greene, specialty studies

Minority Student Reception

The annual fall reception for minority students will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Aug. 23 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café. In addition to refreshments, there will be door prizes and special presentations by minority student organizations.

Outlook Migration

The Information Technology Systems Division finalized the migration of Outlook/Exchange for the campus' administrative areas. Remaining academic areas will begin conversion Sept. 9; faculty/staff migration should be finished by Nov. 18. The migration schedule is on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/dcs/exchange/deployII\_schedule.htm. Direct questions to Chet Harvey via e-mail at harveye.

Yoga Classes Resume

Christian Barnes will conduct free yoga classes suitable for beginners and advanced practitioners from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Sept. 4. Classes will be held in the training room of the Student Recreation Center. Classes are open to all faculty and staff. For more information, call ext. 3274.

Personal Check Cashing

Students and employees may cash personal checks for amounts up to $25 at the cashier's office in James Hall. A valid UNCW identification card is required.

VAX Cluster Closure

The VAX Cluster will be down for maintenance from 9 a.m. Aug. 31 through 5 p.m. Sept. 1. This will primarily affect SIS, FRS, HRS and ADS as well as e-mail services that have not migrated to Microsoft Outlook Exchange. Direct questions to Mike Sheehan at ext. 3047 or Ellen Gurganious at ext. 4227.

Recycle Toner Cartridges

Don't throw away those empty ink jet toner cartridges. Recycle them through central stores. Either place them next to recycle bins for pick up or call ext. 3180.

IRB Forms Due Sept. 2

The UNCW Institutional Review Board will meet in September to assess protocols for research that involves human subjects. Any student, faculty or staff member who plans to conduct research using human subjects during the fall semester must submit one copy of completed IRB forms to Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion, by Sept. 2. Researchers will be notified if electronic submission is required or additional copies needed. All continuing research projects must be re-approved annually. IRB review and approval forms as well as renewal forms are available from the Office of Sponsored Programs or its Web site www.uncwil.edu/ora.

Recycling Reminder

Place phone books, magazines, catalogs and student handbooks next to recycle bins for collection.

Sam's Club Membership

Faculty, staff and students are eligible to purchase two memberships to Sam's Club for $35. This offer includes coupons for free film developing, free vision screening and other services.

Enrollment applications/renewals will be accepted from 5 to 8 p.m. Aug. 22 and 23 and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Aug. 24 at the store, which is located on South College Road. To enroll, bring your university ID to the UNCW hospitality table. Cash or checks will be accepted. For more information, call ext. 3274.

Call for Nominations for UNCW Honorary Degrees

Honorary degrees, which are granted by the faculty and trustees of UNCW, are the highest accolade the university can bestow on an individual who is not currently employed as a member of its faculty or staff. It is given to honor an individual who possesses outstanding qualities and talents, who has made exceptional contributions to the field of his or her endeavor and who exemplifies the highest standards of personal integrity and civic responsibility.

Nominations may be made at any time by any member of the university community. Forms are available at the Office of the Provost or the office of any academic dean or department. A single page supporting the candidate's qualifications should accompany the nomination form.

Additional information on the evaluation and approval process is available in the Faculty Handbook which is accessible on the World Wide Web at www.uncwil.edu/fac\_handbook.

Weight Watchers

The Weight Watchers at Work Program will begin a new 15-week session Sept. 4. The group meets at noon Wednesdays in the James Hall conference room.

Shared Leave

Cathery Blake, printing services; Keri Franklin, auxiliary services; Tammy Grissett, university police; Carrie Hoyle, purchasing; Terri Joynes, advancement; and Heather Voiselle, film studies, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in HR.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Angelia Edwards, specialty studies; and Jeffrey Linney, university police.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23032 Athletic Fields Tech.	Aug. 23
23033 Irrigation/Spray Spec.	Aug. 23
23034 Office Assistant IV	Aug. 23
23035 Office Assistant IV (30 hours weekly)	Aug. 23
23036 Comp. Sup. Tech. I	Aug. 30
23037 Coord. of Greek Affairs and Transition Programs	Aug. 30
23038 Graduate Financial Aid Counselor	Aug. 30
23039 Certified Lab. Operator	Aug. 30
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 8 Aug. 29, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Peruvian Missionary to Lecture on Creating a Healthier World

Peruvian missionary Alex Busuttil will talk about "Creating a Healthier World Through Mission and Education" at 7 p.m. Sept. 11 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Originally from Malta, Busuttil is an ordained priest serving in Arequipa, Peru. In addition to his parish duties, Busuttil organizes and administers childcare centers; works with a medical clinic; cares for the elderly, indigent and handicapped; and assists efforts to enhance the lives of the citizens of mountain villages near Arequipa by working on irrigation projects and the construction of roads into remote areas.

Prior to his work in Peru, Busuttil served as a missionary priest in Pakistan where he organized and administered a drug detoxification center. He also coordinated projects dealing with women's and minority rights issues and, with Mother Teresa of Calcutta, India, worked in a prison ministry that handled the exchange of Pakistani and Indian prisoners.

Busuttil's talk, which is sponsored by the UNCW School of Nursing and the New Hanover Health Network, holds an important message for students and the Cape Fear region, said Virginia Adams, dean of the nursing school.

"Father Alex's mission to improve health care complements the School of Nursing," said Adams. "His current mission is for the Peruvian people. The School of Nursing has started to provide primary care for the citizens of south-eastern North Carolina. Our outreach efforts are aimed at providing health care and education in rural communities such as Navassa and Bolton. We're dedicated to preparing our graduates to practice in health care settings from a local to an international level."

Father Alex Busuttil, center, serves as a missionary priest in Peru.

New Thoughts on Athletes and Supplements Outlined in Perko's Taking One for the Team

With the school year underway, young athletes are training for upcoming sporting seasons. Many may be impressed by the abilities of professional athletes who use performance-enhancing nutritional or dietary supplements. But it's the everyday people in their lives who influence their decision to risk injury or death by taking what is essentially an unregulated drug, said Mike Perko, author of the forthcoming work Taking One for the Team: The New Thinking on Young Athletes and Dietary Supplements.

"The most important people in a young athletes' immediate universe – coach, athletic trainer, parents and physician – must work as a team to educate him or her about the potential dangers of nutritional and dietary supplements. Once young people make the decision to purchase and use the latest, greatest performance-enhancer, it's too late," said Perko, an associate professor of health education in the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Perko is a leading national authority on the knowledge, attitudes and behaviors of young athletes toward dietary/nutritional supplements. After almost 15 years of research, he is convinced that educational intervention is necessary to counter the prevailing attitude that supplements are a safe, effective method to improve athletic

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

See Taking One for the Team on Page 3

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

State of the University

The Student Government Association will host the State of the University address at 6 p.m. Sept. 3 in the University Union, Room 100. Chancellor James R. Leutze will discuss issues affecting the university, and SGA President Neil Watson will outline the association's goals for the academic year.

Chestnut Street Church Sponsoring UNCW Day

The congregation of Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church is sponsoring a UNCW Day community welcome at 11 a.m. Sept. 8. The UNCW Voices of Praise Gospel Choir will perform followed by a catered lunch in the church's fellowship hall, located at 714 Chestnut Street. Transportation will be available for UNCW students. For more information, contact the Upperman African-American Cultural Center at ext. 7087.

UNCW Alumni Chapters Host NFL Adventure

The UNCW Alumni Association along with its Triangle and Charlotte chapters is sponsoring the Carolina Panthers NFL Adventure Oct. 27. This excursion, which costs $65 per person, includes a round-trip Amtrak ticket from Raleigh to Charlotte, a game pass to see the Panthers take on the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and admittance to the pre-game tailgate party. For more information or to make a reservation, contact the UNCW Alumni Relations Office at ext. 2682.

Carnival Rescheduled

The annual Involvement Carnival, originally set for Aug. 28, will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sept. 4 on the Campus Commons. Student organizations as well as area agencies, businesses and churches totaling more than 100 groups are expected to participate. For more information, call ext. 7722.

Let's Read! UNCW & You

Wilmington author Wilbur Jones is the featured guest on Let's Read! UNCW & You, hosted by Betty Ann Sanders. Jones, a retired naval officer, is the author of A Sentimental Journey: Memoirs of a Wartime Boomtown. This UNCW-TV production will air at 7 p.m. Thursdays and 7:30 p.m. Fridays during September on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Channel 18 in New Hanover County.

Brown Bag Fridays

Black faculty, staff and students are invited to the first "Brown Bag Friday" gathering scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 6 in the University Union, Room 105. This weekly event is sponsored by the Black Campus Connection, an organization of UNCW black faculty, staff and students committed to improving the campus climate. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch. For more information, contact Linda MacRae, director of diversity recruitment, at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrael.

Wilmington at Ground Zero

UNCW-TV will air the program Wilmington at Ground Zero at noon Sept. 11 on The Learning Network of the Lower Cape Fear which is seen on Time Warner Cable Channel 5. Re-broadcasts will air at 4 and 9 p.m.

The show, filmed at the city's Number 9 Fire Station at Landfall, features remembrances of last year's terrorist attacks by local citizens. Hosted by Betty Ann Sanders, the program will feature interviews with Greg Fix, a fire fighter who was at ground zero searching for his friend and colleague Brian McAleese, and Camille Yorke, a pastor and author, who ministered to the needy at ground zero.

Art Exhibit

The exhibit "Spiritual Vibrational Awakening and Insight into Self" is on display through Sept. 30 in the University Union Living Room.

Ed Lab Tutoring

Does your child need help with reading, writing or math? The Ed Lab is accepting children in kindergarten through sixth grade for tutoring in reading and math.

UNCW students work one-on-one with children for 60 minutes once or twice a week on the university campus. Tutoring sessions start Sept. 9 and continue through Nov. 21. For more information, call ext. 3633.

Brown Bag Discussions

United Christian Campus Ministry is sponsoring a biblical/theological brown bag luncheon group for faculty and staff. Meetings will be from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays in the University Union, Room 207. For more information, call Nancy Cooper at 799-8497 or e-mail uccmwil@yahoo.com.

Bowling League Meeting

The UNCW Mixed Bowling League will begin Sept. 5 and will bowl at 6 p.m. Thursdays at Cardinal Lanes on Shipyard Boulevard. The league is open to all UNCW employees, their spouses, adult family members, friends and alumni. Prospective league members should attend an organizational meeting scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Aug. 29 at Cardinal Lanes. For more information, e-mail Lisa Allred at allredl.

SEANC Raffle Tickets

Win a 2002 Ford Ranger pick up truck in the State Employees Association of North Carolina raffle. Tickets are $1 each; proceeds benefit the SEANC scholarship fund. A 25-inch color television will also be awarded. The drawing is Sept. 7 at the SEANC convention in Greensboro. To purchase tickets, contact Gloria Crowell, CMS; Tommy Guinn, physical plant; or Gloria Sasser, accountancy and business law.

Correction

The Aug. 22 Campus Communique article "Class of 2006 Arrives; New Year Begins" contained inaccurate information and omissions. Refer to the text below for clarification.

UNCW's approximately 1,644 incoming freshmen have an average SAT of 1107; the overall number of freshmen offered admittance to the university had an average SAT of 1129.

Starting this fall, UNCW added minors in public administration and international affairs, not bachelor's degrees as reported. The article failed to mention that UNCW, in partnership with East Carolina University, is offering a master's degree in elementary education in Onslow County.

The administrative appointments listed below were omitted.

John Marts was named associate dean of the Cameron School of Business. William Harmon assumed the chair of the Department of Accountancy and Business Law. Ron Sizemore was named associate director for education planning at the Center for Marine Science. John Myers took over as associate director of the Honors Scholars Program. Ken Spackman was named faculty associate to the chancellor. Jeff Hill, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, received a part-time appointment to the Division for Academic Affairs, where he will assist with facilities planning.

Also, please welcome the following new faculty: Christofer Ackerman, music; Robert Siegel, creative writing; and Kathryn Batten, Peter Fritzler, Greg Gulas and Beth Kaylor, Randall Library.

Recycling Reminder

Phone books, magazines, catalogs and student handbooks should be placed next to recycle bins for collection.

Discount Coupons

Discount coupons for admission to Carowinds and King's Dominion theme parks are available in human resources. Four general admission tickets to Carowinds are $79.99; offer valid through Oct. 6. Admission for four to Kings Dominion is $99 through Sept. 2. Call ext. 3160.

Taking One for the Team continued from Page 1

performance. Taking One for the Team is an overview and history of dietary supplements that provides information for coaches, parents, athletic trainers and anyone else concerned with youth sports. Kendall/Hunt Publishing plans to release the book Aug. 30.

"There are two misconceptions regarding supplements: that they are 'tested and safe' by some federal agency and they must work or no one would buy them, neither of which is true. As it stands now, it takes serious injury or death before there is an outcry to research a supplement's reaction in the body," said Perko.

The ingredients used in supplements are exempt from pre-market safety evaluations by the Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act, passed by Congress in 1994.

Neither the Food and Drug Administration nor any other agency tests nutritional/dietary supplements before they hit the marketplace, said Perko. According to an editorial published in a 1998 edition of the New England Journal of Medicine, the 1994 legislation has allowed the dietary supplement industry to flood the market with products whose ingredients "may contain the substances listed on the label in the amounts claimed, but they need not, and there is no one to prevent their sale if they don't."

But by educating young athletes and the people who influence them, we can prevent them from risking death or injury by taking some untested, unproven product, Perko said.

"For instance, a young football player may not want to take a weight gain

VAX Cluster Closure

The VAX Cluster will be down for maintenance from 9 a.m. Aug. 31 though 5 p.m. Sept. 1. This will primarily affect SIS, FRS, HRS and ADS as well as e-mail services that have not migrated to Microsoft Outlook Exchange. The ITSD technology assistance center at ext. 4357 will provide recorded messages regarding VAX status during this time.

product but thinks that his coach would be happy if he gained 10 pounds. Even though the player's attitude toward the supplement is negative, his desire to win his coach's approval outweighs that negative, and he takes the product," said Perko. "However, if the coach knew this player valued his approval, the coach could have focused team discussions on the importance of good nutrition, proper strength training and riskful eating to gain weight versus risking injury by taking a supplement."

To help coaches and others understand young athletes' decision-making process, Perko developed the Survey to Predict Adolescent Athlete Dietary Supplement Use. This one-of-a-kind survey, discussed in Taking One for the Team, has been administered to more than 6,000 boys and girls in a variety of sports including football, baseball, basketball, volleyball, wrestling and track and field. It is an accurate indicator of athletes' attitudes about supplements and who or what is most likely to influence kids to begin using them.

With more than 3,000 dietary supplements on the market and sales of more than $12 billion, these products will continue to come and go, and advertisers will pitch them as a safe way to get bigger, stronger or quicker with little effort on the athletes' part, Perko said. Countering society's misconceptions associated with dietary/nutritional supplements will require an educational campaign similar to the kind that resulted in the realization that smoking is hazardous to one's health, he said.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Submissions for this section are published in order received. Due to the volume of submissions, there can be a two- to three-week delay in publication. Your patience is appreciated.

Milan Dluhy, political science, won Best Paper Award for 2001 from The American Review of Public Administration for the article "Choosing the Rowers: Are Private Managers of Public Housing More Successful than Public Managers?" Co-authors of the paper were Fred Becker from the School of Policy and Management at Florida International University and John Topinka, budget director for Miami Dade Housing Authority. The award, which included a cash prize of $500 and a plaque, was presented at the public administration section of the annual American Political Science Association meeting in Boston.

Nora Noël, psychology, received $6,000 from the State of North Carolina to fund a one-year graduate fellowship.

Maurice Martinez, specialty studies, presented the paper "Reforms in Education in the United States" at Shaanxi University and at Northwest University in Xi'an, China.

Lavonne Adams, creative writing, had the poem "Topsail Island, Four Days Before Easter" published in the current issue of The Yalobusha Review at the University of Mississippi.

Carolyn Farley, University Union, had the article "Can the Union's Business Development Activities Be Student Development Opportunities?" published in the Association of College Unions International's Union Wire, vol. 35.

Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences and CMS, spent July as a visiting professor at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology where he co-taught a short course in marine natural products chemistry and chemical ecology with Ted Molinski from the University of California, Davis, and Denise Manker from Agraquest Inc.

Alina Szmant, biological sciences and CMS, received $12,500 from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to serve as an expert consultant on predicting dates of coral mass spawning.

Joanne Halls, earth sciences, presented the paper "An Online GIS for the Oculina Banks Marine Protected Area" at the 22nd annual Earth Sciences Research International user conference in San Diego. Graduate student Brent Manning was the co-author.

Ann Freeman, chancellor's office, participated in the two-week study/travel seminar "Across the Great Divide: Social Conflict and Cultural Change in Mexico" in Cuernavaca. The seminar, sponsored by international programs, focused on the social, economic, political and cultural issues facing the Mexican people. It featured discussions from individuals who are involved in bringing about sustainable development and social change in that country.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Study Abroad Planning Seminar at Warren Wilson

Warren Wilson College in Asheville will host the seminar "Foreign Study: The Best Teaching You Will Ever Do" Sept. 20 and 21. Topics include "Recruiting Students; Getting Your Voice Heard Over the Din," "The Many Facets of On-campus Orientation," "The Many Labors of an On-Site Director," "Liability Issues for Directors and Institutions" and "Preparing Students for Re-entry Shock." All presentations are free and open to the public.

The 27-member South Atlantic States Association of Asian and African Studies, of which UNCW is a participant, is sponsoring this event.

For more information, contact Paula Kamenish, English, at ext. 3617 or e-mail kamenishp.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Sept. 3 – Cranberry glazed pork loin, mushroom shepherd's pie, oven-roasted potatoes, peas with pearl onions, steamed vegetables and assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Sept. 6 – Fried chicken, baked cheese ravioli, mashed potatoes and gravy, whole kernel corn, lima beans and assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Sept. 10 – Sweet-and-sour chicken, vegetable lo mein, steamed white rice, carrots, green beans and assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

The cost is $5.50 for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets.

Recycle Toner Cartridges

Don't throw away those empty ink jet toner cartridges. Recycle them through central stores. Either place them next to recycle bins for pick up or call ext. 3180.

Shared Leave

Patricia Austin, landscape services, needs shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

To donate leave, submit an application for leave form (HR2.10L), check the "donated leave" space, and include the recipient's name and department. Indicate the number of vacation hours being donated, and sign and date the form. A supervisor's signature is also required.

Test Center Closures

The Computer-based Testing Center will be closed Sept. 10 and 11 for software updates and certification. Direct questions to Dianne Matthews at ext. 7444.

OFFICIAL NOTICES

Library Labor Day Hours

Randall Library will observe the following schedule during the Labor Day holiday:

Aug. 31	1 to 5 p.m.
Sept. 1	Closed
Sept. 2	3 p.m. to midnight

National Payroll Week

National Payroll Week, which honors America's wage earners and the professionals who pay them, is Sept. 2-6.

Debbie Price, payroll manager, reminds employees that she and her staff are "always glad to answer any payroll-related questions, and employees are welcome to stop by and say hi."

Payroll is located in the white house between Warwick Center and Hoggard Hall.

Weight Watchers

The Weight Watchers at Work Program will begin a new 15-week session Sept. 4. The group meets at noon Wednesdays in the James Hall conference room.

Outlook Migration

The Information Technology Systems Division finalized Outlook/Exchange migration for the campus' administrative areas. Remaining academic areas will begin conversion Sept. 9; faculty/staff migration should be finished by Nov. 18. The schedule is on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/dcs/exchange/deployII\_schedule.htm. Direct questions to Chet Harvey via e-mail at harvey.c.

Yoga Classes Resume

Christian Barnes will teach yoga classes suitable for beginners and advanced practitioners from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Sept. 4. These free classes, open to all faculty and staff, will be held in the Student Recreation Center training room. For more information, call 3274.

Fesperman Named Food Services Director at UNCW

Veteran ARAMARK employee John "JP" Fesperman was named UNCW's director of food services effective Aug. 1.

"UNCW and ARAMARK searched for a candidate who would be able to provide high-quality service, innovative ideas and a measure of stability to the university.

Fesperman

These are vital qualities as campus dining will face considerable challenges due to upcoming renovations and expansions," said Tim Jordan, vice chancellor for business affairs. "In his two years as assistant food services director, Fesperman has demonstrated all these qualities as well as the ability to forge strong relationships with the various groups that utilize campus dining."

Fesperman's appointment involved input from representatives from other campus divisions.

"What a great opportunity it is to have JP take over this critical role," said Patsy Larrick, special events director for university advancement. "His experience at UNCW should prove beneficial for the university and ARAMARK."

As provider for campus dining services, ARAMARK administers student meal plans and operates retail food outlets, catering and concessions. Prior to UNCW, Fesperman worked as an ARAMARK supervisor for Wake County Schools food services and director of Ravenscroft and Peace College food services. A graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Fesperman succeeds Tom Williamson who was promoted to resident district manager in Florida.

Personal Check Cashing

Students and employees may cash personal checks for amounts up to $25 at the cashier's office in James Hall. A valid UNCW identification card is required.

IRB Forms Due Sept. 2

The UNCW Institutional Review Board will meet in September to assess protocols for research that involves human subjects. Any student, faculty or staff member who plans to conduct research using human subjects during the fall semester must submit one copy of completed IRB forms to Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion, by Sept. 2. Researchers will be notified if electronic submission is required or additional copies needed. All continuing research projects must be re-approved annually. IRB review and approval forms as well as renewal forms are available from the Office of Sponsored Programs or its Web site www.uncwil.edu/ora.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Cheryl Cox and Sandra Ellington, accounting; and Robert Lomax, biological sciences.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23036 Computing Support Technician I	Aug. 30
23037 Coordinator of Greek Affairs/Transition Programs	Aug. 30
23038 Graduate Financial Aid Counselor	Aug. 30
23039 Certified Laboratory Operator	Aug. 30
23041 Departmental Procurement Specialist	Sept. 9
23042 Plumber Supervisor	Sept. 9

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 9 Sept. 5, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Sept. 11 Commemoration to Include 'Rolling Requiem' and Vigil

Participation in a worldwide concert and a candlelight vigil are among the events scheduled for UNCW's commemoration of last year's Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

Faculty have the option to suspend classes from 8:30 to 9:15 a.m. to allow students to attend the "Rolling Requiem" on the Campus Commons. The requiem, a worldwide concert to honor those who lost their lives as well as those who helped in the aftermath of the attacks, features Mozart's classical work.

The requiem starts at 8:46 a.m., the time of the first attack on the World Trade Center in New York. Choirs from around the world will join a 24-hour performance across every time zone. Local participants include the UNCW Concert Choir, UNCW Chamber Orchestra and members of the St. James Church Choir as well as soloists Nancy King, soprano; Monica Sillero, alto; Melvin Ezzell, tenor; David Williams, baritone; and Joe Hickman, conductor.

"Sept. 11 is a day to remember and to create unity," said Neil Watson, president of the Student Government Association. Watson, along with Chancellor James R. Leutze, will speak at a candlelight vigil set for 9 p.m. on the Campus Commons. The UNCW Gospel Choir will perform and various UNCW students will read original works related to the Sept. 11 attacks.

During the day, UNCW-TV will broadcast its production Wilmington at Ground Zero at noon, 4 and 9 p.m. on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Cable Channel 18.

The program, filmed at Wilmington's Number 9 Fire Station, features remembrances of last year's attacks by local citizens. Betty Ann Sanders hosts the program which features interviews with Greg Fix, a firefighter who, at "ground zero," searched for his friend and colleague Brian McAleese; and Camille Yorkey, a pastor and author, who ministered at the World Trade Center site.

The panel discussion "Reflections on Sept. 11" will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 12 in the University Union, Hawk's Nest. Panelists Lynne Snowden, associate professor of sociology and criminal justice; Timothy Black, associate professor of physics and physical oceanography; David Weber, assistant professor of communication studies; Robert Toplin, professor of history; Daniel Berkow, psychologist for student development services; and Neil Watson, SGA president, will discuss why the Sept. 11 attacks occurred and other topics related to these events.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

UNCW Mourns Death of Owen Kenan

Owen G. Kenan, business leader, philanthropist and trustee at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, died Sept. 2. A graveside service is scheduled for 11 a.m. Sept. 6 at the Graham-Kenan plot in Oakdale Cemetery. He was 58.

"Owen Kenan was a wonderful, strong, loyal trustee," said Chancellor James R. Leutze. "He loved UNCW, and we loved him in return. His death is a tremendous loss for us but an even greater loss for his family. Our hearts go out to them."

Kenan, a graduate of UNC Chapel Hill, was president of the Chapel Hill-based Kenan Enterprises and vice chair of the board of directors of Flagler Systems Inc., a family-owned business that operates real estate properties in Palm Beach, Fla. He also attended UNCW in 1967.

The Kenan family has a long history of supporting education at campuses across the state. In lieu of flowers, the family requests contributions be made to the Owen Graham Kenan Scholarship Fund at UNCW.

Kenan

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Film Major Meeting

The Film Studies Program will host a meeting of current and prospective film studies majors from 2 to 3 p.m. Sept. 13 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

Equipment Available

The Division for Academic Affairs has the following equipment available to transfer to departments or offices:

- Brother 3500ML and MFC 4350 facsimile machines
  - Dell Optiplex GX1 computer with monitor, keyboard and mouse
  - NEC Powermate V2133 computer
  - Beige office chair
- For more information, contact Tonice Brewer at ext. 3137.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Daniel Baden, CMS, will present "Molecular Receptors for Florida Red Tide Toxins in Fish, Manatees and Terrestrial Mammals" at 2 p.m. Sept. 6 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Film Series Needs Discussion Leaders

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking faculty and staff members to lead discussions on the leadership aspects of movies shown monthly as part of its Leadership Film Discussion Series. To participate in the series, contact Traci Bethea at ext. 3877.

Health Careers Fair

A career fair for students interested in pursuing graduate study in health care is scheduled for noon to 3 p.m. Sept. 18 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Admissions representatives from graduate/professional programs in areas such as physical therapy, nursing, speech pathology and public health will be present. For more information on this event, sponsored by the Pre-health Professions Club, career services and student affairs, call ext. 3770.

Women Mentors Sought

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking female faculty and staff members to mentor female students for its Women in Leadership Mentoring Program. Participants would engage in planned activities with students throughout the academic year. For more information, contact Abby Riley at ext. 3877.

Children's Story Adventures

The Seahawk Perch and Randall Library will sponsor a weekly Children's Story Adventure starting Sept. 11. Designed for children ages three to 10, the adventures will be offered from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the library's children's literature section. Volunteers will read age-appropriate literature to children while their parents have uninterrupted time for study or research. For more information, call ext. 7371 or e-mail seaperchstu.

Senior Leader Program

The Senior Leadership Program, sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service, is seeking participants. This nine-week program, modeled after Leadership Wilmington, deals with a variety of societal issues to help seniors prepare for life after graduation. Community leaders will cover topics such as tourism, politics, business, law enforcement, public education and the arts. Enrollment is limited to 25 seniors. For an application or more information, contact Karla Pollard at ext. 3877.

Church Hosts UNCW Day

The congregation of Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church is sponsoring a UNCW Day community welcome at 11 a.m. Sept. 8. The UNCW Voices of Praise Gospel Choir will perform followed by a catered lunch in the church's fellowship hall, located at 714 Chestnut Street. Transportation will be available for UNCW students. For more information, contact the Upperman African-American Cultural Center at ext. 7087.

Tai Chi Classes Offered

Tai chi classes, sponsored by wellness services, will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays in the Student Recreation Center training room. The cost is $25 per month for students, $30 for employees. Tai chi, a form of martial arts, is used in the United States for exercise and meditation as well as stress reduction. For more information, call Brooke Sumner at ext. 7007.

HINTS Sessions Start

The first session of the new discussion series Helpful Insights for Non-traditional Students (HINTS) will be at 3:30 p.m. Sept. 10 in the University Union, Room 105. Counselor Etta Breit will lead a talk on "Maintaining Balance and Well-being as a Non-traditional Student." HINTS sessions will be held the second Tuesday of each month. For more information, call ext. 7371.

Drug Prohibition Lecture

David Bewley-Taylor from the Department of American Studies at the University of Swansea, Wales, will present "The American Crusade: The Internationalization of Drug Prohibition" at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 12 in Morton Hall, Room 100. The Office of International Programs and the Sociology and Criminal Justice and Psychology Departments are sponsoring this event.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Sept. 6 – Fried chicken, baked cheese ravioli, mashed potatoes and gravy, whole kernel corn, lima beans and assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Sept. 10 – Sweet-and-sour chicken, vegetable lo mein, steamed white rice, carrots, green beans and assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

The cost is $5.50 for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets.

From the Division for Business Affairs: Campus Construction News

by Tim Jordan, vice chancellor

As a new semester begins, I want to welcome back to campus those who are returning from summer breaks as well as new students, faculty and staff. This is an especially exciting time at UNCW. As I am sure you've noticed, there is a great deal of activity on campus related to capital improvement projects – and this is only the beginning!

Construction is underway on the 82,000-square-foot school of education; the 62,500-square-foot, 263-bed residence hall; and a parking lot at the intersection of Price Drive and Riegel Road.

Soon, we will begin work on a new electric substation to better provide for the power needs of our growing campus. This is a great and much-needed infrastructure improvement that will result in noticeable changes. Installing trunk lines will mean digging trenches, cutting roads and sidewalks and rerouting traffic. All of this will undoubtedly inconvenience each of us at one time or another, and we are asking for your patience.

In planning for system-wide construction, the UNC administration has urged a balance between necessary growth and a commitment to conservation. UNCW is taking a leadership role in conservation. We have already set aside a larger percentage of our campus for conservation and preservation than others in the UNC system. Approximately 20 percent of the 850 acres owned by the university is set aside in preserves or protected wetlands including the Herbert Bluthenthal Wildflower Preserve and the Ev-Henwood and Broadfoot nature preserves as well as other smaller areas on campus. All long-range plans for campus landscaping include preservation and continued planting of longleaf pines and greater use of native species and natural plantings for environmental, historical and aesthetic reasons. During the fall, we will preserve a number of existing trees by relocating them to areas not affected by future construction.

At the same time, our conservation efforts must be balanced by the university's need to fulfill its mission, to serve current and future students and to meet the needs of the community at large. Regardless of our individual perspectives on growth and conservation, we must not forget that the university's primary mission is to provide exceptional educational opportunities for students. Our enrollment grew 47 percent in the last decade, which resulted in critical shortages in lab, academic and student activity areas. Students and faculty are squeezed to the point that they are unable to fully realize their academic potential. We are experiencing a very real need to decompress, to give people more space and resources so they can teach, learn, research and create more effectively.

We will, of course, continue to use the space we have as wisely as possible. The Office of Facilities aggressively works to maintain existing buildings in a manner that maximizes the use of our available facilities. A 1999 report on UNC system facilities conducted by Eva Klein states, "UNC Wilmington is a significantly more efficient user of existing campus space than most other UNC institutions." This has been critical because UNCW has the least academic square footage per student in the UNC system. With less than half as much academic space per student as many other North Carolina universities, we have been doing more with less for a long time. But now, in order to provide the best education we can to our students and the best academic environment for our faculty, additional facilities are imperative.

Noted author and conservationist Aldo Leopold once said, "Conservation is a state of harmony between men and land." He went on to say, "We shall never achieve harmony with land, any more than we shall achieve absolute justice or liberty for people. In these aspirations, the important thing is not to achieve, but to strive." Please be assured that we welcome your suggestions and appreciate your cooperation as we strive to define that delicate harmony between growth and conservation. And remember, the long-range benefits of our construction projects – more lab space for research and study, additional and better-designed classrooms, updated computer and telecommunications systems and increased on-campus living space – will more than outweigh any temporary inconveniences we experience.

Brown Bag Fridays

Black faculty, staff and students are invited to the first "Brown Bag Friday" gathering scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 6 in the University Union, Room 105. For more information, contact Linda MacRae, director of diversity recruitment, at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrae.l.

Missionary to Lecture

Peruvian missionary Alex Busuttil will talk about "Creating a Healthier World Through Mission and Education" at 7 p.m. Sept. 11 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Tennis Lessons Offered

Free tennis lessons for beginning and advanced players will be offered during a five-week period. Classes for beginners will be held from 5:30 to 7 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m., Tuesdays, Sept. 10 through Oct. 15. Lessons for advanced players will be taught at the same times, Thursdays, Sept. 12 through Oct. 17. All classes will be at the gazebo tennis courts. Members of the UNCW Riptide Tennis club will teach lessons and equipment will be provided. For more information, contact campus recreation at ext. 7758.

FEATURES

Porterfield Named Inaugural Recipient of Alumni Association Award

An extraordinary leader who brings out the best in her students, Rebecca Porterfield was named the inaugural recipient of the J. Marshall Crews Distinguished Faculty Award.

Porterfield

This new award, created by the Past Chair's Council of the UNCW Alumni Association, was announced at last month's fall faculty meeting. Porterfield, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs and Cameron School of Business professor, was unable to accept the award in person. She was in Virginia as part of an accreditation team for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and learned of the honor two nights later after arriving back in town in time to teach her MBA course.

"I was both surprised and shocked. It's quite an honor to be recognized by the alumni. I can't think of any higher compliment that a teacher can receive than to be singled out for recognition by former students," Porterfield said.

"The award is one way for alumni to show our appreciation," said Judge Rebecca Blackmore '75, council chair. Members of the Past Chairs' Council realized how much they had benefited from their UNCW education, and the guidance from the faculty had a positive impact on the majority of their lives, she added.

Porterfield's nominator noted her impact on students and lauded her "unflagging encouragement to student after student. Becky seems to believe in the best of everyone, and perhaps because of that, students respond with excellent performance. . . Semester after semester one or more graduating student has named her as a professor having the most influence on their lives."

Although Porterfield was the inaugural recipient of the award, the honor bears the name of fellow nominee J. Marshall Crews.

"When the committee received Dr. Crews' nomination for the award, we concluded that he was too important to the history of the university to honor with a one-time award," said Blackmore.

Crews, who joined Wilmington College in 1948, served the college and university for more than 30 years in several academic and administrative roles. In addition to teaching mathematics,

Members of the UNCW Alumni Association Past Chairs' Council congratulate their award namesake J. Marshall Crews and his wife Margaret.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Philip Gerard, creative writing, had his seventh book Secret Soliders - The Story of World War II's Heroic Army of Deception, published by Dutton, a division of Penguin Putnam. The book tells the true-life tale of artists and technicians recruited by the Army to fool the Germans from D-Day until the Battle of the Rhine. Gerard discussed the book last month on C-SPAN II in an appearance that was videotaped at Politics and Prose bookstore in Washington, D.C. In addition to numerous other television and radio appearances around the country, Gerard conducted a book signing at Pearl Harbor Naval Base, Hawaii.

Robert Konopaske, management and marketing, had the research study "Entry Mode Strategy and Performance: The Role of FDI Staffing" accepted for publication in the September issue of the Journal of Business Research. His co-authors were Steve Werner, University of Houston, and Kent Neupert, Boise State University.

David Webster, biological sciences, received $5,000 in supplemental funding from the U.S. Department of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service for the project "Effects of Beach Renourishment and Tilling on Nesting and Nest Success in the Loggerhead Sea Turtle (Caretta caretta)."

Robert Toplin, history, was quoted in the article "Is Greed Ever Good?" published on the ABCNews.com Web site (abcnews.go.com/sections/business/DailyNews/greed020822.html).

Maurice Stanley, philosophy and religion, presented the paper "The Ideal of Personal Worth" at the T. H. Green Conference, Oxford University.

Crews served as an academic dean, registrar and admissions director prior to his official retirement in 1981.

"I'm deeply honored and appreciative to have this award named in my honor," said Crews. "One of the benefits of teaching is to help people and to make a difference in their lives. I always believed in being friendly with students for one day they will be your friends."

Nominees for the J. Marshall Crews Distinguished Faculty Award must be or have been a full-time faculty member at the university for a minimum of seven years. Nominations are accepted from university faculty, staff or students as well as alumni and members of the community. In addition to a medallion, the winner receives a $500 cash stipend.

Black Faculty Meeting

The UNCW Black Faculty Association will hold its first meeting of the 2002-03 academic year from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 19 in the University Union, Room 210. The association meets monthly during the academic year to discuss issues unique to black faculty, staff and students. Forward agenda items to Joanne Nottingham, campus diversity, by Sept. 17.

IACUC Proposals

The UNCW Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee will meet at 3 p.m. Sept. 12 to review protocols involving vertebrate animals. Faculty, staff or students who intend to conduct research or teach classes that involve animals during the fall semester must submit protocols for new or continuing projects to the Office of Sponsored Programs by Sept. 10. The form is available in MS Word on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/forms. E-mail completed forms as an attachment to M. J. Carver at carvermj. Direct questions to ext. 3809.

Student Affairs Announces Job Title Changes

Job titles for Terry Curran and Jim Dragna in the Division for Student Affairs have changed. Curran is associate vice chancellor and dean of students. Dragna is associate vice chancellor for student development services.

CAA Blood Drive

The 10 members of the Colonial Athletic Association are each holding campus-wide blood drives this fall. The institution with the highest participation rate will receive a trophy. UNCW's CAA Blood Drive is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sept. 11 in the Warwick Center. The Center for Leadership Education and Service and the Athletics Department are cosponsoring the drive. For more information, call ext. 3877 or 3767.

Writing Place Schedule

The Writing Place, located on the second floor of Randall Library, is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday and 6 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Peer consultants, primarily graduate English and creative writing teaching assistants and undergraduate interns, work with students on their academic writing in subjects across the curriculum. Drop-in visitors are welcome, but appointments are encouraged. Staff are also available to visit classes to discuss this free service. For more information, call ext. 7155.

Study Abroad Proposals

Study Abroad proposals for summer 2003 are due in the Office of International Programs by Sept. 9. For more information, contact Robin Williams at ext. 4051 or e-mail williamsr.

Infant/Child CPR Class

The Department of Environmental Health and Safety will offer a class on infant and child cardiopulmonary resuscitation from 1 to 5 p.m. Sept. 19 and 20. This class, which is given once a year, is limited to 12 participants. For more information, call Joan Greene at ext. 3057.

Test Center Closures

The Computer-based Testing Center will be closed Sept. 10 and 11 for software updates and certification. Direct questions to Dianne Matthews at ext. 7444.

Shared Leave

Patricia Austin and Tim Ciotti, physical plant, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Shelley Nester, facilities planning and design; and Christopher Padgett, university police.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23041 Departmental Procurement Specialist	Sept. 9
23042 Plumber Supervisor	Sept. 9
23043 Senior Web Developer/Webmaster	Sept. 13
23044 Admin. Asst. for chancellor search committee	Sept. 13
23045 Program Assistant V	Sept. 13

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

OSP Budgeting Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs will present the seminar "Building Budgets and Bridges: A Team Approach" at 1 p.m. Sept. 10.

Pam Whitlock, OSP director, will lead this interactive session on the importance of good planning during the proposal development process. Other topics include fiscal responsibility, legal issues and auditing. For reservations and location, call ext. 3810.

Scholarship Tournament

The Got-em-on Live Bait Club's fifth annual scholarship golf tournament will be held Sept. 28 at The Cape. Check-in is at 11 a.m. with a 12:30 p.m. shotgun start.

Proceeds from this tournament will fund scholarships for marine science graduate students. For more information, call Randy or Sue Gibson at 458-9735.

Museums Offering Free Admission on Sept. 11

Cape Fear Museum will join museums across the nation to commemorate the events of Sept. 11 by offering free admission. It will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Two other local museums, the Wilmington Children's Museum and Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum, will also offer free admission Sept. 11. Both will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 10 Sept. 12, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

General College Seeking Course Proposals for Inaugural Learning Communities

The General College is accepting proposals from pairs of faculty members interested in participating in the pilot Learning Communities Program planned for fall 2003.

Eight learning communities involving 200 students are the targets of this pilot program, according to Kemille Moore, director of the General College. Participating students will live in the new residence hall when it opens next year. Faculty for the learning communities will be selected based upon their proposals, and they will receive a $3,000 stipend to develop their courses. Proposals are due by Oct. 15. Forms are available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ge/.

Information Session on Course Development
3 to 5 p.m. Sept. 19
Tutoring and Learning Center, Randall Library

"UNCW is growing fast. At the same time, we want to retain the culture for which we have become known – strong undergraduate teaching where student-faculty interaction enriches the education experience," said Moore. "Learning communities will help preserve this culture while promoting more active learning across all disciplines."

UNCW's learning communities will involve eight credit hours consisting of three credit-bearing courses comprised of two discipline-based basic studies classes and one freshman seminar (UNI course). Courses will not be team-taught, but will require a high degree of faculty interaction and collaboration. Classes will be limited to 25 students.

"Faculty will teach their courses individually, but will have to work together prior to and during the semester to integrate readings, materials and outside activities," said Moore.

To illustrate the concept, Moore, an art historian, suggested a proposal that would integrate Art History 202 and English 110.

"The art history class focuses on portraiture, so English could center on biographies. Writing assignments could be geared toward artists from the Renaissance through the

see Learning Communities Proposals on page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847. To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

NPR Commentator to Lecture Sept. 30

Feiler

National Public Radio commentator Bruce Feiler will lecture on "Jews, Christians and Muslims: Unity and Discord Among the Children of Abraham" at 7 p.m. Sept. 30 in Kenan Auditorium.

Feiler is the author of five critically acclaimed books and has traveled to more than 60 countries on five continents. A recipient of numerous awards for journalism, he is a regular contributor to NPR's "All Things Considered."

Feiler's presentation coincides with the Common Reading Program sponsored by the university's Campus Activities and Involvement Center. The program recommends the use of Simon Weisenthal's The Sunflower: On the Possibilities and Limits on Forgiveness in classes and seminars. The Sunflower explores issues surrounding justice, forgiveness and faith.

"The Sunflower explores compassion, justice, and human responsibility," said Shannon Hooker, campus activities coordinator. The UNCW Common Reading Program is designed to promote a greater sense of reading and discussion among faculty and students, she added.

Joyce Hollingsworth, an instructor in English, is using The Sunflower in her freshmen composition classes as a complement to the textbook.

Tickets for Feiler's lecture are $6 for the public and free for students, faculty, and staff and are on sale at the Kenan Auditorium box office.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Wright to Give Reading

Visiting professor and author David Wright will read from his works at 8 p.m. Sept. 19 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

A reception and book signing will follow.

Wright is the author of Fire on the Beach:

Recovering the Lost Story of the Pea Island Lifesavers. The work depicts the lives of the all-Black lifesaving servicemen who rescued the crew of the E. S. Newman in 1896.

Wright is an assistant professor of English and Afro-American Studies at University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. His work has appeared in Kenyon Review, Southern Review and Naval History.

Wright

Faculty/Staff Golf Tournament Scheduled

The annual faculty/staff golf tournament will be held Oct. 11 at Olde Pointe Golf and Country Club. The tournament format is captain's choice consisting of four-person teams. Play will begin at 1 p.m. with a shotgun start. The cost is $32 per person. Trophies and prizes will be awarded, and a meal will be served following play. Submit team name and players to Jim Harris, housing and residence life, by Oct. 4. For more information, call Harris at ext. 3405 or e-mail harrisj.

Environmental Minute

WECT-TV6 and the Center for Marine Science have teamed up to offer 50-second news spots called the Environmental Minute. Kaitlin Baden, a ninth-grade student at Hoggard High School and daughter of Dan Baden, CMS director, and Alina Szmant, biological sciences, is the narrator and host of the feature, which airs Mondays during Carolina in the Morning. Diane Talley, director of MarineQuest and CMS youth programs, is the Environmental Minute writer.

Managing Records

Ed Southern, head of the state and university records unit at the N.C. Department of Cultural Resources, will lead a workshop on effective records management at 2 p.m. Oct. 1 in the Randall Library Auditorium. A reception in archives and special collections follows. For more information, contact Adina Lack at ext. 4233 or e-mail lacka.

CLES Seeks Trip Advisers

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking faculty and staff who are interested in working as advisers for student service trips. Each year, students travel to culturally diverse regions to work with communities on service projects such as Habitat for Humanity. During the upcoming fall break, Oct. 9-13, students will travel to Washington, D.C., to work half-days in various non-profit organizations related to hunger or homelessness.

In order to increase the number of service opportunities, additional advisers are needed. Service trips are coordinated and run by students working as staff members for CLES. Projects could center on environmental issues, AIDS awareness programs as well as those dealing with children, the elderly or economically disadvantaged families. For more information, contact Becky Long at ext. 3043.

Warwick Center Exhibit Features Local Artist

"Encre Folle" (Ink Crazy), an exhibit featuring local artist Katy Lizabeth, will be displayed through Oct. 21 in the Warwick Center Lobby.

An example of work on display in the Warwick Center

A meet-the-artist reception is scheduled for 5 to 8 p.m. Sept. 13 at the display. This free, public event will feature a talk by the artist and a raffle of various prizes including works by the artist.

Lizabeth, whose preferred medium is pen and ink, is a former professional clown. She earned degrees in early childhood behavior, criminal justice and technical physiology and has taught art to students and adults with physical limitations.

According to Lizabeth, "Arts and crafts can open many doors for individuals of any circumstance. Improving one's self and promoting a good day surely reflects society as a whole."

A native of Florida, Lizabeth's art has been displayed nationwide including Miami, Boston and Chicago. The artist will donate a portion of artwork sales to Paws Place and Coastal Aids Research Efforts.

Career Day 2002

Career Day 2002 will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sept. 25 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Public and private companies as well as numerous state, federal and non-profit agencies from southeastern United States are expected to provide students with information on career opportunities. For more information on this event, sponsored by career services, call Karen Thompson or Frances Carr at ext. 3174.

Drug Prohibition Lecture

David Bewley-Taylor from the Department of American Studies at the University of Swansea, Wales, will present "The American Crusade: The Internationalization of Drug Prohibition" at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 12 in Morton Hall, Room 100.

Black Faculty Meeting

The UNCW Black Faculty Association will hold its first meeting of the 2002-03 academic year from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 19 in the University Union, Room 210. The association meets monthly during the academic year to discuss issues unique to black faculty, staff and students. Forward agenda items to Joanne Nottingham, campus diversity, by Sept. 17.

Usilton British Isle Tours

Larry Usilton, history, will conduct two tours of the British Isles and France during the 2002-03 academic year. The first tour, scheduled during fall break Oct. 8-15, is a walking tour of Hadrian's Wall in the north of England. The second tour is scheduled during spring break March 6-16, is his annual "Medieval Sampler" tour. Entitled "In the Footsteps of William the Conqueror," the tour will take participants to relevant sites in England and France. Faculty or staff who would like information on how to join either tour should contact Usilton at ext. 3312 or e-mail usilton. Information is also on the Web at people.uncw.edu/usilton/UL2.html.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Sliced roast beef, vegetable lasagna, mashed potatoes with gravy, broccoli with cheese sauce, spiced apples, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday - Tarragon grilled chicken with pineapple, baked ziti, pecan orange rice, green beans with garlic, cauliflower with cheese sauce, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

The cost is $5.50 for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets.

Infant/Child CPR Class

The Department of Environmental Health and Safety will offer a class on infant and child cardiopulmonary resuscitation from 1 to 5 p.m. Sept. 19 and 20. This class, which is given once a year, is limited to 12 participants. For more information, call Joan Greene at ext. 3057.

Film Major Meeting

The Film Studies Program will host a meeting of current and prospective film studies majors from 2 to 3 p.m. Sept. 13 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

Film Series Needs Discussion Leaders

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking faculty and staff members to lead discussions on the leadership aspects of movies shown monthly as part of its Leadership Film Discussion Series. To participate in the series, contact Traci Bethea at ext. 3877.

Women Mentors Sought

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking female faculty and staff members to mentor female students for its Women in Leadership Mentoring Program. Participants would engage in planned activities with students throughout the academic year. For more information, contact Abby Riley at ext. 3877.

Health Careers Fair

A career fair for students interested in pursuing graduate study in health care is scheduled for noon to 3 p.m. Sept. 18 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Admissions representatives from graduate/professional programs in areas such as physical therapy, nursing, speech pathology and public health will be present. For more information on this event, sponsored by the Pre-health Professions Club, career services and student affairs, call ext. 3770.

Children's Story Adventures

The Seahawk Perch and Randall Library will sponsor a weekly Children's Story Adventure starting Sept. 11. Designed for children ages three to 10, the adventures will be offered from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the library's children's literature section. Volunteers will read age-appropriate literature to children while their parents have uninterrupted time for study or research. For more information, call ext. 7371 or e-mail seaperchstu.

Tai Chi Classes

Tai chi classes, sponsored by wellness services, will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays in the Student Recreation Center training room. The cost is $25 per month for students, $30 for employees. A martial arts form, tai chi is used in the United States as a form of exercise and for meditation and stress reduction. For more information, call Brooke Sumner at ext. 7007.

African-American Dance Ensemble Meeting

The Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum is hosting a community meeting at 5:30 p.m. Sept. 12 to reintroduce the area to the African-American Dance Ensemble Residency Project.

The project, which started last year, has a three-year mission to promote African dance, drum and culture in Wilmington and the surrounding community. During its first year, AADE conducted 44 activities with 13 organizations and the public at a dozen different facilities including a free public concert in Kenan Auditorium March 1.

Scholarship Tournament

The Got-em-on Live Bait Club's fifth annual scholarship golf tournament will be held Sept. 28 at The Cape. Check-in is at 11 a.m. with a 12:30 p.m. shotgun start.

Proceeds from this tournament benefit scholarships for marine science graduate students. For more information, call Randy or Sue Gibson at 458-9735.

Senior Leader Program

The Senior Leadership Program, sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service, is seeking participants for its nine-week program that is modeled after Leadership Wilmington. Enrollment is limited to 25 seniors. Direct interested students to contact Karla Pollard at ext. 3877 for an application or more information.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Submissions for this section are published in order received. Due to the volume of submissions, there can be a two- to three-week delay in publication. Your patience is appreciated.

Kimberly Copeland, CMS, had the research article "Growth and Feed Utilization of Captive Wild Black Sea Bass Centropristis striata Fed Practical Diets in a Recirculating Tank System" published in Journal of the World Aquaculture Society. Co-authors were Wade Watanabe and Patrick Carroll. CMS. Copeland gave the invited presentation "Black Sea Bass On-growing: Status of Research and Commercial Prospects for North Carolina" at the North Carolina Sea Grant mariculture seminar/workshop in Pine Knoll Shores with co-authors Watanabe and Chris Dumas, economics and finance.

Wendy Larimer, SBTDC, was quoted in the Aug. 19 Daily Advance article "Small Businesses Seek Government Contracts." The story dealt with seminars, sponsored by SBTDC and the American Boat and Yacht Council, to instruct small boat dealerships, repair workshops and marinas in methods of garnering government contracts.

Laela Sayigh, biological sciences, had the paper "Geographic Variation in Rates of Vocal Production of Free-ranging Bottlenose Dolphins" published in Marine Mammal Science. Former graduate student Guenevere Jones was co-author.

Paul Wilkes, English, had the article "The Reformer" published in the Sept. 2 issue of The New Yorker.

Martin Posey and Troy Alphin, biological sciences and CMS, received $5,760 in supplemental funding from Versar Inc. for research on beach renourishment effects on a benthic community.

Antonio Puente, psychology, received $3,250 in supplemental funding from Plenum Publishing Corporation to assist his efforts as editor of Neuropsychology Review.

Cathy Barlow and Karen Wetherill, education, received $300,512 in supplemental federal funding from the U.S. Department of Education for the project "Technology for Reflection and Assessment Coalition." Barlow received $2,019 in supplemental funding from the UNC Office of the President for the project "N.C. Teach."

Donald Furst, art and theatre, had his etching "Suburban Nights: Swath" included in the fifth American Print Biennial. The University of Richmond Museums purchased it for their permanent collection.

Furst's "Suburban Nights"

Ann Pabst and Shelley Etnier, biological sciences, received $48,148 from the National Institute of Health for the project "Ontogenetic Variation of Axial Stability in Dolphins."

Moorad Alexanian, physics and physical oceanography, had a letter dealing with "'the demarcation problem'-that is, the unambiguous distinction of science from nonscience - and the nature of 'origins science.'" published in the September issue of Physics Today, a monthly magazine from the American Institute of Physics.

Learning Communities Proposals continued from Page 1

19th century," said Moore. "To promote learning outside the classroom, students could visit art museums or be assigned community-based oral history interviews."

Claudia Stack, an adviser in general college, said research on learning communities at other universities across the nation has shown that students connect to the university community more quickly.

"The universities also have higher student retention rates," said Moore. "Although that's not a problem for us, there's no reason to wait to try this approach."

There is broad support across all levels of faculty and administration to establish these learning communities, said Moore. Members of the core team to implement these communities include Brad Reid, director of housing and residence life, and Steve Pullum, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, as well as department chairs Kathleen Berkeley, history; Denise DePuccio, foreign languages and literatures; Chris Gould, English; Patricia Kelley, earth sciences; and Joe Wilson, philosophy and religion.

Learning Communities core team members (l to r): Reid, Berkeley, Moore, Wilson, Kelley, DePuccio, Gould and Pullum.

"In addition to housing and residence life, we're working with admissions to determine how to select students to participate in these inaugural learning communities," said Moore.

Students are not the only beneficiaries of learning communities, said Moore.

"This is an opportunity for faculty to take a different approach to teaching and to work with a small group of students," Moore said.

Chancellor Search Committee Meeting

The Chancellor Search Committee will meet from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sept. 16 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss administrative support for undertaking the chancellor search, general recruitment strategies and the process by which the committee will develop search criteria. The committee will also adopt a schedule of regular meetings for the remainder of the calendar year. The meeting is open to the public and will not include a closed session.

The board of trustees, in a special called session Aug. 21, appointed the following individuals to serve on the committee: Franklin Block, Larry Dagenhart, Jeff Etheridge, Charles Evans, Lee Garrett, Katherine Moore, Allen Rippy Sr., Linda Upperman Smith, Krista Tillman, and Dennis Worley, as trustee representatives; and Richard Dillaman, biological sciences; Hathia Hayes, education; Dan Noland, English; and Earl Sheridan, political science, as faculty representatives. Ray Cockrell, admissions, was named to represent alumni and staff; Elicia Joi Cox and Neil Watson, to represent students; and Jane Lambeth and David Swain, to represent the community. Trustee Owen Kenan was appointed to the committee prior to his death Sept. 2. Dagenhart, immediate past chair of the board of trustees, is search committee chair.

Student PO Boxes

Student post office box numbers are assigned and are listed on the Student Information System. Enrolled students are listed on screen UO4 under term 20024. Students listed with box number 00000 are in the Onslow County program, and box numbers 12345 are off-campus students. Both groups will have mail forwarded to off-campus addresses.

Minority Students Awards

The annual awards program for minority students will be held at 4 p.m. Sept. 27 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The program recognizes students for academic achievements and leadership during the past year. Faculty and staff who plan to attend should RSVP by Sept. 20 to Lee Ann Dulatre, campus diversity, at ext. 3832 or e-mail dulatre.l@uncw.edu.

Pocket Computer Training

The Information Technology Systems Division will hold orientation sessions on the use of Compaq's iPAQ Pocket PC from 1 to 2 p.m. Sept. 18 and 3 to 4 p.m. Sept. 24. To register, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. For a complete listing of workshops, visit ITSD client services Web site www.uncw.edu/dcs/training/.

Volunteer Directory

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is compiling a directory of faculty and staff who are former Peace Corps or Vista volunteers. For inclusion in the listing, call Becky Long at ext. 3043.

Toner Cartridge Scams

Purchasing services alerts offices and departments to the following examples of toner cartridge scams:

- A telephone solicitor will call and inquire about the model of printer in use. Once the company learns of the model, it will ship toner cartridges with the hope that departments will pay the invoice and keep them rather than process a return.
- An unsolicited vendor will bill for cartridges not sent with the hope that departments will pay the invoice without question.
- A caller will claim to be the "official" or "preferred" source for UNCW and offer "closeout" or "educational discounts."

Vendors recommended by purchasing services have agreed not to place unsolicited sales calls directly to departments. Offices receiving unsolicited sales calls should refer the vendor to purchasing services.

Shared Leave

Patricia Austin and Tim Ciotti, physical plant; Ivan Castillo, university police; and Terri Joynes, advancement, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Product Return Reminder

Offices and departments should inspect all orders upon receipt whether bought by invoice or purchasing card. All vendors have a time limit to report problems such as damaged or missing items. The industry standard is 30 days. Purchasing services can sometimes negotiate an exchange or return when the time limit has expired. Preserve the right to exchange and return items by notifying purchasing services promptly on any order discrepancies.

Staff Training

Advanced Connections, 9 to 11 a.m. Sept. 20, 27 and Oct. 4.

Building High Performance Project Teams, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sept. 19.

Introduction to Project Management, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sept. 26.

So, You Need to Hire Someone, 10 a.m. to noon, Sept. 18.

Supervisory Resources, 9 a.m. to noon Sept. 24.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23043 Senior Web Developer/ Webmaster	Sept. 13
23044 Admin. Assist. for chancellor search committee	Sept. 13
23045 Program Assistant V	Sept. 13
23046 Police Telecom	Sept. 20
23047 Police Officer II	Sept. 20
23048 Cashier II	Sept. 20
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 11 Sept. 19, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

UNC Wilmington Retains Top 10 Ranking

UNC Wilmington has retained its place among the top 10 public universities in the South in the latest college rankings by U. S. News & World Report.

Among the public universities in the South, UNCW is ranked seventh behind James Madison University, The Citadel, Appalachian State University, College of Charleston, Murray State University and UNC Charlotte. A complete report of the rankings can be viewed online at www.usnews.com or in the newsstand book America's Best Colleges as well as the Sept. 23 issue of U.S. News & World Report.

UNCW is in the "universities-master's" category which includes those institutions that provide a full range of undergraduate and master's level programs, but few, if any doctoral programs. U.S. News annually ranks 1,400 public and private universities and colleges across the country.

"The University of North Carolina at Wilmington is delighted that it has retained its position among the elite publicly supported comprehensive universities in the nation," said Paul Hosier, interim provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs. "While UNCW's rating, as well as the high ratings achieved by its sister comprehensive institutions – UNC Charlotte and Appalachian State University – reflect well on the UNC system, we can not help but be concerned by the fact that 18 of the top 25 comprehensive institutions in the South are private schools."

Hosier noted that "this statistic underscores the need for continued support for public institutions of higher learning if all citizens of North Carolina and the region are to enjoy access to a quality education. In the long run, the quality of life in North Carolina in all areas, not just economics, rests upon the ability of its citizens to depend upon such educational opportunities."

see Top 10 Ranking on Page 6

Panel Discussion to Focus on Jim Crow

Wilmington's race riots of 1898 are featured in the four-part PBS documentary series The Rise and Fall of Jim Crow airing Tuesdays in October. In conjunction with this series, the University of North Carolina at Wilmington is hosting a panel discussion Examining Jim Crow from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Oct. 1 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. The Office of Campus Diversity is sponsoring this free, public event.

Panelists will be Bertha Todd, former co-chair of 1898 Foundation; Kenneth Davis, community activist and 1898 Foundation member; John Haley, associate professor emeritus of history; Melton McLaurin, associate vice chancellor of academic affairs and co-chair of 1898 Foundation. Joanne Nottingham, director of campus diversity, will moderate.

"I believe anytime we have dialogue about race, it's informative. Dialogue

see Jim Crow Panel on page 5

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Search Committee to Hold Public Forums

The Chancellor Search Committee of the University of North Carolina at Wilmington will conduct open forums from noon to 2 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. Sept. 23 in the Warwick Center Ballroom to solicit input from community and university constituents to aid in developing search criteria that will be used to evaluate chancellor candidates.

Members of the Chancellor Search Committee will participate in each session. Faculty, students, staff, alumni and community members are welcome to attend either session.

In addition to the open forums, the search committee is accepting written comment from interested parties. Comments, suggestions or observations may be sent to Chancellor Search Committee, P.O. Box 12569, Wilmington, NC 28405 or e-mailed to chancellorsearch@uncw.edu. All written comments will become part of the public record of the search process.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Stepparent Support Meeting

The Stepparent Support Group will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. Oct. 2 in the University Union, Room 103B. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrael.

Movie Makers Lecture

Special effects makeup artist Jeff Goodwin will show clips from films on which he worked and discuss his career from 2 to 5 p.m. Sept. 20 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Program.

Godwin, who received the International Society of Makeup Artists' Lifetime Achievement Award in 1993, has worked on numerous films including David Lynch's Blue Velvet and Michael Mann's The Last of the Mohicans. He is the author of Transformations – Simple Makeup Effects.

Physics Colloquium

Paul Frampton, Louis D. Rubin Jr. professor of physics at the Department of Physics and Astronomy, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, will present "Neutrinos: The Earth, the Sun and the Early Universe" at 2 p.m. Sept. 27 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

Jazz Ensembles Release CD

On the Edge, a new CD featuring the UNCW Big Band, jazz faculty and jazz ensembles, is on sale through the Music Department. Faculty soloists on the recording include Frank Bongiorno, alto saxophone; Steve Morgan, trumpet; Bob Russell, guitar; Jerald Shynett, trombone; and Andy Whittington, piano. Recordings sell for $15. For more information, call ext. 3390.

Graduate Thesis Defense

Andrea Quattrini, a graduate student in biological sciences, will defend the thesis "Distribution of Larval Fishes in Shelf and Gulf Stream Waters in Onslow Bay, N.C." at 2 p.m. Sept. 20 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

New UNCW Giving Clubs and Societies Announced

Donor recognition programs have long been a way to express appreciation to generous benefactors, but UNCW's explosive growth over the past decade necessitates changes in the program.

"We saw a need to re-evaluate the university's donor recognition policies in order to better serve our rapidly growing alumni and donor base," said Mary Gomto, vice chancellor of university advancement. "While we are fortunate to add strong new programs and attract more and better-qualified students to our campus, we must also be willing to change and adapt to keep pace with this exciting growth."

One of the most obvious changes is the increased amount required for membership in the Chancellor's Club, which has gone from a minimum gift of $1,000 to $2,500.

"The growth of the Chancellor's Club has kept pace with the growth of the university. This group is so large that it is impossible for UNCW to offer members the access to the chancellor that is one of the major benefits of membership," said Gomto. "The donation amount required for membership was raised to help restore the exclusivity of this giving club and allow the chancellor to spend more time with the university's highest-level donors."

New donor amenities include an annual university forum for all donors. An inaugural forum is scheduled for fall 2003. There will also be an annual reception for members of the Provost's Club, a new giving level that recognizes donations from $1,000 to $2,499.

"These new events will help encourage donor involvement with the university at all giving levels," Gomto said. "Every gift makes a difference for UNCW, and we want all donors to know how much we appreciate them."

Donor recognition societies have been added for lifetime and planned giving. The Anchor Society recognizes donors with lifetime cumulative giving of $100,000 and more, and the E. L. White Society honors those who have made arrangements to contribute to the university through planned or deferred giving. White, a former trustee and mayor of Wilmington, gave UNCW its first planned gift in 1950.

UNCW depends on private contributions from individuals, corporations and foundations to provide operational and program support to supplement state funding. These gifts are often the only source of discretionary funds available to deans and administrators to respond to new opportunities and unmet needs. For more information on UNCW's giving clubs and societies, including a listing of membership benefits for each level, click on the "Give to UNCW" link on the university's home page.

Randall Library Exhibit Features African Artifacts

Randall Library is showcasing the exhibit "Rituals and Rhythms – Objects from Western Africa" through Nov. 3 at its first-floor art wall.

The display, installed by local museum consultant Betsy Bilger, features masks, flags, musical instruments and various ceremonial objects that explore the diverse cultures from West Africa.

The Museum of World Cultures, Special Collections and Randall Library provided artifacts for the exhibit.

Film Scheduled for Hispanic/Latino Heritage Month

In honor of Hispanic/Latino Heritage Month, the Office of Campus Diversity will host a screening of the film Los Trabajadores (The Workers) at 7 p.m. Sept. 30 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café. The 48-minute film profiles Juan Ignacio and examines immigrant labor. An open discussion will follow. For more information, call ext. 3832.

N.C. Poet to Give Reading

Native North Carolinian Tony Hoagland will read from his works at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. A book signing and reception will follow.

Hoagland's second book of poems Donkey Gospel received the 1997 James Laughlin Award presented by the Academy of American Poets. He teaches at the University of Pittsburgh and has won two grants from the National Endowment of the Arts. Hoagland's first poetry collection Sweet Ruin won the 1992 Bitteringham Prize in Poetry as well as the Zacharis Award.

For more information, call the Creative Writing Department at ext. 7063.

University Theatre Opens 2002-03 Season Sept. 26

The UNCW University Theatre opens its 2002-03 season with the comedy 70 Scenes of Halloween at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in Kenan Hall, SRO Theatre. Additional performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Sept. 27 and 28 and Oct. 2-5 with 2 p.m. matinees Sept. 29 and Oct. 6. Tickets are $8, $2 for students with valid ID. Contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

This play, written by Jeffrey Jones, is presented in 70 short, off-the-wall scenes mixing the realistic with the absurd as it delves into the deteriorating marriage of Jeff and Joan. Senior theatre majors Dustin and Jennifer Thomas play the lead roles. Jonathan Guggenheim and Jessica Fulbright portray their alter egos Beast and Witch. This production does contain adult language. For more information, call Tom Macie at ext. 3446.

Baby-sitting Offered

The Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity will baby-sit children from 6 to 10 p.m. Sept. 27 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. Members will supervise activities such as movies, board games and crafts. Donations will be accepted. For more information, call Lauren Douglas at 791-2276.

Meharry Medical College

The Office of Campus Diversity is hosting an admissions representative from Meharry Medical College from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 23 in the Upperman African-American Cultural Center. Detailed information about financial aid and medical and dental programs will be available. For more information, call ext. 3832.

Family Weekend

UNCW's annual Family Weekend is scheduled for Sept. 27-29. This event, sponsored by the Division of Student Affairs, is an opportunity for the family of students to visit campus and participate in a variety of activities on and around campus.

Among the activities planned during the three-day event are the second annual White Ribbon Campaign charity golf tournament and a concert.

The golf tournament is set for noon Saturday at Olde Pointe Golf and Country Club. Format is four-man captain's choice. The cost is $40 per student, $60 for other participants. Singer/guitarist Sara Hickman will perform at 9 p.m. Saturday in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $2.50.

For more information, contact transition programs at ext. 3089.

Battle of the Bands

A broad spectrum of local and regional bands will converge on Charley Brownz Lounge, 215 S. Front Street, at 8 p.m. Sept. 20 for the Battle of the Bands fund-raising concert to benefit UNCW Habitat for Humanity. Cover charge is $10 or $5 with student I.D.

Proceeds from the cover charge will go toward UNCW Habitat's mission, which is to raise $50,000 to sponsor a home for a family whose income is 25 to 50 percent below the poverty level. Once UNCW Habitat completes fund-raising, student members will build the home. Construction is expected to begin in spring 2003.

Managing Records

Did you know that some electronic records such as e-mails and word processing files are public records? How do you manage, preserve and dispose of them? Find out in the free workshop Electronic Records Management scheduled for 2 p.m. Oct. 1 in the Randall Library Auditorium. Ed Southern, head of the state and university records unit at the N.C. Department of Cultural Resources, will lead the program. A reception in archives and special collections follows. For more information, contact Adina Lack at ext. 4233 or e-mail lacka.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Meat loaf, stuffed peppers, macaroni and cheese, steamed vegetables, spiced apples, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Red curry chicken with sweet potatoes, spinach lasagna, white rice, herb zucchini spears, peas with mushrooms, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

The cost is $5.50 for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets.

Employee Golf Tournament

The annual faculty/staff golf tournament will be held Oct. 11 at Olde Pointe Golf and Country Club. The tournament format is captain's choice consisting of four-person teams. Play will begin with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. The cost is $32 per person. Trophies and prizes will be awarded, and a meal will be served following play. Submit team name and players to Jim Harris, housing and residence life, by Oct. 4. For more information, call Harris at ext. 3405 or e-mail harrisj.

Minority Students Awards

The annual awards program for minority students will be held at 4 p.m. Sept. 27 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Wade Watanabe, CMS, presented the paper "Volitional Spawning of Black Sea Bass Induced with Pelleted Luteinizing Hormone-releasing Hormone Analogue" at World Aquaculture 2002, Beijing, China. Co-authors were Chris Woolridge and Kimberly Copeland, CMS; Theodore Smith, Kevin Stuart and Michael Denson, South Carolina Department of Natural Resources; and David Berlinsky, University of New Hampshire.

Cathy Barlow and Karen Wetherill, education, received $300,512 in supplemental federal funding from the U.S. Department of Education for the project "Technology for Reflection and Assessment Coalition." Barlow received $2,019 in supplemental funding from the UNC Office of the President for the project "N.C. Teach."

Lou Buttino, communication studies, co-produced the documentary Lessons of September: One School Remembers 9/11 which premiered on New York public television Sept. 5.

Doug Gamble, earth sciences, participated in the National Science Foundation-sponsored new geography faculty workshop held at the University of Colorado, Boulder. Gamble presented the paper "San Salvador Weather 2001: Implications for the Geosciences" during the 12th Symposium on the Geology of the Bahamas and Other Carbonate Regions at the Gerace Research Center, San Salvador, Bahamas. He was chosen to chair the 13th symposium in 2004.

Robert Argenbright, earth sciences, had the article "Environmental Pollution in Moscow: A Micro-Level Analysis" published in Eurasian Geography and Economics, vol. 43, no. 3. It was co-authored by Viktoria Bityukova, associate professor of geography at Moscow State University.

Marvin Moss, CMS, received $249,877 from the University of South Carolina for the support of Caro-COOPS which will involve deploying a series of oceanographic and meteorological stations off South Carolina.

Dick Ward, chemistry, received $69,635 in supplemental funding from the National Science Foundation for a digital library of reusable science and math resources for undergraduate education.

Ann Pabst and Shelley Etnier, biological sciences, received $48,148 from the National Institute of Health for the project "Ontogenetic Variation of Axial Stability in Dolphins."

Comeaux Edits New Work on Distance Learning

The success of any distance-learning video or Web-based class is directly related to the quality of interaction among the participants, according to Patricia Comeaux, communication studies professor and editor of Communication and Collaboration in the Online Classroom.

"This book is for readers who have a particular interest in the topic of communicating and collaborative learning via interactive technologies," said Comeaux who has studied distance-learning strategies for 12 years. "The multidisciplinary approach of this book will be valuable to anyone interested in pedagogical applications of interactive technologies across disciplines and institutions."

Contributing authors to the book describe the challenges and benefits they encountered in their endeavors to incorporate interactive technologies into their instructional practice or their curriculum, Comeaux said. The book, released by Anker Publishing, is organized around three sections: program development for distance education, team-teaching across the distance and creating online learning communities.

Communication and Collaboration in the Online Classroom also features chapters by six UNCW professors: Deborah Brunson, associate professor of communication studies; Ele Byington, associate professor of English; Richard Huber, professor of curricular studies; Richard Olsen, assistant professor of communication studies; Mahnaz Moallem, associate professor of specialty studies; and Frank Trimble, professor and chair of the Communication Studies Department.

Former General College Directors Honored

Former General College directors John Stokes and Yousry Sayed were honored for their "service and commitment to academic excellence" at a reception Sept. 11.

Stokes, a professor of English, served more than 15 years as the college's first director before returning to the classroom in 1993. He was appointed by Dan Plyler who, at the time, was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Sayed, a chemistry professor, took over in 1993. He stepped down in June 2002 to return to teaching. Art professor Kemille Moore succeeded him.

Provost Paul Hosier presented plaques to the former directors and their wives. The plaques are on permanent display in the Office of the General College in Wagoner Hall.

John and Malou Stokes

Linda and Yousry Sayed

Farewell Reception

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center will host a farewell reception for Ian Martin from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Sept. 24 in the University Union, Living Room. Martin is leaving UNCW to take the job of assistant director of campus activities at Western New England College in Springfield, Mass.

Jim Crow Panel continued from Page 1

builds relationships and brings races together," Davis said.

The series' first program Promises Betrayed (1865-1896) airs at 10 p.m. Oct. 1; Fighting Back (1896-1917) airs at 10 p.m. Oct. 8; Don't Shout Too Soon (1918-1940) airs at 10 p.m. Oct. 15; and Terror and Triumph (1940-1954) airs 10 p.m. Oct. 22.

The second installment, Fighting Back, features a 16-minute segment on Wilmington and the violence of 1898. The four Examining Jim Crow panelists were interviewed for and contributed to this segment.

McLaurin said audience participation is strongly encouraged at the Oct. 1 program. He said he hopes those attending will discuss the history of segregation. Panelists and the audience will explore the history of segregation by reflecting on these questions: What circumstances/factors led to and sustained the era of segregation? How do you think blacks and white related to each other on a daily basis during segregation? Do you feel that segregation continues to have an impact? What actions can you as an individual take to alleviate the lasting impact and influence of segregation in society today?

"This is an effort to promote a truly superb examination of an extremely significant era in American history, an era filled with significance both today and in the future," McLaurin said.

Renovations to Alderman Hall and Kenan Auditorium to Improve Safety and Accessibility

Renovations are scheduled to improve two building entrances that have been the site of numerous accidents in recent years, according to Stan Harts, director of the Environmental Health and Safety Department.

"The north entrance to Alderman Hall and Kenan Auditorium's main entrance are unsafe and need improvements to bring them into full compliance with the state's accessibility code and the Americans with Disabilities Act," said Harts. "Construction crews are working at both locations."

Both buildings are slated for extensive renovations in the university's capital improvements project schedule.

"While all campus projects are vital, the safety of students, employees and visitors who use these buildings necessitated a higher priority given to improving the entrances," said Tim Jordan, vice chancellor for business affairs. The remaining building renovations will progress according to the master schedule for capital improvements.

Harts said the Alderman Hall entrance threshold or sill is two inches higher than the landing creating a "trip" hazard. Previous efforts to mitigate the hazard and to build handicapped access worsened the situation.

"A complete renovation is needed to prevent other injuries," said Harts.

According to Joe Bace in the Facilities Office, a portico has been designed that will solve the problem as well as provide a covered entrance to the building. "This will insure ADA compliance in an aesthetic manner," Bace said.

Beginning Sept. 23, this northern entrance will be closed during the 11-week renovation phase. Temporary handicapped access and parking will be located at the east end of Alderman Hall.

A similar situation exists at the main entrance to Kenan Auditorium, said Norman Bemelmans, auditorium director. The thresholds at each set of doors are several inches higher than the landings; ushers are stationed at each door during events to alert visitors to watch their step.

"Despite all our precautions, tripping incidents continue," Bemelmans said.

Entrance improvements scheduled will also address handicapped access at the auditorium.

"Currently, handicapped access is as far from handicapped parking as possible and still be attached to the building," said Curt Allen-Little, operations manager for the auditorium. "We've received numerous complaints from visitors who are unable to find the handicapped ramp."

According to Bace, two symmetrical, curving ramps will be added to the entrance. "The goal is to create an entrance that is inviting and completely compliant with ADA requirements." Work commenced on these ramps Sept. 16.

"Over the years, students and others have pointed out these entrances are inconvenient for many, not just those who are handicapped," said Peggy Turner, director of disability services. "At UNCW, we don't want to just meet the letter of the law. We want to make everything on campus as accessible as possible for everyone."

Information on these and other construction projects are on the business affairs Web site under the link "facilities, police and safety."

Wright to Give Reading

Visiting professor and author David Wright will read from his works at 8 p.m. Sept. 19 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow. Wright is the author of Fire on the Beach: Recovering the Lost Story of the Pea Island Lifesavers.

Career Day 2002

Career Day 2002 will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sept. 25 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. For more information on this event, sponsored by career services, call Karen Thompson or Frances Carr at ext. 3174.

Residence Life Policy for Posting Fliers

Director-level housing staff must approve all fliers for residence halls. Approved 8.5x11- or 11x17-sized fliers can be displayed for up to two weeks, banners for one week. This does not include event calendars published by the Division of Student Affairs.

Organizations should deliver 100 copies of approved fliers at least one week prior to the event. The housing office does not guarantee placement of items and reserves the right to limit the number posted. Unapproved fliers will be removed and may result in the denial of future privileges. Items advocating alcohol/drug use or inappropriate behavior are prohibited.

Priority for approval is granted to housing and residence life events followed by activities sponsored by student affairs, other university departments, SGA-sponsored clubs and organizations and off-campus events co-sponsored by university offices or departments.

E-mail questions concerning posting material in residence halls to Sean Ahlum, marketing and computing consultant, at ahlum.s.

Campus Shuttle Reminder

Teal Wheels, the two intra-campus golf shuttles for students and employees, operate from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. One shuttle starts in Lot K near Trask Coliseum and crosses the front of campus to Randall Library and circles back. The other shuttle makes a loop starting from parking lots S and T, on to Price Drive past the Social and Behavioral Sciences Building and to the clock tower area.

Animals on Campus

North Carolina law and UNCW policy prohibits animals from any UNCW facility except those acquired for research or to assist the disabled. Report violations to university police, the Office of Sponsored Programs or the chair of the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee.

Theatre Needs Clothing

The Department of Art and Theatre is seeking donations of men's suits and dress shoes for an upcoming production. Clothing can be of any style but should be in good condition. Deliver donations to Kenan Hall, Room 107. For more information, contact Tommy Macon at ext. 3585 or 3898.

Retirement Reception

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics will host a retirement reception for Patricia Joseph, department secretary, from 3 to 5 p.m. Sept. 25 in the University Union Living Room. Joseph retired in June following more than 31 years of service.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Prudence Carver, curricular studies; Jody Lamberto, CMS; Carl Wilkerson, project design and management; and Patricia Williams, physical plant.

Top 10 Ranking continued from Page 1

Among both public and private institutions in the South, UNCW was number 24 out of 130 institutions. The ranking system is based on seven categories: peer assessment (25 percent), graduation and student retention rates (25 percent), faculty resources (20 percent), student selectivity (15 percent), financial resources (10 percent) and alumni giving (5 percent).

UNCW's reputation for academic excellence continues to improve as it becomes the university of choice for a growing number of high school students; 7,650 students applied for admission this fall. This year's enrollment totals 10,759 students. Among the 1,644 new freshmen in this fall's class, the average SAT score was 1106 and their average GPA was 3.63.

Honors Program Sponsors Graduate Session

The Honors Scholars Program, in conjunction with the Graduate School, will host "Everything You Need to Know About Applying to Graduate School" from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Sept. 24 in the Randall Library Auditorium. Robert Roer, dean of the Graduate School, will provide information and answer students' questions. For more information, call ext. 4181.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23046 Police Telecom.	Sept. 20
23047 Police Officer I	Sept. 20
23048 Cashier	Sept. 20
23050 Office Assistant III	Sept. 24
23051 Office Assistant III	Sept. 27
23052 Hypermedia Tech.	Sept. 27
23053 Office Assistant IV	Sept. 27

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

2002 SECC Campaign Kicks Off Sept. 27

The annual State Employees Combined Campaign kicks off Sept. 27 and continues through Nov. 1. Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, is this year's campaign chair.

"Contributions to the SECC can really make a difference in someone's life," said Howard-Vital. "Anyone who has questions about the campaign is welcome to call me." Her extension is 4138.

All employees will receive SECC information packets and pledge forms.

The main purpose to contribute to the SECC is to help those in need; however, special incentives have been added to encourage participation, said Howard-Vital. Everyone who contributes will be eligible for weekly drawings. For more about the SECC and the incentives, visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscs/secc/main.htm.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 12 Sept. 26, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW, Harris Teeter Partner for 'Together in Education' Program

UNCW will get double the dollars in a pilot partnership formed with Harris Teeter.

The grocery store chain is expanding its "Together in Education" program to include UNCW, its first collegiate partner.

Shoppers who use their VIC card to purchase Harris Teeter-brand products can designate a portion of the purchase price to benefit UNCW students using the code 5034.

"This is an exciting day for Harris Teeter," said Morganthall. "Educating our children has been a top priority to us since our first day of business. Each year we give thousands of dollars to pre-schools, elementary, middle and high schools through our 'Together in Education' program."

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Pat Leonard urged UNCW students, faculty, staff, alumni, parents, grandparents and friends to link their VIC cards to the program by giving the cashier the UNCW account code. She said proceeds from the "Together in Education" program would be used to enhance student projects.

In addition, Harris Teeter will match all funds raised in the program to benefit the N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall, a museum focusing on the contributions of the state's teachers that will be a focal point in the new $14 million, 85,000-square-foot education facilities under construction. To kick off the partnership, Morganthall presented UNCW with a $10,000 gift to the hall.

"UNCW is honored to be selected to participate in this partnership with see Together in Education on page 4

Harris Teeter executives Steve Sutton '84, Dan Maret and Fred Morganthall (l to r) along with Pat Leonard (second right), celebrate the announcement of partnership program. Students will benefit from VIC card purchasers who designate UNCW using the code 5034.

Grammy Winner Keb' Mo' to Perform Oct. 14

Two-time Grammy Award winner Keb' Mo' will perform at 8 p.m. Oct. 14 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Arts in Action Performance Series.

Born Kevin Moore, Keb' Mo' grew up in Compton, South Central Los Angeles. At the age of 12, he learned to play a guitar that he received from his Uncle Herman. As a teenager, he also played trumpet and French horn; and in his first band, a calypso group, he played upright bass and steel drums.

Keb' Mo' is known as a writer and singer who communicates with absolute sincerity. His performances include sweet country blues, juke-joint jive, up-tempo rhythm and blues and jazz pop, but blues underscores all of his music.

"The blues is my history, my culture," said Keb' Mo'. "It's always been around me. I always wanted primarily not just to be a blues guy, but a songwriter. But the blues gave me depth."

After playing with a Top 40 group, Moore joined Papa John Creach, violinist with Jefferson Starship, in 1973. His guitar is featured on three of Creach's albums. Deciding to concentrate on songwriting, Moore joined A&M records as a staff writer, and by 1980, the singer-guitarist had released his first solo album Rainmaker. Three years later, after a stint with the vocal group The Rose Brothers, he see Arts in Action on page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Oct. 7 Chucho Valdes concert canceled.
For details, go to page 2.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Valdes Concert Canceled

The Oct. 7 Arts in Action Performing Arts Series concert featuring Cuban pianist Chucho Valdés has been canceled.

According to International Music Network, the agency representing Valdés, the artist's fall U.S. tour was called off due to his inability to secure a travel visa.

Ticket holders for the 8 p.m. Oct. 7 concert can exchange their tickets for another event in the Arts in Action series, receive a refund or convert the cost into a tax-deductible donation in support of the series, said Shannon Hooker, assistant director for program and marketing for Activities and Involvement Center.

Movie Makers Lecture

Award-winning documentary filmmaker Frederick Wiseman will lecture from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 26 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

Wiseman has made more than 30 films that look at American institutions and contemporary life including Titicut Follies (1967), High School (1968) and Domestic Violence (2001). He is the recipient of numerous prizes including three Emmy Awards, a Guggenheim Award and an honorary membership to the American Academy of Arts and Letters. Many of Wiseman's works have aired nationally on Public Broadcasting System.

The UNCW Film Studies Program as part of its Movie Makers Lectures Series sponsors this free, public event, which will include clips of Wiseman's films.

Note of Appreciation

Catherine Johnson, history, would like to thank the "university community for its support and kindness during the recent illness and death of my husband."

N.C. Poet to Give Reading

North Carolinian Tony Hoagland will read from his works at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. A book signing and reception will follow.

Second Spiritual Masters Series Kicks Off Oct. 1

The second annual "Spiritual Masters" series, hosted at five Wilmington houses of worship, will highlight the spiritual lives of some of history's greatest religious role models.

"Our hope is that these inspiring figures can, each in his or her own way, speak to our lives and the life of this community," said Paul Wilkes, project director of the Pastoral Summit, based at UNCW.

The series will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Oct. 1 through Nov. 19. This year's lineup starts with a presentation on C.S. Lewis, whose famous books on spirituality include The Screwtape Letters. St. Matthew Lutheran Church, 612 South College Road, will host this presentation.

The Oct. 8 event, scheduled at St. Andrews-Covenant Presbyterian, 1416 Market Street, will focus on theologian Paul Tillich. Baal Shem Tov, who founded the Hassidic movement, is the subject of the Oct. 22 at B'nai Israel Synagogue, 2601 Chestnut Street. The Nov. 5 presentation on Prophet Mohammad will be held at the Tauheed Islamic Center, St. James Episcopal Church, Perry Hall, at the intersection of Third and Market Streets. The series concludes Nov. 19 at St. Luke A.M.E. Zion Church, 709 Church Street, with a lecture on Howard Thurman, mentor to Martin Luther King Jr.

Each host church will provide a free dinner prior to the presentation.

Big Band, Jazz Combo Opening Season Oct. 4

The UNCW Big Band and Jazz Combo will present their first concert of the 2002-03 season at 8 p.m. Oct. 4 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale on the night of the concert.

The Big Band, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, will play a variety of music made famous by Thad Jones, Buddy Rich and Bob Mintzer. The Jazz Combo I, under the direction of Jerald Shynett, will perform jazz standards as well as original compositions. The combo was featured on the second annual student's edition of Jazziz on Disc: The College Years II which includes 15 students/groups from institutions nationwide.

For more information, call ext. 3390.

Heritage School Opens

Heritage School, a five-week opportunity to learn African-American history, will be offered Saturdays, Oct. 19 through Nov. 16. Classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Advanced registration is required for these free events; call Helena Lee at ext. 7087 or e-mail leeh.

Memorial Donations

Faculty and staff who would like to contribute to a memorial for Lillian Molina should contact Lynne Snowden, sociology and criminal justice, or Sandy Torres, dining service.

Molina worked for dining services where she catered special events such as faculty luncheons. She died in an automobile accident during the summer while vacationing in Mexico.

"Lillian always did her job in a pleasant and thorough way, trying to raise everyone's spirit," said Snowden. "We are collecting donations to fund a plaque or brick to be placed in her honor in the Seahawk annex to give her the recognition she deserves."

YWCA Fall Fund-raiser

The YWCA will hold its inaugural fall fund-raiser "Dive into Our Pool" from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Oct. 19 at its facilities on South College Road. Event activities include a pig picking, games, swimming, car wash and prizes every half hour. Tickets are $12.50 for adults, $6 for children ages four to 14. Shuttle service will be available from Long Leaf Mall. To purchase tickets in advance, contact Joanne Nottingham, campus diversity and YWCA board member, at ext. 3832.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Poetry Slam Scheduled

Poetry Slam, an annual event sponsored by the Watson School of Education, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Water Street Restaurant, 5 South Water Street.

This contest, which offers $500 in cash prizes for first through sixth place, is limited to 40 poets. Original works written by the performing author can be read. Poets will be allowed five minutes for their performances. To register, contact Maurice Martinez at ext. 4279 or e-mail martinezm. Registrants should provide their name, address and contact telephone number.

Admission to the Oct. 29 event is free. In addition to the poetry readings, there will be performances by Spanish guitarist William "Paco" Strickland, blues artists Rose and Charlie Lucas and jazz musician Benny Hill. The College of Arts and Sciences and the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies are cosponsors of this event.

Public Service Offerings

Philip Gerard, creative writing, will present "Secret Soldiers – The Story of World War II's Heroic Army of Deception" at 6 p.m. Oct. 22 as part of the Tabitha Hutaff McEachern Lifelong Learning Speaker Series sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies. The cost is $26 and includes dinner. Registration is required and due by Oct. 15. Call ext. 3195.

In addition to the speaker series, the division sponsors classes and travel opportunities which are advertised in its publication Pathways. An upcoming event is "Public Speaking for Beginners and III at Ease," a five-week class taught by David Weber. Sessions will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Tuesdays, Oct. 22 through Nov. 26. The cost is $79. Registration is due Oct. 15.

Stepparent Meeting

The Stepparent Support Group will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. Oct. 2 in the University Union, Room 103B. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrae.l.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Spaghetti with marinara sauce (meatballs optional), meatball subs, steamed mixed vegetables, corn, assorted salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Asian pork loin, pasta primavera, fruited rice, broccoli casserole, spiced applesauce, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

The cost is $5.50 for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets.

State Employees Combined Campaign Kicks Off Sept. 27

The annual State Employees Combined Campaign kicks off Sept. 27 and continues through Nov. 1. All employees will receive SECC information packets and pledge forms. Everyone who contributes will be eligible for weekly drawings. For more about the SECC and the incentives, visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscc/secc/.

Career Services Hosting Law School Panel

Career services is sponsoring the panel discussion "So, You Want to Go to Law School?" from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 2 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café. For more information, contact Leslie Rand-Pickett at ext. 3770.

University Theatre Opens 2002-03 Season Tonight

The UNCW University Theatre opens its 2002-03 season with the comedy 70 Scenes of Halloween at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in Kenan Hall, SRO Theatre. Additional performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Sept. 27 and 28 and Oct. 2-5 with 2 p.m. matinees Sept. 29 and Oct. 6. Tickets are $8, $2 for students with valid ID. Contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Film Scheduled for Hispanic/Latino Heritage Month

The Office of Campus Diversity will host a screening of the film Los Trabajadores (The Workers) at 7 p.m. Sept. 30 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café. For more information, call ext. 3832.

UNCW-TV This Week

Oct. 1
1 p.m.	James Lawson: The Seamless Cloth of Faith and Struggle
7 p.m.	An interview with Michael Bar-Zohar
Oct. 2
1 p.m.	Bernice Johnson Reagon: The Singing Warrior
3 p.m.	Physics, Biology, Your Brain and Everything Else
4 p.m.	Currents of Hope: Reclaiming the Neuse
Oct. 3
1 p.m.	Let's Read! UNCW & You
1:30 p.m.	Music da Camera: The Hamann Sisters Piano Duo
4 p.m.	People's Century 1900 Age of Hope

UNCW-TV
programming airs
on Time Warner
Cable Channel 5
and Charter
Communications
Channel 12.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

---

Moorad Alexanian, physics and physical oceanography, had a letter published in the September issue of Physics Today, a monthly magazine published by the American Institute of Physics. He said it dealt with "the demarcation problem" - that is, the unambiguous distinction of science from nonscience - and the nature of 'origins science.'"

Lavonne Adams, creative writing, had the poems "Landscapes" and "In Honor of What's Contained Inside Every Pomegranate" published in the Hawaii Pacific Review, Hawaii Pacific University.

Barbara Waxman, English, had the essay "A New Language of Aging: 'Deep Play' in Carol Shields's The Stone Diaries and Alison Lurie's The Last Resort" published in The South Atlantic Review, vol. 67, no. 2.

Karen Sandell, social work, received $119,581 from UNC Chapel Hill for a child welfare preservice training project.

Chancellor's Faculty Advisory Committee Meetings Scheduled

The Chancellor's Faculty Advisory Committee will meet at noon Oct. 2 and Dec. 3 in Alderman Hall, Room 215.

Committee members are: Lavonne Adams, creative writing; Gregory Bechtel, School of Nursing; Yaw Chang, mathematics and statistics; Chris Dumas, economics and finance; Steve Emslie, biological sciences; Pam Evers, accountancy and business law; Craig Galbraith, management and marketing; Nancy Grindlay, earth sciences; Julian Keith, psychology; Hengemeh Kermani, curricular studies; David LaVere, history; Mahnaz Moallem, specialty studies; Dan Noland, English; Earl Sheridan, political science; Oliver Speck, foreign languages and literatures; and Emery Stephens, music. Faculty are encouraged to share comments and suggestions with committee members.

Bettie Glenn, nursing, received $2,700 from Coastal Area Health Education Center for clinical site development.

Eleanor Covan, gerontology, received $14,500 in supplemental funding from Taylor and Francis Publishers for editorial services for the journal Healthcare for Women International.

Thomas Baker, James Hunt, and Lisa Scribner, management and marketing, had their article "The Effect of Introducing a New Brand on Consumer Perceptions of Current Brand Similarity: The Roles of Product Knowledge and Involvement" accepted for publication in the Journal of Marketing Theory and Practice.

Hana Noor Al-Deen, communication studies, earned eight post-doctoral credit hours in 3D computer animation following completion of two summer courses at Stanford University in California.

OSP Seminar Series

The Office of Sponsored Programs is conducting a series of workshops for faculty and staff to assist them in the grants process. "Building Budgets and Bridges: A Team Approach" will be held from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 1 in the University Union, Room 100A. "Human and Animal Compliance" will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 9 in the University Union, Room 105. Seating is limited. For reservations, e-mail Michelle Starks at starksrn.

Arts in Action continued from Page 1

---

been performing at the L.A. nightspot Marla's Memory Lane with The Whodunit Band, an ensemble of ace blues players.

Concentrating on solo acoustic work, Moore traveled to Mississippi to hang out with veteran Delta bluesman Eugene Powell. Moore portrayed a Delta bluesman in the early '90s Los Angeles Theater production Rabbit Foot and later in Spunk, an adaptation of Zora Neale Hurston's writings. At the same time, he played club dates around L.A. During this period, he became Keb' Mo', a street-talk version of his own name signaling "his allegiance to the music that helped form his own."

In 1994, he released a self-titled album that featured 11 songs that he wrote or co-wrote as well as his guitar and banjo work. His second album Just Like You earned him a Grammy Award for Best Contemporary Blues Recording, as did his 1998 release Slow Down. His newest release is The Door.

Tickets are $18 for the public, $12 for employees and senior citizens and $6 for students and children 12 and under. Call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

James Johnson and Len Lecci, psychology, had their paper "Assessing Anti-white Attitudes Held Among Blacks and Predicting Perceived Racism" accepted for publication in the journal Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin.

Together in Education continued from Page 1

Harris Teeter," said Leonard. "I hope our community members will show gratitude for this opportunity by participating in the program. The funds provided by this partnership will be used to enrich campus life for our students. Students will be actively involved in making recommendations regarding how the money should be used."

Harris Teeter customers at any of its 142 retail stores in North and South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Tennessee and Florida may designate the UNCW code and participate in the program.

Examining Jim Crow

Wilmington's race riots of 1898 are featured in the four-part PBS documentary series The Rise and Fall of Jim Crow airing four Tuesdays in October. In conjunction with this series, UNCW is hosting a panel discussion Examining Jim Crow from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Oct. 1 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. The Office of Campus Diversity is sponsoring this free, public event.

Phased Retirement Annual Enrollment

The annual enrollment period for faculty who wish to enter phased retirement beginning August 2003 is Sept. 26 through Oct. 25. A change in eligibility criteria this year allows any tenured faculty member who is age 50 and who is eligible to receive a retirement income from either the Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System (TSERS) or the Optional Retirement System (ORP) to participate. The minimum criterion for enrollees in TSERS is age 50 with 20 years of service or age 60 with five years of service. For ORP enrollees, the criterion is age 50 with five years of service. Additional information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/hr/phased.htm. To receive an enrollment packet, call HR at ext. 3160.

Central Stores Inventory

In response to request from departments and offices, central stores is adding new items including CD-Rs, CD-RWs, pink and green highlighters and other supplies. Check the catalog for availability.

Wellness Screenings and the State Health Plan

The State Health Plan does not pay for the following tests when offered by a mobile screening program: echocardiogram, electrocardiogram, arterial stiffness index, carotid ultrasound, abdominal aortic aneurysm, arteriosclerosis, bone density or heel ultrasound (osteoporosis).

The state plan does cover diagnostic and screening tests ordered by a physician who has evaluated the patient and determined that he/she is at risk for a particular disease or condition.

Announcer Needed

The Department of Athletics is seeking an individual to serve as public address announcer during the home women's basketball games. If interested, contact Joe Browning at ext. 3236.

Chancellor's Human Relations Advisory Committee to Meet

The Chancellor's Human Relations Advisory Committee will hold its first meeting of the 2002-03 academic year from noon to 2 p.m. Sept. 30 in the Warwick Center, Room 138.

A major focus for the committee this year is to determine how people feel about working at and attending UNCW, said Kathleen Benzaquin, committee chair.

"Do people feel comfortable here? It's a question that concerns the chancellor and senior administrators as well as the committee," said Benzaquin. "Last year, we established a subcommittee to study UNCW's climate toward minority populations."

In recommending the university conduct a survey of the campus climate, the subcommittee obtained surveys from UNC Greensboro, the University of Arizona and the University of Washington to use as guidelines in developing an instrument to administer to UNCW faculty, staff and students. In addition, the committee will use feedback from the Student Government Association's Commission on Diversity, appointed by former SGA president Adrien Lopez, and the chancellor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Diversity in preparing a proposal to the chancellor, Benzaquin said.

The committee welcomes input and participation from faculty, staff and students, said Benzaquin. Meetings are open to the campus community or individuals can address concerns or suggestions to the following committee members: Daniel Berkow, counseling center; Denis Carter, academic affairs; Yaw Chang, mathematics and statistics; Bo Dean, honors program; Liz Grimes, human resources; Leslie Langer, SBTDC; Tommy Macon, art and theatre; Linda MacRae, enrollment affairs; Robert Miller and Jamie Price, sociology and criminal justice; Stephanie Richardson, English; Tom Schmid, philosophy and religion; Earl Sheridan, political science; Robert Smith, education; Dorothy Taylor, physical plant; Kate Temoney, student affairs; Matthew Tenhuisen, mathematics and statistics; Chloe Torres, housing and residence life; Peggy Turner, disability services; and Anping Wu, Randall Library.

Staff Training

Becoming an Ally: Project B-Glad, 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 17

Dealing with Disabilities – Personal or Family Members, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 15.

Equal Employment Opportunity Institute, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 9-11.

Getting Ready for Your Debut, 9 a.m. to noon, Oct. 18.

Maintaining and Reading Your Budget, 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 24.

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 29.

Timekeeping for Administrators, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 2.

Timekeeping for Employees, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 1.

Understanding FRS Reports and Screens, 9 a.m. to noon Oct. 22

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Lena Donlon and Ivey Graham Jr., student affairs.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23051 Office Assistant III	Sept. 27
23052 Hypermedia Tech.	Sept. 27
23053 Office Assistant IV	Sept. 27
23056 Applications Prog.	Oct. 4
23057 Housekeeper	Oct. 4
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Toner Cartridges

Don't throw away those empty ink jet toner or laser cartridges. Recycle them through central stores. To recycle, place cartridges next to recycle bins or call ext. 3180.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 13 Oct. 3, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW, aaiPharma Sign Technology Transfer Agreement

The University of North Carolina at Wilmington signed its first-ever technology-transfer licensing agreement with aaiPharma Inc. This agreement is expected to ease the transfer of scientific discoveries by university researchers into future useful medicines.

Although actual products resulting from this collaboration are not expected to hit the market in the near term, research at the university on new biochemical entities is underway. The Center for Marine Science and the Departments of Biological Sciences and Chemistry are conducting research to identify molecules that may be used to develop potentially life-saving medicines from pharmaceutically active entities found in coastal waters. Once a new chemical entity is identified as having pharmacological activity, it will be offered to aaiPharma. If deemed to be commercially viable, aaiPharma will apply its more than 22 years of drug research and development experience to move the compound through the drug development and approval process. If approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, aaiPharma will assume full responsibility for the sales and marketing of the medicine or license it to a third party.

"UNCW's agreement with aaiPharma is a milestone for this university and another indicator of the increasingly sophisticated and significant science being done by our faculty and students," said Daniel Baden, CMS director. "This is a promising arrangement because UNCW is doing the creative discovery research, which we do well. Then, when compounds are discovered that have potential commercial value, aaiPharma will come in and do what they do best, the product development, patenting and marketing of pharmaceutical products. We believe this has positive economic potential down the road."

George Van Lear, president of aaiPharma's research division, agrees.

"This is an exciting relationship and a unique opportunity for two local, leading institutions to combine their respective expertise on making a positive difference in medical research," said Van Lear. "The students and university scientists will gain valuable hands on experience working side by side with industry leaders, the university will have the opportunity to realize the value of its research program, and aaiPharma will gain access to a generally untapped resource for drug development."

UNCW Grad Wins Fulbright for Arab Study

Even before Sept. 11, 2001, the U.S./Middle East divide interested Durham native Evian Patterson. As a recipient of a prestigious Fulbright grant, the 2002 UNCW graduate will study firsthand the cultural and religious distinctions between these two regions.

Patterson

"As an American, I'm particularly interested in learning why we are so separated," said Patterson, who will spend a year at the International Language Institute in Cairo, Egypt, learning about Arab language and culture.

Patterson, who is the son of Thomas and Rose Patterson, received a bachelor's degree in philosophy and religion from UNCW. He said he aspires to complete graduate work in Islam and international affairs, earn a doctorate and teach at a university.

"There is much to learn about the Middle East," said Patterson who is scheduled to leave the U.S. in mid-October. "I am interested in the historical interactions between the West and Islam, and the Middle East is the core for Islamic study."

He added that Fulbright grants "provide a wonderful opportunity to represent America positively through academic study in many corners of the world."

see Fulbright recipient on Page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Chancellor's Staff Advisory Committee Meeting

The Chancellor's Staff Advisory Committee will meet at noon Oct. 9 in Alderman Hall, Room 215. Members of the committee are: Annie Aldrich, telecommunications; Lisa Allred, payroll; Carolyn Andrews, Randall Library, Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies; Glenda Bowen, Watson School of Education; Phillip Brown, university relations; Susie Goodrum, institutional research; Faith Joyce, physical plant; Lori Leitch, biological sciences; Mike Lloyd, printing services; Steve Mastro, CMS; Charles Mills, physical plant; Annette Richards, nursing; and Karen Thompson, career services. Staff are encouraged to share comments and suggestions with committee members.

Learning Communities Information Session

The Learning Communities Steering Committee will host an information session from 3 to 5 p.m. Oct. 7 in the Tutoring and Learning Center, Randall Library. This session will cover proposal development for the pilot Learning Communities program planned for fall 2003.

Learning communities will involve eight credit hours consisting of three credit-bearing courses comprised of two discipline-based basic studies class and one freshman seminar. Courses will not be team-taught, but participating faculty will work together to integrate readings, materials and outside activities. The pilot program will work with 200 students who will live in the new residence hall when it opens next year. For more information, contact the General College at ext. 3245.

Physics Colloquium

Gail McLaughlin, professor of physics at UNC Chapel Hill, will present "Supernova Neutrinos: Oscillations and Detection" at 2 p.m. Oct. 4 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212.

Cuban Missile Crisis

Timothy Naftali, associate professor of history at the University of Virginia, will present "This May End in a Big War: Khrushchev, Kennedy and the Cuban Missile Crisis" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3 in the Randall Library Auditorium. This year marks the 40th anniversary of the crisis.

In addition to teaching, Naftali is director of the Presidential Recordings and Kremlin Decision-making projects at the Miller Center for Public Affairs at UVA. UNCW's Office of the Chancellor, Office of the Dean of College of Arts and Sciences, Office of International Programs and the History Department are sponsoring this free, public program.

Challenges Facing Higher Education Conference

The Pope Center for Higher Education in North Carolina will host the conference "Challenges Facing Higher Education in North Carolina" Oct. 26 at UNC Chapel Hill.

Martin Kozloff, Watson School of Education, will participate in the session "How Well Is North Carolina Preparing Its Teachers." For registration information, call the Pope Center at 919/828-3876.

Biological Sciences Seminar

J. Craig Bailey, biological sciences, will present "Characterization of suFB Homologs in Photoautotrophs and the Biological Formation of 2Fe-2S Clusters" at 2 p.m. Oct. 4 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

War with Iraq Teach-in

The prospect of war with Iraq is the subject of a "teach-in" set for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 7 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Scheduled speakers are Tex Fuller, filmmaker and director of the Film South Project; Remonda Kleinberg, political science; Susan McCaffray, history; Nelson Reid, social work; and David Weber, communication studies. Robert Toplin, history, will moderate.

CTE Lunch Discussions

The Center for Teaching Excellence is sponsoring a series of lunchtime discussions to provide faculty an opportunity to exchange ideas about teaching with colleagues. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch; CTE will provide discussion materials and dessert. Sessions, which are listed below, will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102. For more information, call ext. 3034.

- Grading Issues Workshop, noon Oct. 9
- Student Culture Issues and You, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 17 or noon Oct. 21
- How to Guide Students to Write Better Research Papers, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 29 or noon Nov. 4
- Worst Practices in Web Sites for Teaching, 12:30 p.m. Nov. 12 or noon Nov. 20.

Mobile Mammograms

The New Hanover Regional Medical Center's coastal care van will conduct mammograms starting at 9 a.m. Oct. 9 in the visitor's parking lot. Employees and students age 40 and older are eligible to register for screenings. Space is limited and certain criteria apply. Call ext. 7007 by Oct. 8 to schedule an appointment. This event is sponsored by wellness services and the Student Health Center.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Coconut chicken, baked cheese ravioli, baked sweet potatoes, yellow squash, honey-glazed carrots, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Chicken or beef tacos, refried beans, Mexican rice, assorted salads, corn muffins, desserts and beverages.

Fantail Film Festival

Rear Window is the first feature in this month's Fabulous 50 Cents Fantail Film Festival sponsored by the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial. The screening is set for 7 p.m. Oct. 4 aboard the battleship. Todd Berliner, director of the Film Studies Program, will host the event. The festival will run four Fridays this month and will feature a different movie directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

State of the Port

The UNCW student chapter of the N.C. World Trade Association is cosponsoring the annual State of the Port address by Erik Stromberg, executive director of the N.C. State Ports Authority. This talk will be held from 11:30 a.m. to noon Oct. 9 at Alleighs, 4925 New Centre Drive. The Cape Fear N.C. World Trade Association Chapter and the Propellor Club are cosponsors. The cost is $15 for members and guests, $10 for students and includes lunch.

In his address, Stromberg will discuss security measures as well as current projects. Activities at the ports generate more than 80,000 jobs statewide and nearly $300 million in tax revenues.

Big Band, Jazz Combo to Open Concert Season

The UNCW Big Band and Jazz Combo will present their first concert of the 2002-03 season at 8 p.m. Oct. 4 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale on the night of the concert. For more information, call ext. 3390.

Heritage School

Heritage School, a five-week opportunity to learn African-American history, will be offered Saturdays, Oct. 19 through Nov. 16. Classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Advanced registration is required for these free events; call Helena Lee at ext. 7087 or e-mail leeh.

State Employees Combined Campaign Update

UNCW's State Employees Combined Campaign began Sept. 27 and continues through Nov. 1. Division coordinators will distribute pledge forms this week. Due to budget cutbacks, the SECC could not provide each employee with a booklet listing participating charitable organizations. Employees should share the booklets or access the e-brochure at the Web site www.ncsecc.org.

This year's UNCW campaign features an incentive program. Contributors are eligible for weekly drawings for prizes that include dinners, Azalea Festival parade seating and gift certificates. To learn more about the incentives, visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscs/secc/ or contact Michelle Howard-Vital or Margaret Bailey at ext. 4138.

Almost 400 employees have visited the university's SECC Web site and registered for prizes. Twenty-one faculty and staff members won pre-campaign prizes. The winners were: Janet Alexander, construction services, Executive Development Center golf shirt; Jaca Baynes, School of Nursing, conference services golf shirt; Kathleen Benzaquin, School of Education, Tonice Brewer, academic affairs, Jeff Ertzberger, specialty studies, Jim Herstine, HPER, Liz Johnson, accounts payable, MarineQuest T-shirt; Sam Chance, client services, Alexander Cougarman, ITSD, Cheryl Cox, accounting, Nancy Elden, public service and continuing studies, John Myers, honors program, Carol Pendergrast, art and theatre, Christie Prentice, academic affairs, Lloyd Rohler, communication studies, Carolyn Simmons, psychology, and Kathy Upchurch, SMEC, mini-calculator; Gloria Coston, mathematics and statistics, alumni T-shirt; Suzi French, housing and residence life, orientation golf shirt; Jim Howell, SBTDC, technology outreach golf shirt; and B. Lynne Reeder, Student Development Center, Partners in Giving T-shirt.

Poetry Slam Entries

Poetry Slam, an annual event sponsored by the Watson School of Education, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Water Street Restaurant, 5 South Water Street.

This contest, which offers $500 in cash prizes for first through sixth place, is limited to 40 poets. Original works written by the performing author can be read. Poets will be allowed five minutes for their performances. To register, contact Maurice Martinez at ext. 4279 or e-mail martinezm. Registrants should provide their name, address and contact telephone number.

Tournament Threatened

Organizers of this year's annual faculty/staff golf tournament may have to cancel the event due to lack of interest.

According to Jim Harris, housing and residence life, 15 teams are needed to secure the rate of $32 per person, and so far only four teams have entered. Final registrations are due Oct. 4. If it proceeds, the tournament will be held Oct. 11 at Olde Pointe Golf and Country Club. Play would begin at 1 p.m. For more information, call Harris at ext. 3405 or e-mail harrisj.

70 Scenes of Halloween Continues This Week

The UNCW University Theatre production of 70 Scenes of Halloween continues this week in Kenan Hall, SRO Theatre. Performances will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 2-5 with a 2 p.m. matinee Oct. 6. Tickets are $8, $2 for students with valid ID. Contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

William Cooper, chemistry, gave the invited lecture "Kinetic Modeling of the Electron Beam Process: The Bridge Between Basic Research and Environmental Application" at the 10th Tihany Symposium on Radiation Chemistry in Spron, Hungary.

David Webster, biological sciences, received $5,621 in supplemental funding from New Hanover County for the project "Mason's Inlet Relocation, Piping Plover Surveys on Wrightsville Beach and Figure Eight Island."

Lavonne Adams, creative writing, had the poems "Rendition of Resignation" and "Jewelry" published in Asphodel, a literary journal at Rowan University, Glassboro, N.J.

William McLellan and D. Ann Pabst, biological sciences and CMS, had the paper "Ontogenetic Allometry and Body Composition of Harbour Porpoises (Phocoena phocoena, L.) from the Western North Atlantic" published in the Journal of Zoology, London. The paper, whose co-authors were from Duke University, Woods Hole Oceanographic and the Smithsonian Institution, is the result of 10 years of porpoise dissections to investigate growth characteristics of mass, reproduction, locomotion and thermoregulation.

Lynne Snowden, sociology and criminal justice, had her second book on the topic of collective violence published. It's entitled Preventing Terrorism.

Paulo Almeida, chemistry, had the article "Mechanism and Kinetics of Delta-lysin Interaction with Phospholipid Vesicles" published in Biochemistry, vol. 41, no. 36. The article was co-authored by Antje Pokorny, chemistry, and Harry Birkbeck, University of Glasgow, Scotland.

James Bailey, sociology and criminal justice, had the article "Tattoos in Investigations: An Experimental Study in Profiling Cases Based on Investigators' Assessments and Interpretation of Tattoo Iconography" published in the Journal of Forensic Identification, vol. 52, no. 5. This journal is the official publication of the International Association of Identification.

James Hunt, management and marketing, had the article "Fear, Coping and Information: A Pilot Study on Motivating a Healthy Response" accepted for publication in Health Marketing Quarterly. The paper was co-authored by David Eppright, University of West Florida; Jeff Tanner, Baylor University; and George Franke, University of Alabama.

Fulbright Recipient continued from Page 1

Patterson is UNCW's third alumnus awarded a Fulbright grant from among those who applied during the 2001-02 academic year, a record for the university. He recognized several faculty members for inspiring him to further his studies.

"I'd like to thank Drs. Herbert Berg, Samuel Murrell and George Zervos (professors in the Philosophy and Religion Department) for writing such strong recommendations as well as the members of the university's Fulbright advisory board — Drs. Don Habibi, Lisa Pollard and Yousry Sayed," said Patterson. "

The Fulbright Program, America's flagship educational exchange program, is sponsored by the U.S. Information Agency, an independent foreign affairs agency within the executive branch of the U.S. government. Established in 1946 under Congressional legislation by Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the program is designed to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries.

Grammy Winner Keb' Mo' to Perform Oct. 14

Two-time Grammy Award winner Keb' Mo' will perform at 8 p.m. Oct. 14 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Arts in Action Performance Series.

Born Kevin Moore, Keb' Mo' grew up in Compton, South Central Los Angeles.

After playing with a Top 40 group, Moore joined Papa John Creach, violinist with Jefferson Starship, in 1973. Moore joined A&M records as a staff writer, and by 1980, the singer-guitarist had released his first solo album Rainmaker.

Concentrating on solo acoustic work, Moore traveled to Mississippi to hang out with veteran Delta bluesman Eugene Powell. Moore portrayed a Delta bluesman in the early '90s Los Angeles Theater production Rabbit Foot and later in Spunk, an adaptation of Zora Neale Hurston's writings. At the same time, he played club dates around L.A. During this period, he became Keb' Mo', a street-talk version of his own name signaling "his allegiance to the music that helped form his own."

In 1994, he released a self-titled album that featured 11 songs that he wrote or co-wrote as well as his guitar and banjo work. His second album Just Like You earned him a Grammy Award for Best Contemporary Blues Recording, as did his 1998 release Slow Down. His newest release is The Door.

Tickets are $18 for the public, $12 for employees and senior citizens and $6 for students and children 12 and under. Call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Spiritual Masters Series

The second annual "Spiritual Masters" series, hosted at five Wilmington houses of worship, will highlight the spiritual lives of some of history's greatest religious role models.

The series will be held at 6:30 p.m. selected Tuesdays, through Nov. 19. The Oct. 8 event, scheduled at St. Andrews-Covenant Presbyterian, 1416 Market Street, will focus on theologian Paul Tillich. Baal Shem Tov, who founded the Hassidic movement, is the subject of the Oct. 22 talk at B'nai Israel Synagogue, 2601 Chestnut Street. The Nov. 5 presentation on Prophet Mohammad will be held at the Tauheed Islamic Center, St. James Episcopal Church, Perry Hall, at the intersection of Third and Market Streets. The series concludes Nov. 19 at St. Luke A.M.E. Zion Church, 709 Church Street, with a lecture on Howard Thurman, mentor to Martin Luther King Jr.

Host churches will provide a free dinner prior to the presentation.

FOCUS Support

The Department of Application Services in the Information Technology Systems Division will provide minimal support until filling the vacant FOCUS support position. In case of an emergency, call ext. 3648.

ITSD Computer Training

In addition to the Outlook computer training sessions, ITSD Client Services will offer the following workshops in October:

- Advanced Outlook, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 7 and 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 8.
- FrontPage, 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 10 or 1 to 3 p.m. Oct. 15
- PageMaker, 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 15
- PowerPoint, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 16 or 22

Additional information on ITSD Client Services training is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/dcs/training/.

To register for a workshop, call the Technology Assistance Center at ext. 4357.

Union and Center Fall Break Hours

The University Union and Warwick Center will observe the following schedule during fall break:

- |                |                     |
|----------------|---------------------|
| Oct. 10 and 11 | 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. |
| Oct. 12        | Closed              |
| Oct. 13        | 5 to 11 p.m.        |

The Warwick Center game room will close at 10:30 p.m. Oct. 9 and reopen at 6 p.m. Oct. 13.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Kerry McCarthy, Watson School of Education; Larry McCroskey Jr., athletics; and Jonia Smith, CMS.

Shared Leave

Patricia Austin and Tim Ciotti, physical plant; Ivan Castillo, university police; and Terri Joynes, university advancement, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Bliss Named Director of Financial Aid and Veterans Services

Emily Bliss was named director of financial aid and veterans services. Her appointment was effective Oct. 1.

In announcing the promotion, Kay Ward, associate vice chancellor for business affairs, said the division was "looking for someone who could look inward, evaluate current procedures and develop ways to better serve students." Ward added that Bliss's seven years of experience on campus and her student focus were strengths she would bring to the position.

Bliss

Bliss said she plans to continue the mission she began as interim director.

"We are making information more accessible and are reducing the need for students to make multiple phone calls and trips to our office to resolve their financial aid needs," said Bliss. "We will be using more e-mail and our enhanced Web site to allow students to be more proactive and interactive in the financial aid process."

Cahill Award Proposals

The Office of Sponsored Programs is soliciting proposals for the Charles L. Cahill Awards for Faculty Research and Development. Applicants should submit an original proposal and 11 copies by 5 p.m. Oct. 15 to Hoggard Hall, Room 227. Additional information on the Cahill awards is on the Web at www.uncw.edu/ora/CahillAwards.htm or contact Michelle Starks at ext. 3810.

Directory Correction

The correct phone extension for John Stevens, foreign languages and literatures, is ext. 7923.

Recycling Relocation

Due to construction in the area, the recycling shed has been relocated opposite its normal location on L Street.

Phased Retirement Annual Enrollment Period

The annual enrollment period for faculty who wish to enter phased retirement beginning August 2003 is Sept. 26 through Oct. 25. Additional information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/hr/phased.htm.

Information sessions on phased retirement will be held from 4 to 5 p.m. Oct. 16 and 17 in human resources seminar room, 5051 New Centre Drive. To register for a session or to receive an enrollment packet, call ext. 3160.

Staff Training

Becoming an Ally: Project B-Glad, 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 17

Dealing with Disabilities – Personal or Family Members, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 15.

Getting Ready for Your Debut, 9 a.m. to noon, Oct. 18.

Maintaining and Reading Your Budget, 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 24.

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 29.

Understanding FRS Reports and Screens, 9 a.m. to noon Oct. 22

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23056 Applications Prog.	Oct. 4
23057 Housekeeper	Oct. 4
23059 Purchasing Assistant	Oct. 11
23060 Customer Service Tech.	Oct. 11
23061 Office Assistant IV	Oct. 11
23062 Office Assistant III	Oct. 11
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Bookstore Fall Break Hours

The UNCW bookstore will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 10 and 11 and closed Oct. 12.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 14 Oct. 10, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW Unveils 11-County Electronic Community Resource

A new and unique database hosted by www.SpinNC.org is the most comprehensive location where citizens of Southeastern North Carolina can go to access information on area services and resources.

Whether it's finding child care, locating home health providers for an aging parent, or using electronic language translation, SpinNC provides a variety of information and referral services in collaboration with more than 450 agencies. Information is accessible to anyone with an Internet connection. SpinNC is a community networking effort that originated from public/private collaboration among UNCW, a regional Internet provider, and a number of educational and non-profit organizations.

In demonstrating SpinNC at an Oct. 7 press conference, Chancellor James R. Leutze showcased the community resource directory, business directory, nonprofit tools and three localized editions targeting citizens in greater Wilmington, Jacksonville, and Fayetteville areas as well as the regional edition for all of southeastern North Carolina. Each edition features a specialized calendar of events for its area. He said the powerful database has the potential to be a national model for other universities interested in serving their regions.

"This year more than 45,000 citizens will access one or more of the information services on SpinNC," said H. E. "Hunter" Thompson, director of Community Outreach Services in the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies. "We are very excited about the growth and development because we can see how access to information services is making a difference in people's lives."

The community resource directory is tied to the Alliance for Information and Referral Services taxonomy, a national

see Electronic Resource on page 4

UNCW Hosting N.C. Premiere of Sept. 11 Documentary Co-Produced by Lou Buttino

UNCW will host the North Carolina premiere of the acclaimed documentary The Lessons of September: One School Remembers from 7 to 9 p.m. Oct. 22 in Kenan Auditorium. Lou Buttino, communication studies, served as co-producer on the film, which was first broadcast on public television's WNET-13 in metropolitan New York in September.

The documentary focuses on one school in Brooklyn and how it came to terms with the terrorist attacks. According to Buttino, the school was particularly hard hit, losing 11 of its alums. One student lost her aunt, a policewoman; a teacher lost her brother, a fireman; and the school lost one of its most beloved and active parents, another fireman.

"This is a different kind of 9/11 story," said Buttino. "It's about healing and hope. It's about moving on. It provides practical and inspiring lessons for us all no matter our circumstance."

The documentary's executive director John DeNatale will also attend the screening as well as Paulette Hasson and Lisa DellaPietra, interviewees in the film who lost family members on Sept. 11. The screening will be followed by a question-and-answer period.

Actor John Turturro (Quiz Show and O Brother, Where Art Thou?) narrated the film.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Instructional Technology

Teaching with Multimedia Technologies: Pedagogy of Tools for Teaching and Learning, a workshop series by the Center for Teaching Excellence, focuses on how to use electronic resources to address teaching and learning challenges. Workshops, listed below, will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102:

- Using Web Pages for Teaching, noon Oct. 14.
- Using PowerPoint for Teaching, noon Oct. 16 or 12:30 p.m. Oct. 24.

The Department of Client Services in the Information Technology Systems Division offers workshops on using various instructional technology programs. Sessions on FrontPage are scheduled for 1 to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 15. PowerPoint workshops will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 16 and 22. To register, call ext. 4357.

Physics Colloquium

Lubos Mitas from the Department of Physics, North Carolina State University, will present "Electronic Structure by Quantum Monte Carlo Methods: Accomplishments and Perspectives" at 2 p.m. Oct. 18 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

Gospel Sing

The Black Campus Connection is sponsoring a gospel sing-along at noon Oct. 25 in the University Union Living Room. The connection is an organization of black faculty, staff and students who are committed to improving the campus climate for black students. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrae.l.

OSP Seminar Series

The Office of Sponsored Programs is hosting a seminar series on the changing face of research administration. The office's next seminar, scheduled for 10 a.m. Oct. 23 in the University Union, Room 201, will focus on proposal submissions. For more information, call M. J. Carver at ext. 3809.

Edgerton Accepts Permanent Professorship

North Carolina novelist Clyde Edgerton was appointed a tenured professor in the Creative Writing Department. He will teach year-round in both the Master of Fine Arts and Bachelor of Fine Arts programs while continuing his role as a thesis supervisor for graduate students.

Edgerton was previously a distinguished visiting professor with the department.

"We are very excited that his four-year association as a visiting professor has led to this permanent relationship," said Mark Cox, department chair. "Clyde has already had a significant impact on our department. Knowing what an extraordinary writer and educator he truly is, the faculty of the Creative Writing Department has unanimously accepted him into the fold."

Edgerton is the author of seven novels, including Raney, Walking Across Egypt and The Floatplane Notebooks.

"I am fortunate, very fortunate, to find myself among a group of writing teachers who seem devoted to helping writing students gain insights into craft," said Edgerton. "I feel honored - and lucky - to be involved with the program on a permanent basis."

Edgerton's writing has appeared in Best American Short Stories, Southern Review, Oxford American and The New York Times. While a distinguished visiting professor in the Creative Writing Department, Edgerton received the first Alumni Achievement Award from the UNC Chapel Hill School of Education. He is the recipient of the North Carolina Award for Literature, a John Simon Guggenheim Fellowship and several honorary degrees.

Edgerton

Fantail Film Festival

This week's selection for the Fabulous 50 Cents Fantail Film Festival, sponsored by the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial, is Alfred Hitchcock's Vertigo. The screening is set for 7 p.m. Oct. 11 aboard the battleship. Todd Berliner, director of the Film Studies Program, will host the event; tickets are 50 cents.

UN Day Luncheon

The Coastal Carolina Chapter of the United Nations Association will observe U.N. Day with a luncheon at 1 p.m. Oct. 20 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. Ronald Copley, former UNCW professor of finance, will present "The Current Status of Jordan." Copley worked as a financial consultant with the government of Jordan and traveled widely in that country.

The luncheon is $11 for adults and $5 for students. For reservations, call Charlie West at 458-4136 or Jean Schaefer at 395-6190.

Candidate Forums

The Council of Neighborhood Association in conjunction with WAAV radio, Wilmington Star-News and UNCW will sponsor three candidates' forums in preparation for the Nov. 5 general election. All forums will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held in King Hall Auditorium.

The first forum will be Oct. 10 and will feature three candidates for New Hanover County Sheriff and two candidates for District Attorney. The Oct. 14 forum will be for the eight candidates for the New Hanover County Board of Education. The Oct. 15 forum will feature the five candidates for the New Hanover County Board of Commissioners.

Forums will be broadcast live on WAAV, 980 AM, and by UNCW-TV on The Learning Network, Time Warner Cable Channel 5, and Charter Cable 18.

Lure of Fishing

"The Lure of Fishing," an exhibit featuring antique fishing lures, duck decoys and other fishing memorabilia, is on display until Dec. 15 in Randall Library.

The exhibit highlights hundreds of fishing lures, many from Ohio's Pflueger Co., a major fishing manufacturer. Many of the lures are salesman samples used by the company in the early part of the 20th century to promote the products. Fishing lures on display include: "Pal-O-Mine," "Mustang," "Bearcat," "O'Boy Minnow," "Wizard Wiggler" and "Pearl Phantom."

"The colors, shapes and details of the lures are quite amazing, considering the fact that they were designed to get wet and be disposable," said Andrew Dutka, coordinator of special collections.

The exhibit is featured in the main foyer display case of the library until Oct. 30 and then will move to special collections through Dec. 15.

Items for the exhibit are from the collection of Dan Aspenleiter, captain of the R/V Cape Fear. Aspenleiter is also the director of undersea research operations at the Center for Marine Science.

Students John Williams, Ashley Bartlett, and Elizabeth MacChainnigh Cooley were exhibit curators as part of an internship in museum studies. They worked under the direction of Julie Babb, art and theatre, and Dutka.

Historical Jesus

The two-day course "Quest for Historical Jesus" will be offered Nov. 1 and 2 as part of UNCW's Lifelong Learning Institute Fall Weekends.

Bart Ehrman, UNC professor of religion and a leading researcher and writer on Jesus, will lead the course scheduled for 6:30 to 9 p.m. Nov. 1 and 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Nov. 2. The cost is $79 and includes refreshments and lunch on Saturday. To register, call ext. 3195.

SECC Update

UNCW's State Employees Combined Campaign began Sept. 27 and continues through Nov. 1. Pledge forms have been distributed.

This year's UNCW campaign features an incentive program. Contributors are eligible for weekly drawings for prizes. Winners of the SECC "Extra Early Seahawk" drawing were David Miller, HPER, who won two Azalea Festival 2003 bleacher seats; Robert Warren, physical plant, who won a $100 gift certificate to the bookstore; Robert Miller, sociology and criminal justice, who won two season tickets to the Arts in Action Performance Series; and Bo Dean, honors program, who won a computer training course. To learn more about the incentives, visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscs/secc/ or contact Michelle Howard-Vital or Margaret Bailey at ext. 4138.

Save the Ice House

The Wilmington Historic District committee will meet at 5:30 p.m. Oct. 10 in Thalian Hall's first-floor meeting room to discuss efforts to save the Ice House building.

Love Your Body Day Observance Scheduled

As part of the national celebration for Love Your Body Day, UNCW will host readings from Body Outlaws at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 16 in the University Union, Room 100. This free, public event is sponsored by the UNCW Women's Resource Center.

Body Outlaws: Young Women Write About Body Image and Identity is a collection of stories written by women who have chosen to ignore, subvert or redefine the dominant standard of beauty in order to feel at home in their bodies, said Elizabeth "Betsy" Ervin, director of the Women's Resource Center. Copies of the book will be on sale following the reading.

Love Your Body Day was launched in 1998 by the National Organization for Women. Other events planned for the celebration include chair massages and a "Write Your Body a Love Letter" table in the University Union. A screening and discussion of the documentary Body Image: The Quest for Perfection is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 15 in the University Union, Room 105.

Individuals who attend the evening events will receive a free class at Seaside Yoga and can register to win a free yoga package or one-hour massage.

UNCW's Women's Resource Center administers the women's studies minor and coordinates programming related to women.

Wilmington College Reunion Scheduled

A reunion of the 1960 to 1969 classes of Wilmington College is planned for Oct. 19. Activities will be held throughout the day culminating with a reunion party hosted by 1966 graduate Bob King at his truck center on New Centre Drive. Reservations are due Oct. 15. For more information, call ext. 2682.

CTE Lunch Discussions

The Center for Teaching Excellence is sponsoring a series of lunchtime discussions which provide faculty an opportunity to exchange ideas about teaching with colleagues. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch; CTE will provide discussion materials and dessert. Sessions listed below will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102. For more information, call ext. 3034.

- Student Culture Issues and You, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 17 or noon Oct. 21
- How to Guide Students to Write Better Research Papers, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 29 or noon Nov. 4
- Worst Practices in Web Sites for Teaching, 12:30 p.m. Nov. 12 or noon Nov. 20.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

William Overman, psychology, gave the invited talk "Performance on a Decision-making Task by Adolescents and Adults" to a meeting of the National Institutes of Drug Abuse in Bethesda, Md., and to the MacArthur Foundation Research Network on Adolescent Development and Juvenile Justice in Chicago. He also gave the invited presentation "Sex Differences in Early Childhood and Adulthood on Cognitive Tasks that Rely on the Orbital Prefrontal Cortex" to the International Conference on the Development of Orbitofrontal Functions in Toronto.

Julian Keith, Ray Pitts and Mark Galizio, psychology, had the paper "Navigation in the Morris Swim Task as a Baseline for Drug Discrimination" published in the Journal of the Experimental Analysis of Behavior, vol. 78. David Ziegler '00M was co-author.

Robert Wicklund, academic affairs, wrote the opinion piece "Don't Ignore the Science. On Many Fronts, Pollution Is Still a Problem" published in the Sept. 29 issue of The Roanoke Times.

Electronic Resource continued from Page 1

coding system for health and human service agencies, and is designed to help citizens quickly locate nonprofit and health and human services. Agencies can search for resources for clients, or citizens can search for the programs and services they need through the continuously updated listing of programs and agencies.

"SpinNC is an excellent model of community outreach," said Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for public service and continuing studies and associate provost. "It exemplifies the important role universities have when working both with and within their communities. Through a series of collaborations, SpinNC is providing services to the region that are vital for community and economic development."

Funding for SpinNC was provided by the Governor's Crime Commission ($46,949), the Cape Fear Memorial Foundation ($45,000), and Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation ($35,000).

D. Ann Pabst and William McLellan, biological sciences and CMS, along with co-authors from the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology and Virginia Marine Science Museum, had the paper "Evidence for Infanticide in Bottlenose Dolphins of the Western North Atlantic" published in the Journal of Wildlife Diseases. The paper describes a number of cases of infanticide in stranded bottlenose dolphins, a recent finding in both sides of the North Atlantic.

James Leutze, chancellor's office, and Daniel Baden, CMS, received $50,000 from the Kenan Foundation to convene a two-day roundtable on oceans and human health.

Frederick Bingham, physics and physical oceanography, had the article "The Origins of Waters Observed Along 137 Degrees East" published in the July issue of the Journal of Geophysical Research - Oceans.

Tom Macie, art and theatre, served as a juror for the CyberWeekend exhibition held at the Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum. The display featured digital works submitted by artists in a five-county area. Macie also participated in an open forum and gave a presentation in digital techniques for theatre design.

James Ford, physical plant, completed the state's Public Manager Program. He received his certificate in ceremonies last month held at the North Carolina Museum of History.

The PMP, which began in 1981, is a two-year program involving 10 courses and a final project. It is designed to increase the quality, efficiency and productivity of state government by improving the leadership abilities of employees holding management positions.

William McLellan and Ann Pabst, biological sciences and CMS, received $15,780 in supplemental funding from the National Marine Fisheries Service for the development of a large whale necropsy protocol.

Arthur Frankel, social work, received $5,040 from LINC for an evaluation project.

Ford, right, with Thomas Wright, state personnel director

UNCW-TV Programming

Oct. 10

- 1:30 to 2 p.m. An interview with Bruce Feiler author of Jews, Christians, and Muslims: Unity and Discord Among the Children of Abraham
- 7 to 9 p.m. 2002 candidates' forum (live)
- 9 to 9:30 p.m. Seahawk Central: Student Body TV

Oct. 11

- 1 to 2 p.m. "Blue Highways: A Journey into America," William Least Moon
- 7 to 7:30 p.m. "20 Top Southerners," a lecture by Harry Watson
- 7:30 to 8 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW & You
- 8 to 9 p.m. "Bernice Johnson Reagon: The Singing Warrior"

Oct. 14

- 1 to 2 p.m. Senior Symposium
- 7 to 9 p.m. 2002 candidates' forum (live)

Oct. 15

- 1 to 2 p.m. Lyrical Storytelling with Sarah Messer
- 3 to 4 p.m. "Jesus in the New Millennium"
- 4 to 5 p.m. "People's Century: 1916 Killing Fields"
- 7 to 9 p.m. 2002 candidates' forum (live)

Oct. 16

- 1 to 1:30 pm Let's Read! UNCW and You
- 1:30 to 2 p.m. Tony Hillerman, a reading
- 4 to 5 p.m. "People's Century: 1917 Red Flag"

UNCW-TV programming airs on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Channel 12.

Randall Library Fall Break Schedule

Randall Library will be open 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Oct. 10 and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 11.

Honors Program Workshop

The Honors Scholars Program will sponsor "What, When and How: Departmental Honors Project" from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in the University Union Living Room. This workshop is designed for students to learn how to work one-on-one with a professor in their field. Faculty who are interested in conducting a student project are encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call ext. 4181.

Central Stores Stocking 2003 Items

Central Stores has 2003 calendar refills and the desktop calendar pads in stock.

Rec Center Break Schedule

The Student Recreation Center will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Oct. 10 and 11, 1 to 5 p.m. Oct. 12 and 4 to 10 p.m. Oct. 13. Recreational swim hours will be 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Oct. 10 and 11. The climbing wall will be closed through Oct. 13.

NC Flex Enrollment

The annual enrollment period for NC Flex is Oct. 14 through Nov. 8. New booklets and enrollment forms will be distributed through campus mail. Informational meetings will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in the University Union, Room 100. Benefit elections made during the enrollment period take effect Jan. 1.

Keb' Mo' Concert

Two-time Grammy Award winner Keb' Mo' will perform at 8 p.m. Oct. 14 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Arts in Action Performance Series.

For ticket information, call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Faculty/Staff Golf Tournament to Proceed

UNCW's annual faculty/staff golf tournament will be held as scheduled Oct. 11 at Olde Point Golf and Country Club. Registration is at noon with a shotgun start at 1 p.m.

Cahill Award Proposals

The Office of Sponsored Programs is soliciting proposals for the Charles L. Cahill Awards for Faculty Research and Development. Applicants should submit an original proposal and 11 copies by 5 p.m. Oct. 15 to Hoggard Hall, Room 227. Additional information on the Cahill awards is on the Web at www.uncw.edu/ora/CahillAwards.htm or contact Michelle Starks at ext. 3810.

Phased Retirement Annual Enrollment Period

The annual enrollment period for faculty who wish to enter phased retirement beginning August 2003 is Sept. 26 through Oct. 25. Additional information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/hr/phased.htm.

Information sessions on phased retirement will be held from 4 to 5 p.m. Oct. 16 and 17 in human resources seminar room, 5051 New Centre Drive. To register for a session or to receive an enrollment packet, call ext. 3160.

Earth Sciences Seminar

Patrick Pease from the Department of Geography at East Carolina University will present "Composition and Sources of Sand in the Wahiba Sand Sea, Sultanate of Oman" at 2 p.m. Oct. 18 in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Spiritual Masters Series

Baal Shem Tov, who founded the Hassidic movement, is the subject of the Oct. 22 talk in the Spiritual Masters Series sponsored by UNCW's Pastoral Summit. The lecture will be held 6:30 p.m. at B'nai Israel Synagogue, 2601 Chestnut Street.

Staff Training

Becoming an Ally: Project B-Glad, 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 17

Dealing with Disabilities – Personal or Family Members, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 15.

Getting Ready for Your Debut, 9 a.m. to noon, Oct. 18.

Maintaining and Reading Your Budget, 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 24.

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 29.

Understanding FRS Reports and Screens, 9 a.m. to noon Oct. 22

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23059 Purchasing Assistant	Oct. 11
23060 Customer Service Technician	Oct. 11
23061 Office Assistant IV	Oct. 11
23062 Office Assistant III	Oct. 11
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Remember to link your Harris Teeter VIC Card to UNCW's Together in Education number 5034 and 2 percent of the purchase of the chain's private label products such as H.T. Traders and Hunter Farms will be credited to UNCW's account.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 15 Oct. 17, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

The Rise of Southern Republicans

Political Scientist Merle Black to Lecture

Nationally known political scientist Merle Black will speak on "The Rise of Southern Republicans and the Election of Nov. 5, 2002" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 25 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. The Department of Political Science and the Office of the Chancellor is sponsoring this free, public event.

UNC Chapel Hill state government expert Thad Beyle and 18th District Cumberland County Representative Mia Morris, a Republican and graduate of the UNCW Institute of Political Leadership, will respond to his presentation. Lee Johnston, political science and event organizer, will moderate.

Black specializes in the study of politics in the modern South. He was born in Oklahoma in 1942 and reared in East Texas. He graduated from Harvard College in 1964 and received a doctorate in political science from the University of Chicago in 1972. Black taught at UNC-Chapel Hill for 19 years and in 1989 became the Asa G. Candler Professor of Politics and Government at Emory University.

In 1996, he received Emory University's Scholar-Teacher Award for excellence in research and teaching. He was a Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar in 1999-2000.

Black's scholarly writing centers on several projects in collaboration with his twin brother Earl Black of Rice University. They co-authored Politics and Society in the South in 1987, which won the Ralph G. Bunche Award of the American Political Science Association and the V. O. Key Award of the Southern Political Science

Black

Beyle

Morris

Association. In 1992, they published The Vital South, which won the 1992 Award of the Association of American Publishers for "the most outstanding book in government and political science." Their latest book The Rise of Southern Republicans was published by Harvard University Press in spring 2002.

Thad Beyle is a political scientist, writer and consultant. Born 1934 in Syracuse, N.Y., he earned bachelor's and master's degrees from Syracuse University in 1956 and 1960, respectively. He received a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1963. He has taught at see Southern Republicans on page 4

Princeton Professor to Present First Sherman Lecture

Michael Doran, assistant professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University and adjunct senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York City, has been named the first Sherman Emerging Scholar in the Department of History at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. Doran was selected in national competition for this distinction. Finalists included scholars at Georgetown University and Stanford University.

In his capacity as Sherman Emerging Scholar, Doran will visit Wilmington Oct. 23-26, where he will conduct informal seminars with faculty and students, guest lecture in several classes and present a public lecture.

See Sherman Scholar on page 4

Visiting Poet to Read

Washington poet and visiting professor Sharon Bryan will read from her works at 8 p.m. Oct. 24 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow. The university's Creative Writing Department is sponsoring this free, public event.

Bryan

Bryan, who lives in Port Townsend, Wash., is the author of three volumes of poetry including Flying Blind. Her newest anthology, Planet on the Table: Poets on the Reading Life is scheduled

See Poetry Reading on page 5

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

MBA Information

Working professionals wondering how to squeeze MBA classes in their busy lives can learn more at an informational session scheduled for 6 p.m. Nov. 6 in Cameron Hall, Room 133.

The 24-month MBA program offered by the Cameron School of Business is designed to meet the needs of working professionals, with classes offered in the evening. All undergraduate majors can enroll.

For more information, contact Elaine Asper at ext. 3903 or e-mail asper@uncw.edu.

Leadership Film

Erin Brockovich will be shown at 7 p.m. Oct. 29 in King Hall Auditorium as part of the Leadership Film Discussion Series sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service. William Cooper, chemistry, will lead a discussion on the film's environmental issues following the showing. Refreshments will be served.

Nursing School Sponsors Team for Diabetes Walk

The School of Nursing is a team member for the 2002 Walk to Cure Diabetes. This 5K walk is scheduled for Oct. 26 at Greenfield Lake Park. Check-in starts at 8:30 a.m.; the walk begins at 10 a.m. The team's goal is to raise $2,000. To sponsor the team, contact Nancy McEmore or Tracy Tonsor at ext. 4187.

OSP Seminars

The Office of Sponsored Programs is hosting a seminar series on the changing face of research administration. The office's next seminar, scheduled for 10 a.m. Oct. 23 in the University Union, Room 201, will focus on university procedures for submitting a proposal for external funding. To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starks@uncw.edu.

Concert Choir Performance

The UNCW Concert Choir, under the direction of Joe Hickman, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 3 at St. James Church.

Tournament Rescheduled

The annual faculty/staff golf tournament, which was rained out Oct. 11, has been rescheduled for Oct. 25 at Olde Point Golf and Country Club. Registration opens at noon; play begins with a shotgun start at 1 p.m.

Earth Sciences Seminar

Patrick Pease from the Department of Geography at East Carolina University will present "Composition and Sources of Sand in the Wahiba Sand Sea, Sultanate of Oman" at 2 p.m. Oct. 18 in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Exchange Program Seeking Participants

The Rotary Club, District 7730, is seeking four non-Rotarian professionals to visit Bangladesh in January 2003 as part of its Group Study Exchange Program. The awards involve a four-week visit, during which team members share personal knowledge of their own country and experience the customs, vocations and lifestyles of another. While abroad, team members stay in Rotarians' homes and have the opportunity to meet their professional counterparts. They will also give presentations to Rotary clubs and other groups about their home country.

The Rotary Foundation provides a round-trip air ticket, and Rotarians in the host country provide meals, lodging and group travel in their district. Team participants pay for personal and incidental expenses.

Young professionals within the age range of 25 to 40 are encouraged to apply. Applicants must live or be employed in Rotary District 7730 which includes the greater Wilmington area and ranges from Brunswick to Cumberland County and north to Onslow and Lenoir counties.

For an application, contact Mimi Cunningham at ext. 3171 or e-mail cunningham@uncw.edu. Applications are due by Nov. 1.

Home Ownership

Harbor Foundation, a non-profit organization whose mission is to provide affordable housing for Wilmington citizens, is hosting an informational session on its home ownership program at 5:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at 5051 New Centre Drive, Suite 103. The foundation is constructing a two-story, 1,550-square-foot home in downtown Wilmington that will be ready by Jan. 30. Qualified applicants must meet HUD income guidelines, be employed and have a good credit rating. For more information, contact Kathy McDaniel at 352-4663 or e-mail harborfoundation@yahoo.com.

SECC Update

The State Employees Combined Campaign continues through Nov. 1. This year's campaign features an incentive program. Winners in the Early Soaring Seahawk drawing were: Marla Rice-Evans, university advancement, who won a two-hour tour for two of the Intracoastal Waterway; Regan Dumas, internal audit, who won dinner for two to be prepared by Chancellor James R. Leutze; and Rex Pringle, student affairs, who won a Palm Pilot. For a pledge form or additional information about the campaign, contact Michelle Howard-Vital or Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies, or visit UNCW's SECC Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscs/secc/.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Honey glazed ham, spanakopita, mashed potatoes with cheddar and chives, orange glazed carrots, green beans, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Asian marinated flank steak, spice vegetable pilaf, citron rice, peas with mushrooms, squash casserole, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Midnite Madness

UNCW's annual Midnite Madness celebration will be held Oct. 18. This is the public's first chance to see the 2002-03 men's and women's basketball teams. Activities start at 9 p.m. with the Fan Jam in the Hanover parking lot (Lot A). There will be live music by To the Nines, free refreshments, games and contests. Trask Coliseum will open at 10:30 p.m.

To prepare for Fan Jam, Lot A will close at 1 p.m.

Randall Library Book Sale

Randall Library will hold its fifth annual book sale from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Nov. 11 and 12 and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 13. Sale proceeds will fund library programs and projects. Faculty and staff interested in donating books or sound and video recordings should contact Beth Roberts at ext. 3720.

Lessons of September

UNCW will host the North Carolina premiere of the acclaimed documentary The Lessons of September: One School Remembers from 7 to 9 p.m. Oct. 22 in Kenan Auditorium. Lou Buttino, communication studies, served as co-producer on the film, which was first broadcast on public television's WNET-13 in metropolitan New York in September.

The documentary's executive director John DeNatale will also attend the screening as well as Paulette Hasson and Lisa DellaPietra, interviewees in the film who lost family members on Sept. 11. A question-and-answer period will follow the film.

Cub Scouts Popcorn Sale

Cub Scouts Pack 215 is holding its annual Trail's End popcorn fund-raiser, which features the sale of popcorn in various flavors including cheddar, chocolate caramel crunch and caramel corn with peanuts. For more information, contact Emma Kay Thornton, computer science, at ext. 7182 or e-mail thornton.

Physics Colloquium

Lubos Mitras from the Department of Physics, North Carolina State University, will present "Electronic Structure by Quantum Monte Carlo Methods: Accomplishments and Perspectives" at 2 p.m. Oct. 18 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212.

Gospel Sing

The Black Campus Connection is sponsoring a gospel sing-along at noon Oct. 25 in the University Union Living Room. The connection is an organization of black faculty, staff and students who are committed to improving the campus climate for black students. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrael.

Fantail Film Festival

This week's selection for the Fabulous 50 Cents Fantail Film Festival, sponsored by the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial, is Alfred Hitchcock's North by Northwest. The showing is set for 7 p.m. Oct. 18 aboard the battleship. Todd Berliner, director of the Film Studies Program, will host the event; tickets are 50 cents.

UN Day Luncheon

The Coastal Carolina Chapter of the United Nations Association will observe U.N. Day with a luncheon at 1 p.m. Oct. 20 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. Ronald Copley, former UNCW professor of finance, will present "The Current Status of Jordan." Copley worked as a financial consultant with the government of Jordan and traveled widely in that country. The luncheon is $11 for adults and $5 for students. For reservations, call Charlie West at 458-4136 or Jean Schaefer at 395-6190.

Heritage School

Heritage School, a five-week opportunity to learn African-American history, will be offered Saturdays, Oct. 19 through Nov. 16. Classes are held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Advanced registration is required for these free events; call Helena Lee at ext. 7087 or e-mail leeh.

Lure of Fishing

"The Lure of Fishing," an exhibit featuring antique fishing lures, duck decoys and other fishing memorabilia, is on display until Dec. 15 in Randall Library. The exhibit is featured in the library's main foyer display case until Oct. 30 and then will move to special collections.

CTE Lunch Discussions

The Center for Teaching Excellence is sponsoring a series of lunchtime discussions which provide faculty an opportunity to exchange ideas about teaching with colleagues. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch; CTE will provide discussion materials and dessert. Sessions listed below will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102. For more information, call ext. 3034.

- Student Culture Issues and You, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 17 or noon Oct. 21
- How to Guide Students to Write Better Research Papers, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 29 or noon Nov. 4
- Worst Practices in Web Sites for Teaching, 12:30 p.m. Nov. 12 or noon Nov. 20.

Poetry Slam

Poetry Slam, an annual event sponsored by the Watson School of Education, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Water Street Restaurant, 5 South Water Street.

This contest, which offers $500 in cash prizes for first through sixth place, is limited to 40 poets. Original works written by the performing author can be read. Poets will be allowed five minutes for their performances. To register, contact Maurice Martinez at ext. 4279 or e-mail martinezm. Registrants should provide their name, address and contact telephone number.

Admission to the Oct. 29 event is free. In addition to the poetry readings, there will be performances by Spanish guitarist William "Paco" Strickland, blues artists Rose and Charlie Lucas and jazz musician Benny Hill.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Spiritual Masters Series

Baal Shem Tov, who founded the Hassidic movement, is the subject of the Oct. 22 talk in the Spiritual Masters Series sponsored by UNCW's Pastoral Summit. The lecture will be held 6:30 p.m. at B'nai Israel Synagogue, 2601 Chestnut Street.

Sherman Scholar continued from Page 1

Doran is the author of Pan-Arabism Before Nasser: Egyptian Power Politics and the Palestine Question (Oxford University Press, 1999). His free, public lecture "The United States, the Arab World, and the Question of Palestine" will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 24 in Dobo Hall, Room 134. A reception will follow.

Doran

At Princeton, Doran has taught the courses "Arab-Israeli Conflict," "United States and the Middle East" and "Introduction to Middle Eastern History, 622-2000" as well as the graduate seminars "Political Community in the Modern Arab World" and "Middle East in International Politics."

He earned his Ph.D. (1997) and M.A. (1990) in Near Eastern Studies from Princeton and his B.A. in history from Stanford in 1987.

The Sherman Emerging Scholars Lecture Series is the first endowed lecture series for the History Department. Announced in April 2002, the series is named in honor of Virginia and Derrick Sherman, a retired couple who have made Wilmington their home. The endowment was established in honor of the Shermans by their son, Phillip Sherman and his wife, Birgitta, and their daughter, Ann Sherman-Skiba and her husband Dr. Gunther Skiba.

Southern Republicans continued from Page 1

UNC-Chapel Hill since 1967 and was named Thomas C. Pearsall Professor of Political Science in 1993.

Beyle has worked with North Carolina and national governors, helped establish the Southern Growth Policies Board (1969-71) and served as consultant to the National Governors' Association on gubernatorial transitions.

He was a member of the board of directors of the N.C. Center for Public Policy Research from 1977 to 1992, serving as its chair from 1980 to 1989. For the decade from 1987 to 1997, he was on the board of directors of the N.C. Institute of Political Leadership, serving as its chair from 1995 to 1997.

Mia Morris, elected to the North Carolina House of Representatives in November 1996, lists her employment as a full-time Army battalion commander spouse. A former teacher, she is active in Fayetteville and Cumberland County and Republican activities, serving as a campaign volunteer for Bush/Quayle in 1988 and 1992 and as a delegate to the 2000 National Republican Convention.

She is a member of the board of the UNCW Institute of Political Leadership. NCFREE ranked her as the third most effective overall legislator in 1999-2000.

Morris earned a bachelor's degree in French and philosophy from the University of San Francisco.

Honors Scholars Program Hosting Workshop

The Honors Scholars Program will sponsor "What, When and How: Departmental Honors Project" from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in the University Union Living Room. This workshop is designed for students to learn how to work one-on-one with a professor in their field. Faculty who are interested in conducting a student project are encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call ext. 4181.

UNCW-TV Programming

Oct. 17

- 1 to 1:30 p.m. A reading by John Holman
- 7 to 7:30 p.m. Seahawk Central: Student Body TV
- 7:30 to 8 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW & You
- 8 to 9 p.m. "Gwendolyn Zohara Simmons: Following the Call"

Oct. 18

- 1 to 2 p.m. "An Israeli Perspective: An Interview with Michael Bar-Zohar"
- 7 to 7:30 p.m. "Claude Howell: His Life, His Art, His World"
- 7:30 to 8 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW & You
- 8 to 9 p.m. "James Lawson: The Seamless Cloth of Faith and Struggle"

Oct. 21

- 1 to 2 p.m. "Crossing Genres with Philip Gerard"
- 7 to 9 p.m. "UNCW Teach-in Asks: War with Iraq?"

Oct. 22

- 1 to 1:45 p.m. "Gorilla of My Dreams: Dr. Sally Boysen" and a reading by Alison Lorie
- 3 to 4 p.m. "Terry Tempest Williams: On Non-fiction"
- 4 to 5 p.m. "People's Century: 1919 Lost Peace"

Oct. 23

- 1 to 1:30 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW and You
- 1:30 to 2 p.m. "Living Southern with Betty Ray McCain"
- 4 to 5 p.m. "People's Century: 1926 on the Line"

UNCW-TV
programming airs
on Time Warner
Cable Channel 5
and Charter
Communications
Channel 12.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Steve Meinhold, political science, received $18,411 from the UNC Office of the President to create a database of UNC faculty experts on natural and technological disasters.

Anne Crawford and Karen Shafer, specialty studies, received $49,281 in supplemental funding from the Math and Science Education Network for a North Carolina middle math project.

Julian Keith, psychology, was quoted in the Oct. 5 Dallas Morning News article "Doctors Aim to Ease Mental Effects of Heart Surgery." Keith's research was also featured in the Monitor on Psychology article "Cognition Still Impaired a Month After Bypass, Study Shows." Monitor on Psychology is published by the American Psychological Association.

Marvin Moss, physics and physical oceanography, Fred Bingham, Thomas Lankford, Michael Mallin, Martin Posey and Lawrence Cahoon, biological sciences, William Cooper, chemistry, Michael Durako, CMS, and Lynn Leonard, earth sciences, received $920,900 in federal funding from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration/Department of Commerce for the Coastal Ocean Research and Monitoring Program.

Norman Bemelmans, Kenan Auditorium, is a member of the arts and cultural task force. The group, appointed by the Wilmington City Council, is charged with preparing an action plan for addressing cultural issues and making recommendations on supporting arts in the region.

Martha Everett, Mary Ann Davies and Edna Collins, specialty studies, received $239,486 from UNC Greensboro to provide assessments of child care centers applying for higher rate licenses in a 10-county area.

Steven Miller, NURC/CMS, received $10,000 from the Munson Foundation for a proposal to enhance marine science education.

Lynn Smithdeal Helps Search for Grant Funding

By Karla Pollard, University Relations Intern

Few people can say their first day of work marks the beginning of a new UNC Wilmington center. Lynn Smithdeal can.

On Aug. 1, 2002, the UNCW Grant Support Center, housed in the Department of Social Work, opened with Smithdeal as its first employee. As program coordinator, Smithdeal provides free grant writing services to non-profit, government organizations and university departments.

"This is a great service by the university to provide grant writing in time of funding shortages," Smithdeal said.

She works with nonprofit and governmental agencies as well as university departments to identify sources with interest in funding a specific program, organization or partnership of different groups and then works to plan a fundable project or program. Smithdeal, who has lived in the Wilmington area since 1983, worked with the New Hanover County Department of Social Services for 19 years. In 1999, she graduated from UNCW with a Master of Business Administration degree.

In the spring, Smithdeal and Karen Sandell, assistant professor of social work, will teach "Social Work 443: Social Work Practice with Communities and Organizations."

Smithdeal

Alcohol Awareness Week Observance Oct. 21-25

UNCW will observe National Alcohol Awareness Week Oct. 21-25. Scheduled activities are listed below.

Oct. 21

"DWI: Deciding with Intelligence," 6 p.m. Wagoner Hall.

"Sex Under the Influence," 8 p.m. Honors House.

Oct. 22

"Endurance Challenge," 6 to 8 p.m. Student Recreation Center, Court 3.

"Party Foul," 7 to 9 p.m. Graham-Hewlett Great Room.

Oct. 23

"Red Light, Green Light: A Maze of Drinking Consequences," 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Campus Commons.

"Endurance Challenge," 6 to 8 p.m. Student Recreation Center, Court 3.

"Sex Under the Influence," 7 to 9 p.m. Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe.

Oct. 24

"Alcohol-free Alternatives: Carnival of Options," 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. University Union.

When a Man Loves a Woman, 7:30 p.m. University Union, Hawk's Nest.

Oct. 25

"Day of Abstinence"

For more information about these events, contact CROSSROADS, UNCW's Substance Abuse Prevention and Education Program, at ext. 4136.

Poetry Reading continued from Page 1

for release in 2003 by Sarabande Books. She is currently a visiting faculty member at UNCW and has served as distinguished-writer-in-residence at Wichita State University and the University of Missouri at St. Louis. She was also poet-in-residence at The Frost Place in 1993.

Bryan's work has appeared in American Poetry Review, The Atlantic Monthly, Georgia Review, Ploughshares, Paris Review and The Nation. She is a recipient of two National Endowment for the Arts Fellowships in Poetry and a Senior Fellowship with the Provincetown Fine Arts Work Center. Her work earned first prize from the Academy of American Poets and the Discovery Award from The Nation.

Search Committee Meeting

The Chancellor Search Committee is seeking additional input from the campus community at three open forums Oct. 24 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. UNCW students are invited to address the committee from 11 a.m. to noon. The chancellor's faculty and staff advisory committees are invited from noon to 12:30 p.m. and 12:30 to 1 p.m., respectively. Speakers will be recognized in the order in which they sign up. Time allowed will be based upon the numbers attending.

Direct questions to Sam Connally, secretary of the search committee, at ext. 3855.

Directory Correction

The extension for Tim Harris listed on page 40 in the telephone directory should be 4120.

Sam's Club Membership

Faculty, staff and students are eligible to purchase membership to Sam's Club for $35. This offer includes a primary card and a second card as well as coupons for free film developing, free vision screening and other services.

Enrollment applications/renewals will be accepted from 1 to 8 p.m. Oct. 25 and 26 at the store, which is located on South College Road. To enroll, bring your university ID to the UNCW hospitality table. Cash or checks will be accepted. For more information, call ext. 3274.

Staff Training

Maintaining and Reading Your Budget, 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 24.

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 29.

Understanding FRS Reports and Screens, 9 a.m. to noon Oct. 22

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Nancy Engel, accounting; and Jason Hales, biological sciences.

UNCW Posts Top Graduation Rate for Student-athletes

UNC Wilmington posted the highest graduation rate for its student-athletes among NCAA Division I public universities in North Carolina for the four-year class average, according to the annual graduation rates report released by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). UNCW paced the UNC system in four-year class averages at 74 percent, followed by UNC Asheville at 67 percent and UNC Greensboro at 53 percent.

"This is, indeed, good news for us," said Chancellor James R. Leutze. "This shows what we already know about our student-athletes. They are serious about getting a quality education and certainly have their priorities in order. We like to compete for championships, but we also take great pride in our accomplishments in the classroom as well."

In the annual NCAA summary, UNCW graduated 74 percent of its student-athletes for the four-year class average of 1992-93, 1993-94, 1994-95 and 1995-96.

Among the Colonial Athletic Association's 10 institutions, UNCW tied with James Madison for the third best cohort rate. Delaware graduated 87 percent of its student-athletes to finish first, followed by William and Mary at 80 percent and UNCW and JMU at 74 percent.

Obviously, we're delighted with this report," said Peg Bradley-Doppes, athletic director. "Our student-athletes know why they are here and that's to get a quality education that will prepare them for the future. Our academic mission is very important to our coaches and student-athletes, so we're very pleased to continue our high standing in the annual graduation rates reports."

NC Flex Enrollment

The annual enrollment period for NC Flex continues through Nov. 8. New booklets and enrollment forms will be distributed through campus mail. In reviewing enrollment options, note that a supplemental medical insurance plan is being offered for the first time. The plan will pay $50 per office visit, $100 for a physical exam.

Participants in the medical expense or dependent day care spending accounts must submit a new form for deductions starting in January. NC Flex program representatives will be on campus Oct. 22 to answer questions. Sessions are scheduled for 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in the University Union, Room 100.

Completed enrollment forms are due in human resources by Nov. 8. Benefit elections made during the enrollment period take effect Jan. 1.

Yoga Classes

Free yoga classes for beginners and advanced practitioners are offered from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the Student Recreation Center training room. For more information, call ext. 3274

Phased Retirement

The annual enrollment period for faculty who wish to enter phased retirement beginning August 2003 is Sept. 26 through Oct. 25. Enrollment information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/hr/phased.htm. To receive an enrollment packet, call or human resources at ext. 3160.

An informational meeting will be held from 4 to 5 p.m. Oct. 17 in the training room in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an individual appointment to discuss retirement options, contact Kay Fryar at ext. 3698.

Shared Leave

Ivan Castillo, university police, and Terri Joynes, university advancement, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Recycling Relocation

Due to construction in the area, the recycling shed has been relocated opposite its normal location on L Street.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 16 Oct. 24, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Marine Band to Give Veterans Day Salute

The 2nd Marine Division Band (the Division's Own) of Camp Lejeune will perform a patriotic tribute to the nation's veterans at a free, public concert scheduled for 10 a.m. Nov. 11 in Kenan Auditorium. Sponsored by the university, the concert will include such favorites as "Stars and Stripes Forever," "America the Beautiful" and "Esprit de Corps."

Under the direction of Staff Sgt. William Howe, the division band is the only musical unit based at Camp Lejeune. It provides support for five major commands and more than 30,000 Marines. These musical ambassadors perform throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.

Sherman Scholar's Public Talk Tonight

Michael Doran, assistant professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University and adjunct senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York City, is the first Sherman Emerging Scholar in the History Department. He will also present the free, public talk "The United States, the Arab World and the Question of Palestine" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 24 in Dobo Hall, Room 134.

The event will include a welcome by Royce Angel, special assistant to the chancellor for community relations, and an invocation by Nancy Cooper of United Christian Campus Ministry.

The event is free; seating is limited. Admission will be by ticket only. For information, call Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. Tickets are limited to two per person. Attendees should park in the Trask Coliseum parking lot. Free shuttle service will be provided to the concert site.

Second Marine Division Band

Kennedy to Lecture on Environmental Destiny

Robert F. Kennedy Jr., environmental leader, attorney, author and law professor, will discuss "Our Environmental Destiny" at 7 p.m. Nov. 4 in Kenan Auditorium.

Kennedy is chief prosecuting attorney for the Hudson Riverkeeper program and senior attorney for the Natural Resources Defense Council. He is also clinical professor at the Environmental Litigation Clinic at Pace University School of Law in New York. His reputation as a defender of the environment stems from a litany of successful legal actions: prosecuting governments and companies for polluting the Hudson River and Long Island Sound, winning settlements for the Hudson Riverkeeper, arguing cases to expand citizen access to the shoreline and suing sewage treatment plants to force compliance with the Clean Water Act.

In addition to his legal work, Kennedy is a writer whose articles have appeared in The New York Times, Atlantic Monthly, The Wall Street Journal, Esquire, The Village Voice, The Boston Globe and The Washington Post. A graduate of Harvard University, Kennedy studied at the London School of Economics and received his law degree from the University of Virginia Law School.

His talk is the second of the five-part Leadership Lecture Series "Constructing Conscience: A Matter of Values" sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center.

This academic year the series explores themes of values, integrity and self-awareness in contemporary society.

Tickets are $6 for the public and free for faculty, staff and students. Contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847. To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Lost World

Before Spielberg and Jurassic Park there was The Lost World, the original screen adoption of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel. Randall Library will host a free screening of this 1925 silent film at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 30 in the library auditorium. Refreshments will be served.

The Lost World was the first live-action dinosaur adventure and featured special effects by Willis O'Brien, who pioneered visual techniques still used today. He also worked on the original classic King Kong.

Wilmington Symphony

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will open its 2002-03 concert season at 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in Kenan Auditorium. This event will feature Mahler's Symphony No. 1 as well as a solo performance by cellist Richard Thomas. Tickets, which range from $4 to $18, are on sale at the auditorium box office. Call ext. 3500.

Warwick Art Exhibit

"Pilgrimage to the Unknown," an exhibit of oil paintings by local artist Erik Arnebold, will be on display Oct. 28 through Dec. 13 in the Warwick Center Lobby. A meet-the-artist reception is scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. Nov. 1 at the display. This event will include a poetry reading by Sheridan Bushnell.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Steve Emslie will present "Ice, Penguins and Climate Change: What's Really Happening in Antarctica?" at 2 p.m. Oct. 25 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Water Polo Matches

Starting Oct. 30, water polo will be held in the natatorium in Hanover Hall. Games will be held from noon to 1 p.m. Wednesdays and Fridays. Interested faculty and staff should bring their ID, swimsuit and a towel. For more information, contact Bob Gough at ext. 7758 or e-mail goughr.

Fortune Telling for Students

Career services is hosting free fortune telling for students from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 31 in the University Union, Room 106.

UCCM Celebration

United Campus Christian Ministry will celebrate 30 years of service in Wilmington at 3 p.m. Oct. 27 at First Christian Church on Oleander Drive.

Healthy Breasts

Wellness services and student health are sponsoring two educational events related to breast health. "Bug Bites to Bazonga: Your Breast Health Questions Answered" will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 24 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. The panel discussion "Girl Talk: Understanding Breast Health and Cancer Risk" will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Oct. 28 in the Cameron Hall Auditorium.

Digital Scenery Design

Tom Macie, art and theatre, will demonstrate digital techniques used to design theatre scenery to the Digital Content Consortium at 12:30 p.m. Oct. 31 in the Randall Library Distance Learning Classroom. Faculty and staff can attend this virtual conference.

The UNC Pembroke Media Integration Project hosts the Digital Content Consortium. The project is a member of New Media Centers, a collaboration of universities and technology companies formed to explore innovative uses of emerging technologies for teaching and learning.

Trick or Treat Tales

A special Halloween session of the Children's Story Adventures will be held from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 30 in the children's literature section of Randall Library. In addition to Halloween stories for children ages three to 10, there will be food and crafts. To sign up children, contact the Seahawk Perch at ext. 7371.

SECC Update

The State Employees Combined Campaign continues through Nov. 1. Since the campaign began in September, 298 employees have pledged their support. Last year, 521 employees contributed to the campaign which ranked UNCW 13th among state universities in participation.

This year's drive features an incentive program. Winners in the "Early Seahawk" drawing were Cheryl Cox, accounting, who won two tickets to the dinner lecture by Elliott Engle; Mary Nixon, financial aid and veterans services, who won dinner for two prepared by Chancellor James R. Leutze; and Mary Ann Davies, curriculum studies, who won computer software valued at $200. For a pledge form or additional information about the campaign, contact Michelle Howard-Vital or Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies, or visit UNCW's SECC Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscs/secc/.

Get Your Bike in Gear

The Seahawk Perch, UNCW's Center for Commuter and Nontraditional Student Services, is hosting "Get Your Bike in Gear" from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 28 near the University Union north porch. Representatives from Two-wheeler Dealer Bicycle Shop will provide free maintenance and safety checks. University police will also be accepting bike registrations. For more information, call ext. 7371.

Randall Library Book Sale

Randall Library will hold its fifth annual book sale from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Nov. 11 and 12 and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 13. Sale proceeds will fund library programs and projects. Faculty and staff interested in donating books or sound and video recordings should contact Beth Roberts at ext. 3270.

Dance Performance

The Koresh Dance Company, known for its powerful stage presence and high-energy style, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 9 in Kenan Auditorium. The Philadelphia-based troupe's performance is the second of the university's eight-part Arts in Action performance series.

Tickets are $18; $12 for faculty, staff and seniors; $6 for UNCW students and children 12 and under; and are available through the Kenan Auditorium box office by calling ext. 3500.

MBA Information

UNCW's MBA program will host an information session at 6 p.m. Nov. 6 in Cameron Hall, Room 133.

This 24-month program is designed to meet the needs of working professionals, with classes offered in the evening. All undergraduate majors can enroll.

For more information, contact Elaine Asper at ext. 3903 or e-mail aspere.

Leadership Film

Erin Brockovich will be shown at 7 p.m. Oct. 29 in King Hall Auditorium as part of the Leadership Film Discussion Series sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service. William Cooper, chemistry, will lead a discussion on the film's environmental issues following the showing. Refreshments will be served.

Celtic Festival

A Celtic Festival will be held Oct. 26 at the Church of the Servant, 4925 Oriole Drive. The event, which starts at 10 a.m., includes music, food, crafts and historical demonstrations. Admission is $3 in advance, $5 at the door. For more information, contact Earla Pope at 763-6929.

Gospel Sing Oct. 25

The Black Campus Connection is sponsoring a gospel sing-along at noon Oct. 25 in the University Union Living Room. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435 or e-mail macrael.

Concert Choir Performance

The UNCW Concert Choir, under the direction of Joe Hickman, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 3 at St. James Church.

Home Ownership

Harbor Foundation, a non-profit organization whose mission is to provide affordable housing for Wilmington citizens, is hosting an informational session on its home ownership program at 5:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at 5051 New Centre Drive, Suite 103. For more information, contact Kathy McDaniel at 352-4663 or e-mail harborfoundation@yahoo.com.

Fantail Film Festival

The final selection for the Fabulous 50 Cents Fantail Film Festival, sponsored by the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial, is Alfred Hitchcock's Psycho. The showing is set for 7 p.m. Oct. 25 aboard the battleship. Todd Berliner, director of the Film Studies Program, will host the event; tickets are 50 cents.

CTE Lunch Discussions

The Center for Teaching Excellence is sponsoring a series of lunchtime discussions which provide faculty an opportunity to exchange ideas about teaching with colleagues. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch; CTE will provide discussion materials and dessert. Sessions listed below will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102. For more information, call ext. 3034.

- How to Guide Students to Write Better Research Papers, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 29 or noon Nov. 4.
- Worst Practices in Web Sites for Teaching, 12:30 p.m. Nov. 12 or noon Nov. 20.

Opera Performance

The Wilmington Concert Association is sponsoring a performance of La Boheme by the Stanislavsky Opera Company. The production is scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 6 in Kenan Auditorium. For ticket information, call ext. 3500.

Poetry Slam

Poetry Slam, an annual event sponsored by the Watson School of Education, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Water Street Restaurant, 5 South Water Street.

Admission is free. In addition to the poetry readings, there will be performances by guitarist William "Paco" Strickland, blues artists Rose and Charlie Lucas and jazz musician Benny Hill. The College of Arts and Sciences and the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies are cosponsors of this event.

Call for Nominations

Scripps Institution of Oceanography is accepting nominations for the 2003 William Nierenberg Prize for Science and Public Interest.

This award recognizes a major contribution to science in the public interest by an individual, group or organization and reflects the mission of Scripps which is to seek, teach and communicate scientific understanding of the earth for the benefit of society and the environment. Past winners include naturalist E. O. Wilson and journalist Walter Cronkite.

Nominations are due Oct. 31. For more information, contact Karen Garst, administrator of the Nierenberg Prize Committee, via e-mail at kgarst@ucsd.edu.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Honey-pecan fried chicken, eggplant parmesan, baked potatoes, sauteed sugar snap peas and carrots, steamed vegetables, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Cinnamon roast pork loin, baked stuffed shells, mashed potatoes with cheddar and chives, broccoli casserole, spiced apples, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Sherman Hayes, Randall Library, received $2,000 from International Paper Co. for the project "Building Oral History: The Experiences of U.S. Chaplains in Uniform."

Doug Kesling, CMS, received $12,744 from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to coordinate diving operations in the Monitor National Marine Sanctuary.

Michelle Howard-Vital and James Edmundson, public service and continuing studies, presented "From Outreach to Engagement to Scholarship: A Mission Driven Evolution" at the Outreach Scholarship 2002 conference: Catalyst for Change in Columbus, Ohio. This annual conference is sponsored by Ohio State University, Pennsylvania State University and University of Wisconsin. Hunter Thompson and Cathi Phillips, public service and continuing studies, contributed to the presentation.

Courtney Hackney, Martin Posey and Troy Alphin, biological sciences, and Lynn Leonard, earth sciences, received $6,650 in supplemental funding from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Wilmington District, to service, maintain and calibrate remote data collection platforms in the Cape Fear basin.

Exchange Program Seeking Participants

The Rotary Club, District 7730, is seeking four outstanding non-Rotarian professionals to visit Bangladesh in January 2003 as part of the Group Study Exchange Program of the Rotary Foundation.

The foundation provides a round-trip air ticket, and local Rotarians in the host country provide meals, lodging and group travel in their district. Team participants pay for personal and incidental expenses.

Young professionals within the age range of 25 to 40 are encouraged to apply. For more information or an application, contact Mimi Cunningham at ext.3171 or e-mail cunninghamm@uncw.edu. Applications are due by Nov. 1.

David Webster, biological sciences, received $114,897 from the U.S. Department of Interior/National Park Service for the project "Mammalian Diversity in 19 National Parks in the Southern United States."

Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences and CMS, gave five invited lectures on the topic of marine chemical ecology in Germany and Italy. He spoke at the Alfred Wegener Institute for Polar Biology in Bremerhaven, Germany; the third European Conference on Marine Natural Products in Elmau Castle, Bavaria; the School of Pharmacy at the University of Naples, Italy; the Stazione Zoologica of Naples; and the sixth International Sponge Conference in Rapallo, Italy.

Robert Burrus and Peter Schuhmann, economics and finance, received $2,000 from the Calvin Kazanjian Economics Foundation for the project "The Art of Teaching Principles of Economics: Process and Content."

Sue Cody, Randall Library, received $1,700 from National Video Resources for the project "Research Revolution: The Laboratory and the Shaping of Modern Life."

Eleanor Covan, gerontology, received $35,000 from Cape Fear Memorial Foundation to enhance educational opportunities for gerontology students through service-learning experiences coordinated through the New Hanover County Department of Aging.

Ann Stapleton, biological sciences, received $91,882 from the National Science Foundation for the project "Gene Beans: A Modular System That Makes Genomic-scale Analysis Accessible to Biologists."

William McLellan and D. Ann Pabst, biological sciences and CMS, received $120,000 in federal funding from Southeast Fisheries Service/National Marine Fisheries Service to conduct mid-Atlantic right whale aerial surveys.

Nora Noel, psychology, presented "Effects of Community Size on Substance Abuse Services Delivery: A Review and Perspective" at the Addictions 2002 conference in Eindhoven, Netherlands. Co-authors on the paper were Barry Brown, psychology, Susan Bullers, sociology and criminal justice, and Puja Seth '02M.

UNCW-TV Programming

Oct. 24

1 to 1:30 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW & You
1:30 to 2 p.m. Physics, Biology, Your Brain and Everything Else
7 to 7:30 p.m. Seahawk Central: Student Body TV
7:30 to 8:30 p.m. "Andrew Young: Minister to the Beloved Community"

Oct. 25

1 to 2 p.m. "Dr. Lee Green: The Tuskegee Experiment"
7 to 7:30 p.m. "A Faithful Narrative of a Pastor's Disappearance"
7:30 to 8 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW & You
8 to 9 p.m. "Ruby Sales: Standing Against the Wind"

Oct. 28

1 to 2 p.m. "Preventing Child Abuse"
7 to 8:30 p.m. "TV and the African American Experience" (Part One)

Oct. 29

1 to 2 p.m. "The People's Century: 1927 Great Escape"
3 to 4:30 p.m. "The Art of Radio Documentary"

Oct. 30

1 to 1:30 p.m. Let's Read! UNCW & You
1:30 to 2 p.m. "Lavonne Adams"
4 to 5 p.m. "People's Century: 1929 Breadline"

UNCW-TV programming airs on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Channel 12.

Library Databases

Randall Library has acquired three new databases for its collection.

Digital Sanborn Maps of North Carolina Cities, 1867-1970, provides digital access to 11,173 large-scale maps of 158 North Carolina towns and cities.

LearnATest.com is a leading source of test preparation materials and interactive practice exams, which are based on official tests and are designed to help improve scores on academic, civil service, military and professional licensing and certification exams.

Opposing Viewpoints Resource Center includes full-text materials regarding the "pro and con" arguments of controversial social issues.

For more information, visit the library's Web site at <http://library.uncwil.edu/>.

Directory Corrections

The correct telephone numbers for Renee Vincent and Terry Rogers, art and theatre, are ext. 3403 and 3440, respectively.

The correct extension for Brooke Summer, wellness services, should be 4137.

Flu Vaccinations

Flu shots will be administered to faculty and staff Nov. 11 and 12 in the Student Recreation Center training room. The cost is $10. Vaccinations will be given according to the schedule below; be prepared to remain for 10 minutes following the injection.

Last name beginning with:

A to D	1 to 3:30 p.m.	Nov. 11
E to J	3 to 5:30 p.m.	Nov. 11
K to P	1 to 3:30 p.m.	Nov. 12
Q to Z	3 to 5:30 p.m.	Nov. 12

Employees unable to participate during their designated time should select one of the alternates.

Lost and Found

A gray and silver Nokia Cingular mobile phone with the cellular number posted on the back on a white sticker was lost on campus. If found, contact Todd Berliner at ext. 3336.

All-USA Academic Team

USA Today is seeking nominees for its 2003 All-USA Academic Team. Sixty students will be named to the first, second or third teams and will be featured in a two-page color spread by the newspaper. The 20 members of the first team will receive a $2,500 cash award.

Any full-time undergraduate of at least sophomore standing at a four-year institution is eligible. Nominations must be postmarked by Nov. 30. Forms are available via the Web site <http://allstars.usatoday.com>. Direct questions to Carol Skalski at allstars@usatoday.com.

Sam's Club Membership

Faculty, staff and students are eligible to purchase membership to Sam's Club for $35.

Enrollment applications/renewals will be accepted from 1 to 8 p.m. Oct. 25 and 26 at the store, which is located on South College Road. To enroll, bring your university ID to the UNCW hospitality table. Cash or checks will be accepted. For more information, call ext. 3274.

NC Flex Enrollment

The annual enrollment period for NC Flex is through Nov. 8. Return enrollment forms to human resources prior to the deadline. Benefit elections made during the enrollment period take effect Jan. 1.

Staff Training

Dealing with Extended Leaves for Your Staff, 2 to 4 p.m. Nov. 12.

Fixed Assets, 9 to 10 a.m. Nov. 4.

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 29.

Travel Procedures, 10 a.m. to noon Nov. 12.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Phased Retirement

The annual enrollment period for faculty who wish to enter phased retirement beginning August 2003 ends Oct. 25. Enrollment information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/hr/phased.htm. To receive an enrollment packet, call or human resources at ext. 3160. To schedule an individual appointment to discuss retirement options, contact Kay Fryar at ext. 3698.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23063 Accountant I	Oct. 28
23064 Applications Programmer II	Nov. 1
23065 Irrigation/Spray Specialist	Nov. 1
23066 Processing Assistant IV	Nov. 1

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Merle Black Lecture

Nationally known political scientist Merle Black will speak on "The Rise of Southern Republicans and the Election of Nov. 5, 2002" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 25 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. The Department of Political Science and the Office of the Chancellor are sponsoring this free, public event.

UNC Chapel Hill state government expert Thad Beyle and 18th District Cumberland County Representative Mia Morris, a Republican and graduate of the UNCW Institute of Political Leadership, will respond to his presentation. Lee Johnston, political science and event organizer, will moderate.

Poetry Reading

Washington poet and visiting professor Sharon Bryan will read from her works at 8 p.m. Oct. 24 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow. The Creative Writing Department is sponsoring this free, public event.

Reece, Melissa

---

From: Paul and Carolyn Zarbock [pgzar@bcinet.net]
Sent: Tuesday, October 29, 2002 11:34 AM
To: Reece, Melissa
Cc: Roberts,Beth
Subject: Double checking

Hi Melissa,

Yesterday I paid a visit to the NC Museum of Forestry in Whiteville. Part of the discussion had to do with the number of interviews conducted so far for the museum. Harry Warren mongered up a list of individuals HE says were interviewed. I think Sherman (and I) would be terribly interested in the accuracy of his list of accomplishments. Please, would you check your files and see if we have the following:

William Ball
Harold Blanchard
William Bland
Bob Carroll
Tina Duncan
Mike Gilland
Scott Grimes
Robert Jordon
Earnistine Keaton
James Masten
Benjamin Mitchell
Ed Morris
Bill and W.A. Settlemeier
Erin Sheehan

I am sending a cc of this email via Beth to Sherman. Thanks for your help. Z

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 17 Oct. 31, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Former UNC Chancellors Give Diversity Report Recommendations

A broad and bold commitment across the board is needed from trustees, administrators, faculty, staff and students if UNCW is to attain true educational diversity.

A report issued Oct. 28 by a blue ribbon task force studying ethnic diversity at UNCW said that while Chancellor James R. Leutze is fully committed to diversity, his commitment has not "permeated the entire campus as reflected in activities and especially outcomes." The task force challenged the trustees and the chancellor to marshal the resources necessary to "capitalize on this opportunity to achieve diversity as pertains to the educational context."

Appointed by Leutze in April, the task force was comprised of four former chancellors at University of North Carolina system universities: Lloyd V. Hackley, chancellor emeritus, Fayetteville State University; E. K.

Fretwell, chancellor emeritus, UNC Charlotte; Edward B. Fort, chancellor and professor, NC A&T State University; and Joseph Oxendine, chancellor emeritus, UNC Pembroke.

Their charge was to address these issues:

- How can UNC Wilmington attract, retain and graduate more African-American students?
- How can the university attract and retain more minority faculty?
- What is the campus climate regarding ethnic diversity?
- What steps should be taken to achieve these goals?

The report cited 21 findings assessing current diversity issues on campus and offered 61 broad-ranging recommendations that, if implemented, will "profoundly and positively improve the educational, social and cultural climate on campus."

The report stressed the importance of educational institutions making progress in achieving cultural diversity across all aspects of society. "Educational institutions have the unique capacity to define and help create an America in which individual, group, community and national needs can be met, because

see Diversity Report on page 4

Local Doctor to Lecture on Women at Risk

Local physician Gregory Henderson will present "Women at Risk: The New Epidemic" at 7 p.m. Nov. 13 in the Dobo Hall Auditorium..

Henderson's lecture, sponsored by the School of Nursing and Student Health Center, will focus on human papillomavirus (HPV), the number one sexually transmitted disease in the country and a known cause of cervical cancer among women. Henderson, who is the director of the Women's Diagnostic Division of Wilmington Pathology Associates and chair of the Department of Pathology, New Hanover Regional Medical Center, is the author of Women at Risk: The HPV Epidemic and Your Cervical Health. There will be a book signing following this free, public lecture.

"HPV infection is approaching epidemic levels in this country, especially among teenagers and young women," said Henderson, "Almost 99 percent of all cervical cancers are related to HPV infection. Yet most people know so little about HPV, especially that it is preventable."

UNC Wilmington is the perfect venue to host this lecture, said Virginia Adams, dean of the School of Nursing.

"The UNCW School of Nursing is committed to providing health education to the public," said Adams. "In our partnership with the community, we are obligated to educate, to the extent possible, the young women who are most susceptible to the human papillomavirus so that preventive measures can be implemented. The virus, when left untreated, is associated with cervical cancer, so we see the need to help women understand the cause and treatment of HPV."

Henderson

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Tournament Results

The first flight champions of the annual faculty/staff golf tournament were Brad Brownell, Jimmy Garrity, Rob Brickles and Jim Harris. Second flight champions were John Starling, Gary Davis, Bobby Talton and Donnie Yarborough. Greg Dalton won the prize for closest to the pin on the 17th hole. Skippy Duncan was closest to the pin on the ninth hole, and Dan Johnson was closest on the second hole.

Tournament organizers would like to thank ARA for the luncheon it prepared for 40 participants and Arnold Siko and Bradley and Nancy Maready for their volunteer work.

Ladder Available

Randall Library has a seven-and-a-half foot rolling ladder with six steps for transfer to any interested departments or offices. Contact Beth Roberts at ext. 3270.

Creative Writing Grad Sells Thesis to Random House

Brad Land's memoir on sibling rivalry, fraternities and violence began as a requirement for his graduate degree. It could become a best seller.

Land, who received his Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing in May 2002, sold his thesis Goat to Random House.

The work is scheduled for publication in spring 2004.

"It's really exciting," said Land, a native of Florence, S.C. "The manuscript that was accepted for publication is not much different from what I defended in the spring."

According to Land, Goat is a coming-of-age story that involves his relationship with his brother. The two were members of a Clemson University fraternity, and during their tenure, a fellow fraternity brother died.

In reflecting on his accomplishment, Land expressed his appreciation for the MFA Program, housed in the Creative Writing Department.

Cape Fear Jazz Concert

The Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 7 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $5, $2.50 for faculty and staff and free for UNCW students with valid ID.

Physics Colloquium

Ruth Chabay and Bruce Sherwood, professors of physics at NC State University, will lecture on "Making Introductory Physics More Like Real Physics" at 2 p.m. Nov. 8 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Jack DaSilva from the N.C. Supercomputer Center will lecture on "Bioinformatics Supercomputing Resources at the NCSC and the BioGrid" at 2 p.m. Nov. 1 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

"I can honestly say that I wouldn't have written Goat if not for the support and guidance that I received at UNCW," Land said. "I'm honored to have studied with such a dedicated cadre of faculty writers. They and my fellow students supported me throughout the process."

Land is pursuing a doctorate in English at Western Michigan University. He is focusing on creative nonfiction. In addition to working on a collection of essays and a novel, Land is nonfiction editor of Western Michigan's literary magazine Third Coast.

According to Mark Cox, chair of creative writing, this marks the third time a new MFA graduate's work was purchased for national publication — "a remarkable track record for a relatively new program."

In 1998, Nancy Jones sold her thesis to Crown Publishers, which released the work under the title Molly in 2000. Algonquin Books published Dana Sachs' thesis The House on Dream Street: An American Woman in Hanoi in 2000.

What is Happiness?

It has been said that you can't buy happiness. Maybe, you can't even define it. But a group of faculty members will try in the panel discussion "What is Happiness? How Much is Enough?" at 7 p.m. Nov. 13 in Randall Library Auditorium.

The panelists represent academic disciplines in the sciences and humanities. They are Midori Albert, anthropology; Tim Ballard, biological sciences; Gregory Bechtel, nursing; Carrie Clements, psychology; Sue Combs, HPER; Ken Diehl, pre-engineering; Chris Dumas, economics; Don Habibi, philosophy and religion; Virginia Steward, history; and Patricia Turrisi, Center for Teaching Excellence.

This free, public event is cosponsored by the Science, Humanities and Society Program, the Center for Teaching Excellence and the Office of the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

ITSD Hosts Training Session

The Information Technology Systems Division hosted representatives from Fayetteville State University, UNC Pembroke, General Administration's Shared Services Alliances and UNCW Oct. 22-24 in the first of a series of training classes related to the migration of Banner software.

This migration, which is a four- to five-year project, involves UNCW and 12 other system universities who will shift from the SCT Plus2000 suite of administrative applications (HRS, FRS, SIS, ADS and SEAWEB) to Banner.

UNCW participants were Dana Fischetti, advancement; Kay Fryar, human resources; Bonnie Howard, registrar's office; Carol Strickland, business systems; and Patty Stagg, application services. This team will analyze the more than 55 business processes used across campus in preparation for the move.

For more information on the Banner migration, contact Liz Hosier, director of application services and Banner project manager.

Land

Newman Catholic Events

The Newman Catholic Campus Ministry will host a blessing of animals at 10 a.m. Nov. 2 at the Newman Center located at the corner of College Acres and Racine drives. In addition, the center is holding an Ignatian silent retreat Nov. 8-10. The cost is $50. As a reminder, the center conducts weekly Sunday evening masses at 5:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Mary Pat Fourquarean at 792-0507.

Labor in Cuba Lecture

David Sartorius, a doctoral candidate in history at UNC Chapel Hill, will present "Slave and Free Labor in 18th Century Cuba" at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 6 in the Randall Library Auditorium. His talk is cosponsored by the Office of the Chancellor and the Phi Alpha Theta history honor society.

Phantom of the Opera

The 1931 silent movie Phantom of the Opera starring Lon Chaney will be shown at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Oct. 31 at the Church of the Servant, 4925 Oriole Drive. Dorothy Papadakos, organist from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City, will play in accompaniment to the screenings. Admission is $15.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Korean-style BBQ beef short ribs, baked cheese ravioli tossed in pesto sauce, corn souffle, peas with mushrooms, zucchini and carrots julienne, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Turkey with stuffing and gravy, mushroom shepherd's pie, candied yams, broccoli with cheese sauce, corn on the cob, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Philadelphia Dance Troupe to Perform Nov. 9

The Koresh Dance Company, known for its powerful stage presence and high-energy style, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 9 in Kenan Auditorium. The Philadelphia-based troupe's performance is the second of the university's eight-part Arts in Action series.

The Koresh Dance Company is recognized for delivering an emotional blend of ballet, modern and jazz dance that touches on current social issues ranging from modern dating to crime and justice.

Choreographer and artistic director Ronen Koresh leads the company. Koresh was born and raised in Israel, and his background includes the tradition of Yemenite folk dancing. After studying with Martha Graham's Bat Sheva Dance Company, Koresh left for New York City in 1982, at age 21, to study with the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater. He later joined Philadelphia's jazz dance company Waves and continued to train and perform throughout the 1980s while moving toward more choreographing and teaching.

In 1991, Koresh founded his dance company; and in 1993 he opened a studio in Philadelphia where he teaches his unique style of contemporary dance. He is also on the faculty of Philadelphia's University of the Arts.

On the evening of Nov. 8, the dance company will stage an open rehearsal in Kenan Auditorium where Koresh will discuss his choreographic methods. This event, scheduled for 6 to 7 p.m., is free and open to the public.

Tickets for the Saturday performance are $18; $12 for faculty, staff and seniors; and $6 for UNCW students and children 12 and under; and are available through the Kenan Auditorium box office.

Koresh Dance Company

State Employees Combined Campaign Wraps Up Nov. 1

The State Employees Combined Campaign continues through Nov. 1.

The SECC is the only charitable giving program authorized for the state employee workplace. It is organized by state employees for state employees. All campaign committees are comprised of state employees who make all decisions, and SECC expenses cannot exceed 10 percent of the total campaign dollars raised. To date, combined local and state expenses associated with operating the campaign have never exceeded 15 percent.

This year's UNCW campaign features an incentive program. Winners in the "Fledgling Seahawk" drawing, were Patricia Deanes, academic affairs, who won two season tickets to the men's Seahawk basketball games; Prudence Carver, Watson School of Education, who won two tickets to the UNCW Board of Visitors reception on Nov. 14; Fletcher Norris, computer science, who won special delivery of breakfast and coffee for six; and Michael Durako, Center for Marine Science, who won a birthday cake.

Every campaign contributor will be eligible for the "Triumphant Seahawk" drawing that features free parking privileges for one year and dinner for two prepared by Chancellor James R. Leutze.

For a pledge form or additional information about the campaign, contact Michelle Howard-Vital or Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies, or visit UNCW's SECC Web site www.uncw.edu/dpscs/secc/.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Retired Executive Named CSB Placement Director

Stair

Former Philip Morris and Dupont executive John E. Stair Jr. was named placement director for the Cameron School of Business. In announcing the appointment, Larry Clark, dean of the business school, said Stair has strong industry experience to provide vision and knowledge of how to best prepare and place today's business graduates.

As the school's first placement director, Stair said his focus is to develop more recruitment and internship opportunities for students.

"Internships are a winning situation for all involved," said Stair.

"The business gains first-hand knowledge of the students' capabilities, and students get a meaningful learning experience for academic credit. Because most internships lead to permanent positions after graduation, they are an important hiring tool."

Stair said he plans to work with faculty to expand the business school's existing relationships with recruiting companies in the area. In addition to the school's annual Business Week events, he said the school would host various functions for civic and professional associations to promote the hiring of Cameron School graduates.

"We're also planning presentations to take to Raleigh and Charlotte to increase internship and job opportunities for students in these areas," said Stair.

Prior to moving to Wilmington four years ago, Stair worked two years with Philip Morris Co. in New York as director of international benefits. Before that, he spent 26 years with DuPont in Wilmington, Del., where he managed financing of various employee benefit programs. He received a bachelor's degree in economics and an MBA from the University of Alabama.

Diversity Report continued from page 1

education is both an end in itself and means to better life conditions," stated the report.

Among the findings were comments that UNCW's efforts to recruit students and faculty are "disjointed"; the campus climate for incoming minorities is not supportive; and that rising academic standards have led some students to perceive that the university is interested only in students with high SAT scores, GPAs and class rank.

It also said staffing patterns and student enrollment at UNCW do not adequately reflect the diversity of the state or the region; that ethnic minority personnel predominate at the lowest responsibility and consequently, the lowest salary levels; and that campus social and entertainment activities fail to present an adequate range of diversity.

The report also commented that responsibilities for dealing with matters of diversity are far too disaggregated throughout the campus, particularly the critical function of faculty recruitment.

Chief among the recommendations were that a new position be created, an associate provost for diversity, primarily to facilitate minority faculty recruitment. The report also recommended that the chancellor create a Commission on Diversity to develop a five-year comprehensive diversity plan whose implementation would be overseen by the associate provost for diversity. The plan would include hosting on- and off-campus forums to obtain feedback about diversity issues and plans and to conduct a campus climate survey to examine attitudes among faculty, staff and students.

Among recommendations dealing with minority student recruitment were to hire retired public school teachers as minority student recruiters and to hire two outstanding new minority graduates to work full-time as admission staffers for a year.

The report also urged the university to establish a closer working relationship with the ministerial alliance and the

Veterans Day Salute

The 2nd Marine Division Band (the Division's Own) of Camp Lejeune will perform a patriotic tribute to the nation's veterans at a free, public concert at 10 a.m. Nov. 11 in Kenan Auditorium. Sponsored by the university, the concert will include such favorites as Stars and Stripes Forever, America the Beautiful and Espirit de Corps.

Although the event is free; seating is limited. Admission will be by ticket only. For information, call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. Tickets are limited to two per person. Attendees should park in the Trask Coliseum parking lot. Free shuttle service will be provided to the concert site.

Concert Choir Performance

The UNCW Concert Choir, under the direction of Joe Hickman, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 3 at St. James Church.

African-American minority group of ministers. It also asked the board of trustees, as it goes about selecting the next chancellor, to place major emphasis on a candidate pool and the ultimate selection that demonstrates the board's commitment to diversity.

The presenters stressed the importance of involving the university in the local schools to begin preparing minority youngsters early in life to think about attending college and taking college preparatory courses.

In response to this preliminary report, Leutze announced that Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for public service and continuing studies, and Melton McLaurin, associate provost, will co-chair a committee to address the issues presented in the report. Hackley, chair of the reporting panel, will act as a consultant to the committee.

The diversity report is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/Univ\_planning/commission\_diversity\_report.pdf.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Dennis Kubasko, specialty studies, used the USS North Carolina for a problem-based learning experience for his secondary science methods class. Students assumed the role of engineers to consider how to move the USS North Carolina from Wilmington to Norfolk, Va., for refurbishment. They worked on site with the battleship's museum services director Kim Sincos and program director Kristen Quinallong with Renee Griffin, secondary math and science specialist with New Hanover County Schools.

Stephen Skrabal, Robert Keiber and William Cooper, chemistry, received $53,412 in supplemental funding from Strategic Environmental Research and Development Program for the project "Speciation, Fluxes and Cycling of Dissolved Copper and Zinc in Estuaries: The Roles of Sediment-Water Exchange and Photochemical Effects."

Antonio Puente, psychology, received $7,667 in supplemental funding from the National Academy of Neuropsychology to set up the organization's public affairs and information office.

Randall Library Book Sale

Randall Library will hold its fifth annual book sale from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Nov. 11 and 12 and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 13. Faculty and staff interested in donating books or sound and video recordings should contact Beth Roberts at ext. 3270.

Spiritual Masters Series

A presentation on the prophet Mohammad will be held at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 5 at the Tauheed Islamic Center, St. James Episcopal Church, Perry Hall. For more information on this free event, part of the Spiritual Masters Series sponsored by the UNCW Pastoral Summit, call ext. 7225.

Art Exhibit

"Pilgrimage to the Unknown," an exhibit by local artist Erik Arnebold, will be on display through Dec. 13 in the Warwood Center Lobby. A meet-the-artist reception is scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. Nov. 1 at the display.

Beverly Vagnerini and Bobby Miller, ITSD, presented the invited poster "Incorporating IT Standards into the Planning Process: A Collaborative Model" at the EDUCAUSE national conference in Atlanta.

Virginia Adams, nursing, was the keynote speaker for the Philippine Nurses Association of America eastern region conference "Facing Challenges of the New America: Cultural Competence" held in Raleigh. The meeting brought together Filipino nurses from across the nation. Adams also presented the political involvement workshop "You Get No Juice Unless You're Plugged In" at the North Carolina Nurses Association Convention.

Carol Midgett, curricular studies, presented "Mathematics for All: National Boards for Math Teachers" at the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics southern regional conference in Biloxi.

Kennedy Lecture

Robert F. Kennedy Jr. will discuss "Our Environmental Destiny" at 7 p.m. Nov. 4 Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $6 for the public and free for faculty, staff and students. Contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Paula Kamenish, English, and Joann and Terry Mount, foreign languages and literatures, participated in the 52nd annual Mountain Interstate Foreign Language Conference held at Furman University. Kamenish read the paper "The Lost Voice of the Dadaist"; Joann Mount presented the paper "The Spanish Major and the Question of Cultural Knowledge." Terry Mount, who serves on the MIFLC executive committee, chaired the Spanish literature session "Early Modern Prose."

Wade Watanabe, CMS, received $16,181 in supplemental funding from S.C. Sea Grant Consortium for the project "Development of Reliable Spawning, Nursery and Juvenile Production Techniques for Commercialization of Black Sea Bass Aquaculture." He also received $3,000 from YSI International to test a recirculation monitor.

Wilmington Symphony

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will open its 2002-03 concert season at 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets, which range from $4 to $18, are on sale at the auditorium box office.

UNCW-TV Programming

Oct. 31

1 to 1:30 p.m.
1:30 to 2 p.m.
7 to 7:30 p.m.
7:30 to 9 p.m.

Nov. 1

1 to 2 p.m.
7 to 7:30 p.m.
7:30 to 8 p.m.
8 to 8:30 p.m.
8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Nov. 4

1 to 2 p.m.
7 to 8 p.m.

Nov. 5

1 to 2 p.m.
3 to 4:30 p.m.

Nov. 6

1 to 1:30 p.m.
1:30 to 2 p.m.
4 to 5 p.m.

Let's Read! UNCW & You

"Supporting Second Language Learners"

Seahawk Central: Student Body TV

"TV and the African-American Experience" (Part Two)

"People's Century: 1930 Sporting Fever"

"Storytelling: A Pathway to Literacy"

"Multicultural Books"

Let's Read! UNCW & You

"Classical Hollywood Style"

"People's Century: 1933 Master Race"

"James Lawson: The Seamless Cloth of Faith and Struggle"

"The People's Century: 1939 Total War"

"TV and the African-American Experience" (Part One)

Let's Read! UNCW and You

"A Girl Named Zippy"

"Dr. Lee Green: The Tuskegee Experiment"

UNCW-TV programming airs on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Channel 12.

Research, Planning Office

The Offices of Institutional Research and University Planning are now combined under the Office of University Planning, Assessment and Institutional Research. For institutional research information, call Evelyn Lagoe in the Burney Support Center at ext. 3017. Information about university planning and assessment, located in Alderman Hall, Room 110, can be obtained by calling ext. 3520.

Fire Test to Interrupt Computer Functions

Access to e-mail, ADS, FRS, HRS, SIS and the Internet will be unavailable from 7 to 8 a.m. Nov. 6 due to the inspection of the fire suppression system and a test of the emergency power off switch in the ITSD computer room. Direct questions to Ray Humphries at ext. 3799.

UNCW Foundation Names New Members

The Foundation of the University of North Carolina at Wilmington named five new members to serve three-year terms ending June 30, 2005. Appointees were:

Ron Copley, Wilmington, president of Copley Investment Management.

Mickey Corcoran '70, New Bern, former member and chair of the UNCW Board of Trustees and president of Woodruff Distributing Company.

James Pierce, Wilmington, president of Pierce Pharmaceuticals Inc.

Jim Stasios '70, Wilmington, registered representative with Jefferson Pilot Financial Services.

Margaret Weller-Stargell, Wilmington, president and CEO of Coastal Horizons Center.

The Foundation of the University of North Carolina at Wilmington Inc. is a legally incorporated, separate nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization incorporated on Aug. 14, 1970. The purpose of the foundation is to promote the educational purposes of UNCW, which is its sole beneficiary.

Alumni Association Seeks Outstanding Alumni, Citizen

Do you know someone who has made an outstanding contribution to the University of North Carolina at Wilmington and the community?

The UNCW Alumni Association is seeking nominations of such individuals for its annual awards program. Two awards will be presented Feb. 7 at a formal dinner in the Warwick Center ballroom.

The Alumnus/Alumna of the Year Award is open to all men and women who attended and/or graduated from Wilmington College or UNCW. The Distinguished Citizen Award is open to anyone for notable service to the university and community.

The 2002 award recipients were James Stasios '70 and Wayne Jackson.

Nominations can be made by writing a letter of recommendation to the association's board of directors, specifying the award category and describing why you think the individual merits the award. Include the nominee's name, address, daytime phone number and work place. Information should be sent to Patricia Smith, executive director of alumni relations, at Wise Alumni House, 1713 Market Street, no later than Nov. 30. For additional information, call ext. 2682.

Pianist Needed

The Black Campus Connection is seeking a pianist to perform for its monthly gospel sing-along. The next event is scheduled for noon Nov. 22. Volunteers should contact Linda MacRae at ext. 7435.

Flu Vaccinations

Flu shots will be administered to faculty and staff Nov. 11 and 12 in the Student Recreation Center training room. The cost is $10. Vaccinations will be given according to the schedule below; be prepared to remain for 10 minutes following the injection.

Last name beginning with:

A to D 1 to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 11

E to J 3 to 5:30 p.m. Nov. 11

K to P 1 to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 12

Q to Z 3 to 5:30 p.m. Nov. 12

Employees unable to participate during their designated time should select one of the alternates.

Employee Appreciation

Faculty and staff along with their families will be admitted free to the women's and men's soccer games Nov. 2 and 3. The women taken on Davidson at 2 p.m. Saturday. The men play Stetson at 2 p.m. Sunday. Direct questions to Angela Pucher, sports marketing, at ext. 7319.

Directory Correction

The correct telephone extension for Tammie Haynes is 3307.

Shared Leave

Terri Joyne, advancement, and Betty Miller, student health services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Staff Training

Dealing with Extended Leaves for Your Staff, 2 to 4 p.m. Nov. 12.

Fixed Assets, 9 to 10 a.m. Nov. 4.

Travel Procedures, 10 a.m. to noon Nov. 12.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23064 Applications Prog. II	Nov. 1
23065 Irrigation/Spray Spec.	Nov. 1
23066 Processing Assistant IV	Nov. 1
23067 Tech. Assist. Ctr. Mgr.	Nov. 8
23068 Admissions Counselor	Nov. 8
23069 Office Assistant IV	Nov. 8

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 18 Nov. 7, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW Invites Area Residents to Become College Students for a Day

UNCW is inviting area residents to become a college student for a day through its first-ever College Day program from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 23. Orientation begins at 9 a.m. in Morton Hall Auditorium.

The College of Arts and Sciences and the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, together with the professional schools of business, education and nursing, are offering 30 one-hour, non-credit 'classes' for the lifelong learner. Participants may attend four classes, choosing from lectures, workshops and demonstrations by award-winning teachers in the natural sciences, fine arts, history, literature, film, creative writing, philosophy, religion, Spanish, criminal justice, business and many other academic disciplines.

The cost is $10 per person, which includes lunch at Wagoner Hall. An optional cultural event will also be offered that evening for $8 per person. For information and registration, call ext. 3195 or go to www.uncw.edu/collegeday. Registration deadline is Nov. 15. Media partners co-sponsoring College Day are the Wilmington Star-News and WHQR Public Radio.

"UNC Wilmington embraces its regional service mission," said Raymond Burt, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and College Day organizer. "We are opening our doors to all the people of Wilmington and the area, and we invite them to come get to know UNCW."

"The purpose of College Day is to engage the public intellectually and let them come see what we are doing here at UNCW," he said, noting that many new people have moved to the area and may not have had an opportunity to visit the campus.

"The faculty participating in the College Day program are all volunteers, and they are passionate about their fields of study. It has been rewarding to me to see the faculty's enthusiasm for this program and their eagerness to talk to the public about their work," said Burt.

see College Day on page 4

Shinn to Give Schweitzer Honors Lecture

Gerald Shinn, professor emeritus of philosophy and religion, will deliver the inaugural Albert Schweitzer Honors Scholars Lecture at 2 p.m. Nov. 13 in King Hall Auditorium. This free, public event is sponsored by the Honors Scholars Program and Randall Library.

The Schweitzer Honors Scholars Lecture resulted from the formal dissolution of the Albert Schweitzer International Prizes Inc. in summer 2002.

The Schweitzer Prizes, founded by Shinn, were first presented on the campus of UNCW in 1975. They were subsequently awarded in 1981, 1985, 1989 and 1993. Prize recipients reflected Schweitzer's philosophy of life and excelled in the fields of music, humanities or medicine.

Among the 15 notable recipients were Mother Teresa who received the 1975 prize for humanities; Andres Segovia who received the 1981 prize for music; and Dr. George Herbert Hitchings who received the 1989 prize for medicine. Both Mother Teresa and Hitchings later received Nobel Prizes.

The Schweitzer Prizes were administered by a 15-member volunteer board of directors, said Mimi Cunningham, assistant vice chancellor for university relations and secretary to the board.

"The board commissioned two separate feasibility studies to determine the viability of the volunteer board's being able to raise funds to sustain and produce the Schweitzer Prizes, and both were discouraging," she said.

"However, the board very much wanted to keep alive the memory and ideals of Albert Schweitzer and remind the campus of the place of the exemplary prize

see Schweitzer Honors Lecture on page 5

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Whose Honor?

As part of Native American Heritage Month, the Office of Campus Diversity is sponsoring a screening of the film In Whose Honor? at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café. The 46-minute film takes a critical look at the long-running practice of "honoring" American Indians as sports mascots. An open discussion will follow the screening.

Creative Writing Featured in Our State

The Department of Creative Writing is featured in the November edition of Our State magazine. This special literary issue also includes an article about Philip Gerard and one written by Clyde Edgerton.

Online Exhibit

Randall Library and Cape Fear Museum created the online exhibit "World War II: Through the Eyes of the Cape Fear." The Web site (capefearww2.uncwil.edu) features oral history transcripts, photographs and maps. Its creation was funded by an "Exploring Cultural History Online" grant from the State Library of North Carolina.

Tax and Budget

"Tax and Budget Road Show," a presentation by the North Carolina Budget and Tax Center, will be given from 9 a.m. to noon Nov. 22 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. This event will focus on how the state budget crisis developed and how changes in governmental support will affect the quality of life in the community. The Cape Fear Area United Way and UNCW are co-sponsoring this event. To register for this free presentation, call 798-3900 by Nov. 15.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, will present "Chemical Defenses of Marine Invertebrates: Are They Optimized?" at 2 p.m. Nov. 8 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Creative Writing Professor to Give Reading Nov. 15

Novelist and creative writing faculty member Robert Siegel will read from his works including a novel in progress at 7 p.m. Nov. 15 in King Hall Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow in the lobby. This event is free and open to the public.

Siegel, who joined UNCW this fall, teaches fiction workshops. Next spring, he will teach two undergraduate writing workshops and a graduate publishing lab anthology course that should result in a book featuring poetry, fiction and nonfiction by current and former creative writing students.

Random House published Siegel's debut novel All the Money in the World in 1997. He is the recipient of the Fine Arts Workcenter Fellowship at Provincetown, the Michener-Engle Fellowship from the Iowa Writers' Workshop and a Mombusho Fellowship from the University of Tokyo. According to Erik Burns of The New York Times Book Review, All the Money in the World is "fast, dramatic and wrenching." Siegel's writing has appeared in Nerve.com, Shankpainter, Story, Fiction International and Full Frontal Fiction.

Prior to joining UNCW, Siegel was managing editor of the Korean Studies Publication Project at the State University of New York at Stony Brook. He also served as an adjunct lecturer at the School of Continuing and Professional Studies at New York University.

Siegel

Big Band to Perform at Music Conference

The UNCW Big Band, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, will perform at the "Jazz on the Terrace" presentation during the annual North Carolina Music Educators Association state conference in Winston-Salem Nov. 10-12. During the presentation UNCW faculty members Chris Ackerman, Jerald Shynett and Bob Russell will be featured soloists. In addition, John Rack will present a clinic on timpani technique.

Music Lecturer, Baritone Releases Compact Disc; Performing with Carolina Ballet in Clowns

Baritone Emery Stephens, music, has released his first CD Communion with the Sacred. The recording, which also features local musicians John Tabler on organ and piano and Ces Erdman on oboe, includes the selections The Lord's Prayer, Panis Angelicus, The Holy City, Sweet Little Jesus Boy and Ride On King Jesus. Copies of the CD are $20. To purchase one, e-mail Stephens at stephens@uncw.edu.

Stephens is performing with the Carolina Ballet and the N.C. Symphony in a production of Stravinsky's Clowns Nov. 7-10. Performances will be at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday at the BTI Center for the Performing Arts in the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. There will be matinee performances at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Gospel Sing-along

The Black Campus Connection is sponsoring a second gospel sing-along at noon Nov. 22 in the University Union Living Room. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435.

Golf Tournament Award

Randy LaGrange, sociology and criminal justice, won the third Doug Johnson Memorial Award presented at the annual faculty/staff golf tournament.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Physics Colloquium

Ruth Chabay and Bruce Sherwood, professors of physics at NC State University, will lecture on "Making Introductory Physics More Like Real Physics" at 2 p.m. Nov. 8 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

Hunger and Homelessness

UNCW will observe Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week Nov. 18-22. Events planned include "Faces of Homelessness Panel" at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 in the University Union Living Room, a canned food drive from 6 to 8 p.m. Nov. 19 and the annual hunger banquet at 6 p.m. Nov. 20 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. In addition, there will be informational tables set up from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day to provide material about issues related to hunger and homelessness. For more information, contact Raven David or Becky Long in the Center for Leadership Education and Service at ext. 3877.

Randall Library Book Sale

Randall Library will hold its fifth annual book sale from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Nov. 11 and 12 and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 13. Sale proceeds will fund library programs and projects. Faculty and staff interested in donating books or sound and video recordings should contact Beth Roberts at ext. 3270.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Southern pork BBQ, vegetable pot pie, macaroni and cheese, baked beans, carrots with dill, cole slaw, potato salad, sandwich rolls and corn muffins, peach cobbler, chocolate pecan pie, assorted beverages.

Tuesday – Shrimp creole over rice, black bean cakes with salsa, succotash, steamed vegetables, assorted salads, rolls, desserts, and beverages.

UNCW, City of Wilmington Hosting Grant Workshop

The UNCW Center for Social Work Research and Practice and the City of Wilmington Community Development Division will host a grant development workshop for outside agencies that plan to apply for a Community Development Block Grant or general funds for the 2003-04 fiscal year. The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Nov. 15 in the University Union, Room 100.

This is the first time UNCW and the City of Wilmington are working together to hold a grant development conference for potential grantees, said Art Frankel, executive director of UNCW's Center for Social Work Research and Practice. This conference will help Wilmington non-profit organizations apply for city grant funds, making it clearer to them who is eligible for funds, how to fill out the applications, and what community needs the city is focusing on.

The workshop will provide guidelines to help non-profit agencies apply for funding. In addition to discussing the city application guidelines, Frankel will present a short workshop on program evaluation to all non-profit staff attending this conference. Staff from up to 100 non-profits are expected to attend.

For more information, contact Frankel at ext. 4115.

What is Happiness?

It has been said that you can't buy happiness. Maybe, you can't even define it. But a group of faculty members will try in the panel discussion "What is Happiness? How Much is Enough?" at 7 p.m. Nov. 13 in Randall Library Auditorium.

This free, public event is cosponsored by the Science, Humanities and Society Program, the Center for Teaching Excellence and the Office of the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Chef Judges Chili Cook-off

Aramark executive chef Jim Pfifferling represented UNCW as a judge for the Oct. 26 chili cook-off to benefit Domestic Violence Shelter and Services.

CTE Lunch Discussions

The Center for Teaching Excellence will host the lunchtime discussion "Worst Practices in Web Sites for Teaching" at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 12 and noon Nov. 20 in Friday Hall, Room 102. These discussions provide faculty an opportunity to exchange ideas about teaching with colleagues. Attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch; CTE will provide discussion materials and dessert.

Grant Management Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs will host a seminar on grant management from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Nov. 19 in the University Union, Room 105. To register, contact Michelle Starks via e-mail at starksm.

2002-03 Holiday Schedule

Thanksgiving	Thursday and Friday	Nov. 28-29
Winter Break	Monday-Wednesday	Dec. 23 to Jan. 1*
*Holidays: Dec. 23, 24, 25, 26 and Jan. 1; Vacation days:		Dec. 27, 30, 31
MLK Birthday	Monday	Jan. 20
Good Friday	Friday	April 18
Memorial Day	Monday	May 26
Independence Day	Friday	July 4
Labor Day	Monday	Sept. 1
Thanksgiving	Thursday-Friday	Nov. 27-28
Winter Break	Wednesday-Tuesday	Dec. 24 to Jan. 1
Holidays: Dec. 24, 25, 26, 29, Jan. 1; Vacation days:		Dec. 30 and 31
Summer hours begin May 19 and end Aug. 11.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

George Zervos, philosophy and religion, had "Seeking the Source of the Marian Myth: Have We Found the Missing Link?" published in the volume Which Mary? The Marys of Early Christian Tradition in the Symposium Series of the Society of Biblical Literature. A hardback edition of this book is being published by Brill Academic Publishers. This publication is a collection of essays presented in the Christian Apocrypha section at the 2000 annual meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature held in Nashville.

Michael Durako, CMS, received $16,000 in supplemental federal funding from Florida Atlantic University/South Florida Water for the project "High Salinity, Nutrient and Multiple Sensors Effects on Seagrass Communities of Northeast Florida Bay."

Steven Miller and Andrew Shepard, NURC/CMS, received $137,500 in supplemental federal funding for the project "Keywide Expedition to Assess Marine Reserve Impacts on the Florida Keys Multispecies Coral Reef Fishery and Benthic Habitats."

Bill DiNome, student affairs, presented a lecture-discussion on Sherman Alexie's novel Reservation Blues at Barton College in Wilson, as part of the North Carolina Humanities Council's reading and discussion series "Whose West? Let's Talk About It."

P. J. Lapaire, foreign languages and literatures, gave the one-hour presentation "Albert Camus 101: The Everyman's Introduction to the Man behind The Stranger, The Plague, etc." at the Foreign Languages Association of North Carolina conference in Winston-Salem.

James Edmundson, public service and continuing studies, won the University Continuing Education Association Region III Award for Outstanding Service. The organization will forward his name for consideration for its national award, the Walton S. Bittner Citation for Outstanding Service. Edmundson was recognized "as a tireless professional who retired twice but came back to UNCW because he was asked to develop or stabilize another program. He developed many recognized and sustainable programs at UNCW and is known for his dedication and professionalism in every situation." Edmundson also received an award from the Addiction Professionals of North Carolina, a statewide organization that played a role in the initial formation of the N.C. Foundation for Alcohol and Drug Studies. He was recognized for his service to the addictions field by administering the training schools over the past 24 years.

College Day continued from Page 1

He hopes to make this an annual event. Attendees will have the opportunity to sign up to learn about future programs in their area of interest.

The 30 classes can be grouped into five categories: local region, the nation, self-development, culture and research. A sampling of presentations is listed below.

In the category of local region, Ann Pabst, professor of biology, will speak on "Bottlenose Dolphins: Wilmington's Local Marine Mammal." W. Frank Ainsley, professor of earth sciences, will discuss "Pender County's European History."

In nation, Larry Clark, dean of the Cameron School of Business, will present "Preston Tucker: An Entrepreneurial Lesson from History." Don A. Habibi, professor of philosophy and religion, will discuss "Security, Civil Liberties and Rights."

In self-development, two courses of interest are a voice class for solo and choral singers with music professor Nancy King and "Obesity Treatment:

What Works, What Doesn't, and Where to Start" with Melody Kyzer, registered dietitian on the faculty of the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

In culture, Michael Wentworth, director of the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies program, will discuss "The Magic Kingdom to Peyton Place; Cultural Images of America in the 1950s." Donald Furst, chair of the Department of Art and Theatre, will present "Won't You Come Up and See my Etchings? or How to Tell a Lithograph from a Serigraph."

In the area of research, Ron Vetter, chair of the Computer Science Department, will present "Emerging Web Technologies." William J. Cooper, professor of chemistry, will speak on "Chem/Bio-Terrorism Primer."

College Day participants may attend a University Theatre special presentation of Garson Kanin's Born Yesterday at 8 p.m. Nov. 23 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $8.

Spiritual Masters Series

A lecture on Howard Thurman, mentor to Martin Luther King Jr., is the final presentation in the second annual Spiritual Master Series sponsored by UNCW's Pastoral Summit. This free talk is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Nov. 19 at St. Luke A.M.E. Zion Church, 709 Church Street.

Remember to link your Harris Teeter VIC Card to UNCW's Together in Education number 5034 and 2 percent of the purchase of the chain's private label products such as H.T. Traders and Hunter Farms will be credited to UNCW's account.

State Campaign Concludes

UNCW's participation in the State Employees Combined Campaign concluded Nov. 1. During the five-week drive, 472 faculty and staff members contributed $50,380.

"Everyone who donated as well as those who volunteered as campaign coordinators contributed to the success of this year's campaign," said Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for public service and continuing studies and UNCW's SECC campaign chair. "Your outreach to the community through the gift of money and time will benefit numerous people."

This year's campaign featured weekly prize drawings. Catherine Nesbitt, specialty studies, won the final drawing held Nov. 4. Her prize was one year's parking privileges and dinner for two prepared by Chancellor James R. Leutze.

Although officially over, the campaign will accept contributions through Nov. 15. Contact Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies, at ext. 4138.

Wilmington Doctor to Lecture on HPV

Local physician Gregory Henderson will present "Women at Risk: The New Epidemic" at 7 p.m. Nov. 13 in the Dobo Hall Auditorium.

Henderson's lecture, sponsored by the School of Nursing and Student Health Center, will focus on human papillomavirus (HPV), the number one sexually transmitted disease in the country and a known cause of cervical cancer among women. Henderson, who is the director of the Women's Diagnostic Division of Wilmington Pathology Associates and chair of the Department of Pathology, New Hanover Regional Medical Center, is the author of Women at Risk: The HPV Epidemic and Your Cervical Health. There will be a book signing following this free, public lecture.

Marine Corps Band to Perform Veterans Day Salute

The 2nd Marine Division Band (the Division's Own) of Camp Lejeune will perform a patriotic tribute to the nation's veterans at a free, public concert at 10 a.m. Nov. 11 in Kenan Auditorium. Sponsored by the university, the concert will include such favorites as Stars and Stripes Forever, America the Beautiful and Espirit de Corps.

Although the event is free; seating is limited. Admission will be by ticket only. For information, call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. Tickets are limited to two per person. Attendees should park in the Trask Coliseum parking lot. Free shuttle service will be provided to the concert site.

Philadelphia Dance Troupe to Perform Nov. 9

The Koresh Dance Company, known for its powerful stage presence and high-energy style, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 9 in Kenan Auditorium. The Philadelphia-based troupe's performance is the second of the university's eight-part Arts in Action series.

The Koresh Dance Company is recognized for delivering an emotional blend of ballet, modern and jazz dance that touches on current social issues ranging from modern dating to crime and justice.

Tickets for the Saturday performance are $18; $12 for faculty, staff and seniors; and $6 for UNCW students and children 12 and under; and are available through the Kenan Auditorium box office.

Schweitzer Honors Lecture continued from page 1

recipients in UNCW's history. So the board worked with the UNCW Honors Scholars Program and Randall Library to use its remaining assets to endow the annual Albert Schweitzer Honors Scholars program."

Each year, students in the Honors Scholars Program will nominate an individual from the Cape Fear area to be named the Albert Schweitzer Honors Scholar who will lecture to the honors scholars' freshman seminar class in the fall. The nominee will exemplify the attributes or interests of Schweitzer, who was a physician, lover of animals, minister, scholarly theologian, environmentalist, musician and musical scholar, anti-nuclear activist, philosopher, husband, father and friend.

Shinn was recognized because he founded the Albert Schweitzer International Prizes and the UNCW Museum of World Cultures. Shinn was honored with the O. Max Gardner award in 1994, the highest faculty honor presented by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors. He is the only UNCW professor to receive the prestigious statewide O. Max Gardner award, presented annually since 1949. Shinn lives near Albemarle in retirement.

Following the lecture there will be a reception from 3 to 4 p.m. in Randall Library Special Collections.

Trustee Meetings

The UNCW Board of Trustees will hold its quarterly committee meetings Nov. 11. The educational planning and programs committee will meet at 12:30 p.m. in the Golden Hawk Room. External affairs and business affairs will meet at 3 p.m. in Warwick Center, Room 104, and Alderman Hall, Room 215, respectively. The full board will meet at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 12 in the Golden Hawk Room.

Electronic Reserves

Faculty assigning articles or book chapters as required reading for courses can make them available online through Randall Library's Electronic Reserve System. E-mail requests to John Osinski at osinskij by Nov. 22 for spring semester. Include course calendar and complete bibliographic references for each required reading.

For materials unavailable in the library's collection, provide a clean copy and a full bibliographic reference. For more information, call ext. 7312 or visit the Web page library.uncwil.edu/eresfaqfac.htm.

For paper/hard copy reserves, contact Carolyn Andrews at ext. 3790 or e-mail andrewsc.

Telephone Interruption

Telephone service will be down for approximately 30 minutes between 4 and 6 a.m. Nov. 9 for a software upgrade. Incoming callers will receive a busy signal. This interruption will not affect voice mail.

Fall Powwow

The UNCW Native American Student Organization will host its second annual Fall Powwow from noon to 5 p.m. Nov. 9 on the Campus Commons. The purpose of this free event is to promote, demonstrate, and educate about the Native American culture on UNCW's campus and in the community at large.

Student Visitation

The Office of Admissions will host its second visitation program of the academic year from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. Nov. 15. Approximately 700 prospective students and their families are expected to attend. Visitors will have an opportunity to meet with faculty, tour the campus, view residence halls and ask questions of a diverse panel of administrators.

Directory Correction

The correct phone number for Arleta Maynard is ext. 3158.

Adopt-a-Family Program

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking volunteers to assist with its annual Thanksgiving Adopt-a-Family Program. This project, in partnership with the St. Mary Social Ministry Outreach Program, provides groceries to prepare a Thanksgiving meal for an area family in need.

Participation packets will be available at the CLES office, University Union, Room 212, between 3 and 5 p.m. Nov. 12. The cost is approximately $50; groups should deliver their baskets to the outreach program by Nov. 22. Volunteers will be needed to work at the outreach agency Nov. 25 to assist families picking up their baskets. For more information, contact Jennifer Stauffer or Becky Long at ext. 3877.

Flu Vaccinations

Flu shots will be administered to faculty and staff Nov. 11 and 12 in the Student Recreation Center training room. The cost is $10. Vaccinations will be given according to the schedule below; be prepared to remain for 10 minutes following the injection.

Last name beginning with:

A to D	1 to 3:30 p.m.	Nov. 11
E to J	3 to 5:30 p.m.	Nov. 11
K to P	1 to 3:30 p.m.	Nov. 12
Q to Z	3 to 5:30 p.m.	Nov. 12

Employees unable to participate during their designated time should select one of the alternates.

All-USA Academic Team

USA Today is seeking nominees for its 2003 All-USA Academic Team. Sixty students will be named to the first, second or third teams and will be featured in a two-page color spread by the newspaper. The 20 members of the first team will receive a $2,500 cash award.

Any full-time undergraduate of at least sophomore standing at a four-year institution is eligible. Nominations must be postmarked by Nov. 30. Forms are available via the Web site <http://allstars.usatoday.com>. Direct questions to Carol Skalski at allstars@usatoday.com.

NC Flex Enrollment

The annual enrollment period for NC Flex ends Nov. 8. Employees currently enrolled in dental, vision or accidental death and dismemberment plans do not need to re-enroll. To elect either the health care or dependent day care flexible spending accounts, employees must enroll each year.

Completed enrollment forms are due in human resources by Nov. 8. Benefit elections made during the enrollment period take effect Jan. 1.

Shared Leave

Terri Joynes, advancement; Betty Miller, student health services; and Doris Moore, postal services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie, human resources.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23067 Tech. Assist. Ctr. Mgr.	Nov. 8
23068 Admissions Counselor	Nov. 8
23069 Office Assistant IV	Nov. 8
23070 Police Officer I	Nov. 15
23071 Office Manager	Nov. 15
23072 Office Assistant III	Nov. 15
23073 Office Assistant III	Nov. 15
23074 Work Control Admin.	Nov. 15

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 19 Nov. 14, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

School of Nursing Gets Grant for Prostate Cancer Project

Using a $20,000 grant from the Cape Fear Memorial Foundation, the School of Nursing plans to educate men about prostate cancer.

Tracy Moore, an adult/gerontologic nurse practitioner, said increased efforts are needed to inform undereducated men about early detection methods for prostate cancer. Moore, who works at the Navassa 5th District Rural Health Clinic that is managed by the School of Nursing, wrote the grant to request funding for the "Brother to Brother Prostate Cancer Health Literacy Initiative for African-American Men."

Citing statistics from the American Cancer Society, Moore said prostate cancer is a major health threat, especially among the African-American community.

"Although prostate cancer is very curable in African-American men, it is typically diagnosed later than it is in white men," said Moore. "This grant will fund the development of a culturally sensitive pamphlet on early detection."

Moore said she is working with the Cape Fear Literacy Council to design material to meet the needs of clients who have at least a third-grade reading level. When the pamphlet is complete, Moore will recruit 90 men in three rural communities in Brunswick and Columbus counties to serve as peer educators to help inform their "brothers" about the need for early screening for prostate cancer.

Peer educators will receive free digital rectal exams and prostate specific antigen testing through Brunswick County and Columbus County Memorial hospitals.

Athletic Training Education Accredited

UNCW's Athletic Training Education Program received accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Programs (CAAHEP). This certification is for a three-year period expiring Oct. 31, 2005.

Achieving accreditation is important for our students' career success, said Kirk Brown, director of the program, which is housed in the HPER Department. Students who complete the program earn a bachelor's degree in athletic training.

"Starting in 2004, prospective athletic trainers must have graduated from a CAAHEP-accredited program in order to sit for the National Athletic Trainers Association certified board exam," said Brown. This national certification is a requirement to practice as an athletic trainer, he added. Certified athletic trainers work in a variety of settings including high schools, sports medicine clinics and hospitals as well as with professional sporting teams and in private industry.

UNCW's Athletic Training Education Program is an interdisciplinary program. In

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

addition to preparing students to earn national certification, Brown said graduates obtain the necessary educational background to undertake advanced study leading to careers in other allied health fields such as physical therapy, physician assistant or orthopedic technician.

The CAAHEP is a non-profit organization that accredits education programs that prepare health professionals in 18 different disciplinary areas.

McNeill Appointed UNCW Trustee

Columbus County businessman John A. "Sandy" McNeill Jr. was appointed to the UNCW Board of Trustees.

Named by Gov. Mike Easley, he will serve the remaining term of the late Owen Kenan, which expires June 30, 2003.

An alumnus of UNC Chapel Hill, McNeill is chief executive officer of Liberty Healthcare Services. He earned a bachelor's degree in pharmacy in 1972. He is a member of the UNC Chapel Hill School of Pharmacy Board of Visitors and the Pharmacy Foundation of North Carolina.

McNeill and his wife Deborah reside in Whiteville, and they have three children.

McNeill

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Earth Sciences Seminar

Scott White from the Department of Geological Sciences, University of South Carolina, will present "A New View of Mid-Ocean Ridge Segmentation: Insights from Seafloor Mapping on the East Pacific Rise" at 2 p.m. Nov. 15 in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Music Concerts

The UNCW Wire Choir, an electronic guitar ensemble, and the Jazz Lab will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 14, and the Wind Ensemble and Concert bands will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 25. Both concerts will be in Kenan Auditorium.

Admission is $5; $2.50 for UNCW faculty and staff, senior citizens and children under twelve; and free to UNCW students with a valid ID. For more information, contact the Department of Music at ext. 3390.

MarineQuest Grant

UNCW's MarineQuest program in the Division of Public Service and Continuing Studies received a $1,500 grant from the Landfall Foundation to fund youth scholarships. The grant was one of 41 awarded by the foundation.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Campus dining will hold its annual Thanksgiving dinner from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 21 in Wagoner Hall. The buffet menu will include carved roast turkey with stuffing and cranberry sauce, ham with pineapple glaze, pasta primavera with vegetables, mashed potatoes and gravy, candied yams, sautéed green beans with garlic, corn soufflé, honey-glazed carrots, assorted dinner rolls, salads and desserts. The cost is $7.35 for adults, $3.67 for children ages 3 to 12 and free for children under three.

Randall Library Exhibit

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Student Visions - A Series in Progress" through Dec. 20 at its first-floor art wall. The display features artwork by students in Eric Lawing's advanced and intermediate classes.

University Theatre to Stage Born Yesterday Nov. 21-24

The UNCW University Theatre production of Born Yesterday opens at 8 p.m. Nov. 21 in Kenan Auditorium. Additional performances of this Garson Kanin play are scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 22 and 23. A matinee performance is set for 2 p.m. Nov. 24.

Renee Vincent, art and theatre, directs eight undergraduates in Born Yesterday. This Pygmalion-esque comedy is one of the longest-running plays in American theatre. It opened on Broadway in 1946 and spawned a movie starring Judy Holiday and Broderick Crawford.

Born Yesterday tells the story of Billie Dawn, the floozy fiancée of junk dealer and millionaire Harry Crawford who is trying to impress Washington, D.C., politicians. Crawford hires D.C. journalist Paul Verrall to "culturefy" Dawn through a crash course in history, literature and politics. Dawn, who's not as dumb as she seems, soon graduates from pawn to sassy queen on her husband's political chessboard. Sophomore Mary-Elizabeth Thrasher plays Dawn. Joe Pistone and Michael Rosander portray Crawford and Verrall, respectively.

Admission is $8, $2 for UNCW students with ID. For reservations, contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Joe Pistone, Mary-Elizabeth Thrasher and Michael Rosander (left to right) play principal roles in the University Theatre production of "Born Yesterday."

Study Abroad Fair

The Office of International Programs is sponsoring a study abroad fair from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Nov. 14 on the Campus Commons. Program booths, staffed by faculty, exchange students and study abroad participants, will highlight the office's summer programs as well as semester- and year-long opportunities. For more information, call ext. 3685.

Volunteer Judges Needed

Communities in Schools, which administers and brokers job skill and community awareness programs to public school students east of the Cape Fear River, is seeking volunteers to judge/grade senior projects. Participants will be part of a group which collectively evaluates the projects.

High school seniors choose a career pathway and during the semester write a paper, create a three-dimensional product with a time line scrapbook and give an oral presentation.

For more information, contact Tracy Tisdale at 762-9765.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday - Tandoori-spiced chicken with tomato ginger chutney, inside out manicotti, vegetable rice pilaf, yellow squash casserole, spiced apples, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday - Stir-fry beef with orange sauce, vegetable lo mein, steamed white rice, carrots with dill, green beans with garlic, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

In Whose Honor?

As part of Native American Heritage Month, the Office of Campus Diversity is sponsoring a screening of the film In Whose Honor? at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café. The 46-minute film takes a critical look at the long-running practice of "honoring" American Indians as sports mascots. An open discussion will follow the screening.

UNCW-TV Programming

The panel discussion "UNCW Teaching in Asks: War with Iraq?" and a reading by Alison Lurie are among the programs airing this week on UNCW-TV. The discussion will be broadcast at 7 p.m. Nov. 18; the reading will air at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 20. UNCW-TV programming airs on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Channel 12. A monthly program guide is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/dpsec/uncwvtv/schedule.htm.

Siegel to Give Reading

Robert Siegel, creative writing, will read from his works including a novel in progress at 7 p.m. Nov. 15 in King Hall Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow in the lobby. This event is free and open to the public.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Thomas Shafer and Robert Roer, biological sciences, lectured on their research on mineralization of the blue crab cuticle at the School of Fisheries Sciences campus in Sanriku, Japan, and as a part of the symposium Current Topics on Marine Invertebrates at Tohoku University in Sendai. They participated at the invitation of the Iwate Prefecture and the Kitasato University School of Fisheries Sciences.

Hathia Hayes, curricular studies, and Andrew Hayes, specialty studies, received $291,795 in supplemental funding from the N.C. Department of Public Instruction for the project "Comprehensive School Reform Evaluation."

Lloyd Jones and Mark Imperial, political science, received $23,560 from the City of Wilmington to conduct six telephone surveys related to the Burnt Mill Creek Outreach and Demonstration Project.

Jeffrey Wright, chemistry and CMS, gave the plenary lecture "Attack and Defend: The Evolution and Function of Toxic or Bioactive Compounds" at the 10th International Conference on Harmful Algal Blooms in Florida.

Cecil Willis, sociology and criminal justice, published a review of the National Rifle Association's Eddie Eagle Safety Program in the October 2002 issue of Family Relations: Interdisciplinary Journal of Applied Studies.

Larry Usilton, history, completed a backpacking expedition along Hadrian's Wall in England during fall break. The trip began in Newcastle at Wallsend, the eastern-most extremity of the ancient fortification, and continued along some of the "most spectacular" stretches of the wall. Trip information and photos are on the Web at people.uncw.edu/usilton/UL.html.

Bill Dinome, student affairs, delivered a lecture on Leslie Marmon Silko's novel Ceremony at the Carteret County Public Library in Beaufort as part of the North Carolina Humanities Council's "Let's Talk About It" series.

Hunger and Homelessness

UNCW will observe Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week Nov. 18-22. Events planned include "Faces of Homelessness Panel" at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 in the University Union Living Room, a canned food drive from 6 to 8 p.m. Nov. 19 and the annual hunger banquet at 6 p.m. Nov. 20 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. In addition, there will be tables set up from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day to provide material about issues related to hunger and homelessness as well as information on local agencies with which to get involved. For more information, contact Raven David or Becky Long in the Center for Leadership Education and Service at ext. 3877.

Grant Management Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs will host a seminar on grant management from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Nov. 19 in the University Union, Room 105. To register, contact Michelle Starks via e-mail at starks@uncw.edu.

Gospel Sing-along

The Black Campus Connection is sponsoring a second gospel sing-along at noon Nov. 22 in the University Union Living Room. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435.

Spiritual Masters Series

A lecture on Howard Thurman, mentor to Martin Luther King Jr., is the final presentation in the second annual Spiritual Master Series sponsored by UNCW's Pastoral Summit. This free talk is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Nov. 19 at St. Luke A.M.E. Zion Church, 709 Church Street.

College Day Nov. 23

UNCW is inviting area residents to become a college student for a day through its first-ever College Day program from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 23. Orientation begins at 9 a.m. in Morton Hall Auditorium.

The College of Arts and Sciences and the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, together with the professional schools of business, education and nursing, are offering 30 one-hour, non-credit "classes" for the lifelong learner. Participants may attend four classes, choosing from lectures, workshops and demonstrations by award-winning teachers in the natural sciences, fine arts, history, literature, film, creative writing, philosophy, religion, Spanish, criminal justice, business and many other academic disciplines.

The cost is $10 per person, which includes lunch at Wagoner Hall.

Be Part of Commencement

Fall commencement will be held at 9:45 a.m. Dec. 20 in Trask Coliseum. Volunteers will be needed to assist with the student lineup in Hanover Gym and for the ceremony in Trask Coliseum.

Staff members interested in volunteering for lineup duties should contact Jennie Royal, assistant dean of students, at ext. 3119 or e-mail royalj. To volunteer before or after the ceremony in Trask Coliseum, contact Helene Harris in the Office of the Dean of Students at ext. 3119 or e-mail harrish. Volunteers report for duty at 8 a.m., and their service should be finished by noon.

Commencement Regalia

Faculty who need to rent regalia for December commencement should contact the bookstore as soon as possible to insure availability. For more information, call ext. 3188.

Randall Library Thanksgiving Hours

Randall Library will observe the following schedule during the Thanksgiving holiday:

Nov. 26	7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Nov. 27	8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Nov. 28	Closed
Nov. 29	9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Nov. 30	1 to 5 p.m.
Dec. 1	3 p.m. to midnight

Campus Communique Holiday Schedule

The Campus Communique will not publish Nov. 28 due to the Thanksgiving holiday. The publication will resume Dec. 5.

Directory Correction

On page 30 of the telephone directory, the extension for shipping should be 3181.

Holiday Stamps

Holiday stamps are available at postal services.

Holiday Payroll

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, this month's pay date will be Nov. 27. December end-of-month payroll will be Dec. 18. Mid-month pay dates are Nov. 15 and Dec. 13. Direct questions to ext. 3163.

Admissions Information

The Office of Admissions is hosting an information session for faculty and staff who have children, family or friends who are applying for college. The session will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 10 in the Golden Hawk Room.

Roxie Shabazz, assistant vice chancellor for admissions, will discuss how colleges select students and will cover an array of admissions topics including effectively completing applications and writing college essays. Samantha Gallaher, transfer coordinator, will talk about the process for transfer and non-traditional applicants.

For more information, contact Ray Cockrell at ext. 3627 or e-mail cockrellr.

Activities Calendar

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center is planning its spring calendar. Departments and offices interested in submitting an item for inclusion should send the event date, time and location by Nov. 19 to the center, University Union, Room 209, or e-mail items to Marian Bennett at bennettm. Photographs and artwork submitted may be used on a space-available basis. Direct questions to ext. 3827.

Shared Leave

Terri Joynes, advancement; Betty Miller, student health services; and Doris Moore, postal services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Electronic Reserves

Faculty assigning articles or book chapters as required reading for courses can make them available online through Randall Library's Electronic Reserve System. E-mail requests to John Osinski at osinskij by Nov. 22 for spring semester. Include course calendar and complete bibliographic references for each required reading.

For materials unavailable in the library's collection, provide a clean copy and a full bibliographic reference. For more information, call ext. 7312 or visit the Web page library.uncwil.edu/eresfaqfac.htm.

For paper/hard copy reserves, contact Carolyn Andrews at ext. 3790 or e-mail andrewsc.

Staff Training

Performance Management, 9 to 11 a.m. Dec. 4

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Mary Bradford, physical plant; Jacqueline Broehl-Jackson, financial aid and veterans services; and Betty Ann Moore, printing services.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23070 Police Officer I	Nov. 15
23071 Office Manager	Nov. 15
23072 Office Assistant III	Nov. 15
23073 Office Assistant III	Nov. 15
23074 Work Control Administrator	Nov. 15
23075 Reserve Environmental Monitoring Specialist	Nov. 22
23076 Benthic Lab. Tech.	Nov. 22
23077 Capital Projects Mgr.	Nov. 22
23078 Systems Accountant II	Nov. 22
23079 Office Assistant IV	Nov. 22

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 20 Nov. 21, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

WWAY-TV to Air Seahawk Men's Opener

The season-opening men's basketball game against Texas Tech Nov. 22 in Lubbock, Texas, will be carried live locally by WWAY-TV 3.

The Seahawks and Red Raiders battle at 8:15 p.m., CST, at United Spirit Arena. WWAY-TV is planning a pre-game show at 9 p.m., EDT, with the game to follow at 9:15 p.m.

"We're delighted to partner with WWAY-TV 3 in bringing this game back to our many fans in this area," said Peg Bradley-Doppes, UNCW's athletic director. "Our television coverage this season is the most comprehensive ever and mirrors the success of the program.

We certainly appreciate the efforts of WWAY-TV in making this game available."

The Seahawks and Red Raiders both advanced to the NCAA Tournament last season and Friday's contest marks the coaching debut of UNCW's Brad Brownell against his boyhood idol, Bob Knight. Knight headed up Indiana's program for 28 seasons before taking over at Texas Tech.

The contest will be produced by the Texas Tech TV Network and carried live in several markets in the state of Texas, as well as in Wilmington.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

University Counsel Accepts Job in Florida

University counsel Hal White has been named senior vice president and professor of legal studies at the University of West Florida. He will assume his new duties in January.

"It has been my distinct honor and privilege to have served UNCW under the leadership of Chancellor Leutze during one of the most remarkable periods of growth and progress that can be experienced by any successful institution," said White. "With the foundations that have been laid and the directions that have been set over these past 12 years, the future of UNCW is extremely bright. I leave this wonderful university and many wonderful friends with decidedly mixed feelings as I look forward with you to the very bright future ahead for UNCW. What a privilege it has been to be a small part of that future."

White joined UNCW as university attorney in January 1994. He was named university counsel, assistant to the chancellor and lecturer in political science and communication studies in January 1996. White is a former special deputy attorney general of North Carolina and former chief of international law and acting attorney general

see University Counsel on page 4

Minority Visitation Day Set for Dec. 6

UNCW will hold Minority Visitation Day from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Dec. 6 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

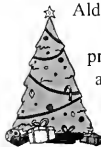

"This event is focused on minority students, but anyone is welcome to attend," said Linda MacRae, associate director of admissions and director of diversity recruitment. About 600 invitations were sent to minority high school students across the state, she added.

Registration is at 11 a.m. followed by the opening program at 12:30 p.m. The event will include campus tours, an information fair, a financial aid workshop and a student-to-student session. A closing reception for attendees along with members of the university community, including senior administrators, deans, minority faculty and students as well as admissions staff will be at 5 p.m.

Trim the Tree Party

Faculty, staff and students are invited to Chancellor James R. Leutze's annual "Trim the Tree" celebration from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 5 in Alderman Hall.

Holiday ornaments from previous years will be available to hang on the tree, or bring a new ornament. Cookies and hot cider will be served.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Chancellor's Faculty Advisory Meetings

The Chancellor's Faculty Advisory Committee will meet at noon Dec. 3 in Alderman Hall, Room 215.

Committee members are: Lavonne Adams, creative writing; Gregory Bechtel, School of Nursing; Yaw Chang, mathematics and statistics; Chris Dumas, economics and finance; Steve Emslie, biological sciences; Pam Evers, accountancy and business law; Craig Galbraith, management and marketing; Nancy Grindlay, earth sciences; Julian Keith, psychology; Hengemeh Kermani, curricular studies; David LaVere, history; Mahnaz Moallem, specialty studies; Dan Noland, English; Earl Sheridan, political science; Oliver Speck, foreign languages and literatures; and Emery Stephens, music. Faculty are encouraged to share comments and suggestions with committee members.

Dance Ensemble to Hold Master Class

The African-American Dance Ensemble will conduct a master class from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Nov. 21 in Hanover Gym. This session, accompanied by African drums, is open to all faculty, staff and students and is part of the second year activities of the Durham-based ensemble's residency project sponsored by the Cameron Art Museum. For more information, call 395-5999.

Concert Band to Perform

The UNCW Concert Band, under the direction of Christofer Ackerman, will perform at 8 p.m. Nov. 25 in Kenan Auditorium. Musical selections will include Gustav Holsts' Suite No. 1, Alan Hovhaness's Tower Music, Leonard Bernstein's Overture to Candide, Richard Wagner's Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral and Bach's Fugue in G minor.

Admission is $5; $2.50 for faculty and staff, senior citizens, and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with a valid ID. For more information, contact the Music Department at ext. 3390.

Movie Makers Lecture

Actor Peter Jurasik will discuss his award-winning television, stage and film career at 2 p.m. Nov. 22 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Program.

Jurasik is known for his role as Londo Mollari on Babylon 5 for which he won the Universe Award/British Press for best supporting actor. He also played "Sid the Snitch" on Hill Street Blues.

Dinner/Dance Benefit

The Italian Heritage Society of Cape Fear will hold its annual holiday dinner and dance at 6 p.m. Dec. 14 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The cost is $35 per person and includes a catered buffet, wine and door prizes. Proceeds from this event support the annual Italian Heritage Society scholarship given to a UNCW student of Italian descent.

The Satin Tones and the Harmony Belles will provide entertainment. Dress is semiformal. For more information, call 458-9555, 793-2688 or 686-1486.

Physics Colloquium

Mike Williams and Mike Hollister, physics and physical oceanography, will present "Students' Research Experience at the Thomas Jefferson National Laboratory in Newport News, Va." at 2 p.m. Nov. 22 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

Heritage School Closing Ceremony

Benjamin Quattlebaum, executive director of the Wilmington Housing Authority, is the keynote speaker for the 2002 Heritage School closing ceremony at 10 a.m. Nov. 23 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Gospel Sing-along

The Black Campus Connection is sponsoring a second gospel sing-along at noon Nov. 22 in the University Union Living Room. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menu:

Friday – Sliced roast turkey with dressing and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes with dressing, cheese manicotti, asparagus saute, succotash, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, a buffet will not be offered Tuesday.

Leadership Conference

The steering committee for the fifth annual Student Organization Leadership conference is accepting presentation proposals. The conference is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Jan. 25 in the Warwick Center. The submission deadline is Dec. 1. For more information, contact the Campus Activities and Involvement Center at ext. 3827.

EMERGE Participants

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is recruiting students for two spring EMERGE classes which will be offered from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays. EMERGE is an eight-week, non-credit leadership development program with sessions on ethics and values, diversity, communication skills and time management. Students also participate in the Discover ropes course. Faculty who know of students who would benefit from EMERGE are encouraged to e-mail their names to Shelly Hoover at hoovers.

Christmas Toy Drive

Alpha Phi Omega, the national community service fraternity, is sponsoring a toy drive to benefit the pediatric unit at the New Hanover Regional Medical Center. To participate, bring a new, unwrapped toy to the Center for Leadership Education and Service, University Union, Room 212, by Dec. 1.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Big Band and Jazz Combo Concert Set for Dec. 6

The UNCW Big Band and Jazz Combos will present their final concert of the fall semester at 8 p.m. Dec. 6 in Kenan Auditorium.

The Big Band, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, will perform a variety of music made famous by the bands of Thad Jones, Buddy Rich and Rob McConnell. The Jazz Combos, directed by Jerald Shynett, will open the concert with jazz standards as well as original compositions. Admission is $5; $2.50 for UNCW faculty and staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with an ID. Tickets will be on sale on the night of the concert. For more information, contact the Music Department at ext. 3390.

Book Donations

The UNCW bookstore is teaming up with student tutors from Galloway Hall to provide new books for Virgo Middle School. The bookstore will contribute one book for every three books purchased through Dec. 21. Faculty and staff can use their 20 percent bookstore discount on these titles. For more information, contact Andy Shaffer, bookstore manager, at ext. 3188.

Wilmington Symphony

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Steven Errante, will perform holiday concerts at 8 p.m. Dec. 7 and 4 p.m. Dec. 8 in Kenan Auditorium. Both concerts will include The Festive Sounds of Hanukkah, Corelli's Christmas Concert for strings and the first part of Handel's Messiah. For tickets, call the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Randall Library Exhibit

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Student Visions – A Series in Progress" through Dec. 20 at its first-floor art wall. The display features artwork from students in Eric Lawing's advanced and intermediate classes.

UNCW-TV Creates New Half-Time Video Spot

This year, 13 Seahawk men's basketball games will be televised, many across the state. Athletics Director Peg Bradley-Doppes wanted a fresh half-time video to showcase UNCW during the record number of televised games, and she and Sports Information Director Joe Browning turned to UNCW-TV for help.

Heidi Messina shot and crafted the new spot, focused on the theme "UNCW Wilmington – Experience the Adventure." The piece opens with a traditional shot of campus buildings and the bell tower tolling the hour. It then quickens with up-beat music and rapid-fire sequences showcasing film studies, creative writing, marine biology, Aquarius, Sea Port Wireless Zones, a female golfer hitting a ball and a cover of the U.S. News and World Report's Best Colleges 2003. Next, quick vignettes of swimming, track and men's basketball showcase UNCW's CAA championships. The ad closes with the theme words "UNCW Wilmington – Experience the Adventure." The university's phone number and Web address appear throughout the ad, for which Dustin Miller, UNCW-TV, provided voice over narration.

"The university can be proud of this lively 30-second spot that manages to quickly highlight some of our top programs as well as reinforce that UNCW is a school made up of champions," said Bradley-Doppes. "Athletics is proud to use our record number of televised games to build awareness and boost the image of the entire university."

SECC Pledges Counted

Final figures are in for the State Employees Combined Campaign. According to Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies, 509 UNCW employees pledged $54,765 to various charities of the campaign. She said that although fewer employees contributed this year, total giving topped last year's figure.

Earth Sciences Seminars

Don Revis, David Edwards and Christine Holtz, students in the Department of Earth Sciences, will give presentations at 4 p.m. Nov. 22 in DeLoach Hall, Room 101. Revis will talk on "Sustainable Development: An Analysis of Two Cities." Edwards will discuss "Effects of Urbanization on the Hewlett's Creek Watershed." Holtz will present "An Assessment of Population Change in Coastal New Hanover County."

In addition, student Kemp Burdette will lecture on "The Introduction and Use of Ballast Stones in the Cape Fear Region and Their Use as a Tool for Archaeologists and Historians" at 2 p.m. Dec. 6 in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Commencement Regalia

Faculty who need to rent regalia for December commencement should contact the bookstore as soon as possible to insure availability. For more information, call ext. 3188.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Campus dining will hold its annual Thanksgiving dinner from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 21 in Wagoner Hall. The buffet menu will include carved roast turkey with stuffing and cranberry sauce, ham with pineapple glaze, pasta primavera with vegetables, mashed potatoes and gravy, candied yams, sautéed green beans with garlic, corn soufflé, honey-glazed carrots, assorted dinner rolls, salads and desserts. The cost is $7.35 for adults, $3.67 for children ages three to 12 and free for children under three.

University Theatre

The UNCW University Theatre production of Born Yesterday opens at 8 p.m. Nov. 21 in Kenan Auditorium. Additional performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 22 and 23. A matinee performance is set for 2 p.m. Nov. 24. Admission is $8, $2 for UNCW students with ID. For reservations, contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Rex Pringle, student affairs, co-presented the program "The Punch List and Beyond: Completing the Facility Construction Process" with Sally Derengoski of the University of Notre Dame at the National Intramural Recreational Sports Facilities Symposium in Detroit.

Ron Vetter, computer science, Charles Ward, chemistry, and Gabriel Lugo, mathematics and statistics, conducted the invited workshop "Project Numina: Innovative Integration of Media in Higher Education Curricula" at the EDTECH2002 conference at North Carolina State University. The workshop included a hands-on demonstration of the Numina II student response system using pocket PCs and wireless network technology. Information on Project Numina is available on the Web at aa.uncw.edu/numina.

Martin Posey, Troy Alphin, Lawrence Cahoon and Michael Mallin, biological sciences and CMS, had their article "Top-down Versus Bottom-up Limitation in Benthic Infaunal Communities: Direct and Indirect Effects" published in the journal Estuaries, vol. 25.

Barry Salwen, music, gave a series of performances and workshops at the University of Toronto and the Royal Conservatory of Music which included a full solo concert with a world premiere of a piece as well as several Canadian works and a Viennese waltz. Salwen presented two composer forums, one on American music and the other a discussion of student works.

Carol Pilgrim, psychology, gave the invited address "Equivalence Performances and Class Specific Reinforcement" and presented the six-hour short course "Stimulus Equivalence: From Theory to Practice" at the annual meeting of the Sociedade Brasileira de Psicologia, the Brazilian Psychological Society in Florianopolis. Pilgrim was also an invited guest at the Universidade de Brasília and the Universidade Federal de São Carlos where she gave the address "Applications of Behavioral Principles to the Early Detection of Breast Cancer" and met with graduate students and faculty about their research. She also taught a graduate seminar on ethics in research with human participants at the Universidade de Brasília.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Library Thanksgiving Hours

Randall Library will observe the following schedule during the Thanksgiving holiday:

Nov. 26	7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Nov. 27	8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Nov. 28	Closed
Nov. 29	9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Nov. 30	1 to 5 p.m.
Dec. 1	3 p.m. to midnight

Be Part of Commencement

Fall commencement will be held at 9:45 a.m. Dec. 20 in Trask Coliseum. Volunteers will be needed to assist with the student lineup in Hanover Gym and for the ceremony in Trask Coliseum.

Staff members interested in volunteering for lineup duties should contact Jennie Royal, assistant dean of students, at ext. 3119 or e-mail royalj. To volunteer before or after the ceremony in Trask Coliseum, contact Helene Harris in the Office of the Dean of Students at ext. 3119 or e-mail harrish. Volunteers report for duty at 8 a.m., and their service should be finished by noon.

New Award to Recognize Young Alums

UNCW's Young Alumni Council has instituted a new award to recognize men and women who graduated during the last 10 years for their outstanding contributions to the university and the community.

The Young Alumnus/Alumna of the Year Award is open to all individuals who graduated from UNCW between 1992 and 2002. Nominations can be made by writing a letter of recommendation to the Young Alumni Council, describing why you think the nominee merits the award. Include examples of the nominee's community involvement, contributions of time, talent and resources to UNCW, professional achievements and leadership ability. Include the nominee's name, address, daytime telephone number and work place. A resume may also be included.

Nominations should be sent to Tom Lamont, assistant director of alumni relations, Wise Alumni House, 1713 Market Street, or e-mailed to lamontt.

The deadline for nominations is Dec. 31. The winner will be recognized at the Young Alumni Council's Homecoming 2003 social Feb. 7 at Bessie's.

University Counsel continued from page 1

for the Federated States of Micronesia. He also served as professor of law at Western State University College of Law in Los Angeles and was a former visiting professor of law, ethics and policy at UNC Chapel Hill.

"Hal has been a very valuable member of the administrative team and teaching faculty of UNCW and will certainly be missed," said Chancellor James R. Leutze. "This is a great opportunity for him."

Appointed by University of West Florida President John Cavanaugh, White will serve as a combination chief of staff and chief operating officer for the university. He will be responsible for coordinating UWF's Office of the President, university counsel, university communications, information technology, human resources, special projects and the other university vice presidents, with the exception of the provost.

Spring Course Packs

Faculty should submit spring course packs for duplication as soon as possible to insure their availability on the first day of classes.

Course packs that contain copyrighted materials must be submitted to the Copyright Office in the Copy Center in Westside Hall. Permission to reproduce materials can take up to three weeks depending upon the publisher. Direct questions to ext. 3083.

HR ONLINE Deadline

Due to the early pay date for December, the deadline to enter HR 1.35 pay actions into HR ONLINE is Dec. 9. Direct questions to ext. 3712.

Department Name Change

Effective Jan. 1, the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation will become the Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences.

Student Payroll Change

Effective Dec. 31, all undergraduate pay assignments (work assist and work study) will end. Beginning in January, departments and offices must create new pay actions using the HR ONLINE system. HR ONLINE training sessions will be offered from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Dec. 9, 10 and 13 or 2 to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 10-12 in the HR training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. To register, call ext. 3712 or e-mail Joann McDowell at mcdowellj.

Student Recreation Center Thanksgiving Hours

The Student Recreation Center will observe the following schedule during the Thanksgiving holiday:

Nov. 26	6:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Nov. 27	8 a.m. to 2 p.m.
Nov. 28-30	Closed
Dec. 1	5 to 10 p.m.

Recreational swim will be offered from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Nov. 26.

Dot Matrix Printer Sought

Printing services needs a dot matrix printer. Offices and departments that have a printer to give or sell should contact Brenda Nelson at ext. 3563.

University Union/Warwick Center Holiday Hours

The University Union and Warwick Center will observe the following Thanksgiving schedule:

Nov. 27	7 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Nov. 28-30	Closed
Dec. 1	5 to 11 p.m.

Computer-based Testing

UNCW's National Testing Program offers computer-based testing Monday through Saturday for the following exams: Professional Assessment for Beginning Teachers (PRAXIS), Graduate Record Examinations (GRE general), Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), National Board of Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS) and CLEP. For specific times, call ext. 7444.

Financial Counseling

David Haden, a representative with VALIC, and Al Gonzalez from TIAA-CREF will be available for retirement and investment counseling from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 5 and 6, respectively. To schedule an appointment with Haden, call 791-4659. For Gonzalez, call 800-842-2003, ext. 3522, or visit the TIAA-CREF Web site at www.tiaa-cref.org/moc. All appointments will be held in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. Direct questions to Pam Christie at ext. 3006.

Holiday Payroll

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, this month's pay date will be Nov. 27. December end-of-month payroll will be Dec. 18. The mid-month pay date is Dec. 13. Direct questions to ext. 3163.

Admissions Information

The Office of Admissions is hosting an information session for faculty and staff who have children, family or friends who are applying for college. The session will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 10 in the Golden Hawk Room.

Roxie Shabazz, assistant vice chancellor for admissions, will discuss how colleges select students and will cover an array of admissions topics including effectively completing applications and writing college essays. Samantha Gallaher, transfer coordinator, will talk about the process for transfer and non-traditional applicants.

For more information, contact Ray Cockrell at ext. 3627 or e-mail cockrellr.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employee: Leslie Wright, career services.

Shared Leave

Terri Joynes, advancement; Betty Miller, student health services; Doris Moore, postal services; and Lola Reid, printing services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23070 Police Officer I	Nov. 15
23075 Reserve Environmental Monitoring Specialist	Nov. 22
23076 Benthic Laboratory Technician	Nov. 22
23077 Capital Projects Mgr.	Nov. 22
23078 Systems Accountant II	Nov. 22
23079 Office Assistant IV	Nov. 22
23080 Associate Director of Financial Aid	Dec. 16
23081 Housekeeper	Dec. 3
23082 General Utility Worker	Dec. 3

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 21 Dec. 5, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Wilmington Engineers Donate $25,000 Toward Documentary

The engineering firm of McKim & Creed P.A. has signed on as a title sponsor for UNCW's fifth documentary.

"We appreciate McKim & Creed's contribution toward this important project," said Elaine Penn, documentary executive producer. The film, under production, focuses on water scarcity.

"The current, worldwide state of water scarcity is perhaps the single most potent threat to the quality of human life, if not human existence," Penn said. "We applaud McKim & Creed for their desire to promote an awareness of the issues." The firm contributed $25,000 toward the project.

Penn said the documentary, narrated by Chancellor James R. Leutze, is expected to air on public television in late spring 2003. Communication studies professor Lou Buttino is the documentary's writer and director.

In addition to the film, there will be an educational Web site designed for North Carolina citizens that will feature curriculum material and activities for high school students and educators, and the university will sponsor statewide forums to discuss potential solutions to water scarcity.

Herb McKim and Mike Creed present Chancellor James R. Leutze with a check in support of UNCW's fifth documentary.

Trim the Tree Party

Faculty, staff and students are invited to Chancellor James R. Leutze's annual "Trim the Tree" celebration from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 5 in Alderman Hall.

Holiday ornaments from previous years will be available to hang on the tree, or bring a new ornament. Cookies and hot cider will be served.

Fall Commencement Scheduled for Dec. 20

UNCW will award 955 baccalaureate degrees and 150 graduate degrees during fall commencement scheduled for 9:45 a.m. Dec. 20 in Trask Coliseum.

Graduates should report to Hanover Hall at 9 a.m. on commencement day to line up for the processional. Following the main exercise, academic departments will hold individual ceremonies.

It's a Wonderful Life Annual Screening

In what has become a Wilmington holiday tradition, UNCW will host its annual screening of Frank Capra's It's a Wonderful Life at 7 p.m. Dec. 5 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The Capra family's 35mm print will be used for the screening.

Following the film, there will be a panel discussion featuring Frank Capra Jr. and film studies professors Todd Berliner and Chip Hackler.

This free, public event is sponsored by the Film Studies Program, the Association for Campus Entertainment and the Office of the Chancellor in conjunction with EUE Screen Gems Studios, Joe Dunton Camera, the Italian Heritage Society of Cape Fear and Barnes & Nobles Booksellers.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Cahill Awards

Fifteen faculty proposals received Charles L. Cahill Awards for faculty research and development. Recipients of these annual awards, which are funded by the Provost's Office, were: Ann Conner, art and theatre; Michael Durako and Donald Kapraun, biological sciences; Don Habibi, philosophy and religion; Joanne Halls, earth sciences; Julian Keith, Sally McCain, Bryan Myers and Richard Ogle, psychology; Hal Langfur, William McCarthy and William Moore, history; David Monahan, creative writing; Eric Patterson, computer science; and Scott Simmons, anthropology. Combined funding for the Cahill Awards totaled $32,383. The award is named in honor of former provost Charles Cahill.

CMS in Southern Living

UNCW's Center for Marine Science is featured in the December issue of Southern Living. The article "Sea of Knowledge" describes the center and its focus on an interdisciplinary approach to marine science as well as highlights the research of Laela Sayigh, Martin Posey and Wade Watanabe. It also mentions MarineQuest, the public outreach program sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies.

Open House

The Office of Campus Diversity is hosting an end-of-the-semester open house for the Upperman African-American Cultural Center from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Dec. 11.

Angel Tree Program

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is sponsoring its annual Angel Tree Program to benefit the Boys and Girls Homes of Lake Waccamaw. Participants can select an "angel" from trees located in the lobby of the University Union or Randall Library and bring the name to CLES for information about the child. Sponsorships average between $35 and $45. For more information, call ext. 3877.

Tommy Dorsey Orchestra

The "One and Only Tommy Dorsey Orchestra" will perform at 8 p.m. Dec. 14 in Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Sponsored Programs Seminar on FastLane

The Office of Sponsored Programs is offering a seminar on the National Science Foundation's FastLane from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 10 in Hoggard Hall, Room 226. FastLane uses the World Wide Web to help the NSF communicate with researchers, reviewers, administrators and other clients. To register, contact Michelle Starks via e-mail at starksm.

Diversity, Leadership and You Presentation

Joanne Nottingham, campus diversity, has developed the one-hour educational session "Diversity, Leadership and You," which she presented to employees at the Center for Marine Science Nov. 20. This session is a "straightforward" introduction of the concept of diversity in the context of leadership as a university employee. Departments and offices interested in scheduling a session should e-mail Nottingham at nottinghamj. The presentation is intended for a maximum of 25 participants per session.

Blood Drive

The American Red Cross will conduct a blood drive from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Dec. 11 in the Warwick Center. To make an appointment, which will minimize waiting time, call the Center for Leadership Education and Service at ext. 3877.

Be Part of Commencement

Volunteers are needed to assist with commencement Dec. 20. For more information, contact Jennie Royal or Helene Harris in the Office of the Dean of Students at ext. 3119.

Leadership Wilmington Alumni Award

Leadership Wilmington is accepting nominations for its 2002 Alumni of the Year Award.

Nominees must have contributed significantly to the enhancement of the community through "inspirational and visionary leadership and through the development of leaders within the community." Anyone from the community can nominate a Leadership Wilmington graduate. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 31.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett at 762-2611 ext. 213.

Student Leadership

UNCW will host the 10th annual Southeastern African-American Student Leadership Conference Jan. 31 through Feb. 2. The conference, which is open to all faculty, staff and students, is designed to develop and strengthen leadership skills of African-American students. Invitations were sent to more than 200 universities and colleges across the southeastern United States.

Conference organizers are soliciting individuals to conduct conference workshops on a variety of topics including drugs/alcohol, relationships, careers, media, health, technology, psychology and discrimination. Proposal forms are available at the Center for Leadership Education and Service, University Union, Room 212. For more information, contact Shelly Hoover at ext. 3877.

EMERGE Participants

EMERGE II, sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service, is recruiting students to participate in this seven-week leadership development program. Sessions begin in January and continue through March and will focus on topics such as leadership history and social change, situational leadership and program planning. Participants must have completed EMERGE I. For more information, contact Karla Pollard at ext. 3877.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the following menus:

Friday – Baked chicken with apricot sauce, rosemary polenta, baked potatoes with condiments, steamed broccoli with lemon zest, whole kernel corn, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – London broil, portobello ravioli tossed with pesto, au gratin potatoes, broccoli with cheese sauce, green peas, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Holiday Dinner

Campus dining will hold its annual holiday dinner from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 in Wagoner Hall. The cost for this buffet is $7.35 for adults and $3.67 for children under age 12. Children under age three eat free.

Toys for Tots

Collection barrels for the Toys for Tots program are located in Alderman Hall, Randall Library and the physical plant.

Band, Combo Concert

The UNCW Big Band and Jazz Combos will present their final concert of the fall semester at 8 p.m. Dec. 6 in Kenan Auditorium.

Admission is $5; $2.50 for UNCW faculty and staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with an ID. Tickets will be on sale on the night of the concert. For more information, contact the Music Department at ext. 3390.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Michael Bradley, psychology, Christopher Gould, English, Nancy Grindlay and Patricia Kelley, earth sciences, Jack Hall, environmental studies, and Stephen Harper, business, are listed in the regional edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers 2002.

Tom MacLennan, English, delivered a lecture and led a group discussion of Judith Guest's Ordinary People at the New Bern-Craven County Public Library as part of the North Carolina Humanities Council's "Let's Talk About It" series.

Ned Martin, chemistry, presented the paper "A Comparison of Computational Probes of Through-Space NMR Shielding" at the southeast regional meeting of the American Chemical Society in Charleston. It was co-authored by students David Loveless and Dustin Wade.

John Bennett, HPER, received the 2002 North Carolina University Dance Educator of the Year Award from the North Carolina Alliance for Athletics, Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance. The award was presented during the organization's annual convention in Greensboro.

James Leutze, chancellor's office, was quoted in the Nov. 19 News and Observer article "Commerce Officials Praise North Carolina Broadband Model."

Mike Mallin, Martin Posey, Matt Melver, Doug Parsons, Scott Ensign and Troy Alphin, biological sciences and CMS, had the article "Impacts and Recovery from Multiple Hurricanes in a Piedmont-Coastal Plain River System" published in BioScience, vol. 52.

Wade Watanabe, CMS, had the article "Tilapia Production Systems in the Americas: Technological Advances, Trends and Challenges" published in Reviews in Fisheries Science, vol. 10. It was co-authored by Thomas Losordo from NC State University; Kevin Fitzsimmons, University of Arizona; and Fred Hanley with the Jamaica Broilers Group, West Indies. Watanabe also received $2,500 from Aquatic Ecosystems Inc. to test a high-density rotifer turnkey system.

Cathy Barlow, education, received $17,776 from the UNC Office of the President for the N.C. Catalyst at UNCW project.

Philip Furia, creative writing, gave a talk on the composing duos of Rodgers and Hart and Rodgers and Hammerstein at St. Lawrence University, New York, as part of the school's celebration of the Richard Rodgers Centenary. Furia also gave a talk on Johnny Mercer and Bing Crosby at Hofstra University as part of the school's conference on Crosby, and he edited and contributed three essays and an introduction to a new volume of The Dictionary of Literary Biography: American Song Lyricists, 1920-1960.

In Memory

David Sieren, professor of biological sciences, died Nov. 10 at his residence in Wilmington. A graduate of Northland College and the University of Illinois at Urbana, Sieren served on UNCW's faculty for 33 years. He taught courses in general botany and plant morphology and taxonomy. He also served as director of the herbarium, the Bluethenthal Wildflower Preserve and Ev-Henwood Nature Preserve.

"David's profession was naming plants and describing the plant communities in North Carolina," said Scott Quackenbush, chair of the Department of Biological Sciences. "During monthly ambles through the trails of Ev-Henwood, I discovered David spoke to plants, and they to him. I don't mean he literally spoke to plants. But to him, the trees, shrubs, lichens and fungi were so familiar to him that he told me stories about them. Every one of the plant labels at Ev-Henwood is a result of David's work. But his gift was not the naming, but the enthusiasm with which he told plant stories. He freely shared his gift to a generation of students at UNCW, and he encouraged other young botanists to pursue careers with his example and his contagious enthusiasm."

Memorials can be made to the Zimmer Cancer Center, 2131 South 17th Street, Wilmington, and the Department of Biological Sciences.

Award Nominations

Nominations for Chancellor's Teaching Excellence and Distinguished Teaching Professorship awards are due Jan. 24. Descriptions, criteria and procedures are on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/edu/aa/awardsfaculty.htm. Faculty, staff, students and alumni can submit nominations.

U-Business Changes

The U-Business Web site, the gateway to central stores ordering, purchasing administrative card system and other business services, will be updated Dec. 9. The new interface will be faster, easier to use and accept users' e-mail password instead of a separate password.

"We're excited to be able to offer the university the convenience of one less password to remember as well as quicker response," said Stanley Edwards, director of business applications.

To implement this state-of-the-art Web server, U-Business will be unavailable from 5 p.m. Dec. 6 through 5 p.m. Dec. 7. To access U-Business, go to www.uncw.edu/ba and select the U-Business login link.

International Travel

The Office of International Programs is accepting funding requests for faculty travel for spring 2003. Forms, which are available from department chairs, are due in OIP by Dec. 13. Direct questions to Jim McNab at ext. 3859.

Athletic Certification

The report detailing UNCW's quest for repeat certification by the National Collegiate Athletic Association is available in Randall Library, the Athletic Department and via the Web at www.UNCWsports.com. A forum to discuss the report will be held from 3 to 4 p.m. Dec. 9 in the Golden Hawk Room.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Angelie Bell, campus recreation, and Julie McCombs, central stores.

Farewell Reception

The Division for Business Affairs will host a farewell reception for Billy Dawson and Barbara Harlow from 3 to 5 p.m. Dec. 12 in the University Union Living Room.

Construction Newsletter

Watch campus mail for the UNCW Under Construction. This 12-page newsletter, published by business affairs, will provide information on current and future construction projects.

Peace Corps Volunteers

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking employees and students who served as Peace Corps volunteers. These individuals will be honored at a reception during the spring semester. For more information, contact Becky Long at ext. 3043.

Spring Course Packs

Faculty should submit spring course packs for duplication as soon as possible to insure their availability to students for the first day of classes. Course packs that contain copyrighted materials must be submitted to the Copyright Office in the Copy Center in Westside Hall. Permission to reproduce materials can take up to three weeks depending upon the publisher. Direct questions to ext. 3083.

HR ONLINE Deadline

Due to the early pay date for December, the deadline to enter HR 1.35 pay actions into HR ONLINE is Dec. 9. Direct questions to ext. 3712.

Admissions Information

The Office of Admissions is hosting an information session for faculty and staff who have children, family or friends who are applying for college. The session will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 10 in the Golden Hawk Room. For more information, contact Ray Cockrell at ext. 3627 or e-mail cockrellr.

Student Payroll Change

Effective Dec. 31, all undergraduate pay assignments (work assist and work study) will end.

Beginning in January, departments and offices must create new pay actions using the HR ONLINE system. HR ONLINE training sessions will be offered 9 to 11:30 a.m. Dec. 10 and 13 or 2 to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 10-12 in the HR training room, 5051 New Centre Drive.

To register for one of these five sessions, call ext. 3712 or e-mail Joann McDowell at mcdowellj.

Holiday Payroll

December end-of-month payroll will be Dec. 18 with a mid-month pay date of Dec. 13. Direct questions to ext. 3163.

Shared Leave

Betty Miller, student health services, and Lola Reid, printing services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23078 Systems Accountant II	Dec. 10
23080 Associate Director of Financial Aid	Dec. 16
23083 Administrative Officer II	Dec. 10
23084 Assistant Director for Ocean Operations	Dec. 10
23085 Computer Prod. Spec. II	Dec. 10
23086 Project Manager (Mech.)	Dec. 10
23087 Project Manager (Elec.)	Dec. 10
23088 Capital Projects Manager	Dec. 10
23089 Horticulturist	Dec. 10
23090 Plumber II	Dec. 10
23091 Locksmith II	Dec. 10
23092 Housekeeping Supervisor II	Dec. 10

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Phillip Brown, editor

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Alumni Socials Planned

UNCW's Alumni Association is sponsoring four pre-game socials prior to upcoming men's basketball games. All socials will be held at 5 p.m. in the Hawk's Nest.

The first event, Wing Fling, is Jan. 4. The association will recognize members of the Cape Fear alumni chapter. UNCW plays Hofstra at 7 p.m.

Pasta Night is set for Feb. 1. The alumni association will recognize its professional school and academic chapters. UNCW plays Drexel at 7 p.m.

On Feb. 8, the association will sponsor "Homecoming, Chicken Pickin' Night" and will recognize traveling alumni chapters (Triad, Triangle, Charlotte, Atlanta and Washington, D.C.). UNCW plays Delaware at 7 p.m.

Mexican Fiesta Night is March 1 with the association recognizing special interest chapters (African-American Graduates Association, Wilmington College and Crew Club). UNCW plays Virginia Commonwealth at 7 p.m.

Admission is $10 per person per social. Children ages six to 12 will be admitted for $5 each, there is no charge for children five and under. Reservations are required; call alumni relations at ext. 2682.

Activities Fair Scheduled

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center is sponsoring a spring activities fair from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Jan. 9 in the Warwick Center.

Seahawk Shop Sale

The Seahawk Shop is holding a sale of UNCW merchandise. Located in the lobby of Trask Coliseum, the shop is open from 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and during men's basketball home games. For more information, contact Angela Pucher, sports marketing, at ext. 7319.

Open House

Purchasing services is hosting an open house from 3 to 5 p.m. Dec. 13 in its offices.

Aquarius Featured on Dec. 14 Science of the Deep

UNCW's undersea laboratory Aquarius is featured in an episode of the Science Channel series Science of the Deep. The program premieres at 8 p.m. ET Dec. 14.

In the segment "Aquarius: Undersea Lab," Science Channel viewers follow a team of aquanauts through an entire undersea mission at Aquarius, the 81-ton underwater habitat and research lab owned by NOAA's National Undersea Research Program and operated by the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Coverage starts with surface preparations where aquanauts learn the safety procedures and diving guidelines and discuss their scientific objectives. Viewers then descend with them to their new home beneath the waves, observing life aboard Aquarius. The program features footage of daytime and nighttime diving excursions of the researchers during their 10-day mission, which is a multidisciplinary study of the health, reproduction and fate of corals as they react to higher water temperatures.

Retired Navy Vice Admiral Conrad Lautenbacher, Ph.D., undersecretary of commerce for oceans and atmosphere and NOAA administrator, said he was "delighted that the Science Channel viewers will be able to join our aquanauts aboard Aquarius. For more than 30 years, NOAA's mission has been to provide an enhanced understanding of the environment. And this episode of Science of the Deep goes to great lengths - and depths - to show how we go about building a greater understanding of our oceans. We hope that through better understanding we can encourage better stewardship. This is vital, given the seas' crucial role in the overall environmental health of the planet."

Vintage Copies of Seahawk Available

Copies of the Seahawk, UNCW's student newspaper, are available for the asking. Dates are from fall 1973 through spring 1983. Each is yellowed, but in good shape. Contact Linda Moore via e-mail at moorel or call ext. 2659.

Awards Day Timeline

The Center for Leadership Education and Service will hold its annual Awards Day program honoring student leaders April 23. Faculty and staff are encouraged to identify prospective honorees for the Senior Medallion, Distinguished Service, Leadership Excellence, Bryan Senior Leader, Freeman Service Leadership and ODK Leadership awards as well as the Lippitt New Student Leadership Scholarship. The center will also award the inaugural Martha Duncan Leadership Scholarship.

The center will mail award information during the first week of February. The nomination deadline is Feb. 16. A description of each award is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/stuaff/leaderv. Direct questions to ext. 3877.

Honors Workshop

The Honors Scholars Program is hosting a faculty development workshop and luncheon from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Dec. 17 in the University Union, Hawk's Nest Glassroom. This event is geared toward faculty teaching honors courses for spring 2003, but all faculty members are invited to attend to learn more about teaching opportunities in the program. There is no charge; reservations are required. Call ext. 4181.

Angels Still Available

There are still "angels" available for adoption on trees located in the lobby of the University Union and Randall Library. The Angel Tree program, sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service, benefits children at the Boys and Girls Homes of Lake Waccamaw. Sponsorships average between $35 and $45. Gifts should be delivered to the University Union, Room 212, by 5 p.m. Dec. 13. For more information, call ext. 3877.

Union/Warwick Holiday Hours

The University Union and Warwick Center will observe the following winter break schedule:

Dec. 20	7 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Dec. 21 to Jan. 1	closed
Jan. 2-3	7 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Jan. 4-5	closed

The facilities will resume regular operations Jan. 6.

Farewell Reception

The Division for Business Affairs will host a farewell reception for Billy Dawson and Barbara Harlow from 3 to 5 p.m. Dec. 12 in the University Union Living Room.

Tommy Dorsey Orchestra

The "One and Only Tommy Dorsey Orchestra," under the direction of Buddy Morrow, will perform at 8 p.m. Dec. 14 in Kenan Auditorium.

Morrow is recognized as one of the all-time great trombone players. He has performed as a featured musician with numerous orchestras as well as jazz groups. Walt Andrus will be the featured soloist for the concert. Andrus, who has been compared to Frank Sinatra, performed in the PBS special Tommy Dorsey, A Sentimental Journey.

For tickets, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Leadership Wilmington Alumni Award

Leadership Wilmington is accepting nominations for its 2002 Alumni of the Year Award. Nominees must have "contributed significantly to the enhancement of the community through inspirational and visionary leadership and through the development of leaders within the community."

Anyone from the community can nominate a Leadership Wilmington graduate. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 31. For more information, contact Diana Corbett at 762-2611 ext. 213.

Student Recreation Center Exam/Break Schedule

The Student Recreation Center will observe the following schedule during exams and winter break.

Dec. 13	6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Dec. 14	10 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Dec. 15	1 to 10 p.m.
Dec. 16	6:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Dec. 17	8 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Dec. 18	8 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Dec. 19	8 a.m. to 7 p.m.
Dec. 20	8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Dec. 21 to Jan. 1	closed
Jan. 2 and 3	10 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Jan. 4	2 to 8 p.m.
Jan. 5	4 to 10 p.m.
Jan. 6 and 7	8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Recreational Swim Schedule

Dec. 13	11 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Dec. 14	1 to 3 p.m.
Dec. 15	6 to 8 p.m.
Dec. 16-19 and Jan. 2-3	11 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Jan. 6-7	11 a.m. to 1 p.m. 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Dinner/Dance Benefit

The Italian Heritage Society of Cape Fear will hold its annual holiday dinner and dance at 6 p.m. Dec. 14 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The cost is $35 per person and includes a buffet, wine and door prizes. Proceeds from this event support the annual Italian Heritage Society scholarship given to a UNCW student of Italian descent. For more information, call 458-9555, 793-2688 or 686-1486.

Leutze Merit Scholars continued from page 1

ments while at the helm of the University of North Carolina at Wilmington," said Gornto, adding that UNCW-TV is producing a special video highlighting the university's achievements during the Leutze years.

According to Tyrone Rowell, senior associate chancellor for university advancement, Leutze Scholars will include both undergraduate and graduate students. Undergraduate recipients will be selected by the director of admissions, and at least one graduate award will be given at the determination of the dean of the Graduate School. Initial scholarships will be $9,000 per person per year. Rowell said he anticipates inaugural awards to be made within 12 months of the completion of the fund-raising campaign.

In late spring, a campus-based reception will be held for faculty and staff to say farewell to the chancellor.

Book Donations

The UNCW bookstore is teaming up with student tutors from Galloway Hall to provide new books for Virgo Middle School. The bookstore will contribute one book for every three books purchased by the public for donation to the middle school through Dec. 21. Faculty and staff can use their 20 percent bookstore discount on these titles. For more information, contact Andy Shaffer, bookstore manager, at ext. 3188.

Student Leadership

UNCW will host the 10th annual Southeastern African-American Student Leadership Conference Jan. 31 through Feb. 2. The conference, which is open to all faculty, staff and students, is designed to develop and strengthen leadership skills of African-American students. Invitations were sent to more than 200 universities and colleges across the southeastern United States.

Conference organizers are soliciting individuals to conduct conference workshops on a variety of topics including drugs/alcohol, relationships, careers, media, health, technology, psychology and discrimination. Proposal forms are available at the Center for Leadership Education and Service, University Union, Room 212. For more information, contact Shelly Hoover at ext. 3877.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Bob Toplin, history, appeared on the national PBS program The World at Large with David Gergen where he spoke about movies along with director Peter Bogdonovich and Akiva Goldsman, Academy Award-winning screenwriter for A Beautiful Mind. Toplin also appeared on the History Channel's Hardcore History to talk about his new book Reel History: In Defense of Hollywood.

Bill Harris, earth sciences, organized the fourth Bald Head Island Conference on Coastal Plains Geology held at the North Carolina Aquarium in Fort Fisher. More than 50 geologists and hydrogeologists from as far away as California and Texas attended the conference, which was established in 1986 through the auspices of UNCW. Unlike professional society meetings where research results are emphasized, the conference was concerned with on-going geological and hydrologic investigations of the coastal plain. A list of presentations is available on the Web at people.uncw.edu/harris/HarrisWebSite/BHICProgram.pdf. Conference co-organizers were Kathleen Farrell of the N.C. Geologic Survey in Raleigh and Robert Weems of the U.S. Geological Survey in Reston, Va.

Mike Mallin, Matt McIver and Doug Parsons, CMS and biological sciences, presented "Summer Nutrient Limitation of Phytoplankton in the Cape Fear River Plume" at the meeting of the Southeastern Estuarine Research Society in Conway, S.C. At the same meeting Kim Cressman, Martin Posey, Lynn Leonard, Troy Alphin and Mallin, CMS, presented "Effects of the Eastern Oyster, Crassostrea virginica, on Water Quality in a Tidal Creek." Jenny Johnson, Heather CoVan and Mallin also presented "Impact of Land Use and Rainfall on Tidal Creek Water Quality."

Robert Argenbright, earth sciences, presented "Communist Ethics in Practice" at the National Convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies in Pittsburgh.

Shelly Hoover and Becky Long, student affairs, attended the North Carolina College Personnel Association conference in Charlotte, where Hoover gave a presentation on the use of leadership style inventories, and Long presented "Social Justice: A Community Model."

CAS Announces Faculty Research Reassignments

The College of Arts and Sciences awarded research reassignments to 17 faculty members for the 2003-04 academic year.

Faculty receiving fall reassignments were William Bolduc, communication studies; Wendy Brenner, creative writing; Andrew Clark, history; William Cleary, earth sciences; Stephen Emslie, Donald Kapraun and Martin Posey, biological sciences; Dargan Frierson, mathematics and statistics; and Rob Nathanson, music.

Bolduc will work on a documentary about female surf-pioneers. Brenner will use the reassignment to complete her first novel. Clark will study slave forts on Ghana's Gold Coast. Cleary will research North Carolina shorelines and collaborate with researchers in Brazil. Emslie will look at Ice Age birds of North America. Frierson will study the use of microarray technology in genetic research. Kapraun will research DNA quantification in seaweeds. Nathanson will work on a CD. Posey will study the ecosystems of oyster reefs.

Spring reassignments went to Lewis Abrams and Nancy Grindlay, earth sciences; Patricia Comeaux, communication studies; Michael Durako, biological sciences; Janet Ellerby, English; Gary Faulkner, sociology and criminal justice; and Raymond Pitts, psychology.

Abrams will participate in an NSF-funded cruise in the southeastern Pacific Ocean. Comeaux will look at online teaching and learning. Durako will study variability in the photobiology in seagrasses. Ellerby will complete two books, Bearing Sorrow and Fiction's Orphans. Faulkner will study the effects of an international academic experience on one's perception of the meaning of life. Grindlay will conduct research at the Institute of Marine Geology in Bologna, Italy. Pitts will collaborate with New Zealand researchers on mathematical models of choice and decision-making.

In addition, Donald Habibi, philosophy and religion, was awarded a two-semester reassignment to accept a research fellowship at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Joanne Nottingham, campus diversity, attended the Inscape business meeting in Nassau, Bahamas, which focused on leadership development for businesses.

Leslie Langer, SBTDC, received $88,266 in supplemental funding from SBTDC/Raleigh to fund a full-time consultant to assist with N.C. Recovery and Development, which is part of the state's Hurricane Floyd Recovery Program.

Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, received $9,090 from U.S.-Israel Binational Science Foundation for the project "Photosymbiotic Relationships in Marine Sponges."

James Merritt, CMS, received $80,000 from the N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources/Division of Coastal Management for the project "Coastal Reserve GIS Resource/Education Project 2002-03."

P. J. Lapaire, foreign languages and literatures, had a review of Camus: Love and Sexuality by Anthony Rizzuto published in the December issue of French Review.

Moorad Alexanian, physics and physical oceanography, had a letter about the nature of science and intelligent design published in the December issue of Perspectives on Science and Christian Faith, which is the journal of the American Scientific Affiliation.

Martin Posey, Ami Wilbur and Troy Alphin, biological sciences and CMS, gave talks at the International Conference on Shellfish Restoration in Charleston. Posey, Alphin and students Heather Harwell and Thomas Molesey presented "Landscape Aspects of Oyster Reefs: Effect of Vertical Complexity, Edge Convolution and Fragmentation on Faunal Use." Alphin, Posey, Wilbur and James Swartzberg presented "The Use of Remote Set for Stock Enhancement and Evaluation of Oysters in North Carolina: A Collaborative Effort Between Researchers and Commercial Growers." Wilbur, Swartzberg and students Rachel Sackett and Russ Peterson presented "Aquaculture Contributes to Local Recruitment on Adjacent Oyster Beds: Genetic Evidence of Enhancement."

Financial Records Down

The Financial Records System will be down Dec. 20 in preparation for year-end accounts payable closing.

IACUC Protocols

The UNCW Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee will meet at 3 p.m. Jan. 16 in Alderman Hall, Room 211, to review protocols that involve vertebrate animals. Faculty, staff and students planning research or teaching classes that use animals should submit signed protocols for new or continuing projects to the Office of Sponsored Programs (OSP) by Jan. 3.

The MS Word protocol form is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/forms.htm. E-mail completed forms as attachments to M. J. Carver at carvermj. Send a signed copy via campus mail to OSP. Direct questions to ext. 3810.

2002 Tax-deductible Contributions

Any faculty or staff member wishing to make a 2002 tax-deductible contribution to UNCW should submit donations to advancement services, Alderman Hall, Room 104, by the close of business Dec. 20. The university will be closed for the holidays beginning Dec. 23.

New Financial Records System Budget Codes

Effective Jan. 1, departments and offices must use new object codes to record networking and technology expenditures. The codes, mandated by the Office of the State Controller, have been added to UNCW's statewide chart of accounts and are listed below. They can also be viewed on the Web at busaff.uncw.edu/coa/exp/exp\_menu.htm.

1912-1920	Purchased Contractual Services
2880, 2910	General Administrative Supplies
3206-3219	Telecommunications Purchased Services
3530-3535	Repairs Computer Equipment
4321-4323	Rent/Lease Software
4330-4337	Rent/Lease Computer Equipment
4430-4436	Maintenance Agreements-Computer Equipment
4450-4454	Maintenance Agreements-Computer Software
5250-5259	Computer Equipment-Capitalized ($1,000 or more)
5261-5265	Computer Software-Capitalized ($1,000 or more)
5877, 5975	Construction Communication Contracts

Parking Lot Closure

Due to commencement, Lot A, which is located between Hoggard Hall and Hanover Gym, will be closed on Dec. 20 until 9:45 a.m.

Risk Manager Change

Sondra Roark, financial services, has assumed the duties of risk manager in the Division for Business Affairs. Direct questions or concerns regarding insurance matters to her at ext. 3634.

Roark is taking over for Barbara Harlow who is retiring Dec. 31. Harlow, special assistant for risk management and capital projects coordinator, also served as insurance program coordinator during her 28-year tenure at UNCW.

Campus Communique Holiday Schedule

The Dec. 19 issue of the Campus Communique is the final edition prior to winter break. The publication will resume Jan. 9.

International Travel

The Office of International Programs is accepting funding requests for faculty travel for spring 2003. Forms, which are available from department chairs, are due in OIP by Dec. 13. Direct questions to Jim McNab at ext. 3859.

Award Nominations

Nominations for the Chancellor's Teaching Excellence and Distinguished Teaching Professorship awards are due Jan. 24. Award descriptions, criteria and procedures are on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/edu/aa/awardsfaculty.htm. Faculty, staff, students and alumni can submit nominations.

Shared Leave

Betty Miller, student health services; Ike Mitchell, athletics; and Lola Reid, printing services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Kimberly Buschur, NURC; Paula May, CMS; Bethany Noller, biological sciences; and Jamie Welch, physical plant.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23080 Associate Director of Financial Aid	Dec. 16
23094 Student Accounts Mgr.	Jan. 2
23095 Classroom Tech. Support	Jan. 2
23096 HUB Liaison, Special Asst. to the AVCBA, Facilities	Jan. 2
23097 Scheduler	Jan. 2
23098 Marine Specialist	Jan. 2
23099 Mechanic Supervisor	Jan. 2
23100 Processing Assistant IV	Jan. 2
23101 Processing Assistant IV	Jan. 2
23102 Security Guard	Jan. 2
23103 Grounds Worker	Jan. 2
23104 Physician Extender	Jan. 2

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Remember to link your Harris Teeter VIC card to 5034 to earn credit for UNCW.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 23 Dec. 19, 2002

Phillip Brown, editor

Donaldson Named University Police Chief

Effective Jan. 1, Capt. David Donaldson assumes the position of chief of university police.

During his 10 years at UNCW, Donaldson has displayed a strong work ethic and commitment to improving the university community, said Sharon Boyd, associate vice chancellor for business and support services. Donaldson joined the university police department as an officer in 1992.

Donaldson

"David's philosophy of policing is based on community involvement, crime prevention and student development with a strong emphasis on proactive problem solving," said Boyd. "We know his leadership will continue to make our campus a safe place to work and study."

"It is an enormous honor to serve the UNCW community in this capacity," said Donaldson, who holds degrees and certifications in basic law enforcement training, criminal justice technology and business administration. "While we will refine some areas and expand others, the university community can continue to expect a well-trained and equipped police department that values people as individuals, is committed to providing impartial service and dedicated to continuing partnerships that prevent crime and educate the community."

Education School Gets Top Ranking

Watson School of Education is one of seven undergraduate teacher education programs in the state to receive an exemplary rating, the highest possible, on the Performance Report on Teacher Education Programs for 2001-02. The report was presented to the State Board of Education Dec. 12.

"We are extremely happy about this.

The Watson School has been reaffirmed by the state as to the excellence we offer to our students," said Dean Cathy L. Barlow. "We couldn't be more pleased."

The report rates teacher education

see Education School on page 3

School of Nursing Formalizes Agreement with Japanese School

The School of Nursing has entered into a formal agreement with a Japanese university that will involve an increase in academic and research collaboration.

This agreement, which is with the Faculty of Nursing, Iwate Prefectural University, is an outgrowth of the university's Global Virtual University initiative and the first between individual programs, said Virginia W. Adams, dean of the School of Nursing.

"We're pleased to officially formalize educational activities that we've been undertaking with our Japanese colleagues," said Adams. "The faculty and student exchanges that are part of this agreement will help the school fulfill our goal of increasing opportunities for international exposure for UNCW students. The School of Nursing provides our graduates with the knowledge and skills to practice worldwide, so they are prepared to provide healthcare in a culturally sensitive manner."

Chancellor James R. Leutze and Adams along with Iwate Prefectural University President Nishizawa Junichi and Yuriko Kanematsu, dean of the Chancellor Leutze and Dean Adams sign agreement in Westside Hall distance learning classroom.

Faculty of Nursing, participated in the signing agreement via two-way interactive video.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Got Data?

The Computer Science Department is offering a course in scientific visualization (CSC 475). Enrolled students will work with real-world data sets. Members of the university community who have spatial or temporal data that they would like to see represented in new ways should contact Tom Hudson at ext. 3886 or e-mail hudsonst. Data examples include medical CAT scans and engineering models as well as molecular and population dynamics.

Concert Rescheduled

The Chucho Valdés Quartet will take the stage in Kenan Auditorium at 8 p.m. Feb. 11. The group was originally scheduled to perform Oct. 7. Ticket holders for that performance do not need to obtain new tickets; they can present their original tickets on the evening of the rescheduled concert.

Buckle Up for the Holidays

Before starting out on a holiday trip, university police remind everyone to buckle up. The National Safety Council estimates more than 8,500 travelers will sustain non-fatal injuries by not wearing a seat belt during the holidays.

Other safety tips for the holidays offered by university police are:

- Make sure children riding in rear passenger seats use an age/weight appropriate child restraint system.
- Leave early for destinations and allow time for heavy holiday traffic.
- Pay attention to weather reports and be prepared for possible road closures.
- Get a vehicle safety inspection to determine any mechanical defects including brake and tire conditions.

Tax-deductible Donations

Any faculty or staff member wishing to make a 2002 tax-deductible contribution to UNCW should submit donations to advancement services, Alderman Hall, Room 104, by the close of business Dec. 20. The university will be closed for the holidays beginning Dec. 23.

Service Trip Advisers

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking faculty and staff who are interested in serving as advisers for various alternative spring break trips. Each trip includes 10 to 12 students and is coordinated by a trained student leader. Advisers bring an added dimension to the trip through their personal knowledge and experience related to the focus of the trip. The next excursion, scheduled for March 8-15, will involve students working with hunger and homelessness programs in New York City. It will also include a visit to "ground zero," the site of the Sept. 11 terror attack. For more information, contact Becky Long at ext. 3043 or e-mail longb.

Former Trustee Named to Science Board

Margaret Dardess, former member of the UNCW Board of Trustees, was named to the North Carolina Board of Science and Technology. The board advises and makes recommendations to the governor, the secretary of commerce and the Economic Development Board on the role of science and technology in economic growth and development. Dardess, one of 12 members appointed by Gov. Mike Easley, is senior associate dean of the School of Public Health at UNC Chapel Hill. She will serve as the board's chair.

IACUC Protocols

The Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee will meet at 3 p.m. Jan. 16 in Alderman Hall, Room 211, to review protocols that involve vertebrate animals. Faculty, staff and students planning research or teaching classes that use animals should submit signed protocols for new or continuing projects to the Office of Sponsored Programs (OSP) by Jan. 3.

The MS Word protocol form is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/forms.htm. E-mail completed forms as attachments to M. J. Carver at carvermj. Send a signed copy via campus mail to OSP. Direct questions to ext. 3810.

Alumni Association Seeks Board Members

The UNCW Alumni Association is looking for a few good men and women who have a real affection for their alma mater and who are willing to serve in leadership positions.

"There are approximately 14 openings for core board members and alternate board members for the 2003-04 term," said board chair Ray Cockrell '88,'96M. "With the resignation of Chancellor James R. Leutze and the selection of a new chancellor, the university is in a significant transitional phase. It is extremely important that we maintain strong leadership and consistency within the association."

The board of directors is the leadership body of UNCW's alumni who will total 36,000 with the current graduating class.

Potential board members should be "active" alumni who make annual contributions to the university and who are willing to attend alumni events and meetings and to support a variety of special projects of benefit to alumni and students.

Board member terms begin July 1 and may be held for one year as an alternate or three years as a core board member. Chapter representatives are also needed.

The deadline to apply is Jan. 10. Interested persons can send their resumes to the UNCW Alumni Association at Wise Alumni House, 1713 Market Street, or by e-mail to alumnews@uncwil.edu. For more information, call ext. 2682.

Grad Student Wins Grant

Jessica Snowden, a graduate student in psychology, along with her adviser Len Lecci received the Thelma Hunt Grant from the National Honors Society in Psychology (Psi Chi). The $2,225 award will fund the project "Implicit and Explicit Attitudes Toward Research in Psychology: Predicting Grades and Attitude Change in Students." The Hunt grant is awarded annually to one graduate student through a national competition.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Michael Durako, biological sciences and CMS, presented "Measuring Photosynthetic Characteristics of Seagrasses Using Pulse Amplitude Modulated (PAM) Fluorometry: Methodological and Scale-Based Considerations" at the fifth International Seagrass Biology Workshop in Ensenada, Mexico. His graduate student, Jennifer Kunzelman, presented "UV-Induced Changes in the Photophysiology and Photochemistry of Halophila johnsonii Eiseman." Durako was also co-author of the paper "Assessing Change in Seagrass Ecosystems on a Regional Scale: The Relative Merits of Fixed Stations and Systematic Random Sampling." Durako presented "Spatial and Temporal Variation in CDOM (Colored Dissolved Organic Matter) in a Coastal Blackwater River Plume" at the 16th Ocean Optics Conference in Santa Fe, N.M. His co-authors were Piotr Kowalczyk, Jay Souza, Michael Mallin, and Matt McIver, CMS. Kowalczyk also presented "Comparison of Radiometric Quantities Measured in Water and Above Water and Derived from SeaWiFS Imagery in Onslow Bay and Cape Fear River Plume Area." SeaWiFS, which stands for sea-wide field sensor, is an ocean color satellite sensor. Durako and Bill Cooper, chemistry, were co-authors on this presentation.

Charles Lewis, HPER, is 150th grand master of the North Carolina Masons.

Education School continued frompage 1

programs according to three overall criteria: compliance with state and national accreditation standards, the quality of program completers and involvement with and service to public schools. Each program received points based on whether it met or exceeded each criterion and scores were totaled to determine which programs were designated exemplary or low performing.

The N.C. Department of Public Instruction news release can be viewed at <http://www.ncpublicschools.org/news/02-03/121202.html>. The complete report is at <http://www.ncpublicschools.org/THE/THE02>.

Wade Watanabe, CMS, was featured in the article "Down on the Flounder Farm" published in the September/October issue of Tide.

Jessica Burtt and Rebecca Caldwell, CROSSROADS, presented the poster "Believe This: An Effective Campus and High School Prevention Partnership" at the U.S. Department of Education's 16th annual National Meeting on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse and Violence Prevention in Seattle, Wash.

Wilson Freshwater, CMS, received $10,000 from the U.S. Department of Commerce for the project "Analyses of Genotypic Variation and Phylogenetic Relationships of Halophila johnsonii."

Sandy Carlson, mathematics and statistics, gave the presentation "Student Project for a Basic Applied Calculus Course" at the 28th annual conference of the American Mathematical Association of Two-Year Colleges in Phoenix.

Yoko Kano, foreign languages and literatures, had the paper "Going Beyond the Classroom with Videoconferencing and Internet Discussion Forum: Effective Use of Peer Editing from the Japanese Youth" accepted for publication in the Japan Foundation's annual journal Japanese-Language Education Around the Globe. It will be published in spring 2003 and distributed to Japanese language educators worldwide.

Paul Wilkes, English, served as an authoritative source for the media on the Cardinal Law resignation and related issues. He was quoted in the Dec. 14 Wilmington Star-News article "Local Parishioners Share Their Views on Law's Resignation." He also wrote an op-ed piece that was published in The New York Times and had a commentary air nationwide on NPR's All Things Considered. In addition, a segment of a documentary on excellent churches that Wilkes is filming was used on Ted Koppel's Nightline.

Robert Kieber, Stephen Skrabal, Robert Whitehead, and G. Christopher Shank, chemistry, co-authored the poster "Photo-chemically Initiated Changes in Copper Speciation During Sediment Resuspension Events" that chemistry graduate student Michelle Smith presented at the 54th southeast regional meeting of the American Chemical Society in Charleston. At the same meeting, graduate student Jennifer Jones presented the poster "Development of a Complementary Chemiluminescence / HPLC Method for Predicting the Chemical Fate of 1-Bromo-3-chloro-5,5-dimethylimidazolidine-2,4-dione." Skrabal and John Tyrell, chemistry, were co-authors. In addition, graduate student Joel Barden III presented the poster "A Study of the Regioselectivity of Zeolite-Assisted Nitration of Toluene," which Tyrell co-authored.

Honors Scholars Program Recognizes Graduates

On Dec. 14, the Honors Scholars Program held a reception for students who will graduate with honors this fall. These prospective graduates received medallions from their faculty supervisors. Honorees were Hannah Abrams (English, supervisor: Paula Kamenish), Amy Henke (psychology, supervisor: Tony Puente), Tera Kilian (marine biology, supervisor: Ileana Clavijo), Rebecca Larson (English, supervisor: Keith Newlin), Bailey Lee (biological sciences, supervisor: Steve Kinsey), Megan O'Brien (English, supervisor: Diana Ashe), Julie Overman (creative writing, supervisor: Michael White), Sarah Scott (environmental studies, supervisor: Martin Posey), and Steven van Slyter (biological sciences, supervisors: Michael Durako and Christopher Halkides). August graduates Matthew Childers (chemistry, supervisor: Jack Manock) and Kimberly Fleming (marine biology, supervisor: Laela Sayigh) were also recognized.

Alumni Association Holding Pregame Social Jan. 4

The UNCW Alumni Association is sponsoring a "wing fling" pregame social at 5 p.m. Jan. 4 in the University Union Hawk's Nest. This event is prior to the 7 p.m. men's basketball game against Hofstra. The association will recognize members of the Cape Fear Alumni Chapter. Admission is $10 per person. Children ages six to 12 will be admitted for $5 each, there is no charge for children five and under. Reservations are required; call ext. 2682.

2003 Network/System Down Times Reserved

The ITSD Departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved April 26-27, July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance. Selection and publication of these dates will assist the university community in their planning for services that will be affected, which can include, but are not limited to, e-mail; access to the Internet and intranet; Plus 2000 administrative applications on VMS, NT or Sun Solaris; Quiz Maker; Campus Pipeline; and all Web applications.

These dates do not include downtime for application-specific maintenance such as the implementation of SCT Time of Solutions that will affect ADS, FRS, HRS and SIS.

Computing services and application services will give the university community two weeks notice about specific areas that will be affected.

Information on network and system down times is also available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

Parking Lot Closure

Due to commencement, Lot A, located between Hoggard Hall and Hanover Gym, will be closed Dec. 20 until 9:45 a.m.

ITSD to Upgrade Collaborative Computing Environment

With more than 95 percent of UNCW faculty and staff switched to the Collaborative Computing Environment based upon Microsoft Outlook Exchange, plans are underway to convert students.

"Phase II of the implementation of the Collaborative Computing Environment will be a two-stage process," said Bobby Miller, director of computing services in the Information Technology Systems Division. "We will convert graduate students in spring 2003 and undergraduates in the summer."

To accommodate the approximately 11,000 additional users, ITSD must increase the capacity and performance of the existing computer network servers and storage disks. The Exchange server as well as the "Sammy" file server will be down during the three- to four-day upgrade, said Miller. Work is scheduled for 5 p.m. Jan. 16 through 5 p.m. Jan. 19.

"During this period, e-mail and file services will not be available," said Miller. "If necessary, the off-line time may extend through the Jan. 20 holiday." Faculty and staff can call the ITSD Technology Assistance Center at ext. 4357 for updates on the status of the project, said Miller. Jan. 20 is Martin Luther King Day.

"We appreciate everyone's patience and cooperation as the university moves forward to improve electronic collaboration between faculty and students," said Miller. "This upgrade will provide significant benefits to UNCW's student population including improved e-mail services; additional e-mail disk space; server-based virus protection; access to university-wide e-mail address list; and integrated e-mail, calendar and task list features."

Farewell Reception

The Office of the Chancellor is hosting a farewell reception for Hal White from 2 to 3 p.m. Dec. 19 in Alderman Hall. White is leaving to assume the position of executive vice president at the University of West Florida.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Michael Fougeres, client services; and Bethany Noller, biological sciences.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23094 Student Accounts Mgr.	Jan. 2
23095 Classroom Tech. Support	Jan. 2
23096 HUB Liaison, Special Asst. to the AVCBA, Facilities	Jan. 2
23097 Scheduler	Jan. 2
23098 Marine Specialist	Jan. 2
23099 Mechanic Supervisor	Jan. 2
23100 Processing Assistant IV	Jan. 2
23101 Processing Assistant IV	Jan. 2
23102 Security Guard	Jan. 2
23103 Grounds Worker	Jan. 2
23104 Physician Extender	Jan. 2

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information.

Seahawk Shop Sale

The Seahawk Shop is offering a holiday special on UNCW merchandise from 1 to 5 p.m. Dec. 19 with discounts for faculty and staff. The shop is located in the lobby of Trask Coliseum.

FRS Down

The Financial Records System will be down Dec. 20 in preparation for year-end accounts payable closing.

New Financial Records System Budget Codes

Effective Jan. 1, departments and offices must use new object codes to record networking and technology expenditures.

1912-1920	Purchased Contractual Services
2880, 2910	General Administrative Supplies
3206-3219	Telecommunications Purchased Services
3530-3535	Repairs Computer Equipment
4321-4323	Rent/Lease Software
4330-4337	Rent/Lease Computer Equipment
4430-4436	Maintenance Agreements-Computer Equipment
4450-4454	Maintenance Agreements-Computer Software
5250-5259	Computer Equipment-Capitalized ($1,000 or more)
5261-5265	Computer Software-Capitalized ($1,000 or more)
5877, 5975	Construction Communication Contracts

Print, clip and save

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 24 Jan. 9, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

SACS Makes it Official, Reaffirms University's Accreditation

It's official – UNCW's accreditation with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) was reaffirmed at the organization's December meeting in San Antonio.

"This is outstanding news for the university, and the culmination of two years of dedicated effort by faculty and staff at all levels within the university," said Chancellor James R. Leutze. "It's beneficial for any organization to look at itself. This self-study has helped to strengthen us, and I'm gratified that SACS agreed with the recommendation of its reaffirmation team which visited last year."

UNCW was one of approximately 100 institutions to have its accreditation reaffirmed in December, according to Ken Spackman, faculty associate to the chancellor and accreditation liaison.

In February 2002, a team of 14 evaluators spent four days reviewing the university's self-study document and conducted two days of interviews with faculty, staff and students. This reaffirmation team's exit report featured a rare and extraordinary commendation along with six recommendations and two suggestions for improvement. UNCW submitted a "response report" in July 2002 to demonstrate compliance with the evaluation team's recommendations.

At the same December meeting, SACS approved initiation of UNCW's doctoral program in marine biology which will allow us to admit students and offer courses, said Spackman.

"Each college or university is accredited at a certain degree level," said Spackman. "UNCW's accreditation is at the master's level. Changing the degree-granting level is a substantive step that requires an institution to demonstrate that it has the resources, stature, personnel, policies and programs to launch and sustain the new program."

In preparation for requesting the change, Spackman said the university prepared a 200-page mini self-study report last fall. Based on the report, SACS approved initiation of the Ph.D. program.

"An external committee will conduct an on-campus site visit in fall 2003 to evaluate the first year operation of the program as a requirement for subsequent accreditation of UNCW at the doctoral degree level," Spackman said.

Bolcom and Morris to Perform Jan. 18

William Bolcom, composer and pianist, and Joan Morris, mezzo-soprano, will perform at 8 p.m. Jan. 18 in Kenan Auditorium.

Bolcom and Morris, who are on the faculty of the University of Michigan School of Music, have been recognized for their ability to send audiences home with smiles on their faces and a new appreciation for the history and range of American music. The Washington Post said of the pair: "You have not experienced all the possibilities of American popular song until you have heard mezzo-soprano Joan Morris singing the hilarious Lime Jell-O Marshmallow Cottage Cheese Surprise."

This evening of music will include the performance of original compositions by Bolcom, who won the 1988 Pulitzer Prize for music for 12 New Etudes for Piano, as well as classic songs written by Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Richard Rogers and Eubie Blake. The concert by this husband-and-wife duo is the third of the university's eight-part Arts in Action Performance Series and is presented in partnership with the Department of Music Artist Recital Series.

Since their first performance in 1972, Bolcom and Morris have championed American popular vocal literature, taking this genre to some of the most renowned venues in the United States, Canada and Europe. The two have performed at the see Bolcom and Morris on page 4

Bolcom and Morris

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Symphony Auditions

The Wilmington Symphony Youth Orchestra as well as the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will hold auditions Jan. 12 and 13, respectively. Membership in the youth orchestra is open to Cape Fear area children in grades seven to 12. WSO members are local amateur and professional musicians who volunteer to present orchestral repertoire drawn from the 18th to 20th centuries. For more information, contact the WSO at 791-9262 or on the Web at www.wilmingtonsymphony.org.

Biological Sciences Seminars

Ronald Kneib, senior research scientist from the University of Georgia Marine Institute, will present "Relating Function to Spatial Structure in Tidal Marsh Ecosystems" at 2 p.m. Jan. 9.

Barry Ache, distinguished professor at Whitney Laboratory and director of the University of Florida Center for Smell and Taste, will lecture on "What the Nose Knows: Insights from a Comparative Approach" at 1 p.m. Jan. 13.

Both presentations will be in Dobo Hall, Room 103. The lecturers are candidates for the Frank Hawkins Kenan distinguished professorship in marine sciences.

Note of Appreciation

Mary Crookes, university events coordinator, and the Office of Transition Programs in the Division of Student Affairs express their appreciation to the many UNCW staff members involved in this year's commencement ceremonies Dec. 20.

"All divisions of the university played a vital role in commencement, both 'behind the scenes' and on the day of the ceremonies," said Crookes. "The teamwork effort put forth by everyone resulted in another successful event and made commencement a very special and memorable day for our graduates and their families."

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will resume Jan. 14 and will feature the following menu: red curry chicken with sweet potatoes, spinach lasagna, steamed rice, herbed zucchini spears, peas with mushrooms, fruit salad, assorted vegetables with dip, plus assorted rolls, desserts and beverages. The cost is $5.25.

Faculty Development Awards Announced

The College of Arts and Sciences presented Faculty Development Awards for summer 2003 with research initiatives awarded to Tommy Macon, theatre; Eric Patterson, computer science; Robert Siegel, creative writing; Donna McGiboney, foreign languages and literatures; Glen Harris, history; David Rolls and Susan Simmons, mathematics and statistics; Nancy King, music; Diana Pasulka, philosophy and religion; and Julian Keith and Bryan Myers, psychology.

Curriculum development initiatives went to Aaron Wilcox, art; Srihar Narayan, computer science; Joanne Halls and Elizabeth Hines, earth sciences; Diana Ashe, English; and Candace Ashton and Michael Perko, health and applied human sciences.

Library Art Exhibit

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "No Boundaries" through Feb. 23 on its first-floor art wall. The display features works created at the third international artist colony on Bald Head Island by participants from Australia, France, Italy, Macedonia, Switzerland, the Netherlands and the U.S.

A discussion by artists from the colony is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Jan. 16 at the exhibit.

Department Name Change

Effective Jan. 1, the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation became the Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences.

Ed Lab Tutoring

Does your child need help with reading, writing and mathematics? The Ed Lab at the Watson School of Education is accepting children in kindergarten through sixth grade for tutoring in reading and math. Tutoring will also be offered for children with special needs.

UNCW students from the Ed Lab work one-on-one with children for 60 minutes once or twice a week on the university campus. Sessions begin Feb. 3 and continue through April 30. Fees vary with the number of hours of tutoring.

For more information, call ext. 3633.

Relay for Life

The eighth annual Relay for Life, sponsored by the New Hanover County chapter of the American Cancer Society, is scheduled for May 2-3 at the Hoggard High School stadium. Recruitment is underway for UNCW's team which is open to faculty, staff and students. Chancellor James R. Leutze is donating the team tent at this year's event. For more information, contact Annie Aldrich at ext. 3099.

Speakers Needed

The UNCW Baptist Student Union is seeking faculty or staff interested in serving as guest speakers at the organization's weekly meetings, which are held at 6 p.m. Mondays and noon Wednesdays in the University Union, Room 100. For more information, contact Sharon Duff at 794-3010.

Got Data?

The Computer Science Department is offering a course in scientific visualization (CSC 475). Enrolled students will work with real-world data sets. Members of the university community who have spatial or temporal data that they would like to see represented in new ways should contact Tom Hudson at ext. 3886 or e-mail hudson.t@uncw.edu. Data examples include medical CAT scans and engineering models as well as molecular and population dynamics.

Leadership Wilmington Alumni Award

Leadership Wilmington is accepting nominations for its 2002 Alumni of the Year Award. Nominees must have "contributed significantly to the enhancement of the community through inspirational and visionary leadership and through the development of leaders within the community."

Anyone from the community can nominate a Leadership Wilmington graduate. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 31. For more information, contact Diana Corbett at 762-2611 ext. 213.

Concert Rescheduled

The Chucho Valdés Quartet will take the stage in Kenan Auditorium at 8 p.m. Feb. 11. The group was originally scheduled to perform Oct. 7. Ticket holders for that performance do not need to obtain new tickets; they can present their original tickets on the evening of the rescheduled concert.

Service Trip Advisers

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking faculty and staff who are interested in serving as advisers for various alternative spring break trips. Each trip includes 10 to 12 students and is coordinated by a trained student leader. Advisers bring an added dimension to the trip through their personal knowledge and experience related to the focus of the trip. The next excursion, scheduled for March 8-15, will involve students working with hunger and homelessness programs in New York City. It will also include a visit to "ground zero," the site of the Sept. 11 terror attack. For more information, contact Becky Long at ext. 3043 or e-mail longb.

Brown Bag Discussions

United Christian Campus Ministry is sponsoring a biblical/theological brown bag luncheon group for faculty and staff. Meetings will be from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays in the University Union, Room 207. For more information, call Nancy Cooper at 799-8497 or e-mail uccmwil@yahoo.com.

Weight Watchers Corporate Solutions Program Can Help You Keep Your Weight-loss Resolution

Special to the Communicque

Each year millions of Americans resolve to lose weight for New Year's. UNCW's Weight Watchers Corporate Solutions Program offers an easy way to follow through on this resolution.

"One of the hallmarks of Corporate Solutions is convenience. You don't have to travel anywhere; Weight Watchers comes to you," said Sharon Staton, a group leader for Weight Watchers. Corporate Solutions was formerly known as Weight Watchers at Work Program.

According to Staton, UNCW's four-year old program is one of the longest-running and most successful at-work programs in the region. The group, which meets at noon Wednesdays in the James Hall conference room, starts a new 15-week session Jan. 15. To sustain the program, a minimum of 20 paying participants must sign up for the program, said Staton. The cost is $165 for the 15-week session.

Becky Fancher, an at-work participant who is an information systems liaison in the Registrar's Office, said that as she works toward her weight-loss goal the convenience of being able to schedule the program into her workday is beneficial.

"Once I leave work, it's hard to make time for myself; but when the program comes to me, at work, I have no excuse not to go," said Fancher. She's lost more than 50 pounds during her two years as a member.

"I'm surrounded by familiar faces, not strangers, and this heightens the support one gets from this type of program," said Fancher. "My colleagues, along with our leader, help me stay focused and on track."

Fancher said she looks forward to the coming year and getting closer to her weight-loss goal.

"Weight Watchers is not a diet, but a lifestyle change," said Fancher. "It's not a fad that you do until you lose the weight you want and quit."

Fellow participant Phillip Brown echoes such sentiments. Brown, a media specialist in university relations, joined the program in March 2001. A self-proclaimed "meat and potatoes" eater, Brown said Weight Watchers is "a life-altering program that gave me the tools to reshape how I view food."

More than a year later and 110 pounds lighter, Brown has reached his goal weight.

"Not only do I look and feel better physically, but the health benefits are tremendous," said Brown. "At the start of the program, I was taking three pills daily to control my diabetes. Now, I control my glucose level through diet and exercise. I've also been able to reduce my blood pressure medication."

Despite reaching his goal weight and becoming a lifetime Weight Watchers member, Brown continues to attend meetings.

"The battle of the bulge is a lifelong struggle," said Brown. "The support of my colleagues in the at-work program helps. Working in offices and departments spread across campus, we are virtually strangers. Yet, our efforts to lose weight bring us together. Each week, we celebrate our successes, commiserate our setbacks and resolve to continue the fight."

Deadline to Apply for Alumni Association Board

Jan. 10 is the deadline to apply for membership in the UNCW Alumni Association board of directors. Potential board members should be "active" alumni who make annual contributions to the university and who are willing to attend alumni events and meetings and to support a variety of special projects of benefit to alumni and students.

Terms begin July 1 and may be held for one year as an alternate or three years as a core board member. Chapter representatives are also needed.

Interested persons can send their resumes to the UNCW Alumni Association at Wise Alumni House, 1713 Market Street, or by e-mail to alumnews@uncwil.edu. For more information, call ext. 2682.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Sherman Hayes, Randall Library, was quoted in the Dec. 4 State Port Pilot article "War Stories: WWII History Preserved Forever." The article highlighted the completion of an oral history project sponsored by the library and Cape Fear Museum.

Darrell Irwin, sociology and criminal justice, was quoted in the Dec. 16 Wilmington Star-News article "Robberies Are No Joke."

Michael Mallin, CMS, received $7,400 in supplemental funding from New Hanover County for environmental research in the county's tidal creek system.

John Taggart, CMS, received $13,200 from the N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources/ Division for Coastal Management for the Coastal Reserve Program.

Karen Shafer, Science and Math Education Center, received $19,988 from the N.C. School of Science and Math for an instructional workshop series.

Mike Bradley, SBTDC, had the article "How Do They Make Those Boats, Anyway?" published in the December issue of Carolina Country.

Leslie Langer, SBTDC, received $1,400 in supplemental federal funding from Small Business Technology Development Center/ U.S. Small Business Administration for 2002 program operations.

Thomas Shafer, biological sciences, received $150,000 in supplemental funding from the UNC Office of the President for the project "Expressed Sequence Tags for the Blue Crab."

Cathy Barlow, education, received $300,000 from the U.S. Department of Education for the project "Coalition for Transition to Teaching."

Steve Ross, CMS, received $612,382 in funding from the N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources/ Division for Coastal Management to fund monitoring of the state's National Estuarine Research Reserve.

Robert George, biological sciences and CMS, participated in an international conference on the effects of trawling activities on fish habitats sponsored by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in Tampa. As an invited speaker on behalf of the Swedish delegation, he presented the paper "Fishing Impact on Lophelia Cold Coral Reefs of the Swedish West Coast." George conducted research for 10 years under the auspices of the Swedish Royal Academy of Sciences. In addition, George, along with student Michelle Rabovski, attended the annual symposium of the Duke-UNC oceanography consortium in Beaufort, where he presented the paper "Global Warming: Phenotypic Changes and Ecosystem Evolution in the Temperate Coasts."

Don Bushman, English, had an essay published in the fall 2002 issue of Composition Studies, a journal in which essay authors present a complete look at a writing or rhetoric course they teach including its syllabus and assignments. Bushman's essay dealt with the special topics course "Writing and Personal Identity."

Ann Stapleton, biological sciences, received $4,000 in federal funding from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for the project "Whole-Genome Mapping of UV-B Photoreceptor Loci in Arabidopsis."

Cathy Barlow, education, received $125,427 from the National Council of Teachers of Math to develop lesson plans for the Marco Polo Illuminations Web site to assist classroom teachers.

Bolcom and Morris continued from page 1

prestigious Alice Tully Hall in Lincoln Center, New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, Jordan Hall in Boston, the Chamber Music Society of Philadelphia as well as locations in London, Moscow, Lisbon, Istanbul, Cairo and Florence.

Bolcom and Morris have recorded 20 albums together. The first, After the Ball, was nominated for a Grammy. Other collaborations include two collections of cabaret songs and anthologies of various composers including Gershwin, Berlin and Rodgers and Hart.

In addition to the performance Saturday evening, Morris will conduct a vocal master class for UNCW students at 7 p.m. Jan. 17 in Kenan Auditorium. Bolcom will give a lecture/demonstration for students at 11 a.m. Jan. 18 in Kenan Hall, Room 114. Both classes are free and open to the public.

Tickets for Saturday night's concert are $6 for UNCW students and children age 12 and under; $12 for UNCW faculty/staff and senior citizens; and $18 for all others. Call the Kenan Auditorium Box Office at ext. 3500.

Call for Nominations for UNCW Honorary Degrees

Honorary degrees, which are granted by the faculty and trustees of UNCW, are the highest accolade the university can bestow on an individual who is not currently employed as a member of its faculty or staff. It is given to honor an individual who possesses outstanding qualities and talents, who has made exceptional contributions to the field of his or her endeavor and who exemplifies the highest standards of personal integrity and civic responsibility.

Nominations may be made at any time by any member of the university community. Forms are available at the Office of the Provost or the office of any academic dean or department. A single page supporting the candidate's qualifications should accompany the nomination form.

Additional information on the evaluation and approval process is available in the Faculty Handbook which is accessible on the World Wide Web at www.uncwil.edu/fac\_handbook.

Trustee Meetings

The UNCW Board of Trustees will hold a retreat Jan. 16 and quarterly committee meetings Jan. 17. The business affairs and external affairs committees will meet at 8 a.m. in Alderman Hall, Rooms 215 and 211, respectively. The educational planning and programs committee will meet at 10 a.m. in the Golden Hawk Room. The full board will meet in the Golden Hawk Room at 1 p.m.

Online Training for Student Payroll

Undergraduate student pay actions ended Dec. 31. Departments must create new pay actions using the HR ONLINE system for students working in January. Employees who did not attend training last month should register for a session scheduled for 9 a.m. Jan. 10 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. To register call ext. 3712 or e-mail JoAnn McDowell at mcowellj.

Earned Income Credit

Employees who are eligible to receive the earned income credit and who would like to receive advanced EIC payments must complete a W-5 form for 2003. For advance EIC payments to be effective with January paychecks, W-5 forms must be submitted to payroll by 5 p.m. Jan. 17. To obtain a form, call ext. 3163.

W-2 Distribution

In accordance with Internal Revenue Service regulations, 2002 W-2 forms will be distributed Jan. 31. Currently enrolled undergraduate students will receive forms at their UNCW post office boxes, and currently enrolled graduate students at their departments. Permanent employees will receive forms with their paychecks or direct deposit stubs. Temporary employees and all others will have forms mailed to their permanent addresses.

Travel Reimbursement

For travel occurring on and after Jan. 1, the maximum business standard mileage reimbursement rate decreased from 36.5 cents per mile to 36 cents.

Retirement Reception

The physical plant is hosting a retirement reception for Joe Dickey, night shift housekeeping supervisor; Don Mintz, plumbing supervisor; and Wayne Phillips, motor pool supervisor, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Jan. 15 in the physical plant's conference room.

Yoga Class Resumes

Christian Barnes will teach a yoga course for beginners and advanced practitioners from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Tuesdays Jan. 14 through April 22 in the Student Recreation Center training room. No registration is necessary for this free course. For more information, call ext. 3274.

Shared Leave

Ellen McConnell, CMS; Ike Mitchell, athletics; and Betty Miller, student health center, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Pam Christie in human resources.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Brian McNeil, admissions; Jean Lindbert, CMS; and Curtis Sutton Jr., earth sciences.

2003 Network/System Down Times Reserved

The ITSD Departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved April 26-27, July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance. Selection and publication of these dates will assist the university community in their planning for services that will be affected, which can include, but are not limited to, e-mail; access to the Internet and intranet; Plus 2000 administrative applications on VMS, NT or Sun Solaris; Quiz Maker; Campus Pipeline; and all Web applications.

These dates do not include downtime for application-specific maintenance such as the implementation of SCT Time of Solutions that will affect ADS, FRS, HRS and SIS.

Computing services and application services will give the university community two weeks notice about specific areas that will be affected.

Information on network and system down times is also available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

E-mail Server Interruption Scheduled for Jan. 16-19

The Microsoft Outlook Exchange server as well as the "Sammy" file server will be down from 5 p.m. Jan. 16 through 5 p.m. Jan. 19.

"During this period, e-mail and file services will not be available," said Bobby Miller, director of computing services in the Information Technology Systems Division. "If necessary, the off-line time may extend through the Jan. 20 holiday." Faculty and staff can call the ITSD Technology Assistance Center at ext. 4357 for updates on the status of the project or visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/update, said Miller. Jan. 20 is Martin Luther King Day.

The interruption is for Phase II of the implementation of the Collaborative Computing Environment which involves the conversion of students to Outlook.

Video Conference

The Office of Sponsored Programs is hosting the video conference "A-110 for Departmental Administrators" from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Jan. 27 in Randall Library, Room 2044. The video deals with Circular A-110, a guiding resource for grants administration produced by the federal Office of Management and Budget.

To ensure availability of handouts and seating, registration is requested by e-mailing Michelle Starks at starksm.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 25 Jan. 16, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Hooks to Speak at King Commemoration

Noted civil rights leader Benjamin Hooks will speak at UNCW's annual Martin Luther King Jr. commemoration scheduled for 7 p.m. Jan. 23 in Kenan Auditorium.

Hooks, an ordained Baptist minister, served as executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) from 1977 to 1992. Prior to heading the NAACP, Hooks was the first black appointee to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). Named by President Richard Nixon in 1972, Hooks addressed the lack of minority ownership of television and radio stations, the minority employment statistics for the broadcasting industry and the image of blacks in the mass media. While Hooks was with the FCC, minority employment in broadcasting rose from three percent to 15 percent.

Hooks

see King Commemoration on page 4

E-mail Interruption Set for Jan. 16-19

Access to campus e-mail will be unavailable from 5 p.m. Jan. 16 through 5 p.m. Jan. 19. If necessary, the off-line time may extend through the Jan. 20 holiday observance of Martin Luther King Day.

The Microsoft Outlook Exchange server as well as the "Sammy" file server will be down for Phase II of the implementation of the Collaborative Computing Environment which involves the conversion of UNCW students to Outlook.

Faculty and staff can call the ITSD Technology Assistance Center at ext. 4357 for updates on the status of the project or visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/update. E-mails delivered to campus accounts will be stored, and they will be retrievable once access is restored.

Simulator to Benefit Nursing Education

UNCW's School of Nursing has a new high-tech tool to prepare future health care practitioners – the Laerdal SimMan Patient Simulator.

Mary Ellen Bonczek, chief nurse executive at New Hanover Health Network, and Virginia Adams, dean of the School of Nursing, check SimMan's respiration and pulse.

According to Virginia W. Adams, dean of the School of Nursing, the simulator will benefit students by allowing them to practice patient assessment and medication administration prior to entering a clinical rotation.

"The simulator will provide instant feedback to students regarding their decision-making skills," said Adams. "We will be able to provide students with various medical scenarios. Students will then be able to plan and carry through their own course of treatment regardless of the outcome."

The programmable, lifelike mannequin can produce realistic vital signs as well as a wide range of breath, heart and bowel sounds to help students differentiate between normal sounds. Laerdal, based in New York, started manufactur-

see Nursing Simulator on page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Memorial Service Set

A memorial service for UNCW student Victor Collins will be held at 2 p.m. Jan. 19 in the Cameron Hall Auditorium. Collins, a junior business major, died Jan. 2 as a result of injuries he sustained in a New Year's Day accident. Two automobiles, including one driven by a Wilmington police officer, hit Collins in the vicinity of Eastwood Road around 4 a.m. Jan. 1.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Richard Satterlie, a professor of biology at Arizona State University, will present "Neural Control of Locomotory Speed Changes in a 'Flying' Mollusk" at 2 p.m. Jan. 16 in Dobo Hall, Room 103. Satterlie is a candidate for the Frank Hawkins Kenan distinguished professorship in marine sciences.

Friends of UNCW Funding

The Friends of UNCW are accepting grant proposals through Jan. 17 to fund departmental projects that do not require substantial monies. Awards for 2001-02 range from $229 to $1,400.

Founded in 1963 to assist accreditation of Wilmington College, Friends of UNCW support and promote educational, scientific and charitable projects on behalf of the university. For grant applications, contact Gennie Beatty at ext. 3751.

Library Promotion

Randall Library faculty member Madeleine Bombeld was promoted to assistant university librarian coordinating access and delivery systems. She will coordinate the services of circulation, stack maintenance, reserves/media in addition to her continuing responsibility for interlibrary loan, document delivery, TOC alerts and distance education.

Retirement Reception

The Division for Business Affairs will host a retirement reception for Joe Hack, physical plant director, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Jan. 24 in the University Union Living Room.

Tickets Via the Web

Single game tickets to UNCW sporting events are now just a click away, thanks to a new affiliation with Tickets.com. The Web site will offer tickets for men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball.

"Tickets.com will give our fans yet another option in purchasing tickets," said Al Monteith, director of ticket operations and box office manager. "They can be anywhere in the world and select their seats for the next game."

Tickets purchased one week in advance of the event will be mailed. Otherwise, tickets will be available at the will call window for each site.

Tickets.com is a nationally recognized site and among its clients are numerous colleges and universities, Major League Baseball and the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Jazz Festival Preview

The North Carolina Jazz Festival swings into Kenan Auditorium at 8 p.m. Jan. 30. As one of the nation's premiere weekend jazz parties, the festival features a stellar lineup of world-class jazz musicians.

UNCW is hosting the preview as a collaborative effort between N.C. Jazz Festival Inc. and the university's Arts in Action Performance Series and Department of Music. The preview was previously held at Thalian Hall. Tickets are free for UNCW students and children 12 and under; $15 for UNCW faculty/staff and Arts in Action series subscribers; and $25 for all others. Call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. Additional information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/stuaff/arts.

CMS Seminar

Hans Paerl, Kenan professor of marine and environmental sciences at the Institute of Marine Sciences, UNC Chapel Hill, will present "Human vs. Climate-induced Impacts on Water Quality in Coastal Waters" at 2 p.m. Jan. 17 in the Center for Marine Science Auditorium.

Java City Opens in Library

Java City, located in Randall Library, opened earlier this month. This new campus dining venue, operated by ARAMARK, features fresh-brewed coffees, espresso drinks, Paradise Iced Teas, juices and bottled water as well as a variety of breakfast selections, Euro Baguette sandwiches and salads.

The shop is open from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday and 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday. It is closed Saturday. For more information, call ext. 3189.

Sponsored Programs Budgeting Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs is hosting the seminar "Building Budgets and Bridges: A Team Approach" from 10:30 a.m. to noon Jan. 28 in the University Union, Room 105. Pam Whitlock, OSP director, and Sandie Moore, grants officer, will lead this interactive session on the importance of planning during grant proposal development. Topics include budgeting, fiscal responsibility, legal issues and auditing. To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starks@uncw.edu.

Nomination Deadline for Teaching Awards

Nominations for the Chancellor's Teaching Excellence and Distinguished Teaching Professorship awards are due Jan. 24. Award descriptions, criteria and procedures are on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/edu/aa/awards/faculty.htm. Faculty, staff, students and alumni can submit nominations.

சென்னை டிசம்பர் 1947

Journal Wins Award

The 2002 edition of Atlantis, UNCW's student magazine of literature and art, won first place in the annual competition sponsored by the American Scholastic Press Association. The journal, co-edited by Emily White and Eric Spencer, was one of three first-place winners in the category for collegiate magazines at institutions with more than 2,500 enrolled students. White, a senior, is editor of the 2003 Atlantis. The journal is scheduled for publication in mid-March.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.25.

Friday – Stir-fry beef with orange sauce, vegetable lo mein, steamed white rice, carrots with dill, green beans with garlic, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Cranberry glazed pork loin, mushroom shepherd's pie, oven roasted potatoes, peas with pearl onions, steamed vegetable medley, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Student Leadership Conference Scheduled

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center is sponsoring the Student Organization Leadership Conference from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Jan. 25 in the Warwick Center. The conference is open to all student organization members and advisers and will offer up to 12 workshops on topics such as creating a Web presence, recruitment, training, team building and program planning. Registration is $12 per person. Special group rates are available. For more information, call ext. 7601.

Honors Student Wins Sigma Xi Research Grant

Michael Simone, an undergraduate honors student, received a Sigma Xi grant-in-aid of research award for his honors project "Social Interactions Based on Male Size and Melanism in the Eastern Mosquitofish (Gambusia holbrooki).” According to Kate Bruce, director of the Honors Scholars Program, the Sigma Xi research program is a very competitive process with fewer than 20 percent of applicants awarded funding.

Simone, who is majoring in marine biology and English, is conducting his research under the joint supervision of Tom Lankford and Bruce.

Sigma Xi is a non-profit scientific research society whose nearly 75,000 members include scientists and engineers elected because of their research achievements or potential. In addition to publishing American Society, Sigma Xi sponsors a variety of programs supporting science education and public understanding of science through more than 500 chapters at government laboratories, research centers and colleges and universities including UNCW.

Artist Recital Series

The Department of Music will hold its first concert of its 2003 Artist Recital Series at 4 p.m. Jan. 26 in Kenan Auditorium. This event will feature department faculty performing selected chamber music pieces. Tickets are $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12. UNCW students admitted free with valid ID.

Future events in the eight-concert series will feature performances by world-class musicians serving as visiting artists as well as Music Department faculty. Concerts will be in a variety of settings from chamber music to solo performances. For more information, call ext. 3390 or visit the Web site www.uncwil.edu/music/concerts/.

Service-learning Institute

Elon University is hosting the Service-learning Institute from 9:20 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Feb. 12. The institute, which is in its fifth year, provides an opportunity for faculty and staff to learn how to integrate service-learning opportunities into curricula. It includes workshops, a keynote speaker and luncheon.

The Center for Teaching Excellence will subsidize the $25 registration fee for faculty and staff who are interested in attending the institute. The Center for Leadership Education and Service is providing transportation. Participants will depart UNCW at 6 a.m. Feb. 12 and return that evening at around 7 p.m. To register, contact CLES by Jan. 27.

Surf Night at UNCW

Two films about surfing, Three Degrees and 20 Some Years Young, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 24 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium. Three Degrees features surfers Mick Fanning, Joel Parkinson and Dean Morrison. 20 Some Years Young was produced by UNCW senior Pete Erickson. This free event is sponsored by Randall Library, the UNCW Surf Club, Poor Specimen Productions and Sweetwater Surf Shop.

Summer Conference Soliciting Papers

The Mid-Atlantic Marine Education Association will host the annual conference of the National Marine Educators Association July 20-24. Conference registration will begin in March, and proposals for concurrent sessions are being accepted through Feb. 1. Forms are available on the Web at www.vims.edu/nmea/nmca2003/

No Boundaries Art Exhibit

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "No Boundaries" through Feb. 23 on its first-floor art wall. The display features works created at the third international artist colony at Bald Head Island. Selected artists will discuss their works at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 16 at the display.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Joyner Named Development Director for Watson School of Education, International Programs

Joyner

Scott Joyner is the new director of development for the Watson School of Education and Office of International Programs. A native North Carolinian, Joyner joins UNCW from Rice University in Houston, Texas, where he served as director of development for athletics.

During his two-year tenure at Rice, Joyner helped raise more than $2.2 million in athletic endowment support. From 1997 to 2000, Joyner worked at Elon University where he solicited money for the university's Rhodes Stadium and Belk Library.

Excited to be in Wilmington, Joyner said his focus is on scholarship support and the North Carolina Teachers Legacy Hall, which is part of the new building for the Watson School of Education.

"The legacy hall will recognize the teaching profession and honor North Carolina educators," said Joyner. "To recruit the best students to be teachers and to provide more opportunities for study abroad, UNCW must raise private funds."

A graduate of NC State University, Joyner earned a master's degree in athletic administration from Georgia State University. His wife, Barbara, is an academic adviser for Watson School of Education.

Joyner's office is in King Hall, Room 209. He can be reached at ext. 3792 or via e-mail at joyners.

King Commemoration continued from Page 1

Born Jan. 31, 1925, in Memphis, Tenn., Hooks attended LeMoyne College and Howard University. He earned a law degree from DePaul University in 1948. Following graduation, he returned to Memphis, where he practiced from 1949 to 1965. In addition, he served as a producer and host for television programs including Conversations in Black and White and Forty Percent Speaks. Hooks is a member of the American Bar Association, Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Tennessee Council on Human Relations.

UNCW's King commemoration is sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity. Admission is free and open to the public, but tickets are required and are available at the auditorium box office by calling ext. 3500.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Susan Lovelace and James Merritt, CMS, received $249,896 from the N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources/Division for Coastal Management to fund educational programs for the N.C. National Estuarine Research Reserve as well as $26,590 in supplemental funding for the project "Fecal Contamination of Coastal Waters."

Steven Miller, NURC, received $16,500 from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to conduct remotely operated vehicle operations at Flower Garden Banks National Marine Sanctuary.

Jeffery Hill, CAS, had the article "Finding Flow in Postsecondary Teaching" published in Scholar.

Lynne Snowden, sociology and criminal justice, had the article "How Likely Are Terrorists to Use a Nuclear Strategy" published in the January issue of the journal American Behavioral Scientist. The entire issue is devoted to research on radiological terrorism.

Martin Posey and Troy Alphin, biological sciences and CMS, had their paper "Resilience and Stability in an Offshore Benthic Community: Responses to Sediment Borrow Activities and Hurricane Disturbance" published in the Journal of Coastal Research.

Nursing Simulator continued from Page 1

ing SimMan mannequins about three years ago, and the company has sold approximately 400 units worldwide.

The School of Nursing purchased the simulator in November. Half of its $50,000 cost was donated by New Hanover Regional Medical Center.

Award Deadline Extended

The deadline for nominations for the inaugural UNCW Young Alumni Award has been extended to Jan. 24. This new award will recognize young men and women who graduated from UNCW within the last 10 years for their outstanding contributions to the university and the community. For more information, contact Tom Lamont, alumni relations, at ext. 2684 or e-mail lamontt.

Earned Income Credit

Employees who are eligible to receive the earned income credit and who would like to receive advanced EIC payments must complete a W-5 form for 2003. For advance EIC payments to be effective with January paychecks, W-5 forms must be submitted to payroll by 5 p.m. Jan. 17. To obtain a form, call ext. 3163.

Travel Reimbursement

For travel occurring on and after Jan. 1, the maximum business standard mileage reimbursement rate decreased from 36.5 cents per mile to 36 cents.

Bolcom, Morris Concert

William Bolcom, composer and pianist, and Joan Morris, mezzo-soprano, will perform at 8 p.m. Jan. 18 in Kenan Auditorium.

Tickets are $6 for UNCW students and children age 12 and under; $12 for UNCW faculty/staff and senior citizens; and $18 for all others. Call the Kenan Auditorium Box Office at ext. 3500.

IRB Reviews Due Jan. 30

All faculty, students and staff who plan to conduct research involving human subjects during the spring semester must submit protocols for approval by the UNCW Institutional Review Board by Jan. 30. Protocols should be sent electronically to the Office of Sponsored Programs; forms are available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/. Signed hard copies of protocols should be sent to Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion.

Randall Library King Holiday Hours

Randall Library will be open from 3 p.m. to midnight Jan. 20.

Annual Leave Audits

Departments should submit December time sheets and pre-audit checklists to human resources this week. Direct questions to JoAnn McDowell at ext. 3712 or via e-mail to mcdowellj.

Diversity Task Force to Hold Open Meetings

The Chancellor's Task Force on Diversity will hold three open meetings to solicit input for its final report. Faculty should attend the meeting set for Jan. 27 in the Warwick Center, Ballroom 4. Community representatives are scheduled to meet with the committee Feb. 20 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. A Feb. 24 meeting, which is set for the Center Stage Cafe, is open to all members of the campus community. Meetings will be held from 3 to 5 p.m.

The task force, co-chaired by Michelle Howard-Vital, public service and continuing studies, and Melton McLaurin, academic affairs, is examining the issue of diversity on campus with special emphasis on racial/ethnic diversity as it relates to faculty, staff, students and outreach activities. Its report of recommendations to improve campus diversity is due April 1.

Chancellor Search Committee Narrows Candidate Pool

The Chancellor Search Committee has identified 15 semi-finalists from a total candidate pool of 113 for screening interviews that will occur in late January. Among the semi-finalists, five are presidents or chancellors of institutions of higher education, five are provosts or vice chancellors of academic affairs of institutions of higher education, and five are individuals with other senior academic or administrative experience or significant experience in the private not-for-profit or public service sectors. Three of the semi-finalists are women (representing 20 percent of the pool), and two are African-American (representing 13.3 percent of the pool). The representation of women and minorities in the semi-final pool is consistent with their representation in the original applicant pool (approximately 20 percent and 10 percent, respectively).

After preliminary interviews, the committee expects to invite four to six individuals for in-depth interviews preparatory to making its final recommendations to the UNCW Board of Trustees on March 3. The Board of Trustees will then forward its recommendations to UNC President Molly Corbett Broad. In the UNC system, chancellors are appointed by the UNC Board of Governors upon the nomination of the president.

The Chancellor Search Committee will reconvene Jan. 28-29 in closed session in Charlotte to interview semi-finalists.

ITSD Computer Training

The Department of Client Services in the Information Technology Systems Division is offering the following workshops:

- Administering Your WebCT Course, 2 to 3 p.m. Jan. 22
- Introduction to Outlook, 10 a.m. to noon Jan. 29
- WebCT Basics, 1 to 3 p.m. Jan. 29 and 30.

WebCT Basics workshops are for faculty interested in using WebCT as a technology enhancement to their course as well as faculty who are teaching online.

To register for workshops, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. A complete listing of spring workshops is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/itsd/client/schedule.html.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Shashikala Gnanasekaran, University Union; Russell Hatchett, physical plant; and Sandra Shipe, Watson School of Education.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23110 Accounting Tech. II	Jan. 27
23111 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 27
23112 Office Assistant IV	Jan. 27
23113 Office Assistant III	Jan. 27
23114 Office Assistant III	Jan. 27
23115 Stock Clerk I	Jan. 27
23116 Accounting Tech. IV	Jan. 17

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

W-2 Distribution

In accordance with Internal Revenue Service regulations, 2002 W-2 forms will be distributed Jan. 31. Currently enrolled undergraduate students will receive forms at their UNCW post office boxes, and currently enrolled graduate students at their departments. Permanent employees will receive forms with their paychecks or direct deposit stubs. Temporary employees and all others will have forms mailed to their permanent addresses.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 26 Jan. 23, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Law & Order, Oz Actor B. D. Wong to Lecture Feb. 10

Actor B. D. Wong, best known for his portrayal of Father Ray Makuda, the compassionate and tireless Catholic priest in the controversial HBO series Oz, and a recurring forensic psychiatrist on NBC's Law & Order: Special Victim's Unit, will speak at 7 p.m. Feb. 10 in Kenan Auditorium.

This lecture, presented in partnership with the Office of Campus Diversity during the university's annual Intercultural Week, will provide a glimpse into Wong's development as an actor. He will discuss his adolescent confusion of racial self-hatred to his eventual self-acceptance.

According to Wong, living day-to-day in the trenches of a vocation fraught with rejection and racism causes him to be even more articulate about issues of racial self-image, race-based rejection and Asian-American parental pressure. His talk is the third of UNCW's five-part leadership lecture series.

In addition to Oz and Law & Order, Wong made guest appearances on X-Files, Sesame Street and Chicago Hope, and he appeared in the star-studded HBO film And The Band Played On. Wong made his Broadway debut in M. Butterfly, a play by David Henry Hwang. His performance earned him the Outer Critic's Circle Award, Theater World Award, Drama Desk Award, Clarence Derwent Award, and the Tony Award. No other Broadway actor has won all five of these awards for a single role in a play. In addition to his numerous television and theatrical credits, Wong has appeared in more than 20 films including Father of the Bride (parts I and II), Seven Years in Tibet, Disney's Mulan, Jurassic Park, The Freshman, The Ref and Executive Decision.

Tickets, which are $6 for the public and free for UNCW students, faculty and staff, are available through the auditorium box office. Call ext. 3500.

Wong

Chucho Valdes Quartet to Perform Feb. 11

The Chucho Valdes Quartet, led by Cuban jazz pianist Chucho Valdes, will take the stage in Kenan Auditorium at 8 p.m. Feb. 11. The group will treat the audience to its interpretation of the complexities of jazz and Cuban culture. This performance is part of the 2002-03 Arts in Action Performance Series sponsored by the university's Campus Activities and Involvement Center.

Quartet leader Chucho Valdes is a pianist, composer, band leader, music professor and president of the Havana Jazz Festival. Other musicians who comprise the quartet are bassist Lazaro Alarcon, drummer Ramses Bazalt and percussionist Yaroldy Robles.

Valdes' father, Bebo, served as musical director of the Havana-based Tropicana Casino and as his first piano teacher. Chucho Valdes began working on his fundamentals at the age of three. As a young student, he saw his father work with many stars of American music including Ray Brown, Buddy Rich, Dizzy Gillespie and Nat King Cole. He also received formal training in classical music and traditional Cuban music.

In 1965, Chucho joined the Elio Reve Orchestra and two years later helped co-found the legendary Orquesta de Musica Moderna. This band was a home for musicians like Valdes who were not only interested in traditional Cuban music but who wanted to play jazz and explore other modern styles. Saxophonist Paquito D'Rivera and trumpeter Arturo Sandoval were also members of this orchestra, which spawned the band Irakere in 1973. The group won a Grammy for their debut American album.

Tickets are $6 for UNCW students and children age 12 and under; $12 for UNCW faculty/staff and senior citizens; and $18 for all others. Ticket holders for the group's Oct. 7 performance that was canceled do not need to obtain new tickets; they can present their original tickets Feb. 11. For tickets, call the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Computer Science Seminar

Gur Adhar, computer science, will present "Interval Routing in Message Passing Networks" at noon Jan. 29 in Bear Hall, Room 206.

Campus Reception for Benjamin Hooks

The Office of Campus Diversity will host a community reception for Benjamin Hooks from 5 to 6 p.m. Jan. 23 in the University Union Living Room.

Hooks, former executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will speak at UNCW's annual Martin Luther King Jr. commemoration scheduled for 7 p.m. Jan. 23 in Kenan Auditorium.

Communicators Panel

The panel discussion "Hacks vs. Flacks: The Working Relationship Between the News Media and the Public Relations Profession" will be held from 11 a.m. to noon Jan. 30 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. The event, sponsored by the Cape Fear Communicators Roundtable, will feature Bonnie Eksten, business editor for the Wilmington Star-News; Judy Royal, editor of Greater Wilmington Business; Elizabeth Willis, reporter/anchor for WECT-TV6; Mimi Cunningham, assistant to the chancellor for university relations; Scott Whisnant, director of public affairs for New Hanover Health Network; and Doug Hewett, public information officer for the City of Wilmington.

There will be a luncheon from noon to 1 p.m.

The discussion is free, and the cost for lunch is $7 for students, $10 for all others. Due to limited seating, reservations are required. Contact Randy Bobbitt, communication studies, at ext. 7635 or e-mail bobbittw.

Note of Appreciation

Alice Maile, human resources, would like to thank "everyone for their concern and support during my dad's illness and recent death."

Art Exhibits

The exhibit "Spiral of Diversity," which features works by minority students at East Carolina University's School of the Art, will be displayed Jan. 24 through March 10 in the University Union Living Room. UNCW will hold an opening reception for the exhibit from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 24 at the display.

"Seaside Serenity," an exhibit by local artist and UNCW alumnus James Fulcher '02, is on display in the Warwick Center lobby through Feb. 21.

A closing reception will be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Feb. 21 in the Warwick Center lobby.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Rachel Noble, assistant professor at the Institute of Marine Sciences, UNC Chapel Hill, will present "Viruses in Aquatic Systems" at 2 p.m. Jan. 24 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Spring Soccer School

UNCW will host a spring soccer school March 10-14 for children ages five to 14. Classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The cost is $195 and includes tuition, soccer school T-shirt and lunch.

Children of UNCW faculty and staff will receive a $25 discount. For more information, e-mail Aidan Heaney or Paul Cairney at heaneya or cairney, respectively.

Tennis Lessons

Campus recreation is sponsoring tennis lessons for beginners and advanced players at the gazebo tennis courts. Beginners' lessons will be held from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. or 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., Tuesdays, Feb. 4 through March 4. Advanced lessons will be from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. or 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., Thursdays, Feb. 6 through March 6. Members of the UNCW Riptide Tennis Club will provide instruction. For more information, call ext. 3261.

Prison Book Drive

The 2002-03 class of Leadership Wilmington in cooperation with Randall Library is sponsoring the New Hanover County Prison literacy book drive.

According to project coordinator Bo Dean, the effort to collect paperback books and magazines is the result of a tour of the jail by participants in Leadership Wilmington.

"We learned that the only stimulation for learning and growth (for inmates) came from 13-inch televisions mounted to walls in the cell blocks," said Dean. "It was overwhelming to see more than 300 people crammed into a facility designed to hold 209 and to know the staff, who work so hard, could not provide inmates a way to occupy their time constructively."

Due to the jail's limited space, collected materials will be stored in Randall Library; volunteers will take items to the jail on a regular basis, Dean said.

Drop-off points for paperbacks and magazines include Church of the Servant, Cape Fear Books and Supplies, Bristol Books, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Greater Wilmington Chamber of Commerce along with the university's Honors Scholars Program and Watson School of Education.

For more information, e-mail Dean at bodean525600@yahoo.com.

Brown Bag Discussions

United Christian Campus Ministry is sponsoring a biblical/theological brown bag luncheon group for faculty and staff. Meetings are from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays in the University Union, Room 207. For more information, call Nancy Cooper at 799-8497 or e-mail uccmwil@yahoo.com.

Career Services Job Fair

Career services is sponsoring an internship and summer job fair from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Jan. 29 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Negro Spirituals

Emery Stephens, music, will present "A Survey of Negro Spirituals and Black Gospels" at 7 p.m. Feb. 2 at Unity Christ Church, 717 Orchard Avenue. This interactive presentation, in honor of Black History Month, will combine performance and lecture.

Candidate Seminar

Michael Castellini, professor of marine biology at the University of Alaska at Fairbanks, will present "Biopolitics and Marine Mammals" at 1 p.m. Jan. 27 in Dobo Hall, Room 103. Castellini is a candidate for the Frank Hawkins Kenan professorship in marine sciences.

Photography Exhibit

"SOLO," a photography exhibit featuring the work of Matthew Dols, art and theatre, is on display through Feb. 14 in Haney Hall's Claude Howell Gallery.

Adult Swim Lessons

Beginning swim lessons, sponsored by campus recreation, will be given from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m., Mondays, Jan. 27 through March 3, in the Seahawk Natatorium in Hanover Hall. Registration is limited; call ext. 3261 or visit the welcome desk in the Student Recreation Center.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.25.

Friday – Fried chicken, baked cheese ravioli, mashed potatoes with gravy, whole kernel corn, lima beans, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Turkey cutlets with ginger apple chutney, baked shells, chef's potatoes, broccoli with cheese sauce, yellow squash casserole, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Black History Celebration

"Everybody Is Beautiful in Their Own Way," a musical festival which is part of UNCW's Black History Month celebration, is scheduled for 4 p.m. Feb. 9 in Kenan Auditorium. This free concert, sponsored by the Upperman African-American Cultural Center, Office of Campus Diversity and the Counseling Center, features a variety of performers including the UNCW Gospel Choir, Marva Robison, the Glory Light Singers, Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church men's choir and the Community Boys and Girls Club choir. While admission is free, tickets are required and are available at the auditorium box office by calling ext. 3500.

OSP Sponsoring Video Conference and Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs is hosting the video conference "A-110 for Departmental Administrators" from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Jan. 27 in Randall Library, Room 2044, and the seminar "Building Budgets and Bridges: A Team Approach" from 10:30 a.m. to noon Jan. 28 in the University Union, Room 105.

The video deals with Circular A-110, a guiding resource for grants administration produced by the federal Office of Management and Budget. The seminar will focus on topics such as budgeting, fiscal responsibility, legal issues and auditing.

Registration is requested by e-mailing Michelle Starks at starks.m.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Chip Hackler, film studies, had his film Cathedral shown at Saint Leo University in Florida as part of a discussion on the treatment of people with disabilities. The film was also screened for the course "The World of Thought" as part of a discussion on empathy.

Rebecca Warren and Sherman Hayes, Randall Library, had the article "Segmentation Techniques for Expanding a Library Instruction Market: Evaluating and Brainstorming" published in the journal Research Strategies. It was co-authored by Donna Gunter from UNC Charlotte.

James Leutze, chancellor, was quoted in the January Carolina Business article "U.S. Department of Commerce Salutes Rural Connectivity Model." The article dealt with efforts by North Carolina's Rural Internet Access Authority (RIAA) to increase high-speed Internet access and use across the state. Leutze is chair of the RIAA. He is also featured in the January issue of Metro magazine.

John Bennett, health and applied human sciences, participated in a staff development session for the Department of Defense Pacific Area Schools in Tokyo, Japan. He instructed kindergarten through 12th-grade teachers from Guam, Philippines, South Korea and Japan on how to better teach dance.

Hal Langfur, history, had his article "Uncertain Refuge: Frontier Formations and the Origins of the Botocudo War" selected by the Latin American and Caribbean section of the Southern Historical Association as the best article for 2001-02.

William McLellan and Ann Pabst, biological sciences and CMS, received $100,000 in federal funding from the National Marine Fisheries Service to enhance the collection and analysis of marine mammals stranded in North Carolina.

Withholding Forms

Employees electing to change federal or state tax withholding information should complete a 2003 W-4/N.C.-4 form and submit it to the payroll office. Forms are available in departments or through payroll. Direct questions to ext. 7255.

Recreation Center Super Bowl Schedule

The Student Recreation Center will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. Jan. 27 with recreational swim offered from 1 to 3 p.m.

Retirement Vendor

Tammy Parker, a representative with N.C. 457 Deferred Compensation Plan, will be available to discuss supplemental retirement programs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Jan. 30 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an appointment, call ext. 3160.

IRB Reviews Due Jan. 30

All faculty, students and staff who plan to conduct research involving human subjects during the spring semester must submit protocols for approval by the UNCW Institutional Review Board by Jan. 30. Protocols should be sent electronically to the Office of Sponsored Programs; forms are available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/. Signed hard copies of protocols should be sent to Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion.

W-2 Distribution

In accordance with Internal Revenue Service regulations, 2002 W-2 forms will be distributed Jan. 31. Currently enrolled undergraduate students will receive forms at their UNCW post office boxes, and currently enrolled graduate students at their departments. Permanent employees will receive forms with their paychecks or direct deposit stubs. Temporary employees and all others will have forms mailed to their permanent addresses.

Diversity Task Force to Hold Open Meetings

The Chancellor's Task Force on Diversity will hold three open meetings to solicit input for its final report. Faculty should attend the meeting set for Jan. 27 in the Warwick Center, Ballroom 4. Community representatives are scheduled to meet with the committee Feb. 20 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. A Feb. 24 meeting, which is set for the Center Stage Cafe, is open to all members of the campus community. Meetings will be held from 3 to 5 p.m.

The task force, co-chaired by Michelle Howard-Vital, public service and continuing studies, and Melton McLaurin, academic affairs, is examining the issue of diversity on campus with special emphasis on racial/ethnic diversity as it relates to faculty, staff, students and outreach activities. Its report of recommendations to improve campus diversity is due April 1.

ITSD Computer Training

The Department of Client Services in the Information Technology Systems Division is offering the following workshops:

- Introduction to Outlook, 10 a.m. to noon Jan. 29
- WebCT Basics, 1 to 3 p.m. Jan. 29 and 30.

To register for workshops, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. A complete listing of spring workshops is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/itsd/client/schedule.html.

Retirement Receptions

The Division for Business Affairs will host a retirement reception for Joe Hack, physical plant director, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Jan. 24 in the University Union Living Room.

The Division for University Advancement will host a retirement reception for Linda Moore from 3 to 5 p.m. Jan. 31 in the University Union Living Room.

Travel Reimbursement

For travel occurring on and after Jan. 1, the maximum business standard mileage reimbursement rate decreased from 36.5 cents per mile to 36 cents.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Anthony DeCristofaro, application services; Jahi Gray, Ben Hatchett and Daniel Yopp, physical plant; and Joseph Royal, auxiliary services.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23110 Accounting Tech. II	Jan. 27
23111 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 27
23112 Office Assistant IV	Jan. 27
23113 Office Assistant III	Jan. 27
23114 Office Assistant III	Jan. 27
23115 Stock Clerk I	Jan. 27
23118 Regulatory Compliance Officer	Jan. 31
23119 Comp. Prod. Spec.	Jan. 31
23120 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 31
23121 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 31
23122 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 31
23123 Admin. Secretary I	Jan. 31
23124 Office Assistant IV	Jan. 31
23125 Housekeeper	Jan. 31
23126 Telecom. Equip. Tech.	Jan. 31
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Alumni Social Planned

The UNCW Alumni Association is sponsoring Pasta Night at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 1 in the University Union, Hawk's Nest. At this post-game social, the association will recognize its professional school and academic chapters. Men's basketball plays Drexel at noon.

Admission is $10 per person. Children ages six to 12 will be admitted for $5 each, there is no charge for children five and under. Reservations are required; call alumni relations at ext. 2682.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 27 Jan. 30, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Novelist Donna Tartt to Give Reading

Novelist Donna Tartt will read from her works at 8 p.m. Feb. 6 in Kenan Auditorium. This free, public event is sponsored by the university's Creative Writing Department as part of the Katherine K. Buckner Distinguished Presentation Series. A reception and book signing will follow.

Tartt

Tartt's recent novel, The Little Friend, was published in 2002 to critical acclaim.

"She (Tartt) is on a major national promotional tour, so we are thrilled to be able to bring her to Wilmington," said Mark Cox, chair of the UNCW Creative Writing Department.

Tartt attended Bennington College where she began her first novel The Secret History. The work was published by Knopf in 1992, and it reached number two on the Publishers Weekly Bestsellers List.

A novelist, essayist and critic, Tartt has had her work published in magazines such as Harper's and GQ and in the anthology The Best American Sports Writing. Publishers Weekly calls her "a superb storyteller, sophisticated observer of human nature and keen appraiser of ethics and morality."

While the event is free, tickets are required. They can be reserved at the auditorium box office by calling ext. 3500.

UNCW Hosting Jazz Festival Preview

The North Carolina Jazz Festival swings into Kenan Auditorium at 8 p.m. Jan. 30. As one of the nation's premiere weekend jazz parties, the festival features a stellar lineup of world-class classic jazz musicians.

UNCW is hosting the preview as a new collaborative effort between N.C. Jazz Festival Inc. and the university's Arts in Action Performance Series and Department of Music. The preview was previously held at Thalian Hall.

Tickets are free for UNCW students and children 12 and under; $15 for UNCW faculty/staff and Arts in Action series subscribers; and $25 for all others. Call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. Additional information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/stuaff/arts.

Professor Wins Arts Council Grant

Renee Vincent, art and theatre, was one of two filmmakers in the state to receive a grant from the North Carolina Arts Council.

Vincent

Vincent won an $8,000 award in recognition of her film Conversation with Kafka. She said she would use the grant to develop her next project.

The arts council awards funding every other year and only when monies are available.

Conversation with Kafka was shot on location in Prague, Czech Republic, and Wilmington. The five cast members were students in the Art and Theatre Department. Two UNCW students edited the film. The movie was featured in In Camera magazine published by Eastman Kodak Company. The company donated film stock for the project. In addition, the production experimented with the use of special anamorphic lenses developed by Joe Dunton and Company International.

Mark Your Calendar

UNCW's 10th annual Intercultural Week is scheduled for Feb. 10-15. A variety of events is scheduled for this week-long observance culminating in the Feb. 15 Intercultural Festival. Watch for details in next week's Campus Communique.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Inaugural Learning Communities Selected

The General College has selected nine themes that will comprise the inaugural Learning Communities Program planned for the fall semester. Thirteen proposals were submitted for the program.

These learning communities will involve eight credit hours consisting of two discipline-based basic studies courses and one freshman seminar (UN1 course). Participating students will be those who live in the new residence hall that is scheduled to open this year.

The selected themes, courses and instructors are: "Behavior, Bodies and Crime" for Anthropology 105 and Criminal Justice 105, Midori Albert and Lynne Snowden, instructors; "The Lure of the Sea" for English 290 and History 271, William Atwill and William McCarthy; "Thinking and Believing: The Mind and the Sacred" for Psychology 105 and Philosophy and Religion 103, Caroline Clements and Herbert Berg; "In Search of Myself: Stories of Culture" for Anthropology 106 and English 290, Patricia Lerch and Barbara Waxman; "Talking Heads: Politics and Public Speaking" for Communication Studies 110 and Political Science 101, Lloyd Rohler and Stephen Meinhold; "Science, Technology and Western Civilization" for History 102 and Physics 105, Paul Townsend and Frederick Bingham; "Great Debates of the Ancient Greeks" for Communication Studies 110 and Philosophy and Religion 201, Richard Olsen and Tom Schmid; "The Age of Cultural Revolutions" for English 290 and History 102, Katherine Montwieler and Lynn Mollenauer; and "Image and Word" for Art History 205 and English 103, Kemille Moore and Kathy Rugoff.

Girl Scout Cookies

Anyone interested in purchasing Girl Scout cookies should contact Emma Kay Thornton at ext. 7182 or via e-mail at thornton. Cookies are $2.50 per box with delivery around Feb. 19.

Mardi Gras Theme for Homecoming Week

The Association for Campus Entertainment is sponsoring Mardi Gras Hoopla as the theme for homecoming week scheduled Feb. 3-8.

A variety of activities is planned including "Fat Tuesday Murder Mystery" scheduled for 7 p.m. Feb. 4 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The celebration culminates with the "Bourbon Street Parade" at 5 p.m. Feb. 8. More than 20 student organizations will parade from Wagoner Hall through the residential area to end up in the Hanover Gym parking lot for a pre-game tailgate party.

UNCW will crown the 2003 homecoming king and queen during halftime of the men's basketball game against Drexel. Tip-off is at 7 p.m. For more information on homecoming activities, call ext. 3842.

Note of Appreciation

UNCW-TV would like to thank the following individuals who assisted with the legacy video honoring Chancellor James Leutze: Adina Lack, Randall Library; Glenn Pack, film studies; Mimi Cunningham, university relations; Bill Bolduc and Lou Buttino, communication studies; AV Services; and the technical crew at Warwick Center.

Mediation Training

Sandi Adams, communication studies, will offer basic mediation training at a workshop scheduled for Feb. 26 through March 1. This training introduces participants to the skills necessary to handle conflict between employees, clients, board members, family members or students.

Registration is $475 per person or $250 per person for groups of two or more. Participants receive a copy of the Mediator's Handbook. Participation is limited to 24. For more information, contact Adams at 254-1284 or e-mail adamss.

Biological Sciences Professor in Antarctica

Steve Emslie, biological sciences, is conducting research at Casey Station in Antarctica through March. Emslie's research focuses on penguins and climate change. He is posting periodic updates on the Web at www.uncw.edu/tc/antarctica/. The Web page is designed for middle school students in New Hanover County. Students e-mail questions to Emslie who responds via the Web.

Blood Drive Scheduled

The Center for Leadership Education and Service in conjunction with the American Red Cross is sponsoring a blood drive from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Feb. 5 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. To schedule an appointment or to volunteer to assist with the event, call ext. 3877.

Chamber Music Concert

A chamber music concert featuring flutist Mary Jo White, music, and guest artist Domonique Launey is scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 13 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Music Department's Artist Recital Series. Admission is $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12. UNCW students admitted free with valid ID. For more information, call ext. 3390.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seabawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.25.

Friday – Meatloaf, stuffed bell peppers, macaroni and cheese, steamed vegetables, spiced apples, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Asian pork loin, pasta primavera, fruited rice, broccoli casserole, cold German potato salad, assorted rolls, desserts and beverages.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Peter Marko, assistant professor in the Department of Marine Sciences at UNC Chapel Hill, will present "A Tale of Twin Species? The Evolutionary Significance of 'Geminate' Species Separated by the Isthmus of Panama" at 2 p.m. Jan. 31 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

CTE Workshops

The Center for Teaching Excellence is offering the following workshops:

- Professional Development: Getting Organized, 11 a.m. Feb. 3 and 12:30 p.m. Feb. 6
- Curriculum and Pedagogy: Not the Same Thing, noon Feb. 10 and 12:30 p.m. Feb. 13
- Learning Assessment and Grading: Your Thoughts and Ours, 12:30 p.m. Feb. 20 and noon Feb. 24
- Copyright Issues: The Current State of Fair Use, noon March 3 and 12:30 p.m. March 6.

All sessions will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102. For more information, call ext. 3034.

EVENTS IN BRIEF

Screening: Student films from the N.C. School of the Arts, 7:30 p.m. Jan. 30 at Thalian Hall.

Event: 10th annual Wilmington Garden Show, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 1 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Feb. 2 Coastline Convention Center. Admission fee charged.

Discussion: "Deafness: Increasing Awareness, Increasing Understanding" 2 p.m. Feb. 2 Cameron Art Museum. For more information, call 395-5999.

Presentation: "A Survey of Negro Spirituals and Black Gospels" by Emery Stephens, 7 p.m. Feb. 2 at Unity Christ Church, 717 Orchard Avenue.

Concert: North Carolina Symphony, 8 p.m. Feb. 4 Kenan Auditorium. For more information, call ext. 3500.

Play: The Fantasticks, 8 p.m. Feb. 6-8 and 3 p.m. Feb. 9 Thalian Hall. For more information, call 343-3664.

Film: The Best or Nothing, 2 p.m. Feb. 7 Cameron Art Museum. For more information, call 395-5999.

Lecture: Civil rights activist James Meredith, 7 p.m. Feb. 7 at Town Hall, 617 Castle Street.

Lecture: "All the World's a Stage" by actor B. D. Wong, 7 p.m. Feb. 10 Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, call ext. 3500.

Concert: Chucho Valdes Quartet, 8 p.m. Feb. 11 Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, call ext. 3500.

Exhibits:

"SOLO," through Feb. 14 in Kenan Hall's Claude Howell Gallery.

"Seaside Serenity," through Feb. 21 in the Warwick Center lobby.

"Spiral of Diversity," through March 10 in the University Union Living Room.

SEANC Scholarships

The State Employees of North Carolina Inc. Scholarship Foundation is accepting applications for its annual scholarship program. Applicants must be enrolled or have applied to a recognized and accredited post-secondary school, college, trade school or other institution of higher learning. To obtain an application, contact Tommy Guinn or Bonnie Clements, physical plant, at ext. 3105. The application deadline is March 31.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Brooke Sumner, wellness services, received her Master of Arts in health studies from the University of Alabama. She was also certified as a health education specialist by the National Commission for Health Education Credentialing Inc.

William McLellan and Ann Pabst, biological sciences and CMS, received $100,000 from the National Marine Fisheries Service to enhance the collection and analysis of marine mammals stranded in North Carolina.

Service-learning Opportunities

Meet Me There Inc., a local 501c3 organization, can provide service-learning and research opportunities for students interested in intergenerational programming through directed independent study, field work, class assignments or volunteerism. For more information, e-mail Sue Fletcher, sociology and criminal justice, at fletcher.sue@unc.edu or Gregory Bechtel, nursing, at bechtel.g@unc.edu.

Leslie Langer, SBTDC, received $89,733 from the U.S. Small Business Administration for 2003 program operation.

Wade Watanabe, CMS, received $8,417 from Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institution for a collaborative research agreement in mariculture.

Ann Pabst, biological sciences, received $8,956 in supplemental funding from Mote Marine Laboratory for the project "Investigating Seasonal Patterns in Thermoregulatory Function in Bottlenose Dolphins (Tursiops truncatus)."

Andrew Clark, history, presented the paper "Conflicts in West Africa: Myths and Realities in the American Media" at the Association of Third World Studies meeting in Taipei, Taiwan.

Moorad Alexanian, physics and physical oceanography, had the paper "Cavity Coherent-state Cloning via Raman Scattering" accepted for publication in Physical Review A. The work sheds new light on the no-cloning theorem, discovered in the early 1980s, which is one of the earliest results of quantum computation and quantum information.

Frederick Bingham, physics and physical oceanography, had the article "Sea Surface Salinity Measurements in the Historical Database" published in Journal of Geophysical Research - Oceans. His collaborators were Stephan Howden from the University of Southern Mississippi and Chester Kobinsky from NASA Goddard Space Flight Center.

Retirement Reception

The Division for University Advancement will host a retirement reception for Linda Moore from 3 to 5 p.m. Jan. 31 in the University Union Living Room. Moore, who joined UNCW in 1972 as the first director of the University Union, is director of development for the School of Nursing and the Division of Student Affairs. A memory book is being compiled; notes or cards can be brought to the reception.

Class Withdrawal Deadline Extended

The deadline for undergraduate students to withdraw from spring classes is extended to Feb. 28 in response to last week's adverse weather. Individual class withdrawals must be processed in the Registrar's Office by 4 p.m. on the final day.

Directory Update

The new phone extension for Terri Joynes, application services, is 7468. Joynes transferred to application services from university advancement.

Campus Suffers Losses

Nighttime housekeeping supervisor Willie Gibbs Sr. died Dec. 27; his funeral was held Jan. 2.

Lori Marcum, a nurse in the Student Health Center, died Jan. 15. A memorial service was held Jan. 20.

ITSD Computer Training

- FrontPage 1, 10 a.m. to noon Feb. 4.
- IPAQ Orientation, 10 a.m. to noon Feb. 5.
- Pagemaker, 10 a.m. to noon Feb. 13.
- WebCT Next Steps, 1 to 4 p.m. Feb. 11 and 17
- Word XP, 10 a.m. to noon Feb. 11.

To register for computer training, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. Workshops will be held in Hoggard Hall, Room 226.

CCE Migration Ahead of Schedule and Nearly Complete

Implementation of the Collaborative Computing Environment across campus is ahead of schedule and is being met with widespread approval, according to officials with the Information Technology Systems Division.

"We anticipated the process to convert faculty, staff and students to take until May," said Bobby Miller, director of computing services. "But as more people heard about the benefits of Outlook and the Exchange environment, they wanted to migrate earlier than originally planned."

The Collaborative Computing Environment uses Microsoft Outlook and Exchange server as the campus standard for e-mail, calendar and scheduling. Miller said one of the software's benefits is a streamlined approach for users to contact each other and schedule meetings and events. Another plus is the software's single secure log-in feature for users to gain access to their e-mail and calendar, he said.

"This one log-in ultimately saves the user time while simplifying the process to access information," said Miller.

Training for new Outlook users has also been stepped up, said Beverly Vagnerini, director of client services, the ITSD department responsible for Outlook instruction.

"We are pleased to accommodate campus users who wanted to migrate to Outlook ahead of schedule," said Vagnerini. "As users work with Outlook for a while, they will discover how feature-rich it is and will want to learn more about its capabilities." She said client services trainers have developed advanced courses for experienced Outlook users, but the department will continue to offer introductory classes.

Information on training is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/itsd/client/training.html. Information about Microsoft Outlook and the Exchange server is available at www.uncw.edu/itsd/client/exchange.html.

Withholding Forms

Employees electing to change federal or state tax withholding information should complete a 2003 W-4/N.C.-4 form and submit it to payroll. Forms are available in departments or through payroll. Direct questions to ext. 7255.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Mark Crowell, physical plant; Laurie Howell, Watson School of Education; and James Pue-Gilchrist, construction services.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23118 Regulatory Compliance Officer	Jan. 31
23119 Comp. Prod. Spec.	Jan. 31
23120 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 31
23121 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 31
23122 Admin. Secretary II	Jan. 31
23123 Admin. Secretary I	Jan. 31
23124 Office Assistant IV	Jan. 31
23125 Housekeeper	Jan. 31
23126 Telecom. Equip. Tech.	Jan. 31
23131 Director of Advancement Services	Feb. 7
23132 Assistant Director of Advancement Services	Feb. 7
23133 Habitat Operations Mgr.	Feb. 7
23134 Campus Activities Coord.	Feb. 26
23135 Licensed Practical Nurse	Feb. 7
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 28 Feb. 6, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW Celebrating 10th Annual Intercultural Week Feb. 10-15

UNCW's 10th annual Intercultural Week will be held Feb. 10-15. A schedule of events, listed below, has been planned to celebrate the diversity of cultures found within UNCW and Wilmington communities. Lectures, films, dancing, music, performances and food provide opportunities for all ages to get involved throughout the week. Events are free unless otherwise indicated.

Feb. 10

- "On a Mission to Mission, S.D.: Life on Rosebud Indian Reservation," 5 to 6 p.m., University Union Living Room.
- B. D. Wong: "All the World's a Stage: Supporting the Transformation from Exclusion to Inclusion," 7 p.m. Kenan Auditorium. Free for faculty, staff and students; $6 for the public.

- "Israel and the Palestinians: Hope for Reconciliation?" 8 to 9:30 p.m. Warwick Center Ballroom.
  - "Dance: A Universal Language," 8 to 10 p.m. Location to be announced.
- ### Feb. 11
- "The Good Fight: The Abraham Lincoln Brigade and the Spanish Civil War," 2 to 4 p.m. Dobo Hall, Room 103.
  - International dessert reception, 6 to 7:30 p.m. International House Lobby.
  - Global Summit - "America: Superpower and Responsibility," 6:30 to 9 p.m. Warwick Center Ballroom.
  - Chucho Valdés Quintet, 8 p.m. Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, call ext. 3500.

Feb. 12

- Mini-perspectives, noon to 2 p.m. Location to be announced.
- "Moscow Today: Global City, National Capital or Hometown?" 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. DeLoach Hall, Room 114.
- International children's games, 4 to 6 p.m. Warwick Center Ballroom.
- Yoyes (Spanish film), 7 to 9 p.m. Morton Hall, Room 100.
- "Music from Around the World," 8:30 to 11 p.m. University Union Hawk's Nest.

Feb. 13

- "BaFa BaFa: Understanding People Who Are Different Than You!" 5:30 to 7 p.m. University Union, Room 212.
- Two Daughters (Indian film), 7 to 9 p.m. Kenan Hall, Room 121.
- "Varied Voices: A Literary

see Intercultural Week on page 5

Education School Using $1.5 Million Grant for Teacher Recruitment Program

Just like the Marines, UNC Wilmington is looking for a few good men and women with the goal to help them make the transition from the Corps to the classroom.

"Active duty and retired service personnel, especially those individuals who served as military instructors, are a potential resource to respond to the state's teaching shortage," stated Cathy Barlow, dean of the Watson School of Education. "Through our Coalition for Transition to Teaching (CT3) program, we will provide up to 160 educators for five southeastern North Carolina school districts during the next five years."

The CT3 program is funded with a $1.5 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education. Barlow said candidates who are accepted into the program are expected to complete it in two years and then enter the classroom. Graduates are required to teach for at least three years in Carteret, Craven, Duplin, Jones or Onslow counties.

"Following graduation, the Watson School of Education will then provide them with three years of mentoring support," said Barlow.

The education school is accepting applications for the program's inaugural class.

see Teacher Recruitment on page 5

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Vagina Monologues

The UNCW Women's Resource Center is sponsoring performances of The Vagina Monologues at 4 and 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $6, $4 for students and are on sale at the auditorium box office. Proceeds will benefit Domestic Violence Shelter and Services and the Rape Crisis Center. The Vagina Monologues is based on playwright Eve Ensler's interviews with more than 200 women throughout the world.

Travel Programs

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies is offering the following travel programs:

- China at its Glorious Best, Aug. 13-25. This 13-day excursion, escorted by Chancellor James R. Leutze and Margaret Gates, costs $3,899 (based on double occupancy) with a deposit of $700 per person due by Feb. 28.
- Pacific Northwest Odyssey, May 31 through June 6. This trip, which visits Seattle and Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., costs $1,599 (based on double occupancy) with a $200 deposit due by Feb. 14.
- London Theater and Shopping, Oct. 8-14. UNCW faculty member Carol Pendergrast leads this excursion, which costs $1,989 (based on double occupancy) with a $300 deposit due by March 31.
- N.C. Museum of History, March 14. This trip to Raleigh is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at a cost of $55 per person.

For more information, call ext. 3195.

Cameron Art Presentation

Anne Brennan, curator of collections at the Cameron Art Museum, will discuss the painting "A Young Girl Defending Herself Against Eros" at 6 p.m. Feb. 14. The presentation is free with museum admission. The painting, which is by Adolphe William Bouguereau, is on loan to the museum from UNCW's collection.

Children's Story Adventures

The Seahawk Perch, UNCW's Center for Commuter and Non-Traditional Student Services, invites faculty, staff and students with children ages three to 10 to take advantage of Children's Story Adventures.

This program, which is offered from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays in the children's literature section of Randall Library, is designed to give parents uninterrupted time to study or do research while their children enjoy readings of age-appropriate literature by student and staff volunteers. To register children or volunteer to read stories, contact the Seahawk Perch at ext. 7371 or e-mail seaperchstu@uncwil.edu.

Free Tax Assistance

The Department of Accountancy and Business Law is offering free assistance to faculty, staff and students to fill out income tax forms through its Volunteer Income Tax Assistance site. Volunteers are IRS-certified to complete 1040EZ and 1040A forms as well as the state's NC D-400.

The site, located in Cameron Hall, Room 230, will observe the following schedule through April 14:

- 10 a.m. to noon Mondays
- 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesdays
- 1 to 5 p.m. Fridays

For more information, contact Gloria Sasser at ext. 3509 or e-mail Cory Barwick at cb5085@uncw.edu.

Biological Sciences Seminars

Heather Koopman, postdoctoral scholar at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, will present "Water and Osmotic Regulation in Aquatic Organisms" at 4 p.m. Feb. 10 and "Marine Lipids: A Window into the Physiological Ecology of Marine Animals" at 2 p.m. Feb. 11. Both presentations will be in Dobo Hall, Room 132. Koopman is a candidate for the position of animal physiologist.

Career Services Programs

Career services is sponsoring "Road Rules for the Real World" Feb. 11-14. This four-day series will feature a combination of programs to help prepare students to enter the job market.

The series begins with "Menu for Success," a dining etiquette program scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Feb. 11 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. The cost is $20; preregistration is required.

The second event focuses on resume writing with workshops scheduled for 10 a.m. and 1 and 4 p.m. Feb. 12 in the University Union Living Room.

Interviewing is the focus of the third program with workshops scheduled for 11 a.m. and 12:30 and 3:30 p.m. Feb. 13 in the University Union Living Room. Students who would like their mock interviews recorded should supply their own VHS tape.

The series concludes with "Dress for Success: Fashions for Your Future," a student-organized fashion show featuring casual and professional business attire. This event, cosponsored by the Department of Communication Studies, will be held at noon Feb. 14 in the University Union Hawk's Nest.

For more information, contact Leslie Rand-Pickett at ext. 3174.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.25.

Friday – Coconut chicken, baked cheese ravioli, baked yams, yellow squash, honey glazed carrots, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Sweet and sour chicken, vegetable lo mein, steamed white rice, carrots, green beans, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Classics and Pops

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will present "Classics and Pops" at 8 p.m. Feb. 15 in Kenan Auditorium. The concert will feature contrasting styles with the "classics" presented by Alice Hargrove and Joseph Yankel, winners of the 26th annual Richard Deas Student Concerto Competition. Pianist Norman Bemelmans, director of Kenan Auditorium, will deliver the "pops." For ticket information, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Global Summit

In light of today's volatile political climate, what responsibilities does the United States have as the world's lone superpower?

At the 2003 UNCW Global Summit, four internationally prominent panelists will explore the topic "America: Superpower and Responsibility" from their various world perspectives. The panel discussion and town meeting, scheduled for 6:30 to 9 p.m. Feb. 11 in the Warwick Center Ballroom, are free and open to the public. Panelists are:

- William Itoh, former ambassador to the Kingdom of Thailand and career member of the Senior Foreign Service currently on detail from the Department of State.

- David Crane, chief prosecutor of the Special Court for Sierra Leone on war crimes, crimes against humanity and violation of international human rights.

- Tom Farer, dean of the Graduate School of International Affairs at the University of Denver and past president of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights.

- Samia Serageldin, author of The Cairo House and consulting editor for In the Name of Osama Bin Laden.

Frances Weller, WECT-TV6 news anchor, will moderate.

Global Summit sponsors are UNCW Office of International Programs, aaiPharma, Wilmington Star-News and the UNCW International Cabinet. For more information, call ext. 3685.

Alumni Association to Celebrate Homecoming

All UNCW alumni are invited to participate in Homecoming 2003 Feb. 7 and 8. Special recognition will be given to 1990-93 graduating classes, Kappa Sigma and Alpha Delta Pi.

Young alumni – graduates from 1992 to 2002 – are invited to Bessie's, 133 N. Front St., for food, music and fun at 9 p.m. Feb. 7. The inaugural Young Alumni Award will be announced.

Activities planned for Feb. 8 include:

- The 5K homecoming run at 9 a.m. at the Student Recreation Center on campus. Early bird registration is $14; on race day the fee is $16. For more information, go online at www.uncwil.edu/stuaff/camprec or call ext. 7443.

- A complimentary brunch hosted by the alumni association at 10 a.m. in Wise Alumni House, 1713 Market Street. Paula Kamenish will lecture on "The Traveling Classroom." There is no charge for alumni and a guest, but advance registration is required.

- The African American Graduates Association meeting at 9 a.m. in Warwick Center, Room 138. Lunch is at noon in the Center Stage Café; the cost is $8 in advance, $10 at the door.

- Alumni basketball games in Trask Coliseum. The men take to the court at 1:30 p.m. and the women at 4:30 p.m.

- The chicken pickin' pregame social at 5 p.m. in the Hawk's Nest. General admission for alumni and guests is $10.

- UNCW versus Delaware at 7 p.m. in Trask Coliseum. Tickets for the game are sold out. At halftime the Cameron School of Business Alumni Chapter will host a social in Trask Coliseum, Room 142, and alumni association chair Ray Cockrell will crown the Homecoming queen and king.

- The homecoming dance at 9:30 p.m. in the grand ballroom of the Wilmington Hilton Riverside. Papa Sol from Atlanta will entertain. A photographer will be available for individual, couple and group photos. Tickets are $20 a person.

For more information on these events, call alumni relations at ext. 2682.

Non-Trad of the Month

The Seahawk Perch, UNCW's Center for Commuter and Non-Traditional Student Services, is seeking nominations for its Non-Trad of the Month award.

According to Seahawk Perch coordinator Dana McKoy, this award will recognize non-traditional undergraduate students and create awareness of the commitment they must make to their education.

Monthly winners will be featured on the Seahawk Perch Web site and will receive dinner for four from Pizza Hut. Faculty or staff can nominate students for this award by e-mailing the Seahawk Perch at scaperchstu@uncwil.edu. For more information, call ext. 7371.

Relay for Life

The eighth annual Relay for Life, sponsored by the New Hanover County chapter of the American Cancer Society, is scheduled for May 2-3 at the Hoggard High School stadium. For the first time, UNCW's team is open to faculty, staff and students.

Team organizers are hosting a kick-off party at 7 p.m. Feb. 12 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe for prospective student participants. The event will include a presentation by Zona Bar-Zeef, a representative from the county's American Cancer Society chapter. Reservations are requested by Feb. 10.

Faculty and staff should direct interested students to contact Nichole Marschhauser at ext. 3553 or e-mail relaynhc@yahoo.com.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Professor Has Spanish Civil War Book Published

Michael Seidman, history, had his work Republic of Egos published by University of Wisconsin Press. This book offers a new explanation of the outcome of the Spanish Civil War.

According to Seidman, the Nationalists were able to feed and equip their soldiers with sufficient supplies. On the other hand, the Republicans suffered from a lack of resources and disorganization; thus, their military and civilians became poor fighters and workers. Nationalists proved more capable of managing a wartime economy than their enemy, the Republicans. Seidman argues that rank-and-file soldiers on both sides were often unaggressive and uncomfortable in their trenches and frequently fraternized with their adversaries.

Stanley Payne, the author of many books on Spanish history, calls Republic of Egos, "a remarkable book - in some ways, the most original piece of research on the Spanish Civil War that I have ever seen. There is nothing like it in any language." Seidman said he hopes that this book will "help to show the importance of social history, which can explain much better than political history, the experiences of the common people and the outcome of a conflict."

Seidman

Joe Hickman, music, had two collections of music editions published by Masterworks Press of Olympia, Wash. The first, 52 soprano, alto, tenor and bass motets by Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina, was arranged in order of sight-singing difficulty and was based on a 1600 Italian source belonging to the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill Music Library. The second, 50 part songs by John Dowland, was based on a copy of the source prepared under the supervision of the composer in the early 17th century. In addition, Hickman joined the editing "team" for the publication of Missa Gaia. This project, which is under negotiation with Oxford University Press, is expected to appear in early 2004 at the Eastern Convention of the American Choral Directors Association. Missa Gaia is performed (in manuscript) every October at Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City.

Kimberly Kode-Sutton, Watson School of Education, had her first book Elizabeth Farrell and the History of Special Education published. The work, which is based on Kode-Sutton's doctoral dissertation, is about the teacher who helped establish the Council for Special Education.

Lavonne Adams, creative writing, had the poems "Within Sight" and "By Candlelight" published in Hocking College's Riverwind.

Noel Jones, Watson School of Education, had the article "Acceleration: The Key to Reading Recovery Benefits" published in the fall issue of the Journal of Reading Recovery. In addition, Jones gave the keynote address "Teaching Smart and Teaching Not So Smart" and presented "From Letters to Sounds: Getting Past the Sticking Point" at the 11th annual Southeastern Reading Recovery and Early Literacy conference held in Greensboro.

Bradford Walker, Watson School of Education, presented "Empowerment Through Writing: Don't Look Past the Mark" at the Southeastern Reading Recovery and Early Literacy conference.

Carol Midgett, Watson School of Education, presented the sessions "Mathematics for All" and "National Board for Math Teachers" at the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics Southern and Regional conference. The sessions focused on mathematical teaching methods and the process of national board certification.

Supervisor's Film Debut to Air on Showtime

Plumbing shop supervisor Sylvester Allen can add actor to his resume. His debut role in the short film Jacob's Sound airs this month on cable TV's Showtime.

Writer/Director Anna Dudley filmed Jacob's Sound in Wilmington using a $30,000 grant from Showtime. She won the 2001 Showtime Black Filmmaker's Showcase for her student film Special Day. Showtime, which airs on Time Warner Cable Channel 18, will show Jacob's Sound at 12:30 a.m. Feb. 9, 7-10 p.m. Feb. 20 and 10:30 a.m. Feb. 22.

Making the film "was very cool, especially learning everything involved in the production process," said Allen. The 15-minute film is the story of a deaf clown named Jacob who falls in love with a woman he sees each year at a circus stop. After hearing about the audition from a friend, Allen decided to take a chance and landed the part of "Lucky," an older fireman clown who serves as a mentor to Jacob.

Allen

Allen joined UNCW as shop supervisor in 1998, and has been a resident of Wilmington for 13 years. He manages a staff of four, and his department maintains hundreds of miles of underground pipes that comprise the university's plumbing system.

Barbara Honchell, Watson School of Education, gave an update on North Carolina K-2 literacy assessment at the Southeastern Reading Recovery and Early Literacy conference.

Clayton Ferner and Ron Vetter, computer science, had the paper "An Integrated Framework for Implementing Quality of Network Concepts" published in the December 2002 issue of Journal of Network and Systems Management.

Numismatists Available for Class Presentations

Members of the Lower Cape Fear Coin Club are available to speak to classes on the historical and scientific components of numismatics, which is the science of and collection of money in all its forms including coins, currency, tokens, medals, bonds and stock certificates.

According to club member Robert Neale, forms of currency are historical records of the times in which they are used. In addition, the science and art involved in the production of metallic and paper monies are critical to governments and issuers not only in terms of presentation but the techniques used to prevent counterfeiting.

To arrange a free class presentation tailored to the art, history or science of numismatics, contact Neale at 799-2024 or e-mail robtneale@aol.com.

Teacher Recruitment continued from Page 1

Candidates must have a bachelor's degree from an accredited university with an interest in obtaining licensure to teach middle or secondary mathematics or science, special education or elementary education.

Carol Chase Thomas, associate dean of the Watson School of Education and CT3 co-director, noted that these licensure fields were selected because they represent the highest-need areas for schools in the region.

The deadline to apply is March 15. Eligible candidates will be interviewed in April with instruction to begin in June, said Barlow. Accepted applicants will receive a laptop computer and $2,500 stipend.

"Depending upon the group, course instruction may be at night or weekends or a combination," Barlow said. "The majority of courses will be taught at Coastal Carolina Community College." The community college is located in Jacksonville, which is also home to Camp Lejeune Marine Corps Base.

Although the CT3 program will give active and retired military personnel priority consideration, other applicants will be considered.

"All college graduates who are interested in making a career change and who believe they have the personal fortitude to succeed as teachers are encouraged to apply," said Barlow.

CT3 candidates must apply to UNCW as special undergraduate extension students. An online application is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/admissions/.

In addition, applicants must submit a cover letter, professional goals statement, resume and official college transcripts. The cover letter should indicate their interest in CT3 along with a description of their military background (if any) and their proposed licensure area. In the goals statement, candidates should describe their interest in the teaching profession or work experience/skills that would contribute to their success as an educator. Send materials to CT3 Program, Watson School of Education.

Chamber Music

A chamber music concert featuring flutist Mary Jo White, music, and guest artist Domonique Launey will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 13 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Music Department's Artist Recital Series. Admission is $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12. UNCW students are admitted free with valid ID. For more information, call ext. 3390.

SEANC Scholarships

The State Employees of North Carolina Inc. Scholarship Foundation is accepting applications for its annual scholarship program. Applicants must be enrolled and have applied to a recognized and accredited post-secondary school, college, trade school or other institution of higher learning. To obtain an application, contact Tommy Guinn or Bonnie Clements, physical plant, at ext. 3105. The application deadline is March 31.

CTE Workshops

The Center for Teaching Excellence is offering the following workshops this semester:

- "Curriculum and Pedagogy: Not the Same Thing," noon Feb. 10 and 12:30 p.m. Feb. 13
- "Learning Assessment and Grading: Your Thoughts and Ours," 12:30 p.m. Feb. 20 and noon Feb. 24
- "Copyright Issues: The Current State of Fair Use," noon March 3 and 12:30 p.m. March 6.

All sessions will be held in Friday Hall, Room 102. For more information, call ext. 3034.

Q&A with NPR Host

Lisa Simeone, host of NPR's World of Opera, will participate in a question-and-answer session on broadcasting from 11 a.m. to noon Feb. 8 in Cameron Hall, Room 123.

Domestic Shelter Collection

The Fellowship of Christian University Students is sponsoring its third annual collection of personal hygiene items to benefit the Domestic Violence Shelter. Donations will be accepted from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Feb. 13 and 14 in the University Union.

Intercultural Week continued from Page 1

Reading by Graduate Creative Writing Students," 8 p.m. University Union Hawk's Nest.

Feb. 14

- "The Perfect Date," 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Hawk's Nest, Union Station.

Feb. 15

- "Building One World Together!" 9:30 a.m. to noon University Union, Room 100.

• 10th Annual Intercultural Festival, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Warwick Center Ballroom.

Additional information is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/news/headlines/2003/jan/intercultural\_week.html.

Central Stores Ordering

Central stores' online order system will be inaccessible Feb. 6 due to system maintenance. Orders placed Feb. 5 will be delivered as usual. Normal operation should resume Feb. 7. Direct questions to George Syles at ext. 3097.

College Savings Program

Jeanne Jolly, a representative with College Foundation of North Carolina, will give presentations on the North Carolina National College Savings Program at 9, 10 and 11 a.m. Feb. 12 in the University Union, Room 207. She will be available for individual appointments between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

To schedule an appointment, call ext. 3712 or e-mail JoAnn McDowell at mcdowellj. For more information on the College Foundation, visit the Web site www.cfnc.org.

Exempt Withholding Certificate Expires

For employees who claim exempt from withholding, 2002 W-4 and NC-4 withholding certificates expire Feb. 15. Employees who wish to claim an exemption after Feb. 15 must submit a new W-4 and NC-4 to payroll by Feb. 17 in order for it to be reflected in February paychecks.

Faculty/Staff Appreciation

The Women's Basketball Program is celebrating faculty/staff appreciation day at remaining home games leading up to "Pack the Gym Night" for the final game against Old Dominion University. Faculty, staff, students and children ages 14 and younger will be admitted free.

Remaining Home Schedule

Feb. 6 vs. Delaware at 7 p.m.
Feb. 9 vs. George Mason at 2 p.m.
Feb. 13 vs. Towson at 7 p.m.
Feb. 16 vs. James Madison at 2 p.m.
Feb. 20 vs. William & Mary at 7 p.m.
March 6 vs. ODU at 7 p.m.

Withdrawal Deadline Extended to Feb. 28

The deadline for undergraduate students to withdraw from spring classes is extended to Feb. 28 due to January's adverse weather conditions. Individual class withdrawals must be processed in the Registrar's Office by 4 p.m. on the final day.

ITSD Computer Training

PageMaker, 10 a.m. to noon Feb. 13.

Using Multimedia to Enhance Your Web Site, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26
WebCT Next Steps, 1 to 4 p.m. Feb. 11 and 17

Word XP, 10 a.m. to noon Feb. 11.
To register for computer training, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. Workshops will be held in Hoggard Hall, Room 226.

Diversity Task Force to Hold Open Meetings

The Chancellor's Task Force on Diversity will hold open meetings to solicit input for its final report due April 1. Community representatives are scheduled to meet with the committee Feb. 20 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. A Feb. 24 meeting, which will be held in the Center Stage Cafe, is open to all members of the campus community. Meetings will be held from 3 to 5 p.m.

The task force, co-chaired by Michelle Howard-Vital, public service and continuing studies, and Melton McLaurin, academic affairs, is examining the issue of diversity on campus with special emphasis on racial/ethnic diversity as it relates to faculty, staff, students and outreach activities.

Staff Training

Introduction to Supervision, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 20 and 21

Timekeeping, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26
Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Hollie Flint, purchasing services; Robert Leitch, auxiliary services; and Gregory Tucker, physical plant.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23131 Director of Advancement Services	Feb. 7
23132 Assistant Director of Advancement Services	Feb. 7
23133 Habitat Operations Mgr.	Feb. 7
23134 Campus Activities Coordinator	Feb. 26
23135 Licensed Practical Nurse	Feb. 7
23136 A/V Media Technician	Feb. 14
23137 Grant Writer	Feb. 14
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Spring Soccer School

UNCW will host a spring soccer school March 10-14 for children ages five to 14. Classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The cost is $195 and includes tuition, soccer school T-shirt and lunch.

Children of UNCW faculty and staff will receive a $25 discount. For more information, e-mail Aidan Heaney or Paul Cairney at heaneya or cairney, respectively.

Black History Celebration

"Everybody Is Beautiful in Their Own Way," a musical festival which is part of UNCW's Black History Month celebration, is scheduled for 4 p.m. Feb. 9 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is free; but tickets are required and are available at the auditorium box office.

Bookstore Valentine Specials

The UNCW bookstore is offering numerous Valentine's Day specials starting at $2.98. For more information, contact Tina Jones at ext. 7023.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 29 Feb. 13, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Alumni Association Bestows Annual Awards

Lt. Col. Darrell Lee Thacker Jr. '83 of Jacksonville and Ronald Gumm of Wilmington are the UNCW Alumni Association's honorees for 2003. Meghan McCleery '98 of Raleigh is the recipient of the inaugural Young Alumni Award.

Thacker was nominated for the Alumnus of the Year Award by his wife, Vicki Brown, to represent "all those alumni who have served or are serving our country in times of peace and war." She accepted the award in his honor at the Feb. 7 dinner.

Thacker has served in the U.S. Marine Corps for more than 20 years. His military honors include the Air Medal with numeral three, the Navy Commendation Medal with gold star in lieu of second award and the Navy Achievement Medal. He and his wife have three children: Larry, Stephen and Katelynn.

Gumm was called the "ultimate community volunteer" by Pat C. Smith '72, who nominated him for the Distinguished Citizen for Service to the Community and University Award. Special events coordinator for Wilmington International Airport, Gumm is vice president of the N.C. Azalea Festival and has been active with Riverfest since its inception.

Although he is not a UNCW alumnus, Gumm was recognized for his support of the university. While advertising and public relations manager for Jackson Beverage, Gumm was instrumental in securing his company's financial and in-kind contributions to the Seahawk Club and alumni association. He also contributes personally to the Seahawk Club.

McCleery, a member of the UNCW

see Alumni Awards on page 4

Engineer to Present the Case for Mars

Author and engineer Robert Zubrin will present "The Case for Mars" at 7 p.m. Feb. 27 in Cameron Hall Auditorium.

Zubrin, who is president of the Mars Society, is author of The Case for Mars: The Plan to Settle the Red Planet and Why We Must and Entering Space:

Creating a Spacefaring Civilization. He holds a master's degree in aeronautics and astronautics and a doctorate in nuclear engineering.

Zubrin created Mars Direct, a step-by-step plan using present technology to send humans to Mars within 10 to 12 years, produce fuel and oxygen on the

Zubrin

see Case for Mars on page 4

Astronomer, Space Inventor to Lecture

George Carruthers, noted astronomer, space inventor and NASA award winner, will speak Feb. 20 and 21 through the Harlow Shapely Visiting Lectureship Program.

Carruthers, whose visit is sponsored by the Department of Physics and Physical Oceanography, will present "Origins of Stars, Planets and Life in the Universe: Advances from Space Research" at 7 p.m. Feb. 20 in Dobo Hall, Room 134. This presentation will focus on the contributions of space missions to the understanding of the origin and evolution of stars, planets and life.

Carruthers

In a second talk, which is for a departmental colloquium, Carruthers will lecture on "Ultraviolet Space Astronomy and Ultraviolet Measurements of Earth and Planetary Atmospheres" at 2 p.m. Feb. 21 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212.

An astronomer for the Space Science Division of the Naval Research Laboratory, Carruthers is a recipient of NASA's Exceptional Achievement Scientific Award, the Warner Prize of the American Astronomical Society, the National Science Foundation

see Astronomer's Lecture on page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Small Business Seminar

Stephen Harper, management and marketing, will lead a one-day seminar on starting a small business. This event, sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 22.

The seminar will feature the basics of starting a retail or service business. Participants will learn about business plans, legal forms, initial capital requirements, loan applications and selecting the appropriate accounting system.

The cost is $79 and includes a copy of Harper's national best seller The McGraw-Hill Guide to Starting Your Own Business. The fee for the spouse of a registered participant or a full-time high school or college student is $50 but does not include a copy of the book.

To register with credit card or for more information, call ext. 3195.

Housing Fair

The Seahawk Perch, UNCW's Commuter and Non-traditional Student Center, will host a housing fair from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Feb. 19 in the Warwick Center. Representatives from local apartment communities, real estate agencies and housing-related businesses along with university service providers will attend. For more information, call ext. 7371 or visit the Web site www.uncwil.edu/stuaff/doso/comm.

OSP Grants Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs is hosting the seminar "The Grant Account Setup/Closing Process" from 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 20 in the University Union, Room 103B. The workshop is intended for personnel involved with grants administration and will focus on an overview of the post-award process. To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starksm.

Kayak Clinics

The Discover Outdoor Center is holding kayak roll clinics from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Feb. 16 in the Trask Coliseum natatorium. The cost is $7. Register in person at the Student Recreation Center, Room 138.

Big Band and Jazz Concert

The UNCW Big Band, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, and the Jazz Combos, directed by Jerald Shynett, will perform at 8 p.m. Feb. 21 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $5; $2.50 for UNCW faculty, staff, senior citizens, and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium box office the night of the concert.

Candidate Seminars

Ryan Bavis, postdoctoral fellow at the University of Wisconsin, will present "Development, Plasticity and the Control of Breathing" at 2 p.m. Feb. 13 in Dobo Hall, Room 103, and "Water and Osmotic Regulation in Aquatic Organisms" at 1 p.m. Feb. 14 in Dobo Hall, Room 132. Bavis is a candidate for the position of animal physiologist.

Movie Makers Lecture

Writer, director and actor John Ward will discuss his film career from 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 21 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium. The Film Studies Program is sponsoring this free, public presentation as part of its Movie Makers Lecture Series.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.25.

Friday – Tandoori spiced chicken with tomato ginger chutney, inside out manicotti, vegetable rice pilaf, yellow squash casserole, spiced applesauce, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Orange marinated flank steak, spanakopita, orange pecan rice, cauliflower with cheese sauce, green beans with garlic, assorted salads, rolls, desserts and beverages.

Military Anthropologist to Lecture Feb. 27

Anthropologist Catherine Lutz will present "Making War at Home: War's Wages in Fayetteville, N.C." at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 27 in King Hall Auditorium.

Lutz, professor of anthropology at UNC Chapel Hill, is the author of several books including Homefront: A Military City and the American Twentieth Century. The work, which examines the militarization of Fayetteville as well as the entire nation, won the 2002 Anthony Leeds Prize presented by the Society for Urban, National, Transnational/Global Anthropology.

Lutz

Lutz's talk, sponsored by the Departments of English and History and the Office of the Chancellor, is free and open to the public. A book signing and reception will follow.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Jason Rogers, marine technology instructor, Cape Fear Community College, will discuss the college's marine technology program at 2 p.m. Feb. 14 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Seahawk Club Fund-raiser

The Seahawk Club is holding its third annual Big Boat Cruise and Floating Auction May 31 aboard the Henrietta III. The event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. at the Wilmington Hilton Riverside followed by a cruise featuring food, music and an auction. Tickets are $50, and proceeds benefit scholarships for student-athletes. For more information, call ext. 7737.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are needed to assist with the inaugural Arlie Arts Festival, which will be held May 1-4 at Airlie Gardens. Prospective volunteers should attend one of the information sessions scheduled for 6 p.m. Feb. 20 and 10 a.m. March 15 at the New Hanover County Arboretum training room. To register, contact Lois Budlong at 270-9875.

MIT Grad Program

Employees interested in pursuing a graduate degree are encouraged to consider the Master of Science in Instructional Technology offered by the Watson School of Education. The degree prepares graduates to function in a variety of roles in a broad range of settings including:

- Instructional design and development
- Instructional delivery systems and implementation
- Assessment, evaluation and research
- Materials and media development/production
- Program management and organizational development
- Emerging technologies

For more information, e-mail Mahnaz Moallem, program coordinator, at moallemm or visit the Web site www.uncwil.edu/ed/mit/.

Lifelong Learning Series

Soprano Nancy King is the featured performer for the first program in the 2003 Tabitha McEachern Lifelong Learning Speakers Series sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies. "An Evening of Opera and Music Theatre" is scheduled for 6 p.m. Feb. 27; it will include operatic arias and duets by King, a professor of voice in the Music Department, and members of the UNCW Opera Outreach Project. The cost is $25. Register by Feb. 24 by calling ext. 3195.

Upcoming events in the speaker series include "Women Making Movies" at noon March 11 and "The Clyde Edgerton and Philip Gerard Duo" set for 6 p.m. March 20. The luncheon program is $17, $25 for the dinner program. Registration is due March 5 and 13, respectively.

SEANC Town Meeting

Districts 61 and 62 of the State Employees Association of North Carolina are sponsoring a town meeting for active and retired workers from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Feb. 27 at Roland-Grise Middle School, 4412 Lake Avenue. SEANC executive director Dana Cope and other association representatives will be on hand to answer questions regarding salary, health care, retirement and other issues facing state employees. For more information, call 800-222-2758.

Free Tax Assistance

The Department of Accountancy and Business Law is offering free assistance to faculty, staff and students to fill out income tax forms through its Volunteer Income Tax Assistance site. Volunteers are IRS-certified to complete 1040EZ and 1040A forms as well as the state's NC D-400.

The site, located in Cameron Hall, Room 230, will observe the following schedule through April 14:

- 10 a.m. to noon Mondays
- 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesdays
- 1 to 5 p.m. Fridays

For more information, contact Gloria Sasser at ext. 3509 or e-mail Cory Barwick at cb5085@uncw.edu.

Events in Brief

Film: Two Daughters, 7 p.m. Feb. 13 Kenan Hall, Room 121.

Music: Flutist Mary Jo White and guest artist Domonique Launey, 8 p.m. Feb. 13 Kenan Auditorium.

Show: "Dress for Success: Fashions for Your Future," noon Feb. 14 University Union, Hawk's Nest.

Event: 10th annual Intercultural Festival, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Feb. 15 Warwick Center Ballroom.

Concert: Wilmington Symphony Orchestra, 8 p.m. Feb. 15 Kenan Auditorium.

Performance: The Vagina Monologues, 4 and 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 Kenan Auditorium.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Robert George, biological sciences and CMS, and Andy Shepard, NURC, attended an international deep-sea coral reef workshop in Galway, Ireland. The workshop, held to develop a long-term research strategy to study deep-sea coral ecosystems on a global basis, was sponsored by the Irish Marine Institute and the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration. George served as the U.S. delegate representing the NOAA National Marine Fisheries Service Office of Science and Technology.

William McLellan and D. Ann Pabst, biological sciences and CMS, had the paper "Analyzing 25 Years of Bottlenose Dolphin Strandings Along the U.S. Atlantic Coast" published in the Journal of Cetacean Research and Management. It was co-authored with former graduate student Ari Friedlaender and colleagues at the Smithsonian Institution.

Milan Dluhy, political science, had the article "Miami's Fiscal Crisis (1996-2001): Lessons For Practice in American Cities" published in Municipal Finance Journal, vol. 23, no. 4. It was co-authored with Howard Frank of Florida International University.

Leslie Langer, SBTDC, spoke to the Wrightsville Beach Chamber of Commerce about management counseling and educational services SBTDC offers to small and mid-sized businesses in a seven-county region. The presentation was featured in the Jan. 16 edition of The Lumina.

Jimmy Reeves, chemistry, was mentioned in the Web-based Chronicle of Higher Education article on "Kitchen Chemistry," a home-based set of chemistry experiments designed to provide the laboratory portion of introductory chemistry to distance learning students. Reeves authored "Kitchen Chemistry" with Doris Kimbrough from the University of Colorado at Denver. To read the article, go to the Web site chronicle.com/free/v49/i21/21a03001.htm.

Mark Galizio, psychology, served as guest editor of the Journal of the Experimental Analysis of Behavior's special issue on categorization and concept learning with co-editors Thomas Critchfield of the Northern Illinois University and Thomas Zentall of the University of Kentucky. The editors also contributed an introductory article to the 370-page volume.

FEATURES

University's Emergency Team Responds to Winter Snowstorm

Last month's snowstorm closed the campus for almost two days, but not everyone stayed home.

While the majority of faculty and staff were throwing another log on the fire to keep warm, a contingent of university offices worked to keep the campus safe for resident students and for the return to normal operations.

"Our emergency team did a great job preparing for the storm at the main campus and satellite locations as well as recovery efforts to reopen these facilities," said Sharon Boyd, associate vice chancellor for business and support services. "Everyone – especially the physical plant staff – worked long hours under extreme conditions."

On Wednesday, prior to the storm's arrival, representatives from the dean of students, provost's office, university relations, physical plant, university police, telecommunications and environmental, health and safety started to plan how the campus would deal with the adverse weather, Boyd said.

"From working with academic and student affairs on the decision to close the university to repairing burst pipes, salting steps and sidewalks and updating the telephone hotline that received more than 28,000 calls, it was a hectic three days," said Boyd.

As snow blanketed the campus, landscape services staff served as first responders, distributing salt and snowmelt to make sidewalks, steps, bridges and roads safer to travel.

"No matter what conditions were at their homes, they (landscapers) came in bundled up and prepared to work," said Robert Warren, landscape services superintendent. Housekeeping staff helped spread the roughly 15 tons of salt and 500 pounds of snowmelt used. Warren said outside contractors were also employed to help clear the miles of sidewalks and roads prior to reopening campus.

Physical plant employees also monitored conditions inside the buildings, said Tom Freshwater, deputy director of the physical plant. He said heating and air conditioning staff kept heating systems working properly, and plumbers drained exposed water lines and instituted freeze protection measures as needed.

Campus dining also maintained normal operations throughout the period.

"We didn't want resident students to have to drive in inclement weather in search of food," Boyd said.

As the storm approached and afterward, university police and the Department of Environmental Health and Safety evaluated campus conditions. Stan Harts, EHS director, worked with New Hanover County emergency management, the school system and the National Weather Service to gather data and weather predictions to aid in the decision to close the university. During the recovery period, Harts said his office monitored the campus to ensure "it was as safe as possible for resident students and those employees working to reopen facilities."

"Overall, I think we weathered the storm very well," said Boyd. "I want to thank everyone for their efforts during the emergency. We're fortunate to have such dedicated individuals who braved the elements to keep the campus safe."

Case for Mars continued from Page 1

planet using Martian natural resources, build bases and settlements and "terraform" Mars to pave a way for sustainable life. NASA has adopted Zubrin's blueprint as the basis for its own mission.

A former senior engineer at Lockheed Martin, Zubrin is founder of Pioneer Astronautics, a space exploration research and development firm. He is also senior vice president of the National Space Society.

Zubrin's free, public presentation is sponsored by the UNCW Honors Scholars Program. A reception and book signing, presented by Bristol Books, will follow the lecture.

Alumni Awards continued from Page 1

Alumni Association Board of Directors, is co-chair of the award/nominations committee and has co-chaired the alumni development committee which coordinates fund-raising, social/special events and chapter development. She is active with the Triangle Alumni Chapter and assisted the chapter with the NFL Adventure and the annual Durham Bulls baseball event.

As director of alumnae affairs at Peace College, McCleery is responsible for building relationships with alumnae, parents and friends.

Astronomer's Lecture continued from Page 1

Fellow and an honorary Doctor of Engineering from Michigan Technological University.

Carruthers helped introduce electronic telescopes on board NASA satellites that transform light into electrical signals which are relayed to Earth to be televised. While working in the Space Science Division of the Rocket Astronomy Program at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington D.C., he invented the Far Ultraviolet Camera/Spectrograph that accompanied the Apollo 16 mission to the moon in April 1972. It was the first observatory ever placed on another celestial body.

Carruthers is a member of Project SMART, which encourages African-American teachers and students to get involved in science and technology. He is also a member of the American Astronomical Society, American Geophysical Union, American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics Inc., American Association for the Advancement of Science and the National Technical Association. He is also chair of the editing and review committee and editor for the Journal of the National Technical Association.

Equipment Transfer

The Division for Academic Affairs has four Dell Optiplex GX1 computers with monitors, one Dell Dimension with monitor, one Dell monitor and one NEC monitor that can be transferred. Interested departments should contact Christie Prentice at ext. 3389 or e-mail prenticec.

Note of Appreciation

Patricia Smith, executive director of alumni relations, would like to thank "all UNCW faculty, staff, alumni and students who assisted to ensure the success of homecoming 2003. Sites on and off campus along with the Hilton rocked with activity that served our grand university and our community well."

Scalf Named to Post

Mark Scalf, baseball head coach, was named one of three assistant coaches by USA Baseball for the national team that will represent the United States at the 2003 Pan Am Games in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Aug. 1-15. The appointment is pending final approval by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Awards Deadline

Feb. 14 is the deadline to nominate students for the following awards: Senior Medallion, Distinguished Service, Leadership Excellence, Bryan Senior Leader, Freeman Service Leadership and ODK Leadership awards as well as the Lippitt New Student Leadership Scholarship and the inaugural Martha Duncan Leadership Scholarship.

A description of each award is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/stuaff/leadserv. Direct questions to the Center for Leadership Education and Service at ext. 3877.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employee: Marian Bennett, university union.

Business Affairs to Launch Web-based E-Travel

The Division for Business Affairs is launching a new Web-based travel system. Employees must complete required training sessions prior to gaining authorization to access this system, which is designated L-Travel. Sessions start Feb. 19, and a listing of departmental training dates is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/news/communique/2103/feb/13/ETravel.pdf. Direct questions to Sandy Ellington at ext. 7504 or e-mail ellingtons.

Construction Notice

Traffic on Price Drive in the area of Burney Student Center and Riegel Road will be reduced to one lane from approximately 7 a.m. Feb. 15 until late afternoon due to construction of a storm drain. In case of inclement weather, this closure may be postponed until Feb. 22. Direct questions to Jim Pue-Gilchrist, construction services, at ext. 3869.

Free Tutoring

The UNCW Tutoring and Learning Center offers year-round, free tutoring in all basic studies courses and the following upper-level courses: ACG 201 and 203, CHM 211 and 212 and QMM 280. Students can register for tutoring at the center, located on the second floor of Randall Library, during the following times: 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and 6 to 9 p.m. Sunday. For more information, contact Katina Barksdale, coordinator, at ext. 4194 or e-mail barksdalek. Additional information is also available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/stuaff/tlc/.

Faculty/Staff Appreciation

The Women's Basketball Program is celebrating faculty/staff appreciation day at remaining home games leading up to "Pack the Gym Night" for the final game against Old Dominion University. Faculty, staff, students with valid ID as well as children ages 14 and younger will be admitted free.

Remaining Home Schedule

Feb. 13 vs. Towson at 7 p.m.
Feb. 16 vs. James Madison at 2 p.m.
Feb. 20 vs. William & Mary at 7 p.m.
March 6 vs. ODU at 7 p.m.

ITSD Computer Training

Using Multimedia to Enhance Your Web Site, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26
WebCT Next Steps, 1 to 4 p.m. Feb. 17

To register for computer training, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. Workshops will be held in Hoggard Hall, Room 226.

Shared Leave

Ellen McConnell, CMS; Ike Mitchell, athletics; and Georgie Stephens, admissions, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Staff Training

Advanced Connections, 9 to 11 a.m. March 4, 11 and 18
Introduction to Supervision, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 20 and 21
Timekeeping, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26
Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23134 Campus Activities Coordinator	March 7
23136 A/V Media Technician	Feb. 14
23137 Grant Writer	Feb. 14
23138 Accounting Tech. II	Feb. 18
23139 Housekeeping Supervisor	Feb. 21
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 30 Feb. 20, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Board of Governors Approves Roer as Graduate School Dean

Robert Roer was approved as dean of the Graduate School. His appointment was confirmed at the Feb. 14 meeting of the UNC Board of Governors.

"It is an honor and responsibility to carry on the fine work of my predecessors Eric Bolen and Neil Hadley," said Roer. "I look forward to continuing to promote the growth of UNCW's graduate programs."

In addition to increasing enrollment and improving graduate program offerings, Roer said he plans to explore forming additional partnerships with local businesses to offer specific degrees similar to the university's arrangement with aaiPharma. UNCW is offering a Master of Science in chemistry to about 20 aaiPharma employees each year – at their work site and paid for by the company.

"Dr. Roer's expertise, experience and commitment will continue to benefit the university. Under his leadership, graduate studies at UNCW will continue to strengthen," said Paul Hosier, provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs. He appointed Roer interim dean in July 2002.

Roer, who earned a Ph.D. in zoology at Duke University, joined UNCW in 1979. During his tenure, Roer achieved the rank of professor in the Department of Biological Sciences and served as research physiologist at the Center for Marine Science. He also served as assistant director of CMS and assistant chair for graduate studies.

Roer

In recognition of his work with graduate students, Roer was one of the two inaugural recipients of the Graduate Mentor Award in 2000. An active scholar/researcher, Roer has received almost $3 million in grants, has published more than 30 articles and has given numerous presentations at national and international seminars and symposia.

Hartsook Endows Writing Fellowship

National fund-raising consultant Robert F. Hartsook and the Hartsook Companies Inc., one of the country's largest fund-raising consulting firms, have established the Austin Robert Hartsook Fellowship in Creative Writing. Named in honor of Hartsook's son, the fellowship will support graduate students in the Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing Program. Awards up to $10,000 will be given annually.

"This is extremely important to our department," said Mark Cox, chair of the Creative Writing Department. "Though we are already able to attract some of the nation's best writing talent to our program, this endowment will further enhance our recruitment. Financial support like this reduces the necessity of part-time jobs and offers students the freedom to concentrate on their writing. We are incredibly grateful."

The fellowship commitment is $100,000 funded at the rate of $10,000 annually by a pledge from Hartsook Companies and a $200,000 bequest to endow the fellowship through Hartsook's estate. The fellowship is considered a merit scholarship. The Department of Creative Writing will select recipients on the basis of demonstrated creative talent and artistic promise.

Elizabeth King Humphrey, a fiction writer from Wilmington, and Paul Gasbarra, a poet from Oklahoma City, are the first recipients of the Hartsook Fellowship. Both students will graduate this spring and will use the funding to concentrate on completing their book-length master's theses.

Hartsook, who has written for many leading fund-raising publications including The Chronicle of Philanthropy and The Nonprofit Times is the author of four books.

see Creative Writing on Page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Faculty Advisory Committee Meeting

The Chancellor's Faculty Advisory Committee will meet at noon Feb. 26 in Alderman Hall, Room 215.

Committee members are: Lavonne Adams, creative writing; Gregory Bechtel, School of Nursing; Yaw Chang, mathematics and statistics; Chris Dumas, economics and finance; Steve Emslie, biological sciences; Pam Evers, accountancy and business law; Craig Galbraith, management and marketing; Nancy Grindlay, earth sciences; Julian Keith, psychology; Hengemeh Kermani, curricular studies; David LaVere, history; Mahnaz Moallem, specialty studies; Dan Noland, English; Earl Sheridan, political science; Oliver Speck, foreign languages and literatures; and Emery Stephens, music.

Faculty are encouraged to share comments and suggestions with committee members.

Artist Receptions

A reception for artist James Fulcher will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Feb. 21 in the Warwick Center. Fulcher's exhibit "Seaside Serenity" is on display in the Warwick Center lobby.

The exhibit "Spiral of Diversity," which features works by minority students at East Carolina University's School of the Art, will be displayed through March 10 in the University Union Living Room. A reception honoring the artists will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Feb. 28 at the display.

CMS Seminar

Pat Tester from the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration lab in Beaufort will present "Airborne Detection of Ecosystem Responses to an Extreme Event: Pamlico Sound and Surrounding Waters in the Aftermath of the 1999 Hurricane Season" at 4 p.m. Feb. 21 in the Center for Marine Science Auditorium. The talk is cosponsored by the Department of Chemistry.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.25.

Friday – Turkey with stuffing and gravy, mushroom shepherd's pie, candied yams, broccoli with cheese sauce, carrots with dill, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Tarragon grilled chicken with pineapple, baked ziti, pecan orange rice, green beans with garlic, cauliflower with cheese sauce, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Seahawk Salute

Senior Seahawk Salute will be held from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Feb. 26 and 27 at the university bookstore. In addition to picking up their caps and gowns, prospective graduates can get information about the UNCW Alumni Association, diploma frames, class rings and other merchandise. For more information, contact the bookstore at ext. 3188.

University Theatre to Present Servant of Two Masters

The University Theatre will present Servant of Two Masters Feb. 27 through March 2 in Kenan Auditorium. Shows of this bawdy comedy will be at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday with a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday.

Performed in the style of Commedia Dell'Arte, Servant of Two Masters is a comic tale of disguise and deception. Written by Carlo Goldoni in 1744, the play centers on a man, Truffaldino (Michael Rosander), who decides to work "overtime" by simultaneously and secretly serving two masters: twice the wages and twice the food and drink. Truffaldino's escapade is complicated by multiple love triangles including his passion for Smeraldina (Pamela Redford), maidservant to Signor Pantalone dei Bisognosi (Daniel Marks). Pantalone's daughter Clarice (Li Clapp) finds herself betrothed to both Silvio Lombardi (Cory Howard) and Beatrice Rasponi (Holly Sansone), masquerading as her brother Signor Federigo Rasponi.

Frank Trimble, chair of the Department of Communication Studies, directs the cast of 12 undergraduate student performers. Senior Jonathan Scholten designed the scenery. Tommy Macon and Scott McElheney, professors in art and theatre, served as costume and lighting designers, respectively.

Admission is $8; $2 for UNCW students with valid ID. For groups of 15 or more, tickets are $5 per person. For more information, contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. This production is intended for mature audiences.

Randall Library Hosting Artist Reception

Randall Library will host a reception honoring artists whose work was selected for the 2003 edition of Atlantis, the UNCW student literary art magazine. The event will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. Feb. 27 at the library's first-floor art wall.

Candidate Talks

Wade Jeffrey, associate professor at the Center for Environmental Diagnostics and Bioremediation at the University of West Florida, will present two talks as a candidate for the position of marine microbiologist. He will discuss "Molecular and Physiological Effects of Ultraviolet Radiation on Marine Bacteria" at 2 p.m. Feb. 20. He will lecture on "The Three Domains of Life: Archaea, Eubacteria and Eukaryota – History, Evidence and Controversy" at 2 p.m. Feb. 21. Both presentations will be in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Juniors Marissa Clapp, Daniel Marks and Michael Rosander play principal roles in "Servant of Two Masters."

Ash Wednesday Service

The Newman Catholic Center will hold an Ash Wednesday service at 5:30 p.m. March 5 at the center, located at 4802 College Acres Drive.

The center is also sponsoring a special Lenten Ignatian silent retreat March 7-9 at St. Mary Catholic Church. The cost is $50. For more information, contact Mary Pat Fourqurean at 792-0507.

Cartridge for Sale

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics is selling a 5Si HP 3909A toner cartridge (central stores stock number 610-63675). Direct questions to Gloria Coston at ext. 3290.

Thalian Fund-raiser

The Thalian Association is holding a fund-raising auction at 6 p.m. March 1 at the Community Arts Center. Proceeds will support its production schedule. To donate items for the auction or purchase tickets to attend, contact Annette Coneglio Anderson at ext. 3547.

Palliative Care Conference

The Lower Cape Fear Hospice is sponsoring the conference "Reflections on Palliative Care: A Vision for the Future" March 13 and 14 at the Country Club of Landfall. Ira Byock, advocate for improved end-of-life care and director of the Palliative Care Service in Missoula, Mont., will be the keynote speaker.

Conference registration is $150. For more information, call 815-3961. UNCW's School of Nursing, Department of Social Work and Gerontology Program are among the conference co-sponsors.

Nurturing Strings

The Church of the Servant, located at 4925 Oriole Drive, will host the musical program "Suzuki Talent: Nurturing Strings" from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Feb. 27. Admission is $5 per person. For more information, call 395-0616.

Seahawk Club Fund-raiser

The Seahawk Club is holding its third annual Big Boat Cruise and Floating Auction May 31 aboard the Henrietta III. The event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. at the Wilmington Hilton Riverside followed by a cruise featuring food, music and an auction. Tickets are $50, and proceeds benefit scholarships for student-athletes. For more information, call ext. 7737.

SEANC Town Meeting

Districts 61 and 62 of the State Employees Association of North Carolina are sponsoring a town meeting for active and retired workers from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Feb. 27 at Roland-Grise Middle School, 4412 Lake Avenue. SEANC executive director Dana Cope and other association representatives will be on hand to answer questions regarding salary, health care, retirement and other issues facing state employees. For more information, call 800-222-2758.

Free Tax Assistance

The Department of Accountancy and Business Law is offering free assistance to faculty, staff and students to fill out income tax forms through its Volunteer Income Tax Assistance site. Volunteers are IRS-certified to complete 1040EZ and 1040A forms as well as the state's NC D-400.

The site, located in Cameron Hall, Room 230, will observe the following schedule through April 14:

- 10 a.m. to noon Mondays
- 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesdays
- 1 to 5 p.m. Fridays

For more information, contact Gloria Sasser at ext. 3509 or e-mail Cory Barwick at cb5085@uncw.edu.

Computer Science Talk

Ron Vetter, computer science, will present "The iLumina Digital Library Project" at noon Feb. 26 in Bear Hall, Room 206.

Faculty/Staff Appreciation

The Women's Basketball Program is celebrating faculty/staff appreciation day at the home games leading up to "Pack the Gym Night" for the final game against Old Dominion University. Faculty, staff, students with valid ID as well as children ages 14 and younger will be admitted free. The contest against William and Mary is at 7 p.m. Feb. 20; the game with ODU is set for 7 p.m. March 6.

Events in Brief

Lecture: "Origins of Stars, Planets and Life in the Universe: Advances in Space Research" by George Carruthers, 7 p.m. Feb. 20 Dobo Hall, Room 134.

Presentation: Movie Makers Lecture featuring John Ward, 2 p.m. Feb. 21 Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

Concert: Big Band and Jazz Combos, 8 p.m. Feb. 21 Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, call ext. 3500.

Workshop: "Learning Assessment and Grading: Your Thoughts and Ours," noon Feb. 24 Friday Hall, Room 102.

Event: "An Evening of Opera and Music Theatre," 6 p.m. Feb. 27. Registration required by Feb. 24. Call ext. 3195.

Lecture: Robert Zubrin will present "The Case for Mars" by Robert Zubrin, 7 p.m. Feb. 27 Cameron Hall Auditorium

Lecture: "Making War at Home: War's Wages in Fayetteville, N.C." by Catherine Lutz, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 27 King Hall Auditorium.

Spring Soccer School

UNCW will host a spring soccer school March 10-14 for children ages five to 14. Classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The cost is $195 and includes tuition, soccer school T-shirt and lunch.

Children of UNCW faculty and staff will receive a $25 discount. For more information, e-mail Aidan Heaney or Paul Cairney at heaneya or cairneyp, respectively.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Patricia Kelley, earth sciences, and Gregory Dietl, CMS, presented papers at the Geological Society of America meeting in Denver. Kelley organized and convened the short course "The Fossil Record of Predation," in which Dietl presented "The Fossil Record of Predator-Prey Arms Races: Co-evolution and Escalation" co-authored with Kelley. Dietl also co-authored "Tests of the Escalation Hypothesis: The Role of Multiple Predators" with Gregory Herbert of University of California-Davis. Kelley presented the paper "Intensity of Drilling Predation on Seafood Through Time: Escalation vs. Taxon Estimates" and was co-author of "The Moonsnail Project: How Student Collaboration in Authentic Research Affects Learning Outcomes" with Thor Hansen, Western Washington University, and Jack Hall, environmental studies. At this meeting, Kelley completed her two-year term as president of the GSA's Paleontological Society.

Mike Mallin, Matt McIver, Martin Posey, Troy Alphin and Mike Durako, CMS, presented "The Cape Fear River Plume: Water Quality and Ecology" at the Southeast Coastal Ocean Science conference in Charleston, S.C.

Tom Hudson, computer science, gave the talk "Graphical Interfaces for Composing Analyses" at O'Reilly Biocon 2003, a conference on tools for bioinformatics held in San Diego. The talk covered joint work with Ann Stapleton, biological sciences, and Jeff Brown, mathematics and statistics.

Daniel Baden, CMS, received $50,000 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "A Rapid and Sensitive Enzyme Immunoassay for Brevetoxin Monitoring in Shellfish."

Len Lecci, psychology, and graduate student Jessica Snowden received $2,225 from the National Honor Society for the project "Implicit and Explicit Attitudes Toward Research in Psychology: The Predicting Grades and Attitude Change in Students."

Michael Bradley, SBTDC, received $55,777 from the U. S. Small Business Administration for 2003 program funding.

Huber Named North Carolina Professor of the Year

Richard Huber, a professor of curricular studies in the Watson School of Education, was named the 2002 Carnegie Foundation North Carolina Professor of the Year.

Presented jointly by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), the award is designed to "reward outstanding professors for their dedication to teaching, commitment to students and innovative instructional methods."

An example of Huber's innovative teaching involves his work in environmental education. He designs Java applets to manage and interact with large data sets via the Internet. This project assists science teachers and their students to collect water quality data and post the results on the Web so that other classrooms across the state can view the data. "I am flattered and humbled to receive this award," said Huber. "I hope that my classes make a difference in the lives of my students, and I hope I can make a difference in the way my students view the world."

MaryAnn Davies, chair of the Department of Curricular Studies, said Huber's applications of technology in teaching are "at the forefront of his field."

Huber is developing data visualization tools (DVT) that will represent scientific data from the Cape Fear Basin. DVTs use a database to display information through interactive color-coded graphs.

The Carnegie Foundation and CASE select Professors of the Year for each state as well as the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Huber was nominated for the honor by former provost John Cavanaugh.

Provost Paul Hosier (right) congratulates Richard Huber on his selection as Professor of the Year.

Art Frankel, social work, received $45,405 from New Hanover County Schools for the project "Evaluation of 21st Century Learning Center Community Collaboration." The funding is the result of work conducted by Frankel and Lynn Smithdeal through the Center for Social Work and Practice. Through the center, Frankel and Smithdeal helped the schools apply for a $2 million state grant which will be funded over a four-year period. The learning center collaboration involves five social service agencies, UNCW and 10 secular and faith-based after-school programs that will provide at-risk children with tutoring.

Cathy Barlow and Karen Wetherill, Watson School of Education, received $48,000 from the UNC Office of the President for the N.C. Teach Program.

Creative Writing continued from Page 1

His latest, Nobody Wants to Give Money Away! was released in April 2002. In 1987, Hartsook founded Hartsook and Associates, now Hartsook Companies Inc. The firm has conducted more than 1,200 fund-raising campaigns ranging from $500,000 to more than $1 billion. Before starting Hartsook Companies, Inc., he served as vice president of Colby Community College, Washburn University and Wichita State University, all in Kansas. At Wichita State, he served as president of the Board of Trustees. Hartsook holds a bachelor of arts in economics, a master's degree in counseling, a law degree and a doctorate in education. He and his son Austin reside in Wrightsville Beach.

Chancellor's Achievement Awards Presentation

Presentation of the Chancellor's Achievement Award will be held at 3 p.m. Feb. 21 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. This award is given each semester to undergraduate students who, during the previous semester receive, all A's while taking at least 15 credit hours. This ceremony will honor 418 students, of whom 141 have won the award two or more times. For more information, contact Mary Crookes, at ext. 7505.

Fire Drills Planned

The Environmental Health and Safety Department will conduct fire exit drills March 10-14. These semiannual drills, which are required by state law, should take approximately five minutes per building. When the fire alarm sounds, all occupants must exit the building as quickly as possible. Do not re-enter the facility until instructed.

Departments or offices that have events or special needs during this period should contact Danny Edens at ext. 4287.

TIAA-CREF Representative

Al Gonzalez, a representative with TIAA-CREF, will be available for consultations from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 7 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. Employees interested in scheduling a one-on-one counseling session to discuss their TIAA-CREF account or to discuss starting a 403(b) tax-deferred annuity should call 800-842-2003, ext. 3522 to schedule an appointment. Additional information is available on the Web at www.tiaa-cref.org/moc.

Reimbursement Deadline

March 31 is the deadline to submit all 2002 out-of-pocket expenses for health care and dependent day care spending accounts to Aon Consulting. Any money not claimed by March 31 will be forfeited. Contact ext. 3160 or ext. 3713 for claim forms.

Diversity Task Force to Hold Meeting Monday

Faculty, staff and students will have a final opportunity to provide comments or suggestions to the Chancellor's Task Force on Diversity at an open meeting scheduled for 3 to 5 p.m. Feb. 24 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. Light refreshments will be served.

The task force, co-chaired by Michelle Howard-Vital, public service and continuing studies, and Melton McLaurin, academic affairs, is examining the issue of diversity with emphasis on racial and ethnic diversity as it relates to the campus community and the university's outreach activities. The committee will deliver a final report to the chancellor April 1.

Retirement Reception

The College of Arts and Sciences will host a retirement reception for Kay McLean from 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 27 in the University Union Living Room.

McLean, assistant to the associate dean, is retiring after 13 years of service.

Business Affairs to Launch E-Travel

The Division for Business Affairs is launching a new Web-based travel system. Employees must complete required training sessions prior to gaining authorization to access this system, which is designated E-Travel. A listing of departmental training dates is available on the Web at www.uncw.edu/news/communique/2003/feb/13/Etravel.pdf. Direct questions to Sandy Ellington at ext. 7504 or e-mail ellingtons.

ITSD Computer Training

Excel XP, 10 a.m. to noon Feb 25 and 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 27

Outlook I, 2 to 4 p.m. March 4

Outlook II, 2 to 4 p.m. March 5 and 10 a.m. to noon March 20

PowerPoint XP, 10 a.m. to noon March 6

Using Multimedia to Enhance Your Web Site, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26

To register for computer training, call the technology assistance center at ext. 4357. Workshops will be held in Hoggard Hall, Room 226.

Shared Leave

Ellen McConnell, CMS; Ike Mitchell, athletics; and Georgie Stephens, admissions, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Staff Training

Advanced Connections, 9 to 11 a.m. March 4, 11 and 18

Timekeeping, 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 26
Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Ruth Craft, university police; Ann Giggey, accounting; Tina Lee, financial aid and veterans services; Harold Letts, NURC; and William Wetherill, client services.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23134 Campus Activities Coordinator	March 7
23139 Housekeeping Super.	Feb. 21
23141 Scheduler	Feb. 28
23142 Assistant to the Director, Human Resources	Feb. 28
23143 General Utility Worker	Feb. 28
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 31 Feb. 27, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW, Wachovia Announce Gift to N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall

Creation of the N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington took a major step forward with Monday's announcement of $150,000 contribution from Wachovia.

Chancellor James R. Leutze acknowledged the gift at a news conference with Paul McCombie, Wilmington market president for Wachovia. The gift, which will be given over a three-year period, will provide a significant boost in efforts to create the N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall, Leutze said.

"We appreciate that Wachovia shares our vision that the teaching profession deserves to be held in high esteem," said Leutze. "UNC Wilmington is committed to leading the efforts to recognize excellence in public primary and secondary school education across the state."

Public education faces a looming crisis with regard to the recruitment and retention of teachers, said Cathy Barlow, dean of the Watson School of Education.

"According to recent studies, North Carolina's public schools will need more than 80,000 additional teachers during the next 10 years to fill classrooms due to the state's population growth coupled with early retirement and teacher retention issues," said Barlow. "We must find new and innovative ways to inspire our best students to become our best teachers. Our hope is that the N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall will honor the profession while at the same time shedding light on the looming shortage of teachers."

"Wachovia's number one priority is education," said McCombie. "Teachers are vital to the improvement of our children's lives and to the strength of our growing communities. We value the opportunity to work with UNCW to create the N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall – a space that will recognize and highlight the tremendous value that our North Carolina teachers provide."

Wachovia executive Paul McCombie presents a check benefiting the N.C. Teachers Legacy Hall to UNCW Chancellor James Leutze and Watson School of Education Dean Cathy Barlow.

The Legacy Hall will be in the three-story atrium area of a facility under construction at UNC Wilmington. When completed, this building will also house the Donald R. Watson School of Education and Regional Educational see Teachers Legacy Hall on Page 6

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Women's History Month Observance Planned

March is Women's History Month, and the Women's Resource Center is marking the occasion with a series of events planned around the theme "Women Change the World."

Jenn Adams, campus outreach coordinator for Population Connection in Washington, D.C., will kick off the observance at 7:30 p.m. March 4 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. In the lecture "Breaking the Chain: How Bush's Attack on International Family Planning Hurts Us All," Adams will discuss gender, population control and women's empowerment from an international perspective.

Self-proclaimed "queer activist" Irshad Manji will present "Taking Opportunity from Oppression" at 7:30 p.m. March 18 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. Manji is author of An Open Letter to Muslims Worldwide and Risking Utopia: On the Edge of

see Women's History Month on Page 6

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Artists Sought for 2003-04 Exhibitions

UNCW is seeking visual artists to exhibit their work in the University Union and Warwick Center during the 2003-04 academic year. Artwork of any medium is eligible. All works must be framed, matted and ready to display. Exhibits run approximately seven weeks.

Interested artists should submit no more than 10 35-mm slides that best represent their work, current resume and artist statement for consideration by the selection committee. The submission deadline is 5 p.m. April 11. Artists should include their name on each slide, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for their return.

Mail or deliver submissions to the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, University Union, Room 209. For more information, contact Shannon Hooker at ext. 7600 or visit the Web site www.uncwil.edu/stuaaff/arts.

Artist Recital Series

The Department of Music will present the third concert of its 2003 Artist Recital Series at 8 p.m. March 6 in Kenan Auditorium. Faculty artists Richard Thomas (cello), Barry Salwen (piano), Ellen Robison (piano), Philip Singleton (violin), along with guest artist Peter Neubert (viola) are the featured performers.

Admission is $5; $2.50 for UNCW faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium box office the night of the concert.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffet will not be offered March 7, 11 or 14 due to spring break. Luncheons will resume March 18.

Carolina Ballet

The Wilmington Concert Association is sponsoring a performance of the Carolina Ballet at 8 p.m. March 8 in Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, call ext. 3500.

Fitzgerald Named Development Director

Stephanie Fitzgerald is the new director of development for the Division of Student Affairs and School of Nursing. She joins the university from Nashville, Tenn., where she was finance director for the U.S. Senate campaign of Lamar Alexander.

Fitzgerald said she welcomes the opportunity to utilize her extensive fund-raising background at UNCW.

"This is an exciting time for UNCW," said Fitzgerald. "The university is experiencing tremendous growth, and at the same time state appropriations are declining. Increasing the amount of private funding is becoming more important for UNCW to continue to provide the top quality education and collegiate experiences that our students deserve."

Prior to joining UNCW, Fitzgerald served as a protocol officer and liaison to the International Olympic Committee for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City. As a consultant with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce from 1997 to 2001, she assisted the chamber to plan and execute a major funding program with Fortune 500 companies that today raises more than $100 million a year.

Fitzgerald is a 1991 graduate of Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va., where she earned a bachelor's degree in political science. To contact her, call ext. 2659 or e-mail fitzgeralds.

Fitzgerald

Candidate Seminars

Lita Proctor from the Center of Marine Biotechnology, University of Maryland Biotechnology Institute, will present two talks as a candidate for marine microbiologist. She will discuss "What's Diversity Got to Do with It?" at 2 p.m. Feb. 27, and she will lecture on "The Three Domains of Life - Archaea, Eubacteria and Eukaryota: History, Evidence and Controversy" at 2 p.m. Feb. 28. Both presentations will be in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Backpacking Trip

The Discover Outdoor Center is sponsoring a backpacking trip to Pisgah National Forest March 8-13. The cost is $125 for faculty and staff. Register by 2 p.m. Feb. 28 at the Student Recreation Center, Room 138. A mandatory pre-trip meeting will be held at 5 p.m. March 3. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Chemistry Lecture

Luis Echegoyen, chair of the Chemistry Department at Clemson University, will present "Fullerenes: Chemical and Electrochemical Transformations" at 3 p.m. Feb. 28 in Dobo Hall, Room 132.

UNCW Hosting National Ocean Sciences Bowl

UNCW will host the North Carolina regional competition of the National Ocean Sciences Bowl from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. March 1 in Dobo Hall.

Seventeen teams from high schools across the state will be tested on their knowledge of ocean sciences through a variety of quiz-bowl format questions. The competition will take place in various classrooms of Dobo Hall. Ashley High School, Cape Fear Academy, and Hoggard High School will represent New Hanover County.

Each member of the winning team will receive a laptop computer and will compete in the national competition that will be held in April in La Jolla, Calif. The National Ocean Sciences Bowl is managed by the Consortium for Oceanographic Research.

Earth Sciences Talk

Steve Harper from the Department of Geological Sciences at East Carolina University will present "The Role of Mass Wasting on the Development of Tower Karst in Krabi, Thailand" at 2 p.m. Feb. 28 in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Music Concert

The UNCW Wind Symphony and Chamber Winds ensembles, under the direction of Chris Ackerman, will perform at 8 p.m. March 3 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium box office the night of the concert. For more information, contact the Department of Music at ext. 3390.

Movie Makers Lecture

Bill Davis, art director on Dawson's Creek, will discuss the role that production design and art direction play in a film's success at 2 p.m. March 7 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Program.

Community Spirit Awards

Outwilmington.com, in conjunction with Coastal North Carolina Lesbians, Rainbow Youth Group and PFLAG of the Cape Fear, will present the inaugural Community Spirit Awards from 6 to 10 p.m. March 8 at Ibiza nightclub.

More than 30 men and women were nominated in the following categories: outstanding activist, entertainer and political and non-political ally. Businesses and organizations that demonstrated an outstanding contribution to the Wilmington LBG and allied community will also be recognized.

Tickets to the award ceremony are $10 with proceeds benefiting the UNCW Boseman-TenHuisen Scholarship. For more information, e-mail bodean@outwilmington.com.

Retirement Reception

The College of Arts and Sciences will host a retirement reception for Kay McLean from 2 to 4 p.m. Feb. 27 in the University Union Living Room.

McLean, assistant to the associate dean, is retiring after 13 years of service.

Servant of Two Masters

The University Theatre will present Servant of Two Masters Feb. 27 through March 2 in Kenan Auditorium. Shows of this bawdy comedy will be at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday with a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday.

Performed in the style of Commedia Dell'Arte, Servant of Two Masters is a comic tale of disguise and deception. Written by Carlo Goldoni in 1744, the play centers on a man, Truffaldino, who decides to work "overtime" by simultaneously and secretly serving two masters: twice the wages and twice the food and drink.

Admission is $8; $2 for UNCW students with valid ID.

University Tree Relocation Project Begins

Paving the way for new buildings and infrastructure at UNCW means the relocation of some of the university's longleaf pines and oaks.

Over the next six weeks, 137 trees will be relocated from construction zones including the University Union expansion complex and general classroom site. The cost of the project is approximately $13,000.

"Moving trees is a lot like playing Chinese checkers," said Robert Warren, landscape services superintendent. "You start with the last hole you want to fill and hopscotch your way back."

Tree relocation requires a machine called a tree spade to dig large, round holes where each tree will be replanted. The tree spade is then used to dig up the trees and transport them to their new locations.

After the trees are replanted, great care must be taken to keep them properly watered, said Warren.

"Most of the trees being moved will go to areas served by the university's irrigation system, or where there are plans for irrigation to be installed," Warren said.

The majority of the trees being moved have trunk diameters ranging from two to 12 inches. Warren said once a tree exceeds this size, it is not feasible to move.

According to Warren, trees will be relocated to areas with high-student traffic in order to soften the look of campus and make entrances more appealing.

"Our goal is to minimize the effects of construction on significant trees, to whittle away the open areas by planting more stands of trees and to avoid plantings now that will need to be cleared for later construction projects," Warren said.

The Campus Commons and Greene Track and Field will be the two main areas of campus to benefit from the tree relocation. Trees from in front of the University Union, along with those in the Leadership Grove, will be relocated throughout the commons. Several oaks and a few pine trees will be moved to the track and field complex.

Military Anthropologist to Lecture Feb. 27

Anthropologist Catherine Lutz will present "Making War at Home: War's Wages in Fayetteville, N.C." at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 27 in King Hall Auditorium.

The Case for Mars

Author and engineer Robert Zubrin will present "The Case for Mars" at 7 p.m. Feb. 27 in Cameron Hall Auditorium.

Zubrin, who is president of the Mars Society, is author of The Case for Mars: The Plan to Settle the Red Planet and Why We Must.

A tree spade prepares to transplant an oak from near the University Union to its new location.

CMS Researcher Jeffrey Wright Honored by Queen of England

Researcher Jeffrey Wright, staunch defender of public health, has been honored by the Queen of England

During winter break, Wright, the Carl B. Brown distinguished professor of marine science, received the Queen Elizabeth II Golden Jubilee Medal. Created to mark the 50th anniversary of the monarch's accession, this commemorative medal was awarded to Canadians who have made a significant contribution to the country. Wright's recognition stemmed from his work following an outbreak of shellfish poisonings in Canada.

"It's a wonderful and humbling experience to receive this honor," said Wright, who is a member of the chemistry faculty. He has an office and research laboratory at the Center for Marine Science. "For most researchers, the only reward is the personal satisfaction of knowing that they have contributed to the betterment of society."

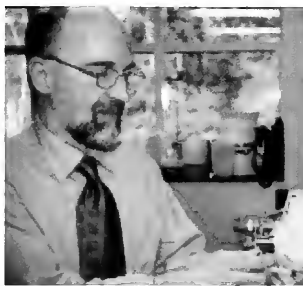

The Golden Jubilee is the second medal bestowed on Wright. In 1994, he received the Order of Canada, which is the equivalent of Great Britain's Order of the British Empire.

The reason for Wright's honors go back to late 1987 when Canada's aquaculture industry faced a sudden and unexpected crisis caused by a new toxin present in blue mussels from an area near eastern Prince Edward Island.

"Four people died, more than 100 people were hospitalized during the episode and at least a dozen individuals developed severe memory deficits," said Wright. "There was great concern throughout the government not only from the standpoint of public health, but because the situation threatened Canada's aquaculture and fishing industry."

Wright said the panic prompted people to quit buying seafood – shellfish and finfish. The Ministries of Health and Fisheries turned to the National Research Council of Canada. Wright was picked to head up the research team to determine the cause of the poisonings. Working out of his lab at the Institute of Marine Biosciences in Halifax, his team identified the cause of the outbreak in 104 hours.

"It was a truly remarkable effort," said

Researcher Jeffrey Wright has received two medals for his work - the Queen Elizabeth Golden Jubilee and the Order of Canada.

Wright. "After an intense scientific investigation, we discovered domoic acid was the toxin that was responsible for the outbreak." Domoic acid, a naturally occurring compound, was not previously known to be a marine toxin. Since the initial outbreak, the toxic event has occurred annually; however because of Wright's work, the government instituted a rigorous monitoring program that has protected public health. In addition, Wright encouraged the government to adopt a proactive position with respect to other marine toxins that could pose a danger.

Wright's expertise with marine toxins was called upon again, this time by California state authorities following the unexplained deaths of pelicans and cormorants in the Monterey Bay area in October 1991. He traced the source of the poisonings to domoic acid.

"The birds had consumed anchovies that were loaded with domoic acid," said Wright. "The culprit turned out to be a domoic acid-producing microalgae called Pseudonitzschia that was eaten by other species including anchovies which were eaten by the birds." Monitoring efforts instituted by state and federal governments later detected the toxin in razor clams and Dungeness clams along the entire Western United States coast, Wright said adding these were sporadic events and areas are regularly monitored for the presence of domoic acid.

Wright's research career began following graduation from the University of Glasgow with a bachelor's degree in chemistry with honors. Instead of becoming a high school science teacher or accepting a corporate job with Esso or Ford Motor Company, Wright decided research would provide the unpredictability and constant change that he wanted from his career.

Continuing his studies at Glasgow, Wright earned a Ph.D. in organic natural products in 1967. After stints as a postdoctoral student, teaching fellow and research associate at University College of Wales, Oxford University and Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia, Wright took a position at the National Research Council of Canada, where he specialized in looking for biologically active compounds in marine organisms.

"My research interest has always revolved around benefiting human health," Wright said. "My early work concentrated on the isolation and identification of natural products from fungi, bacteria and marine organisms with the goal of discovering leads for the drug or pharmaceutical industry."

The desire to explore producing "nutraceuticals" from marine organisms prompted Wright to join a major Canadian seafood company in its venture to establish Ocean Nutrition Canada – a new biotech company focused on the discovery and production of marine nutraceuticals. Toward the end of his 27-year tenure with the National Research Council, Wright continued to work as a governmental scientist while also serving as director of research at Ocean Nutrition Canada. He designed the organization's research labs, recruited the staff and focused its research goals.

Since joining UNCW almost three years ago, Wright continues "to look for new drug leads from the sea and investigating marine toxins."

He said the recent acquisition of a liquid chromatography mass spectrometer

see Wright Honored on Page 6

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Grindlay Receives Award for Outstanding Course Web Site

Earth sciences professor Nancy Grindlay is the inaugural recipient of the Provost's Award for Outstanding Course Web Site.

Grindlay won $1,000 for the Web site she created for Geology 150. The contest was cosponsored by the Center for Teaching Excellence and the Department of Client Services in the Information Technology Systems Division.

According to Patricia Turrisi, CTE director, the contest was held to identify and recognize faculty who were using instructional technology to improve teaching.

"Course Web pages allow faculty to develop customized resources for students," said Turrisi. "Faculty who have pages are able to post and update students' assignments and handouts anytime, and they have the ability to link to resources such as discipline-based Internet sites and online library databases. Students raised in an environment where electronic media are ubiquitous have the expectation of their classes being 'wired,' too. Rich, dynamic course Web pages can benefit our students by guiding their scholarly and academic applications of electronic resources."

Grindlay said her course page evolved out of her participation in a five-day CTE summer institute on technology in the classroom conducted in June 2000.

"The page benefits my students in a variety of ways. It provides them a structured and organized learning environment as well as information regarding assignments, grades and other online resources that is available 24 hours a day. Although maintaining and updating the page takes a lot of time, I enjoy the creative process of its design," said Grindlay.

Provost Paul Hosier checks out the winning course page with author Nancy Grindlay (center) and Patty Turrisi, CTE director.

For faculty interested in learning how to incorporate multimedia and teaching, Turrisi said CTE and client services offer workshop and training opportunities.

"CTE introduces innovative teaching and learning methods specific to instructional technology use," Turrisi said. "Client services offers skill-building training in computer software and hardware used to create multimedia applications."

To be eligible for the award, submissions must have included course and instructor information, a syllabus or calendar, assignments and two of four types of media enhancements such as graphics, audio, video or a PowerPoint slideshow. Faculty selected winners by a campus-wide electronic vote.

In addition to the Provost's award, CTE Director's Choice prizes of $100 went to David Berman for his course page for Computer Science 221, Patricia Comeaux for Communication Studies 428, Jeff Ertzberger for Education 303, Mark Imperial for Political Science 209, Richard Olsen, for Communication Studies 200, Antonio Puente for Psychology 405, Colleen Reilly for English 204, Richard Veit for English 321 and John Whitehead for Economics 324. Links for these pages can be accessed at <http://cte.uncw.edu>.

Michael Bradley, SBTDC, received $55,777 from the U. S. Small Business Administration for 2003 program funding.

Carmelo Tomas, biological sciences and CMS, received $25,000 from Maryland Coastal Bays Program for the project "Raphidophate Blooms and Their Toxins from Maryland Coastal Bays."

Mike Perko, health and applied human sciences, was the featured speaker at the conference "Teens Bulking Up and Slimming Down: What Dietary Supplements Don't Reveal." The conference, held in Kansas City, was sponsored by the Metropolitan Prevention Coalition and the NCAA.

Ronald Sizemore, biological sciences, received $15,000 from the National Ocean Science Bowl to fund a high school science competition related to oceanography.

William Cooper, chemistry and CMS, received $150,000 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Aquatic Nuisance Species Control and Mitigation: Ozone Treatment of Ballast Water."

Ed Wageneller, art and theatre, is the "trucker" seen in a commercial for Blue Cross and Blue Shield that is airing statewide.

Richard Veit, English, had a statement on academic freedom reprinted in the January/February issue of Academe, published by the American Association of University Professors. Veit, who is also chair of the UNC Faculty Assembly, delivered the statement to the Educational Policies Committee of the UNC Board of Governors during its deliberations on legislative attempts to block an assigned reading on the Qur'an at UNC Chapel Hill.

Stephen Kinsey, biological sciences, participated in Project Steve sponsored by the National Center for Science Education (NCSE). Kinsey, along with more than 200 scientists named Steve, signed a statement supporting the teaching of evolution. The statement was unveiled at the annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Denver. NCSE is a nonprofit organization that defends teaching evolution in public schools. Project Steve was named in honor of Stephen Jay Gould, a Harvard zoologist and geologist who supported evolution education and NCSE.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Free Tax Assistance

The Department of Accountancy and Business Law is offering free assistance to faculty, staff and students to fill out income tax forms through its Volunteer Income Tax Assistance site. Volunteers are IRS-certified to complete 1040EZ and 1040A forms as well as the state's NC D-400.

The site, located in Cameron Hall, Room 230, will observe the following schedule through April 14:

- 10 a.m. to noon Mondays
- 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesdays
- 1 to 5 p.m. Fridays

For more information, contact Gloria Sasser at ext. 3509 or e-mail Cory Barwick at cb5085@uncw.edu.

Spring Soccer School

UNCW will host a spring soccer school March 10-14 for children ages five to 14. Classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The cost is $195 and includes tuition, soccer school T-shirt and lunch.

Children of UNCW faculty and staff will receive a $25 discount. For more information, e-mail Aidan Heaney or Paul Cairney at heaneya or cairney, respectively.

Wright Honored continued from Page 4

(LCMS) and nuclear magnetic resonance (NMR) spectrometer will aid his research.

"The LCMS is useful to determine molecular weight, and the NMR spectrometer is essential to determine a molecule's structure," said Wright. "I've identified more than 250 compounds throughout my career using these analytical instruments. Having these units at CMS puts UNCW on a different research level."

Wright said CMS has the potential to be a major player in marine research.

"I've observed that a lot of endeavors operate on a five-year cycle," said Wright. "This facility is in its third year, and when you look around you see a lot of activity. There's a lot of results, and the momentum is building."

Palliative Care Conference

The Lower Cape Fear Hospice is sponsoring the conference "Reflections on Palliative Care: A Vision for the Future" March 13 and 14 at the Country Club of Landfall. Ira Byock, advocate for improved end-of-life care and director of the Palliative Care Service in Missoula, Mont., will be the keynote speaker.

Conference registration is $150. For more information, call 815-3961. UNCW's School of Nursing, Department of Social Work and Gerontology Program are among the conference co-sponsors.

Seahawk Club Fund-raiser

The Seahawk Club is holding its third annual Big Boat Cruise and Floating Auction May 31 aboard the Henrietta III. The event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. at the Wilmington Hilton Riverside followed by a cruise featuring food, music and an auction. Tickets are $50, and proceeds benefit scholarships for student-athletes. For more information, call ext. 7737.

Randall Library Hosting Reception for Atlantis Artists

Randall Library will host a reception honoring artists whose work was selected for the 2003 edition of Atlantis, the UNCW student literary art magazine. The event will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. Feb. 27 at the library's first-floor art wall.

Women's History Month continued from Page 1

a New Democracy. She is also president of VERB, a Canadian TV channel developed to engage young people about issues of global diversity. In her talk, Manji will address ways that oppression can be used as a tool of individual and community empowerment rather than victimization.

Terrill Petri, founder of Women Vision International, will lecture on "Changing the World One Woman at a Time" at 7:30 p.m. March 25 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. Women Vision International is a nonprofit organization that provides microloans and training for women in developing countries.

The UNCW student organization Women in Leadership will host the panel discussion "Women in Activism" at 7:30 p.m. March 31 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. Featured panelist will be Dawn Peebles, cofounder of Objective: Collective, a nonprofit group based in Chapel Hill that promotes collective living. The UNCW English Department is sponsoring Peebles' visit.

Women in Leadership is a mentoring program sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service. The program matches female students with female mentors from among the UNCW faculty and staff and the Wilmington community. The program will sponsor a day of volunteerism at locations in the greater Wilmington community from 9 a.m. to noon March 22.

Teachers Legacy Hall continued from Page 1

Resource Center. Plans for the Legacy Hall include dynamic, museum-quality displays pertaining to the teaching profession that will serve as symbols of excellence. Future N.C. Teachers of the Year and Principals of the Year will be recognized annually, and a Teachers Legacy Book will be created to collect and display inspirational messages from teachers and citizens of today for educational leaders of tomorrow.

Jay Robinson, former superintendent of Cabarrus County and Charlotte-Mecklenburg County Schools and chair of the N.C. State Board of Education, was the inaugural fund-raising chair for the Legacy Hall at the time of his death.

"Jay believed in the important and powerful message that the Legacy Hall could convey to the students and citizens of the state," said Barlow. "He believed it would inspire students to reach new heights as teachers while encouraging those already in the field to continue the important work of educating our children."

HRAC Meeting

The Chancellor's Human Relations Advisory Committee will meet at noon March 3 in the Warwick Center, Room 104.

The committee is charged with assessing the level of awareness, understanding and tolerance for the differences among people and determining how the university can promote a better understanding of cultural and ethnic differences in university programs and activities. The committee also reviews and recommends to the chancellor educational programming and policies deemed necessary to increase positive human relations efforts on campus.

Direct questions, suggestions or comments to Linda MacRae, HRAC chair, at ext. 7435.

Sponsored Programs Events

The Office of Sponsored Programs will host the video conference "Subaward and Subcontracts" from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. March 4 in Randall Library, Room 2044, and will conduct the seminar "Funding Opportunities: InfoEd, COS, Foundation Directory" from 10 to 11 a.m. March 5 in Hoggard Hall, Room 226.

To register for either program, e-mail Michelle Starks at starksm.

Purchase Card

Departments or offices interested in obtaining information about a UNCW Visa purchasing card or scheduling a review of policies and procedures regarding the use of the card should contact Rhonda Diggs at ext. 3849.

Fire Drills Planned

The Environmental Health and Safety Department will conduct fire exit drills March 10-14. Departments or offices that have special needs during this period should contact Danny Edens at ext. 4287.

Recycling Reminder

Place phone books, magazines, catalogs and student handbooks next to recycle bins for collection. A recycling section for all batteries was added to the recycling shed located on L Street.

Central Stores Stocking New Items

Central stores is now stocking two new colors of bond paper: lilac and cherry. It has also added Smart Labels to its inventory. Employees who have suggestions of items to stock should contact George Syles at ext. 3097 or e-mail sylesg.

Recreation Center Spring Break Schedule

The Student Recreation Center will observe the following schedule during spring break:

March 8 and 9	closed
March 10-14	10 a.m. to 6 p.m.
March 15	closed
March 16	4 to 10 p.m.

Recreational swim will be offered from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. March 7 and 10-14. The climbing wall will be closed March 7-15.

Toner Cartridges

Don't throw away those empty ink jet toner or laser cartridges. Recycle them through central stores. To recycle, place cartridges next to recycle bins or call ext. 3180.

SEACopy on the Way

Printing services is preparing to launch SEACopy (speedy, electronic access copying), a state-of-the-art, digital technology that will allow faculty and staff to print classroom materials, memos, fliers, posters and more without leaving the office. SEACopy is a Web-based process that will enable printing services to complete jobs quicker and deliver them to the client's door. The digital format will enable printing services to store projects for reprints. More details will be released in future issues of the Campus Communique.

Pack the Gym Night

The Women's Basketball Program is celebrating "Pack the Gym Night" for the March 6 game against Old Dominion University by offering free admission to faculty, staff and students with valid ID as well as children ages 14 and younger.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23134 Campus Activities Coordinator	March 7
23141 Scheduler	Feb. 28
23142 Assistant to the Director, Human Resources	Feb. 28
23143 General Utility Worker	Feb. 28
23144 Printing Services Mgr.	March 14
23145 Assistant Director of Scholarships	March 7
23146 Nutrient Research Lab Manager	March 7
23147 Office Assistant IV	March 7
23148 Spray/Irrigation Specialist	March 7
23149 Grounds Worker	March 7
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

TIAA-CREF Representative

Al Gonzalez, a representative with TIAA-CREF, will be available for consultations from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 7 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. Employees interested in scheduling a one-on-one counseling session to discuss their TIAA-CREF account or to discuss starting a 403(b) tax-deferred annuity should call 800-842-2003, ext. 3522 to schedule an appointment. Additional information is available on the Web at www.tiaa-cref.org/moc.

Reimbursement Deadline

March 31 is the deadline to submit all 2002 out-of-pocket expenses for health care and dependent day care spending accounts to Aon Consulting. Any money not claimed by March 31 will be forfeited. Contact ext. 3160 or ext. 3713 for claim forms.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 32 March 6, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Irish Fiddler Eileen Ivers to Perform in Kenan Auditorium March 18

Eileen Ivers, star of the Irish fiddle, will perform at 8 p.m. March 18 in Kenan Auditorium. Backed by her band, Immigrant Soul, Ivers is recognized for creating programs that showcase a unique Irish-fusion sound that draws from a wide range of musical styles while remaining true to Celtic traditions. The performance is the sixth of UNCW's eight-part Arts in Action series.

From her star musical turn in Riverdance to her 30-plus medals in the All-Ireland Championships, Ivers has established herself as the world's pre-eminent exponent of the Irish fiddle. She has performed with such diverse artists and ensembles as Luka Bloom, Paula Cole, Patti Smith, the Chieftans, the Hothouse Flowers, the Boston Pops Orchestra and the London Symphony Orchestra.

Born in an Irish community in the Bronx, N.Y., Ivers began to play the fiddle at age eight and studied with Limerick-born fiddler Martin Mulvihill. Along with her 30 medals in the All-Ireland Championships, Ivers won seven All-Ireland fiddle titles and an eighth on tenor banjo, making her the most-honored competitor ever in the All-Ireland Championships. She graduated with honors from Jona College.

Ivers is a founding member of the all-woman folk group Cherish the Ladies and has toured with the group throughout Europe, the United States, Russia, the Far East, Mexico and the Caribbean. Her recording credits include appearances on more than 75 contemporary and traditional albums and numerous movie scores. In 1999, Ivers released the solo recording Crossing the Bridge. The CD blends her Irish-based fusion style with the sounds of celebrated world-music performers such as John Doyle and Seamus Egan of Solás, Bakithi Kumalo (heard on Paul Simon's Graceland) and jazz artists Eddie Gomez and Randy Brecker. Ivers also performed on Back to Titanic, which features original film music not included on the first Titanic album, as well as new versions of selections from James Horner's Oscar-winning score.

Tickets are $18; $12 for UNCW faculty, staff and senior citizens; and $6 for UNCW students with valid ID and children 12 and under. Call the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500. For more information, go to the Web site www.uncw.edu/stuaff/arts.

Fiddler Eileen Ivers

Yale University Literary Scholar to Lecture

Sara Suleri Goodyear, professor of English at Yale University, will present "Constructing Postcolonial Memory: Gender's Parting of Ways" at 3:30 p.m. March 20 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow this free, public presentation.

Goodyear's literary expertise includes Romantic and Victorian poetry as well as the works of Edmund Burke. She also studies postcolonial literatures and theory, contemporary criticism and literature and law. She is the author of Meatless Days and The Rhetoric of English India.

Goodyear's presentation will center on the problem between postcolonial theory and the location of memory. The Department of English and Buckner Lecture Series is sponsoring this talk. The Buckner Series was established by Charles F. Green III to bring distinguished presenters to UNCW; it is named in honor of his friend, Katherine K. Buckner.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Phi Kappa Phi

The UNCW chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, the interdisciplinary junior-senior honor society, will hold its annual induction ceremony at 4 p.m. April 10 in King Hall Auditorium. Faculty or staff who are members of Phi Kappa Phi and who are interested in being on the chapter mailing list should e-mail Diane Levy, chapter president, at levyd.

Championship Bus Trip

The Seahawk sports marketing office is taking prepaid reservations for bus trips to the Colonial Athletic Association men's and women's basketball championship games. The cost is $35 per person, per trip and includes transportation and game ticket. Payment is by cash or check only.

If the men advance to the finals, the bus will depart at 11 a.m. March 10 from Trask Coliseum. For the women, the bus will depart at 8:30 a.m. March 15. For more information, call ext. 3232.

Battle of the Bands

The UNCW chapter of Habitat for Humanity will sponsor a "Battle of the Bands" at 9 p.m. March 21 at Charley Brownz Lounge, 21 South Front Street. Charlotte-based band Psyche and Casting Shadow from Raleigh have entered the contest along with several Wilmington bands. Cover charge is a $5 donation at the door.

Proceeds from this event will benefit the chapter's efforts to raise $50,000 to build a home for an impoverished family. The group anticipates the building project to begin in the fall.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Glynn Dennis Jr., bioinformatics manager at the Laboratory of Immunopathogenesis and Bioinformatics Science Applications International Corporation, will present "Rapid Discovery of Biological Themes in Genome-scale Datasets" at 2 p.m. March 7 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Public Service Classes

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies is sponsoring the classes listed below. To register for classes, call ext. 3195.

- "Effective Public Presentations" with Beth Becka and David Weber, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. March 20 and 27. The cost is $84. Registration is by March 12.
- "Fort Fisher: Gibraltar of the Confederacy" with Chris Fonvielle, 7 to 8:30 p.m., Mondays, April 7-28. The cost is $6. Registration is by March 31.

- "Genealogy 101" with Joseph Sheppard, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Wednesdays, March 19 through May 7. The cost is $84. Registration is by March 11.

- "The Best and Brightest U.S. Presidents" with Chris Fonvielle, Lee Johnston and Robert Toplin, 7 to 8:30 p.m., Wednesdays, March 19 through April 16. The cost is $69. Registration is due by March 14.

Women's Survey

Female employees are invited to complete a survey to determine how they spend their time. Designed by Deborah Brunson, communication studies, and Michelle Howard-Vital, public service and continuing studies, the survey is on the Web at https://appserv01.uncw.edu/oir/Work\_Analysis\_Survey/index.cfm.

The deadline to respond is March 15. Responses will be confidential. For more information, call ext. 3864 or ext. 4138.

Candidate Seminars

Ute Hentschel from the Institute of Molecular Infectious Disease at the University of Wurzburg, Germany, will present "Marine Sponges as Microbiological Fermenters" at 2 p.m. March 6 and "The Three Domains of Life – Archaea, Eubacteria and Eukaryota: History, Evidence and Controversy" at 3 p.m. March 7. Both presentations will be in Dobo Hall, Room 103. Hentschel is a candidate for the position of marine microbiologist.

Relay for Life Benefit

Applebee's will host "Dine to Donate," a fund-raiser to benefit American Cancer Society Relay for Life. On March 13 and 27 and April 10 and 24, the restaurant will donate 15 percent of patrons' checks who present an Applebee's Relay for Life coupon. To obtain a coupon, contact Annie Aldrich at ext. 3099, Lynn Goodspeed at ext. 3030, Helen Rice at ext. 3616, Judy Siko at ext. 4283 or Laura Zefiretto at ext. 3888.

CLES Seeks Applicants

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is accepting applications for the 2003-04 academic year. Student staff are needed to coordinate center programs such as Emerge, Alternative Break Service Trips, Women in Leadership, Graduation Pledge, Leadership UNCW as well as volunteer events and conferences.

Applicants should be strong academic students who are highly motivated, self-directed and passionate about issues of social justice and civic engagement. Faculty and staff should direct interested students to the center, located in the University Union, Room 212. For more information, contact Shelly Hoover or Becky Long at ext. 3877. The application deadline is April 2.

High Performance Homes

The one-day conference "Building High Performance Homes: 21st Century Techniques That Add Value for Builders, Realtors and Homeowners" will be held from 8 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. March 19 at UNCW's Executive Development Center. Featured speakers include Woody Hall, director of the university's Center for Business and Economic Services; James Leutze, UNCW chancellor; Frank Vigil, senior building science specialist for Advanced Energy; and Andy Yakim, energy services supervisor for Greenville Utilities.

The cost is $175 and includes lunch. The registration deadline is March 14.

Fire Drills Planned

The Environmental Health and Safety Department will conduct fire exit drills March 10-14.

When the fire alarm sounds, all occupants must exit the building as quickly as possible. Do not re-enter the facility until instructed.

Direct questions to Danny Edens at ext. 4287.

Seahawk Club Fund-raiser

The Seahawk Club is holding its third annual Big Boat Cruise and Floating Auction May 31 aboard the Henrietta III. The event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. at the Wilmington Hilton Riverside followed by a cruise featuring food, music and an auction. Tickets are $50, and proceeds benefit scholarships for student-athletes. For more information, call ext. 7737.

Movie Makers Lecture

Bill Davis, art director on Dawson's Creek, will discuss the role that production design and art direction play in a film's success at 2 p.m. March 7 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Program.

UNCW Showcases Contributions to the State

Chancellor James R. Leutze and the university's Board of Visitors hosted a reception for legislators and other guests at the N.C. Museum of Natural Sciences Feb. 18.

More than 200 guests, including 69 state representatives and 30 state senators, learned how the university is benefiting the state as they dined on summer flounder, which was spawned and raised at UNCW's mariculture facility.

Topics discussed included how UNCW is helping the pharmaceutical industry in Wilmington. In partnership with aaiPharma, UNCW is offering a Master of Science in chemistry to about 20 aaiPharma employees each year – at their work site and paid for by aaiPharma.

The aaiPharma Graduate Fellows Program allows these students easy access to courses but also allows them to do their research at their work place, conducting research on projects that are important to the company. Leutze commented that aaiPharma is pleased with the program because it helps them keep bright employees and attract new employees to North Carolina.

Leutze also updated members of the General Assembly on their 1995 capital appropriation of $17.5 million which funded the Center for Marine Science.

"We moved into that facility in 2000," Leutze said. "Since then, it has provided a venue for extensive collaboration with other universities as well as state and federal agencies. Now this program brings in $12 million in federal and state grants to conduct marine science research and monitor the health of our ocean and coastal waters. So your $17.5 million investment is yielding $12 million in grants per year plus significant scientific discoveries and educational contributions. I call that a pretty good return on investment."

Attendees also learned how the Watson School of Education is working to relieve the state's critical teacher shortage, how the School of Nursing is addressing the state's critical shortage of nurses and is delivering health care to the underserved rural areas of Brunswick and Columbus counties, and how CMS is having an impact on the health of North Carolina's waters and how it has the capability to promote biotechnology public/private partnerships.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Jim Howell, SBTDC, was honored by the Domestic Violence Shelter and Services for his work with the Vintage Values retail stores.

Patricia Kelley, earth sciences, was one of four U.S. participants in the international symposium "Mesozoic-Cenozoic Bioevents: Possible Links to Impacts and Other Causes" held in Berlin. She co-authored the paper "Paleoecological Patterns in Molluscan Extinctions and Recoveries: Comparison of the Cretaceous-Tertiary and Eocene-Oligocene Extinctions in North America."

Keri Franklin, business affairs, presented "The Blackboard Transaction System: Unix Security" at the national Blackboard Users Conference Feb. 26. She also participated in an invitation-only focus group to provide feedback on risk management for mission-critical systems.

Len Lecci, psychology, and graduate students Jessica Snowden and Dustin Morris had the paper "Using Social Science Research to Inform and Evaluate the Contributions of Trial Consultants in the Voir Dire" accepted for publication in the Journal of Forensic Psychology Practice.

Milan Dluhy, political science, was appointed to the mayor's task force for convention center and economic development initiatives for the city of Wilmington.

Mike Mallin, Matt McIver, Heather CoVan, Jenny Johnson, Doug Parsons, Jay Souza and David Wells, CMS and biological sciences, presented "Enhancement of Biological Production in the Cape Fear River Plume" at the meeting of the American Fisheries Society, Southern Division, in Wilmington.

Stephen Harper, management and marketing, had his latest book The Forward-Focused Organization placed under contract for translation into Chinese.

Mike Perko, health and applied human sciences, is writing a column for the newsletter distributed by the Wellness Councils of America (WELCOA). The newsletter, which has a monthly circulation of more than three million, includes such authors as Richard Collins, the "cooking cardiologist" who appears regularly on NBC, and Eduard Balbona, personal physician to selected Supreme Court justices and members of Congress. Perko is also senior copy editor for Absolute Advantage, a monthly wellness magazine published by WELCOA.

Position Announcement

The Office of the Provost is accepting applications for the position of assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs. The job responsibilities are in the areas of academic programs, academic policies and faculty development in addition to overseeing the Honors Scholars Program and addressing student issues for academic affairs.

Criteria include a general understanding of academic programming and curricula issues, a demonstrated interest in faculty development issues, an understanding of the relationship between financial resources and programs and demonstrated involvement with academic issues and concerns.

Administrative experience is helpful, but not required. The preferred start date is July 1. Applicants should send a vita and a brief statement of their philosophy of higher education administration, no longer than one page, to Paul Hosier, interim provost, by April 14.

Vendor Changes

Effective March 1, Office Depot and Forms and Supply are no longer on state contract. Corporate Express, a UNCW preferred vendor, continues on state contract. Departments and offices can use the university purchasing card on its Web site www.eway.com. To obtain a password, contact Andrew Fulcher at 919/673-4372.

The minimum contract order is $100, purchases under this amount are allowable from the vendor of choice. Corporate Express and Staples will not charge freight even on orders under $100. The entire state term contract is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/purchasing/. Direct questions to John Matney at ext. 7058.

Reimbursement Deadline

March 31 is the deadline to submit all 2002 out-of-pocket expenses for health care and dependent day care spending accounts to Aon Consulting. Any money not claimed by March 31 will be forfeited. Contact ext. 3160 or ext. 3713 for claim forms.

Randall Library Spring Break Schedule

Randall Library will observe the following schedule during spring break:

March 8	10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
March 9	closed
March 10-13	8 a.m. to 8 p.m.
March 14	8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Regular schedule resumes March 15.

Union/Warwick Spring Break Schedule

The University Union and Warwick Center will observe the following schedule during spring break:

March 7	7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
March 8 and 9	closed
March 10-14	7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
March 15	closed
March 16	5 to 11 p.m.

IACUC Protocols

The UNCW Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee will meet at 3 p.m. March 13 in Alderman Hall, Room 215, to review protocols that involve vertebrate animals. Faculty, staff and students planning research or teaching classes that use animals must submit signed protocols for new or continuing projects to the Office of Sponsored Programs (OSP) by March 12. Electronic protocols and their accompanying signed originals not received by the deadline date will not be reviewed at this meeting.

The MS Word protocol form is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/forms.htm. E-mail completed forms as attachments to M. J. Carver at carvernj. Send a signed copy via campus mail to OSP. Direct questions to ext. 3810.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Kristin Asher, alumni relations; Stephanie Herring, university police; Bonnie Mattis and Donna Rusch, nursing; Kelly Moore, admissions; Susan Mort, financial systems; Ashley Skeen, biological sciences/CMS; and Christopher Wrede, registrar's office.

University Bookstore Spring Break Hours

The bookstore will be open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 10-14.

Policy/Procedure Change

The budget office has assumed the responsibility for updating and maintaining the university's policies and procedures manual as well as administrative forms. To request changes to existing policies, procedures or administrative forms or establish new ones, e-mail Robert Russell at russellrs.

Revision to PSD 1.10

The policy PSD 1.10 Reporting and Investigating Misuse or Theft of University Property has been revised to include additional reporting requirements. To review the changes, go to the Web site www.uncwil.edu/sp/admproc/PSD110.htm.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23134 Campus Activities Coordinator	March 7
23144 Printing Services Mgr.	March 14
23145 Assistant Director of Scholarships	March 7
23146 Nutrient Research Lab Manager	March 7
23147 Office Assistant IV	March 7
23148 Spray/Irrigation Spec.	March 7
23149 Grounds Worker	March 7
23150 Police Officer I	March 14
23151 Accounting Clerk IV	March 14

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Down Times Scheduled

The ITSD Departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved April 26-27, July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance.

Information is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 33 March 13, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNC Wilmington Receives More Than $2.4 Million in Federal Funds

UNC Wilmington will receive more than $2.4 million in federal funding to benefit coastal ocean and mariculture research, to provide healthcare to underserved rural areas and to launch a pilot program on natural disaster mitigation. The appropriations, assisted by the efforts of Rep. Mike McIntyre (D-NC, 7th District) and Sen. John Edwards, are part of the 2003 budget bill. Last year, UNCW received $1.6 million in federal funding.

UNCW's Coastal Ocean Research and Monitoring Program, which began in 1999, will receive $1.2 million from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. The program is responsible for the measurement and study of the physical, biological, chemical, geological and meteorological properties of the North and South Carolina coasts. Some 14 UNCW marine scientists along with three from NC State University and two from the University of South Carolina actively work with this program housed at the Center for Marine Science.

"This assistance will allow UNCW's program to expand to parts of our coast not now being studied and to provide real-time monitoring critical to our state," said Edwards. "Only by the diligent long-term monitoring of our coasts can we assure public safety and a healthy coastal environment."

Coastal ocean ecosystems within the southeast are under unprecedented stresses, said Marvin Moss, chief scientist of the program. He said the program's continued efforts would benefit the public by monitoring coastal waters for pollution and other factors that may affect the general health of the coastal regions including fisheries.

"This program was one of the first, and we anticipate it being part of a national coastal observing system recently proposed by the federal government," said Moss.

UNCW's mariculture program, now in its fifth year, will receive $360,000 from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The program researches the growth rate and survivability of marine species such as summer and Southern flounder and black seabass.

"We appreciate Congressman McIntyre's efforts to continue funding for our mariculture program," said Robert Wicklund, UNCW's director of federal programs. "Wild stocks of flounder and seabass are on the decline. Providing high quality seafood to the

see Federal Funding on page 4

Manji to Speak for Women's History Month

Self-proclaimed "queer activist" Irshad Manji will present "Taking Opportunity from Oppression" at 7:30 p.m. March 18 in Cameron Hall Auditorium. This free, public event is part of the university's Women's History Month celebration.

Manji is author of An Open Letter to Muslims Worldwide (2003) and Risking Utopia: On the Edge of a New Democracy (1997). She is also president of VERB, a Canadian TV channel developed to engage young people in issues of global diversity. In her talk, Manji will address ways that oppression can be used as a tool of individual and community empowerment rather than victimization.

Born in East Africa, Manji studied at the University of British Columbia and became the first humanities student to win the Governor General's Gold Medal, which is given to the top graduate. Based in Toronto, Canada, Manji leads gay and lesbian pride parades, Islamic reform initiatives, Jewish discussions and character education for young people.

In An Open Letter to Muslims Worldwide, Manji explores why and how the Muslim world can move beyond anti-Semitism to embrace diversity. Risking Utopia: On the Edge of a New Democracy chronicles how young people are putting "hip" back into "citizenship." This work has inspired school courses and book clubs as far away as Hong Kong.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mark Your Calendar to Meet Chancellor-elect

It is anticipated that the UNC Board of Governors will name a chancellor-elect for UNCW at its March 21 meeting. The university community is invited to meet the chancellor-elect at a forum and reception from 4:30-6:30 p.m. March 21 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Conversation with Kafka

The short film Conversation with Kafka will premiere at 7 p.m. March 18 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Adapted from Franz Kafka's first short story, Conversation with a Supplicant, the film is the story of a conflicted young writer and his artistic obsessions with many mistresses.

Directed by Renee Vincent, art and theatre, the film was shot on location in Prague, Czech Republic, as well as Wilmington. Former UNCW student Marie Caudell wrote the script from her own German translation of Kafka's story. Joe Dunton & Company International Inc. provided the camera equipment at a discounted price.

The premiere is free and open to the public.

Leadership Grove

A ceremony honoring leaders for whom trees have been purchased for inclusion in the Leadership Grove will be held at 3 p.m. May 1 on the University Commons.

Individuals interested in honoring a student, faculty or staff member or someone from the community for their leadership on behalf of the university have until April 18 to contribute; donations for the grove are $200. Send contributions to advancement services, Alderman Hall, Room 104. Indicate the donation is for the Leadership Grove. A short biography about the honoree will be needed for the rededication ceremony.

For more information, contact Shelly Hoover at ext. 3877. The leadership grove is sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service and the campus arboretum.

Shared Leave

John Sawyer, printing services, needs shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Local Focus

Local Focus, an annual event sponsored by the Film Studies Program, will screen short films by local and regional artists as the kick off event for the Cucalorus Film Festival. The showings will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. March 19 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, and will include:

- Tejuola Turner: Documentary of a North Carolina Artist, directed by John Goist.
- Easily Amused: One Take Wonders, directed by Matt Mizell.
- Claude Howell: His Life, His Art, His World, directed by Neal Humphrey.
- Another Day at the Office, directed by Kellista Rae Sidwell.

Yale Scholar to Lecture

Sara Suleri Goodyear, professor of English at Yale University, will present "Constructing Postcolonial Memory: Gender's Parting of Ways" at 3:30 p.m. March 20 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium. A reception and book signing will follow this free, public presentation.

Goodyear's talk will center on the problem between postcolonial theory and the location of memory. The Department of English and Buckner Lecture Series is sponsoring this presentation.

Goodyear

Learn to Swim

UNCW's Learn to Swim program for children ages three to 12 will be held May 19-30, June 2-13 and 16-27 and July 7-18. Faculty and staff can register their children March 25-28 at the Trask Coliseum ticket office. The cost is $90 per child. For more information, call ext. 7536.

Atlantis Premiere

Randall Library will host the premiere of the 2003 edition of Atlantis, the student literary art journal, at 6 p.m. March 27 in Java City. Student authors will read from their works followed by an awards presentation and reception.

Movies That Matter

The English Department is hosting "Movies That Matter," a series comprised of three films based on plays or works of fiction that deal with ethical ideas. Screenings, which are free and open to the public, will be held at 7 p.m. March 26 and April 2 and 7. The film schedule is listed below.

March 26 - A Doll's House

In this film version of Henrik Ibsen's play, Claire Bloom stars as Nora, a sweet, lively and seemingly frivolous woman with a destructive secret. Anthony Hopkins stars as Torvald, her puritanical husband who loves her but does not take her seriously. A Doll's House, first presented in 1879, is one of Ibsen's best-known and most controversial works. It has become a classic expression of women's rights.

Janet Ellerby will introduce this film, which will be shown in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café.

April 2 - In the Bedroom

Based on the short story Killings by André Dubus, In the Bedroom is a film of love and revenge. Starring Marisa Tomei, Sissy Spacek and Tom Wilkinson, this suspenseful and disturbing movie should spark a debate about the morality of "a just revenge."

John Clifford will introduce the film, which will be shown in the Warwick Center, Ballroom 1.

April 7 - M. Butterfly

Chinese-American playwright David Henry Hwang adapted his Tony Award-winning play for this film. The movie challenges assumptions about gender and culture as it deals with how perceptions in relationships, both personal and political, may be colored by preconceived notions and hidden agendas.

Joyce Hollingsworth will introduce this film, which will be shown in the Warwick Center, Ballroom 1.

Mental Health Expert, Advocate Kay Redfield Jamison to Lecture March 24

Kay Redfield Jamison, an international authority and researcher on mental illness, will speak at 7 p.m. March 24 in Kenan Auditorium.

In 1995 Jamison, a professor of psychiatry at John Hopkins University, shocked her colleagues by going public with her own history of mental illness in a Washington Post article and subsequent book An Unquiet Mind. The book became a New York Times best seller and was cited by The Boston Globe, Entertainment Weekly and Seattle Post Intelligencer as one of the best of the year.

Since the publication of An Unquiet Mind, Jamison has become a spokesperson for millions of depression sufferers. She is recognized for dealing with the clinical and personal realities of depression in a manner that encourages dialogue, empathy and hope.

With her latest book Night Falls Fast: Understanding Suicide, Jamison addresses the subject of suicide.

"I have become increasingly optimistic about the possibilities of suicide prevention but deeply frustrated by the lack of public and professional awareness of the terrible toll it takes," said Jamison. "Suicide is the third leading cause of death in 19 to 24 year olds and globally kills over one million people a year."

Jamison completed her undergraduate and graduate work at the University of California, Los Angeles, where she was a National Science Foundation Research Fellow and a John F. Kennedy Scholar. She was also named UCLA Graduate Woman of the Year.

Following graduation, Jamison served as director of the UCLA Affective Disorders Clinic and was selected as one of five individuals for the PBS-TV series Great Minds of Medicine. She has published articles in numerous scientific journals and has authored or co-authored five books including a medical textbook on manic-depression, chosen in 1990 as the most outstanding book in biomedical sciences by the American Association of Publishers.

Tickets to Jamison's lecture are $6; free for UNCW students, faculty and staff. Contact the Kenan Auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Jamison

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

James Bailey, sociology and criminal justice, presented "Experimental .38 Caliber Pellet for Use in Environments Requiring Limited Penetration" at the 55th American Academy of Forensic Sciences (AAFS) conference in Chicago. The paper included research conducted with Mohammad Ilyas, a math instructor at Cape Fear Community College. An abstract of the paper was published in the American Academy of Forensic Sciences. Bailey, who moderated a session for the general section of the conference and served on the program committee, was selected for the 2003 AAFS General Section Achievement Award.

Maurice Martinez, specialty studies, was featured in the national PBS documentary All on a Mardi Gras Day. The film, which is about the cultural expressions of African-Americans during the events of carnival, included footage from Martinez's 1976 film The Black Indians of New Orleans.

Robert Konopaske, management and marketing, had the paper "B. Thomas Golisano: An Entrepreneur Consistently Balancing Growth and Shareholder Return" accepted for publication in the Journal of Applied Management and Entrepreneurship. Chet Robie of Wilfrid Laurier University was co-author.

Gur Saran Adhar, computer science, presented the research "Optimal Interval Routing in K-Caterpillars and Maximal Outer Planar Networks" and chaired a session at the 2003 International Conference on Parallel Computing and Distributed Networks. Approximately 215 researchers from 30 countries attended the conference in Innsbruck, Austria. Adhar's research was funded by a 2002 summer research initiative from the College of Arts and Sciences. Partial funding for travel was provided by a grant from the Office of International Programs.

Randall Hanson, accountancy and business law, had the feature article "Bankruptcy Law for Accountants" published in National Public Accountant. James Smith from the University of San Diego was co-author.

Tom MacLennan, English, gave a lecture and led a discussion on Studs Terkel's Working at the Perry Library in Henderson as part of the N.C. Humanities Council's "Let's Talk About It" program.

Center Stage Buffet

The Center Stage lunch buffet, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menu listed below. The cost for this all-you-care-to-eat buffet is $5.50.

Tuesday – Sliced roast turkey with dressing and cranberry sauce, manicotti, steamed carrots, succotash, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Seahawk Club Fund-raiser

The Seahawk Club is holding its third annual Big Boat Cruise and Floating Auction May 31 aboard the Henrietta III. The event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. at the Wilmington Hilton Riverside. Tickets are $50, and proceeds benefit scholarships for student-athletes. For more information, call ext. 7737.

Relay for Life Benefit

Applebee's will host "Dine to Donate," a fund-raiser to benefit American Cancer Society Relay for Life. On March 27 and April 10 and 24, the restaurant will donate 15 percent of patrons' checks who present an Applebee's Relay for Life coupon. To obtain a coupon, contact Annie Aldrich at ext. 3099, Lynn Goodspeed at ext. 3030, Helen Rice at ext. 3616, Judy Siko at ext. 4283 or Laura Zefiretto at ext. 3888.

Collaborative Computing Extends to Grad Students

The conversion of faculty and staff to the Collaborative Computing Environment based on Outlook/Exchange is virtually complete. The Information Technology Systems Division will begin to convert students to the Exchange environment. Accounts for graduate students will be created March 13. Undergraduate student accounts will be created in July and August. This conversion will provide students with additional e-mail disk space, server-based virus protection, access to a university-wide e-mail address list as well as calendar and task features.

Mattson Joins OSP

Tiffany Mattson joins the Office of Sponsored Programs as regulatory compliance officer. She will handle all human and animal compliance issues as well as matters related to conflicts of interest and responsible conduct of research. Prior to joining UNCW, Mattson spent five years as a research associate at the University of Miami School of Medicine. Her telephone extension is 7774.

Reimbursement Deadline

March 31 is the deadline to submit all 2002 out-of-pocket expenses for health care and dependent day care spending accounts to Aon Consulting. Any money not claimed by March 31 will be forfeited. Contact ext. 3160 or ext. 3713 for claim forms.

Applications Accepted for Academic Affairs Position

The Office of the Provost is accepting applications for the position of assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs. The job responsibilities are in the areas of academic programs, academic policies and faculty development in addition to overseeing the Honors Scholars Program and addressing student issues for academic affairs.

Criteria include a general understanding of academic programming and curricula issues, a demonstrated interest in faculty development issues, an understanding of the relationship between financial resources and programs and demonstrated involvement with academic issues and concerns.

Administrative experience is helpful, but not required. The preferred start date is July 1. Applicants should send a vita and a brief statement of their philosophy of higher education administration, no longer than one page, to Paul Hosier, interim provost, by April 14.

Staff Training

Interaction Management, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 20, 21, 27 and 28

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. April 8

So You Need to Hire Someone, 10 a.m. to noon March 26

Time Management, 9 to 11:30 a.m. April 4

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23144 Printing Services Manager	March 14
23150 Police Officer I	March 14
23151 Accounting Clerk IV	March 14
23153 Accountant II	March 21
23154 Research Vessel Captain	March 21
23155 Licensed Registered Nurse	March 21
23156 Admin. Secretary II	March 21
23157 E-Travel System Administrator	March 17

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Tiffany Mattson, sponsored programs, and Teri Riddle, accounting.

Federal Funding continued from Page 1

nation will require the development of commercial farming operations, and UNCW researchers are at the forefront of cutting-edge research toward the production of farm-raised saltwater fish."

McIntyre agreed stating that the funding "will provide the knowledge to develop new opportunities and to help create jobs for commercial fishers and farmers in the next few years."

A $400,000 appropriation from the Department of Health and Human Services will enable the School of Nursing to partner with the Town of Bolton to operate a health and wellness clinic. The facility will provide primary health care to individuals and families.

UNCW is one of six institutions that will receive $500,000 from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to participate in the Disaster Resistant University Program. This pilot project will help universities protect students, infrastructure and research facilities from natural disasters such as flooding, hurricanes and earthquakes.

Each institution will use its appropriation to access its vulnerabilities to a natural disaster. During the next year, institutions must demonstrate to Congress and FEMA ways to reduce losses through mitigation and preparation. UNCW's selection was a result of its vulnerability to hurricanes and coastal storms.

"UNCW is an important economic force in southeastern North Carolina," said McIntyre. "The funds provided by this bill will not only protect the interests of the institution, but the entire community."

OSP Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs will host the seminar "Show Me the Money" from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 24 in the University Union, Room 103B.

Lynn Miner, a national consultant on proposal development, will lead this session.

To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starksm.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 34 March 20, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW Hosting N.C. Academy of Science

Environmental Defense Fund Scientist to Lecture March 21

Douglas Rader, senior scientist and manager with the Environmental Defense Fund's Southeast/Caribbean Oceans Program, will discuss "The Role of Science in Shaping Coastal Policy in the 21st Century" as part of the 100th meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science, hosted by UNCW March 21-23.

Rader's talk, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. March 21 in Dobo Hall, Room 103, is open to the public. The recipient of the 2003 Governor's Water Conservationist Award, Rader is especially interested in blending natural and cultural heritage into an integrated sense of place for all. With the Environmental Defense Fund, he manages ecosystem-based restoration planning from Long Island to and across the northern Caribbean (including statewide ecosystem restoration planning in North Carolina).

The three-day meeting of the N.C. Academy of Science is sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences, Departments of Biological Sciences, Chemistry and Earth Sciences and Honors Scholars Program; the Sigma Xi Chapters of East Carolina, UNC Chapel Hill and Wake Forest University; the N.C. Biotechnology Center and GlaxoSmithKline. David Webster, Larry Cahoon, Kate Bruce and Bo Dean were organizers.

Also speaking at the meeting are D. Ann Pabst on "Bottlenose Dolphins: Our Local Marine Mammal" and Maria Rapoza, director of the N.C. Biotechnology Center, on research support opportunities. Topics for poster and oral presentations include biotechnology, molecular biology and physiology; animal ecology; zoology; cell and developmental biology; chemistry; coastal ecology; math, computer and physical sciences; science education; health and behavioral sciences; biotechnology, molecular biology and physiology; and botany and plant ecology.

Creative Writing to Hold Writers' Symposium

The Creative Writing Department will hold its third annual writers' symposium March 24-28. This five-day event brings together graduate and undergraduate creative writing students with visiting authors to discuss the craft through workshops, panel discussions and manuscript conferences. Eight distinguished visiting writers will give public readings from their works; book signings will follow. The schedule for the symposium is below. Events are free and open to the public.

March 24

- 3:30 to 5 p.m. Cameron Hall Auditorium, premiere of the film Monkey Junction.

Written and directed by Dave Monahan, an assistant professor of creative writing, Monkey Junction is the story of a grieving father who entrenches himself in a tubular playground.

- 8 p.m. Cameron Hall Auditorium, readings by authors Joel Brouwer (poetry), Wendy Rawlings (fiction) and Sebastian Matthews (creative non-fiction).

Brouwer, assistant professor of English at University of Alabama, is the author of two books of poems Exactly What Happened and Centuries.

Rawlings earned an M.F.A. in Creative Writing at Colorado State University and a Ph.D. in Creative Writing from the University of Utah. She is a recipient of the John Farrar Fellowship in Fiction from the Bread Loaf Writer's Conference, and her short story collection Come Back Irish won the 2000 Sandstone Prize for Short Fiction.

Matthews, who lives in Asheville, edits the literary journal Rivendell. He earned an M.F.A. in creative writing from the University of Michigan. His first collection of poems, Out Walking, is scheduled for publication by Salmon Press in 2004, and a memoir, Like Father, Like Son, is due out from W.W. Norton and Company next year.

March 25

- 3:30 to 5 p.m. Warwick Center

see Writing Symposium on Page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Physics Colloquiums

Russ Herman, mathematics and statistics, will present "Soliton Propagation in Optical Fibers" at 2 p.m. March 21, and Elizabeth Simmons, professor and associate chair for undergraduate studies, Department of Physics, Boston University, will present "Why Is This Quark Different from All Other Quarks?" at 2 p.m. March 28. Both talks will be in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

Lifelong Learning

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies is offering the lifelong learning classes listed below. To register, call ext. 3195.

- "Communicating with Animals and All Creatures" with Mary Lemons, 9:30 a.m. to noon April 26. The cost is $59. Register by April 17.
- "Root of All Evil" with Herb Berg, Don Habibi, Patricia Turrissi and George Zervos, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays, April 14 through May 5. The cost is $69. Register by April 1.
- "Wise Women's Retreat on the Beach" with Sharon Carrington, April 11-13. The cost is $180 and includes two nights of lodging, four catered meals and books. Register by April 4.

Artist Recital Series

The Department of Music will hold the fourth of eight concerts in its 2003 Artist Recital Series at 8 p.m. March 20 in Kenan Auditorium. Faculty jazz pianist Andy Whittington is the featured performer. Drummer Bill Warren and bassist Zack Page, a UNCW alumnus, will also play. The program will consist of jazz standards and original compositions by Whittington.

Admission is $5; $2.50 for UNCW faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12; and free to UNCW students with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium box office the night of the concert.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.50.

Friday – Chicken tacos with condiments, refried beans, Mexican rice, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Honey pecan fried chicken, eggplant parmesan, baked potatoes with condiments, squash casserole, steamed vegetables, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Candidate Seminars

Kimberly Ritchie, a scientist and head of the Marine Microbiology Division at MicroGenomics Inc., will present "Microbial Interactions Among Coral Reef Organisms" at 2 p.m. March 20 and "The Three Domains of Life: Archaea, Eubacteria and Eukaryota – History, Evidence and Controversy" at 2 p.m. March 21. Both seminars will be in Dobo Hall, Room 103. Ritchie is a candidate for the position of marine microbiologist.

All About Knots

The Discover Outdoor Center will offer a workshop about knots from 4 to 6 p.m. March 26 in the Student Recreation Center, Room 138. Participants will review and practice a variety of knots. The cost is $5. Register by March 24. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Leadership Film

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is hosting the screening of the film Finding Forrester at 8 p.m. March 24 in Lakeside Hall, Room 111, in conjunction with Literacy Awareness Week. Refreshments will be served.

Chemistry Talk

Lee Bartolotti, computational chemist at the N.C. Supercomputing Center, will present "Density Functional Theory" at 11 a.m. March 20 in Dobo Hall, Room 132.

Senior Workshops

The Offices of Career Services and Transition Programs are sponsoring the workshops and lectures below for UNCW seniors to help them prepare for life after graduation. Faculty and staff should direct interested students to contact the Office of the Dean of Students at ext. 3119 for additional information or visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/stuaff/transitions/seniors.

- "Preparation for the Real World: Interviewing and Resumes," 6:30 to 8 p.m. March 25 University Union, Living Room.
- "Career Expo Job Fair," 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. March 26 Warwick Center.
- "Getting a Job in the Real World: The Power of Networking," 1 to 2 p.m. March 26 Cameron Hall Auditorium.
- "Understanding Finances and Work Benefits," 6:30 to 8 p.m. March 27 University Union, Living Room.

Concert Choir

The UNCW Concert Choir will perform at 7:30 p.m. March 31 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Decisions, Decisions

Leslie Wright, career services, will present "Decisions, Decisions" from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. March 25 in the University Union, Room 105. This workshop, which is part of the new Life Skills Program sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service, will provide students insight on the decision-making process. For more information, call ext. 3877.

Kayak Trip

An overnight kayak trip to Hammock's Beach State Park will be held March 29 and 30. Participants for the trip, sponsored by the Discover Outdoor Center, will leave at approximately 8 a.m. Saturday and return around 5 p.m. Sunday. The cost is $55 for faculty and staff. Registration is due by 2 p.m. March 24. A mandatory pre-trip meeting will be at 5 p.m. March 27. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Wilmington Symphony

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will perform at 8 p.m. March 22 in Kenan Auditorium. Wilmington native Keats Dieffenbach, a violin student at the Julliard School in New York, will be a featured soloist. For tickets, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

The symphony will also present its annual free family concert at 4 p.m. March 23 in the auditorium. Seating is on a first-come, first-serve basis; adults must be accompanied by a child.

Business Week

The Cameron School of Business will hold its annual Business Week March 26 and 27. More than 30 business professionals, corporate executives and recruiters from across the state will provide students and faculty insights on current business issues and career opportunities. A detailed program is available on the Web at www.csba.uncwil.edu/shortterm/BusinessWeek2003.doc. All events are free. Due to limited seating, public participation is on a space-available basis.

Redfield Lecture

Kay Redfield Jamison, an international authority and researcher on mental illness, will speak at 7 p.m. March 24 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets are $6; free for UNCW students, faculty and staff. Contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Raise the Curtain

New Hanover County Community Action will hold its annual fund-raiser and recognition banquet at 6 p.m. May 15 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The event, which is entitled "Raise the Curtain: Helping People and Changing Lives," will raise funds for the renovation of the cafeteria/auditorium at the Peabody Center. Tickets are $30 for individuals; sponsorship packages are available. For more information, contact Desiree Spearman at 762-1177 or Sandra Harris at 233-2412.

UNC Wilmington Donates Computers for Kids

UNCW delivered 19 computers to state surplus property in Raleigh March 11 for the North Carolina Computers for Kids, an initiative that helps schools find basic, affordable computer systems for use in classrooms.

"UNCW is committed to preparing students for success," said Suzanne Helms, director of campus services. "In today's global economy, technology is the key to that success. The Computers for Kids program is a great way for public schools to access technology for a minimal price."

State surplus property technicians test and analyze donated computers before they are presented to public or public charter schools that request the equipment. Computers must be used on school premises.

The cost of a basic computer through the program is $20. Non-profit agencies may also be eligible to purchase computers for $150. Each computer includes:

- Pentium 166 or Pentium 233 processor
- One- or two-gigabyte hard drives
- 15- or 17-inch monitor
- CD-ROM
- Keyboard, mouse and power cords.

Eligible schools may also purchase other items such as printers, extra monitors and cables at reduced prices, based on availability.

According to George Syles, warehouse services manager, UNCW's Information Technology Systems Division helped determine which surplus computers were suitable for donation.

Computers must be in good working order to qualify for the Computers for Kids program, said Syles. He added that university policy prohibits departments and university employees from salvaging parts from disabled computers.

"When computers are cannibalized, we cannot donate them to this worthy cause," Syles said.

Cameron Museum Exhibit

The Cameron Art Museum will host the display "Rev. McKendree Robbins Long: Picture Painter of the Apocalyptic" March 28 through June 29.

Long gained renown as an itinerant Baptist evangelist and as an artist specializing in biblical scenes, particularly those inspired from the Revelation.

In conjunction with the exhibit, the museum is sponsoring educational events including "Spiritual Evolution" scheduled for 2 p.m. March 30.

Baritone Emery Stephens, music, will demonstrate the development of spirituals and gospel music through song and discussion. John Tabler, assistant organist/choirmaster at First Presbyterian Church, will provide accompaniment. For more information, call 395-5999.

Derrick Howard and George Syles with computers for kids.

Movies That Matter

The film A Doll's House will be shown at 7 p.m. March 26 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Café, as part of the series "Movies That Matter," sponsored by the English Department.

In this version of Henrik Ibsen's play, Claire Bloom stars as Nora, a sweet, lively and seemingly frivolous woman with a destructive secret. Anthony Hopkins stars as Torvald, her puritanical husband who loves her but does not take her seriously. A Doll's House, first presented in 1879, is one of Ibsen's best-known and most controversial works. It has become a classic expression of women's rights.

Janet Ellerby will introduce this film.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

---

Mark Galizio, Julian Keith and Ray Pitts, psychology, had the paper "Repeated Spatial Acquisition: Effects of NMDA Antagonists and Morphine" published in Experimental and Clinical Psychopharmacology, vol. 11. This paper reported on the research effects of psychoactive drugs on learning and memory conducted for the National Institute on Drug Abuse. Will Mansfield, an honors graduate student, is a co-author on the study. His senior honors thesis, conducted under the supervision of Galizio, formed the basis for one of the report's experiments.

Andrew Dutka, Randall Library, presented "Using Theatre to Showcase Fiction" at the annual Associated Writing Programs conference and bookfair in Baltimore. Former creative writing and art and theatre faculty members Alexander Sargent and Shannon McCreery were co-presenters.

Lawrence Cahoon, biological sciences, received $6,160 from the New Hanover County Planning Department to provide estimates of tidal exchange rates in Hewlett's Creek.

Denise DiPuccio, foreign languages and literatures, had the article "Saints Meet Sinners: The Hagiographic and Mythological Traditions in the Comedia" published in Hispanic Journal. It compares the treatment of Christian and pagan figures in select works of various 17th-century Spanish dramatists.

Patricia Kelley, earth sciences, had the book The Fossil Record of Predation, co-edited with Michal Kowalewski of Virginia Tech, published. It includes the chapter "The Fossil Record of Predator-prey Arms Races: Co-evolution and Escalation Hypotheses" co-authored by Kelley and Gregory Dietl, CMS. The book is volume eight of the Paleontological Society papers.

Arthur Frankel, social work, received $1,600 from The Parenting Place for the project "Community Family Strengthening Evaluation."

Paulo Almeida, chemistry, presented the poster "Coupling of Lipid Chemical Structure to Protein-Induced Membrane Domain Formation" at the Biophysical Society meeting in San Antonio. This work was co-authored by Anne Hinderliter, North Dakota State University, and Rodney Biltonen, University of Virginia. At the same meeting, Almeida and Antje Pokorny, chemistry, presented the posters "Kinetics of Mastoparan-Induced Dye Efflux from Phosphatidylcholine Vesicles" and "Effect of Membrane Thickness on the Rate of Dye Efflux Induced by d-Lysin from Phosphatidylcholine Vesicles." The latter was co-authored by undergraduate student Diana Wu, who presented the same work at the Colonial Student Annual Research Symposium held at George Mason University.

---

Writing Symposium continued from Page 1

Ballroom 1, creative non-fiction panel featuring Randall Kenan, Sebastian Matthews, Philip Gerard and Philip Furia.

Kenan graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1985. His works of fiction and non-fiction include: A Visitation of Spirits, Let the Dead Bury Their Dead and Other Stories, Walking on Water: Black American Lives at the Turn of the Twenty-First Century, James Baldwin and A Time Not Here: The Mississippi Delta.

Seibles is the author of five collections of poetry including Hurdy-Gurdy, Hammerlock, Body Moves, Kerosene, and Ten Miles an Hour. He teaches in the M.F.A. Writing Program at Old Dominion University.

Gerard and Furia are professors of creative writing.

- 8 p.m. King Hall Auditorium, readings by Randall Kenan (creative non-fiction) and Tim Seibles (poetry).

March 26

- 3:30 to 5 p.m. Cameron Hall Auditorium, poetry panel discussion with Tim Seibles, Mike White, Sarah Messer and Lavonne Adams.

Seibles is the author of five collections of poetry including Hurdy-Gurdy, Hammerlock, Body Moves, Kerosene, and Ten Miles an Hour. White, Messer and Adams are faculty in the Creative Writing Department.

- 8 p.m. Cameron Hall Auditorium, an evening of prose and music with Clyde Edgerton and Philip Gerard.

March 27

- 3:30 to 5 p.m. King Hall Auditorium, fiction panel featuring Lan Samantha Chang, Wendy Brenner, Robert Siegel and Rebecca Lee.

Chang, who is the author of the award-winning collection Hunger: A Novella and Stories, earned an M.F.A. from the University of Iowa Writers' Workshop.

Brenner, Siegel and Lee are faculty members in the Creative Writing Department.

- 8 p.m. Cameron Hall Auditorium, readings by Lan Samantha Chang (fiction), John Seabrook (creative non-fiction) and Dina Ben-Lev (poetry).

Seabrook, whose articles appear regularly in The New Yorker, has written for Vanity Fair, Harper's and The Nation. He is the author of Deeper: My Two-Year Odyssey in Cyberspace and Nobrow. He lives in New York City.

Ben-Lev, of Rome, Ga., is the author of two award-winning chapbooks, Sober on a Small Plane and Note for a Missing Friend, as well as the collection Broken Helix.

March 28

- 3:30 to 5 p.m. Dobo Hall, Room 134, a panel of experts in the field of publishing, including editors and agents, discussing a variety of issues related to the profession.

- 8 p.m. Kenan Auditorium, keynote reading by Andrea Barrett, a fiction writer from Rochester, N.Y. A winner of the National Book Award for Fiction and a fellow at the Center for Writers and Scholars at the New York Public Library, Barrett is the author of Servants of the Map, The Voyage of the Narwhal and Ship Fever: Stories.

Meet the Chancellor-elect

It is anticipated that the UNC Board of Governors will name a chancellor-elect for UNCW at its March 21 meeting. The university community is invited to meet the chancellor-elect at a forum and reception from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. March 21 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Diversity Program

"Moving It Forward: The Next Step Towards Inclusion," an innovative diversity program by Chicago-based SST Communications, will be presented from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. March 25 in King Hall Auditorium.

This theatre-based presentation will outline strategies to respectfully call attention to and deliver constructive criticism about biased behaviors. SST Communications develops training programs for universities, government agencies and businesses throughout the world on a variety of topics including alcohol and drug awareness, cultural diversity, conflict resolution and better work relationships.

Faculty, staff and students are invited to attend this free presentation sponsored by campus diversity and human resources. For more information, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274.

Shared Leave

John Sawyer, printing services, needs shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Discount Coupons

Discount coupons for the Clyde Beatty Cole Brothers Circus, which will be at the Wilmington International Airport April 3-6, are available in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive.

The office also has discount coupons for King's Dominion theme park valid for March 22 through May 25. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Graduate Mentor Award

The Graduate School seeks nominations for the Graduate Mentor Award. This award recognizes members of UNCW's graduate faculty who have excelled at teaching at the graduate level and who have an established record of mentoring students who have received master's degrees. The latter includes not only guiding the research activity of students during their tenure at UNCW, but also helping students become established as independent scholars and professionals. To be eligible, the faculty member must be tenured, hold the rank of full or associate professor and be employed full-time.

Nominations can be made by a chair or director of an academic unit, colleague and students or other appropriate persons within the university community. Send nominations, with accompanying materials, to the dean of the Graduate School by March 31.

Reimbursement Deadline

March 31 is the deadline to submit all 2002 out-of-pocket expenses for health care and dependent day care spending accounts to Aon Consulting. Any money not claimed by March 31 will be forfeited. Contact ext. 3160 or ext. 3713 for claim forms.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Lori-Ann Foister, English; Theresa Jones, physical plant; and Jodie Ruskin, facilities planning and design.

Applications Accepted for Academic Affairs Position

The Office of the Provost is accepting applications for the position of assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs. The job responsibilities are in the areas of academic programs, academic policies and faculty development in addition to overseeing the Honors Scholars Program and addressing student issues for academic affairs.

Criteria include a general understanding of academic programming and curricula issues, a demonstrated interest in faculty development issues, an understanding of the relationship between financial resources and programs and demonstrated involvement with academic issues and concerns.

Administrative experience is helpful, but not required. The preferred start date is July 1. Applicants should send a vita and a brief statement of their philosophy of higher education administration, no longer than one page, to Paul Hosier, interim provost, by April 14.

Staff Training

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. April 8.

So You Need to Hire Someone, 10 a.m. to noon March 26.

Time Management, 9 to 11:30 a.m. April 4.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23153 Accountant II	March 21
23154 R/V Captain	March 21
23155 Licensed Reg. Nurse	March 21
23156 Admin. Secretary II	March 21
23159 Associate Director for Union Business Services	April 4
23160 Oceanographic Field Operations Manager	March 28
23161 Admin. Secretary II	March 28
23162 Cashier II	March 28
23163 Motor Pool Mechanic	March 28
23164 Residence Coordinator	April 4

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Atlantis Premiere

Randall Library will host the premiere of the 2003 edition of Atlantis, the student literary art journal. Student authors featured in the journal will read their works starting at 6 p.m. March 27 in the library's Java City. An awards presentation and reception will follow.

This is recyclable.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 36 April 3, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Noted Civil Rights Leader Benjamin Hooks to Lecture April 14

Noted civil rights leader Benjamin Hooks will present "Dark and Difficult Days Ahead" at 7 p.m. April 14 in Kenan Auditorium. Hooks was scheduled to speak in January at the university's annual King commemoration, but his talk was canceled due to inclement weather.

Hooks, an ordained Baptist minister, served as executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) from 1977 to 1992. Prior to heading the NAACP, Hooks was the first black appointee to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). Named by President Richard Nixon in 1972, Hooks addressed the lack of minority ownership of television and radio stations, the minority employment statistics for the broadcasting industry and the image of blacks in the mass media. While Hooks was with the FCC, minority employment in broadcasting rose from three percent to 15 percent.

Born Jan. 31, 1925, in Memphis, Tenn., Hooks attended LeMoyne College and Howard University. He earned a law degree from DePaul University in 1948. Following graduation, he returned to Memphis, where he practiced from 1949 to 1965. In addition, he served as a producer and host for television programs including Conversations in Black and White and Forty Percent Speaks. Hooks is a member of the American Bar Association, Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Tennessee Council on Human Relations. In 1986, he received the NAACP's Springarn Medal, an annual award for outstanding achievement by a black American.

Admission to this lecture, sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity, is free and open to the public. Tickets are required and are available at the auditorium box office by calling ext. 3500. Tickets for the Jan. 23 lecture will not be honored.

Hooks

Humorist David Sedaris to Speak April 11

Sedaris

David Sedaris, best-selling author and satirist, will speak at 8 p.m. April 11 in Kenan Auditorium. This talk is the seventh in the university's eight-part Arts in Action Performing Arts Series.

Sedaris made his comic debut on National Public Radio's Morning Edition. In his readings from his SantaLand Diaries, Sedaris recounted his strange-but-true experiences as a Macy's elf clad in green tights. Sedaris' ironic humor and incisive social critiques have made him one of NPR's most popular and humorous commentators.

Sedaris is the author of Me Talk Pretty One Day, Barrel Fever, Naked and Holidays on Ice, a collection of Christmas-related stories. Sedaris and his sister, Amy, have collaborated under the name The Talent Family. They wrote several plays that were produced at La Mama and the Lincoln Center including Stump the Host, Stitches, Incident at Cobbler's Knob, The Book of Liz and One Woman Shoe, which won an Obie Award.

Sedaris, who grew up in North Carolina, taught writing at the Art Institute of Chicago for two years. His essays appear regularly in The New Yorker, and he was named by Time magazine as Humorist of the Year for 2001. He received the Thurber Prize for American Humor in September 2001. Sedaris resides in Paris.

Tickets are $18; $12 for faculty/staff and seniors; and $6 for UNCW students and children 12 and under. Contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500. A book signing will follow the talk; copies of Sedaris' books will be on sale.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Memorial Blood Drive

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is sponsoring a blood drive in memory of Victor Collins from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. April 8 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Collins, a UNCW student who died Jan. 2, was a business major in the Cameron School of Business and a regular blood donor. Members of Collins' family will attend the drive. To schedule an appointment to donate or volunteer in the canteen, call ext. 3877.

Leutze to Serve as Azalea Parade Grand Marshal

Chancellor James R. Leutze will be grand marshal of the 2003 North Carolina Azalea Festival parade, scheduled for 9 a.m. April 5. The parade is among the many events for the 56th annual festival. A schedule of events is available on the Web at www.ncazaleafestival.org.

Movie Makers Lecture

Director Barbara D'Alessandro will discuss her work in the film industry from 2 to 4 p.m. April 11 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Department.

D'Alessandro has worked as first assistant director on dozens of feature films, television series and movies and commercials. Her credits include Miss Lettie and Me, The Angel Doll, Dawson's Creek, Matlock, American Gothic, Freedom Song and The Rosa Parks Story.

Travel Presentations

The English Department's Wentworth Student Travel Fellows will give presentations on their trips at 3:30 p.m. April 10 in Morton Hall, Room 207.

New Items in Central Stores

Central stores is now stocking lanyards with a clip, plastic convention-style name tag holders and 250 MB formatted PC Zip cartridges.

Nurse Research Day

The School of Nursing and Nu Omega chapter of Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society will host their annual Research Day from 8 a.m. to noon April 4 in the Warwick Center.

This forum is an opportunity for researchers to disseminate their findings and for UNCW nursing school faculty and students and area health care professionals to share and learn about techniques and procedures that might improve patient care.

Courtney Lyder, professor of nursing at the University of Virginia Medical Center, will deliver the keynote address "Minority Wound Care Research: A Journey to the Unknown."

Registration is $15. The event is free for UNCW nursing students. Two nursing professionals from southeastern North Carolina will deliver addresses. There will be poster presentations on research projects by UNCW nursing students and health care professionals from New Hanover Regional Medical Center.

B. Frank Hall Lecture

Theodore Burgh from Notre Dame University will present the annual B. Frank Hall lecture at 8 p.m. April 10 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

In the talk "Do You Hear What I Hear? Music in Ancient Israel," Burgh will discuss how the study of music and musical instruments helps understand life in ancient Israel. An archaeomusicologist, ethnologist and biblical historian, Burgh is proficient in Near Eastern languages including classical and modern Hebrew, Aramaic, Greek and Akkadian. A postdoctoral fellow in Notre Dame's Department of Anthropology and Theology, Burgh will join UNCW's Philosophy and Religion Department this fall.

The B. Frank Hall Lecture, sponsored by the Department of Philosophy and Religion, is named in honor of the founder of the department who also served as its chair.

History Graduate Students to Defend Theses

Andrea Cutlip will defend "The Influence of Holiness: Religion Politics and the Veneration of Maria Maddalena de Pazzi" at 1 p.m. April 8.

Jennifer Edwards will defend "A Color Line in the Sand: African-American Beach Leisure in New Hanover County" at 2 p.m. April 9.

Bridgett Lowery will defend "The Home Front in the Home: Women's Domestic Roles in Wilmington, N.C., 1941 to 1945" at 4 p.m. April 9.

Vince Lowery will defend "The Reel Nightmare Exposed: A Study of the Cultural Significance of Stanley Kubrick's Dr. Strangelove" at 4 p.m. April 10.

All defenses will be presented in Randall Library Special Collections.

Biological Sciences Seminar

Graduate student Jennifer Kunzelman will present "Does Ultraviolet Radiation Induce Changes in the Photophysiology and Photochemistry of Halophila johnsonii?" at 2 p.m. April 4 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.50.

Friday – Baked chicken with apricot sauce, rosemary polenta, baked potatoes, steamed broccoli, corn, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Southern pork BBQ, vegetable pot pie, macaroni and cheese baked beans, corn on the cob, cole slaw, potato salad, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Graduate Defense

Gina Panasik, a graduate student in biological sciences, will defend "Effects of the Addition of Dredged Sediment to a Marsh Ecosystem on Benthic Microalgal Biomass" at 2 p.m. April 3 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Grammy Winner to Perform at Thalian

Two-time Grammy winner Dianne Reeves will perform at 4 and 8 p.m. April 12 in Thalian Hall as part of the UNCW Arts in Action Performing Arts Series.

Reeves, who was born in Detroit and grew up in Denver, won Grammy Awards as Best Female Jazz Vocal Artist in 2001 and 2002.

For tickets, call 343-3664. UNCW students and Arts in Action series season ticket subscribers receive a 10 percent discount.

Eye of the Beholder

The discussion "The Eye of the Beholder: Beauty and Aesthetics in the 21st Century" will be held at 7 p.m. April 8 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Participants are Midori Albert, anthropology; Gregory Bechtel, nursing; Kathleen Berkeley, history; Carrie Clements, psychology; Elizabeth Ervin, director, Women's Resource Center; Donald Furst, art; Tommy Macon, theatre; Maurice Martinez, specialty studies; Sue Richardson, film studies; Oliver Speck, foreign languages and literatures; and Patricia Turrisi, director of the Center for Teaching Excellence. They will explore the definition of beauty from a variety of perspectives including physiological, psychological, cultural, historic, poetic and economic. Jack Hall, environmental studies, will moderate.

The Science, Humanities and Society Program, CTE and the Office of the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences are cosponsors of this free, public event. Refreshments will be served.

Movies That Matter

The film M. Butterfly will be shown at 7 p.m. April 7 in the Warwick Center Ballroom as part of the series "Movies That Matter" sponsored by the English Department. Joyce Hollingsworth will introduce the film.

Four Employees Graduate Leadership Wilmington

L. S. "Bo" Dean, honors scholars; Gia Long, telecommunications; Carol Chase Thomas, Watson School of Education; and Craig Wymer, housing and residence life, were among the graduates of the 2003 class of Leadership Wilmington. The four were honored at a ceremony March 27 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite, along with Annette Coneglia Anderson, public service and continuing studies, who received this year's Leadership Wilmington Alumna of the Year Award.

Leadership Wilmington, cosponsored by the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation and the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, educates participants about the region and encourages their continued involvement with the community.

As part of the class, participants select a project to benefit the community. This year, the group is preparing a marketing plan for the Wilmington Police Department's K-9 Division. The plan is designed to raise community awareness about the division and seek grant funding for its support. The class also adopted two smaller projects: a prison literacy drive spearheaded by Dean and the collection of supplies and names of pen pals for the Marine Corps division of class member Rich Ragland, a gunnery sergeant deployed to Iraq in January.

Celebrate Wilmington! Walk of Fame Induction

Celebrate Wilmington! will honor the late Isaac Grainger with the dedication of a star on its Walk of Fame. The ceremony is set for 11 am. April 12 at the Cotton Exchange.

A native of Wilmington, Grainger held executive positions with Murchison National Bank of Wilmington, North Carolina Bank and Trust Co. of Greensboro and Montclair Trust Co. in New Jersey. In 1943, he joined Chemical Bank of NYC (now Chase Manhattan), where he was president from 1956 to 1960.

Grainger also had a lifelong interest in golf, serving as chair of the joint rules committee of the U.S. Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews. He served as USGA secretary from 1946 to 1949, vice president from 1950 to 1953 and president from 1954 to 1955. Grainger joined the Cape Fear Golf Club in 1915; the club holds an annual tournament in his honor.

During WWII, Grainger served as an infantry captain. At the time of his death in 1999, Grainger was the oldest living veteran in New Hanover County.

Celebrate Wilmington! created in 1994, is a collaborative effort between the community and UNCW to promote and expand the multicultural arts in the region. Previous Walk of Fame inductees include Percy Heath, Claude Howell, David Brinkley, Charlie Daniels, Roman Gabriel, Minnie Evans, Hugh Morton, Henry Bacon, Frank Capra Jr., Catarina Jarboro, Robert Ruark and Althea Gibson.

Together in Education

UNCW received $1,400 from Harris Teeter through participation in the grocery store's "Together in Education" program. This amount reflects proceeds derived from participants' purchases from December through February.

Last fall, UNCW became the first university selected for "Together in Education." Shoppers who use their VIC card to purchase Harris Teeter-brand products can designate a portion of the purchase price to benefit UNCW students using the code 5034.

Physics Colloquiums

Andrey Filippov, senior design engineer at Corning, will lecture on "Engineering and Physical Problems of Optical Fiber Manufacturing" at 2 p.m. April 4, and John Michael Finn, professor of physics at the College of William and Mary, will present "The QWeak Experiment: A Low Energy Test of the Standard Model of Nuclear and Particle Physics" at 2 p.m. April 11. Both talks will be in DeLoach Hall, Room 212. Refreshments will be served at 1:45 p.m.

FEATURES

Environmental Studies Professor Films Pilot for Possible National Television Program

By Jessie Warren,
University Relations Intern

Move over Crocodile Hunter – Dr. Jack could be coming to a television near you.

Hall, chair of the Environmental Studies Department, filmed the pilot episode of Dr. Jack's Natural World during winter break for Ecology Communications. According to Hall, the production company is “pitching” the show to networks such as ABC Family, Discovery, National Geographic and The Learning Channel.

Excited at the prospect of hosting a national show, Hall said the goal is to provide people with information about science that they can use in their everyday lives as well as when they vote on Election Day.

“We are going to have to elect representatives who will make choices that impact our environment,” said Hall. “It would behoove us to know something about these issues so that we can make informed choices.”

Hall said the show’s target audience is “middle school students through lifelong learners,” and he has about 25 different ideas in his head for future shows.

“Beach erosion, biodiversity, endemic species and the importance of our rivers are topics with an excellent opportunity to highlight UNCW faculty and programs,” said Hall. He added he plans to illustrate the reality of research expeditions and the work that goes on behind the scenes.

“You may think, ‘oh, it would be so cool to visit an underwater habitat like Aquarius,’ and yes – it is neat, but people don’t realize that when you visit Aquarius you’re actually doing about 16 hours of work per day and that after three days, your body starts to shake because you’re so cold,” Hall said.

The idea for the television show evolved from Hall’s role as chief science consultant for ecology.com. Since starting his monthly Web column “Dr. Jack’s Natural World” in 2001, the feature has become a popular fixture on the site. It’s geared toward providing educational content for students and teachers. His column receives approximately four million “hits” or download requests each month.

“I also get hundreds of fan mail letters from all over the world,” Hall said. “My favorite is from a girl in Australia who wrote that she played ‘Dr. Jack’ in her science class play.”

Hall noted that his readers pay attention to his topics and sometimes ask extremely complex questions to which he answers, “great question but I’m not going to do your homework for you.” He said he does suggest sources for where they can locate the answers.

Writing a monthly column, hosting a television show and teaching are vastly different experiences, Hall admitted.

“The toughest part of filming was remembering to look at the camera. When I teach I’m all over the place, but when I’m in front of the camera, I have to be still and stare into the lens,” Hall said. “They wrote me an introduction, but from there it’s all me. I knew what I wanted to talk about, but I had no idea exactly how I’d say it or which words I’d use.”

If Ecology Communications is able to sell the show nationally, Hall said he would have to get used to many aspects of “show biz.”

“But I won’t be changing my laid back look,” Hall said. “I told producers that I would not shave or wear pants, socks or shoes and that my wardrobe would consist of only shorts, flip flops and Hawaiian shirts. To my surprise, they replied ‘that’s perfect – exactly what we want.’”

Hall

Guitar Week Festival

The Department of Music is sponsoring a Guitar Week festival April 3-5. Performances will feature international artists, university faculty guitar ensembles and the UNCW Chamber Singers.

Composer David Keckley opens the festival April 3. Spain’s Cuypers/Lop Duo and Helmut Jasbar from Austria will perform April 4. The UNCW guitar ensembles Ryoanji Duo and Duo Sureno will play 8 p.m. April 5. The UNCW Chamber Singers will accompany them. All concerts will be at 8 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium.

Tickets are $5 per night; $2.50 for faculty/staff, senior citizens and children under 12. UNCW students admitted free with a valid student ID.

MPA Program Helps Organize Local ASPA Chapter

The newly formed Cape Fear chapter of the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) will provide a variety of opportunities for students interested in pursuing careers in public service, said chapter adviser Jennifer Horan, a lecturer of political science. Formation of the chapter involved input from faculty in UNCW’s Master of Public Administration program.

Professional organizations such as ASPA provide the impetus for public administrators to share their experiences with future practitioners, Horan said. She added students would benefit from this interaction because of their exposure to the spectrum of careers available in public administration.

More than 30 people attended the chapter’s inaugural meeting Feb. 24, which featured Sterling Cheatham, Wilmington city manager, as the guest speaker.

Horan said future plans include the election of chapter officers with students and community professionals serving terms. The group intends to meet every two months.

The ASPA, which was established in 1939, has more than 10,000 members representing an array of professional interests and disciplines from all levels of government, the non-profit and private sectors and the academic community.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Aidan Heaney, men's soccer, had his jersey number retired by UNC Charlotte. A four-year starter for the 49ers, Heaney led the school to its first-ever NCAA tournament appearance in 1991.

Bill Harris, earth sciences, and Karen Shafer and Sue Kezios, SMEC, presented "Developing Science Graduate Students at Middle School Resources" at the Invitational Conference on K-12 Outreach from University Science Departments held at the Science House, N.C. State University. They submitted an invited paper for publication by the Science House in a proceedings volume.

Barbara Waxman, English, had the essay "Retiring into Intensity, Experiencing 'Deep Play'" published in the collection Women Confronting Retirement: A Nontraditional Guide, edited by Nan Bauer-Maglin and Alice Radosh from Rutgers University Press.

Joanne Halls, earth sciences, presented the paper "Habitat Assessment of the Oculina Banks Experimental Research Reserve Using Multi-Media and Internet GIS" at the annual conference of the Association of American Geographers in New Orleans.

Great Decisions Lecture

Robert Keohane, James B. Duke professor of political science at Duke University, will present "Unilateralism vs. Multilateralism" at 7 p.m. April 3 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Great Decisions Lecture Series sponsored by the Political Science Department.

IRB Reviews Due April 14

All faculty, students and staff who plan to conduct research involving human subjects during the summer must submit protocols for approval by the UNCW Institutional Review Board by April 14. Researchers must send one original, signed hard copy of protocols to Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion. E-mail one copy to Tiffany Mattson, sponsored programs, at mattson. Protocol submission forms are available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/.

Michael Durako and Stephen Kinsey, biological sciences and CMS, co-authored the paper "Physiological Effects of Short-term Salinity Changes on Ruppia maritima" that was published in Aquatic Botany. Durako's former graduate student Lesley Murphy was first author on the paper. Durako also co-authored the paper "Effect of El Nino on Demographic, Morphological and Chemical Parameters in Turtlegrass (Thalassia testudinum): An Unexpected Test of Indicators" published in Environmental Monitoring and Assessment, vol. 81. His co-authors were Paul Carlson, Laura Yarbro, Kevin Madley, Herman Arnold, Manuel Merello, Lisa Vanderbloemen and Gil McRae from the Florida Marine Research Institute in St. Petersburg. The paper's research was funded by a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency STAR grant to investigate the use of seagrasses as coastal ecoindicators.

Tom Barth, political science, presented "Emerging Trends in Human Resources" at the North Carolina chapter of the International Personnel Management Association meeting held in Wilmington.

Carolyn Farley, student affairs, was appointed co-chair of the Educational Council on Auxiliary Services for the Association of College Unions International. At the association's conference, Farley presented a session on "Marketing Your College Union Renovation or Construction Project" and a roundtable discussion on the development of auxiliary enterprises in the college union.

Phil Furia, creative writing, wrote and narrated You and the Night and the Music: A Musical Tribute to Howard Dietz and Arthur Schwartz. The show, which featured Ivy Austin and other Broadway entertainers, was performed at the New York Historical Society Theater.

Nominations Sought for Distinguished Faculty Award

The UNCW Alumni Association is accepting nominations for the 2003 J. Marshall Crews Distinguished Faculty Award, recognizing faculty who have made a difference in the lives of their students.

The award will be presented at the first fall faculty meeting. Its namesake served the college and university for more than 33 years and continues to support UNCW on various levels.

The deadline for nominations, which may be submitted by UNCW faculty, staff, alumni, students or community members, is June 15. The 2002 award winner was Becky Porterfield, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs and Cameron School of Business professor.

Nominees must be/or have been a full-time faculty member with a minimum of seven years of service to Wilmington College and/or UNCW. The award may be given posthumously. The recipient will receive a $500 cash award and a medallion.

Nominators must describe ways the faculty member supported students beyond the walls of the classroom such as adviser, reference, mentor or coach in regard to scholarship, leadership or other significant ways. They must describe examples of the individual's research and creativity, contributions to the field of study/academia, committee service, Faculty Senate or other leadership roles.

Nominators must give examples of the faculty member's time, talent and resources given back to the region and beyond. Initiatives that were created or expanded should be listed and described. Other relevant supporting documentation to accurately depict the significance of the nominee for this award can be included with the nomination.

Nomination forms can be downloaded in PDF format from the alumni association Web site, www.uncwil.edu/alumni. Letters, limited to two pages, must indicate how the nominee meets the criteria set forth. Send nominations to Patricia Smith, Wise Alumni House. For more information, call ext. 2682.

Trustee Meetings

The UNCW Board of Trustees will hold quarterly committee meetings April 14. The educational planning and programs committee will meet at 11 a.m. in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. The business affairs and external affairs committees will meet at 2 p.m. in Alderman Hall, Rooms 215 and 211, respectively.

The full board will meet at 9 a.m. April 15 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite.

Be a Part of Graduation

The commencement committee and Division of Student Affairs remind faculty and staff that spring commencement ceremonies will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. May 17 in Trask Coliseum.

Volunteers will be needed to assist with student line-up in Hanover Gym as well as the ceremony in the coliseum. To assist with the morning ceremony for graduates in the College of Arts and Sciences, volunteers will report for duty at 8 a.m. For the afternoon ceremony featuring graduates of the Cameron School of Business, School of Nursing and Watson School of Education, volunteers will report at noon. Volunteers should stay for the entire ceremony.

Prospective volunteers should contact Mary Crookes, university events coordinator, at ext. 7505 or e-mail crookesm.

Administrative Openings

The Office of the Provost is accepting applications for an assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs, and the College of Arts and Sciences is seeking an associate dean of academic policy. For application procedures, contact the respective offices at ext. 3389 and 3111.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employee: Joyce Arnette, Cameron School of Business; Steven Sharpe, facilities planning and design; and Cheryl Sutton, facilities.

Staff Training

Dealing with Extended Leaves, 2 to 4 p.m. April 29.

Leading Others Through Change, 9 to 11:30 a.m. April 30.

Maintaining and Reading Your Budget, 10 a.m. to noon April 24.

Reading HRS Screens, 2 to 4 p.m. April 8.

Understanding FRS Reports and Screens, 9 a.m. to noon April 22.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Human Resources to Hold Project B-GLAD Workshop

The Office of Human Resources is sponsoring "Becoming An Ally: Project B-GLAD" from 2 to 5 p.m. April 10.

Since its successful launch last year, six Project B-GLAD training sessions have been conducted, said Liz Grimes, director of staff development and training.

"More than 100 students and faculty and staff members have engaged in the process to become allies," said Grimes. "The April 10 session is in response to the many faculty and staff who have requested to be a part of this effort."

The three-hour Project B-GLAD workshop is designed to examine ways to foster healthy dialogue and acceptance of sexual orientation issues, Grimes said.

"In its short tenure, this training has fostered relationships that have furthered UNCW's mission to value diversity," she added.

Becoming an ally simply means being an identifiable person on campus who is willing to provide an accepting and open place for LGBT students, staff and faculty, said Grimes. Identification is through posting the Project B-GLAD emblem received upon completion of the workshop.

Project B-GLAD is the first step in raising awareness about a host of diversity issues on our campus, said Bo Dean, chair of the Project B-Glad committee. Training sessions started last year after approval by the university's Executive Cabinet upon the recommendation of the Chancellor's Human Relations Advisory Committee.

According to Dean, Project B-GLAD training involves factual information combined with presentations from people who share their personal experiences along with discussion about sexual orientation issues and concepts in a safe and supportive environment.

"Characteristic of all great endeavors, I learned just as much as I taught," said Project B-GLAD ally Kate Temoney, assistant dean of students. "The open conversations and willingness to both understand and be understood exemplified what I expect in a higher education setting. The success of the program provides a wonderful blueprint for future topics that we may want to talk about, but do not truly discuss because of controversy or unawareness."

For more information, contact Liz Grimes at ext. 3274.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23500 Temporary Office Support Pool	Open
23159 Associate Director for Union Business Services	April 4
23164 Residence Coordinator	April 4
23165 Emergency Planner	April 4
23166 Office Assistant IV (30 hours)	April 4
23167 Processing Assist. III	April 4
23168 Technology Assistance Center Specialist	April 11
23169 Office Assistant III	April 11
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 36 April 10, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

University Theatre Closing 2002-03 Season with Inge's Picnic

William Inge's play Picnic is the final production of the 2002-03 season for the UNCW University Theatre. This comic, human drama opens at 8 p.m. April 24 in Kenan Hall's SRO Theatre. Additional performances are scheduled for April 25-26 and April 30 through May 3. Matinees will be performed at 2 p.m. April 27 and May 4.

Directed by W. Terry Rogers, Picnic is the story of a stranger, Hal Carter, who comes to town and unwittingly becomes a catalyst for change. UNCW senior Ben Brannon of Raleigh plays Carter who sweeps into a Texas town in the 1950s. Flo Owens, portrayed by sophomore Mary Elizabeth Thrasher of Atlanta, and her daughters Millie, played by Lindsey Campbell, a sophomore from Apex, and Madge, portrayed by Sara Meek, a junior from Greensboro, are greatly affected by this stranger who moves in next door. Theatre professors Tom Macie, Tommy Macon and Scott McElheney served as scenic, costume and lighting designers, respectively.

This play marks the final production for Rogers, who joined UNCW's faculty in 1969. During his tenure, Rogers has directed approximately 100 productions and has worked with hundreds of students on acting, design and production.

The UNCW Art and Theatre Department plans to establish an award in Rogers' honor that will fund student productions of lesser-known theatrical works. Proceeds from the April 26 performance will benefit this award; tickets are $18 and include a reception. Admission for all other shows are $8, $2 for UNCW students with valid ID.

Students Lindsey Campbell, Mary Elizabeth Thrasher and Ben Brannon play leading roles in the University Theatre production of "Picnic."

UNCW Launching Public Affairs TV Show

A new interactive, public affairs television show premiering April 21 will reach beyond the television studio to allow citizens to sound off on compelling issues facing Southeastern North Carolina.

UNCW Community Link, produced by UNCW-TV and hosted by Betty Ann Sanders and H. E. "Hunter" Thompson Jr., will engage and challenge the region's news-makers and opinion-shapers and then ask viewers to voice their opinions, said Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for public service and continuing studies. Using the latest Internet technologies, citizens will be able to discuss show topics and ideas via a collaboration with the Southeast Public Interest Network of North Carolina (www.SpinNC.org), she added.

Through SpinNC, viewers will have access to opinion polls, discussion forums, e-mail and real-time chat to continue discussing and voicing their opinions about the program, said Thompson, director of community outreach services in public service and continuing studies.

"This year over 60,000 citizens will access one or more of the information services on SpinNC," Thompson commented. "We are very excited about this growth and development because we can see how access to information services is making a difference in people's lives. Integrating these services with UNCW Community Link will afford citizens an opportunity to be heard on issues important to them."

see Community Link on Page 5

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Easter Buffet

Campus dining will host an Easter lunch buffet from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. April 20 in Wagoner Hall. The menu will feature cooked-to-order omelets and traditional breakfast fare along with carved prime rib and baked ham, vegetarian manicotti with marinara sauce, mashed potatoes, corn O'Brien, green bean casserole, assorted salads, breads, desserts and beverages. The cost is $7.35 for adults and $3.67 for children age three to 12. Children younger than three eat free.

Chemistry Lectures

Jim Hutchison, associate professor of organic, organometallic and materials chemistry at the University of Oregon, will present "Let's Get Small: A Closer Look at Nanotechnology" at 8 p.m. April 10 in Dobo Hall, Room 205. He will lecture on "Scaffold-mediated Assembly of Gold Nanoparticles: Toward Biomolecular Nanolithography" at 3 p.m. April 11 in Dobo Hall, Room 132. aaiPharma is co-sponsoring these free, public lectures.

Relay for Life Luminaries

As part of the annual American Cancer Society Relay for Life, luminaries will be lighted in honor of those battling the disease or in memory of someone who died. To purchase a luminary for the relay, scheduled for May 2 and 3, contact Annie Aldrich at ext. 3099, Lynn Goodspeed at ext. 3030, Helen Rice at ext. 3616, Judy Siko at ext. 4283 or Laura Zefiretto at ext. 3888. The cost is $10; make checks payable to the American Cancer Society.

Sociologist to Lecture

Kristen Myers from the Department of Sociology at Northern Illinois University will lecture on "Race Talk: The Perpetuation of Racism Through Private Discourse" at 12:30 p.m. April 24 in Dobo Hall, Room 205.

Student Yard Sale to Benefit Scholarship

English majors will hold a yard sale from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 26 at 101 Brookwood Road to raise funds for a scholarship in memory of Mary Ethel Richardson, who was the grandmother of English professors Sue and Stephanie Richardson.

Kristin Crowson, a student in the English Department and organizer of the yard sale, said the fund-raiser will allow the university community to take part in the creation of this scholarship.

"I am very close to these professors (the Richardsons) and knowing that the money raised will be a memorial to their grandmother and help a student pay for college makes me happy to volunteer."

For more information, call ext. 3748.

Physics Colloquiums

Christopher Monroc, associate professor in the Department of Physics at the University of Michigan, will present "Building a Quantum Computer Atom by Atom" at 7 p.m. April 23 in Dobo Hall, Room 134. He will lecture on "Laser Cooling: Seeing Individual Atoms and Creating the Coldest Matter in the Universe" at 2 p.m. April 24 in Morton Hall, Room 100.

Moorad Alexanian, physics and physical oceanography, will present "The No-cloning Theorem" at 2 p.m. April 25 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212.

Biological Sciences Seminar

David Padgett, biological sciences, will present "Water molds: The Unappreciated Protists" at 2 p.m. April 11 in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Note of Appreciation

Dinah Allen, student development services, would like to thank everyone for "their cards, calls and prayers during my illness and absence from work. I appreciate the many acts of kindness expressed since my return."

Jazz Benefit Concert

Jazz and blues vocalist Willie E. Atkinson will perform with the UNCW Big Band at 8 p.m. April 25 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $10 and free to UNCW students with a valid ID. Tickets will be available at the auditorium box office on the night of the concert. Proceeds will benefit scholarships for students in the Music Department's Jazz Studies Program.

Atkinson, a native of Johnston County, has performed at jazz festivals in the United States and internationally in Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. His repertoire includes favorites such as Summertime, Round Midnight and Stormy Monday Blues as well as songs by Irving Berlin, Thelonious Monk, Cole Porter and T. Bone Walker. Atkinson began his professional music career in the 1960s as a high school student in Raleigh.

The UNCW Big Band, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, will perform several compositions arranged by jazz faculty member Jerald Shynett and several UNCW jazz students. The UNCW Jazz Combos, led by Shynett, will open the concert.

This performance is possible through the Cape Fear Jazz Society, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the preservation and presentation of jazz.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.50.

Friday – Spaghetti with meatballs, meatball subs, spaghetti with marinara sauce, steamed mixed vegetables, whole kernel corn, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday – Honey glazed ham, spanakopita, mashed potatoes with cheddar and chives, orange glazed carrots, green beans, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

CSB Redesigns Web Site: Easier Navigation, More Information, Consistent Look

The redesigned Web site for the Cameron School of Business provides browsers more information in an easier-to-navigate format with a consistent look and feel throughout the site, said lead developer Tom Janicki, an assistant professor in Information Systems and Operations Management Department.

"Every Web site should have a periodic face lift, but we felt it was time for our site to have a major upgrade," Janicki said. "The previous site had pages developed by many different people over the previous four or five years, so there wasn't a consistent look and feel."

Janicki worked with Gene Houghtaling, technology director for the business school, and Michel Fougères, webmaster in the Information Technology Systems Division, to create the new site at www.uncw.edu/csb. More than 30 faculty, staff and representatives of student business organizations provided input on the project.

"Viewers need to know they are within a UNCW site as well as that of the Cameron School of Business," said Janicki. Incorporating a common navigation menu makes it easier to locate information and creates a more professional-looking presentation, he added.

ITSD's Fougères was glad to be part of the redesign.

"I was excited that CSB was willing to have input in the design to ensure the end result met with the newly approved minimum requirements for Web pages as well as the university's Visual Identity Program," said Fougères. "As other departments think about changing their Web pages, I invite them to contact me for assistance. It is important that UNCW's Web presence have a consistent look and feel. That is the goal of the minimum requirements. Consistency helps users find what they're looking for."

Fougères also provided assistance to ensure the site complied with provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

"ADA compliance is a critical component of UNCW Web pages," said Fougères. As offices and departments update and create sites, he said online help files outlining ADA issues along with compliancy tools and other resources are available in the Web Developers Center at www.uncw.edu/admin.

Cameron's redesigned site provides up to 60 pages of information within one click of its main page and more than 30 new content pages including:

- A list of Cameron scholarship winners.
- A page for prospective students to request different pamphlets and brochures.
- A roster of business student internships updated by department.
- Pages for current and prospective donors to the school.
- Recognition of all the professionals in the community who donate time to the school.
- Links to newspaper articles in which Cameron School is referenced
- Information on the school's international affiliations.

Janicki said he has received many compliments on the layout and the information that is accessible. He said future plans include a dynamic database of faculty that includes their publications and service accomplishments as well as a more effective search engine. He also plans to provide templates to individual faculty and departments for their use in order to preserve the site's look and feel.

English Graduate Students to Defend Theses

Kristen Phaup will defend "The Amalgamation of Emergent and Technological Literacy: Exploring the Future of Emergent Literacy Acquisition" at 10 a.m. April 11.

Melanie Bruce will defend "'Far More Than I Ever Dared to Hope For': Victorian Traveler Isabella Bird in the Rocky Mountains" at 1 p.m. April 11.

Alicia Skipper will defend "'Me an' My Chillen Don' Need No Man': Female Liberation in Scarlet Sister Mary" at 2:30 p.m. April 11.

Billy Cruise will defend "Blurring the Lines between Fantasy and Reality: The Cultural Pervasiveness of The Lord of the Rings" at 1 p.m. April 14.

Jean Lorscheider-House will defend "Rhetoric and Man's Best Friend: Culture, Narrative and the Voices of Companion Animals" at 2 p.m. April 15.

Holly Barham will defend "Building Community Through the Internet: Exploring PIN, Community Networks and Information Exchange in Community Development" at 9:30 a.m. April 16.

Jamy Gearhart will defend "Doesn't Follow Directions: Resisting the Authorial Lead in the Novel Ellen Foster" at 11 a.m. April 16.

Paul Mills will defend "'Margaret Danced through Neil Armstrong': Readers Responding to Susan Power's Spiritual Fiction" at 2 p.m. April 16.

Defenses will be held in Morton Hall, Faculty Commons, with the exception of the April 15 presentation which will be held in the Randall Library conference room.

Megan Antes, right, receives the Phi Eta Sigma Freshman Scholar Award from Jessica Casmer, president of the freshman honor society. The award is given to the freshman with the highest GPA.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

B. Frank Hall Lecture

Theodore Burgh from Notre Dame University will present the annual B. Frank Hall lecture at 8 p.m. April 10 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

In the talk "Do You Hear What I Hear? Music in Ancient Israel," Burgh will discuss how the study of music and musical instruments helps understand life in ancient Israel.

Movie Makers Lecture

Director Barbara D'Alessandro will discuss her work in the film industry from 2 to 4 p.m. April 11 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Movie Makers Lecture Series sponsored by the Film Studies Department.

Travel Presentations

The English Department's Wentworth Student Travel Fellows will give presentations on their trips at 3:30 p.m. April 10 in Morton Hall, Room 207.

Reeves to Perform

Two-time Grammy winner Dianne Reeves will perform at 4 and 8 p.m. April 12 in Thalian Hall as part of the UNCW Arts in Action Performing Arts Series. For tickets, call 343-3664.

Seahawk Club Fund-raiser

The Seahawk Club is holding its third annual Big Boat Cruise and Floating Auction May 31 aboard the Henrietta III. The event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. at the Wilmington Hilton Riverside followed by a cruise featuring food, music and an auction. Tickets are $50, and proceeds benefit scholarships for student-athletes. For more information, call ext. 7737.

Discount Coupons

Fun club cards offering discount admission to King's Dominion theme park are available in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Leadership Grove

A ceremony honoring leaders for whom trees have been purchased for inclusion in the Leadership Grove will be held at 3 p.m. May 1 on the University Commons.

Individuals interested in honoring a student, faculty or staff member or someone from the community for their leadership on behalf of the university have until April 18 to contribute; donations for the grove are $200. Send contributions to advancement services, Alderman Hall, Room 104. Indicate the donation is for the Leadership Grove. A short biography about the honoree will be needed for the rededication ceremony.

For more information, contact Shelly Hoover at ext. 3877. The leadership grove is sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service and the campus arboretum.

CSB Student Recognition

The Cameron School of Business will hold its annual Student Recognition Day April 11. A ceremony, scheduled for 2:30 p.m. in the Warwick Center Ballroom, will honor officers of student business organizations as well as inductees of business honorary fraternities, scholarship recipients, outstanding undergraduate and graduate students, the winning team of the Internet Investment Challenge and members of the Cameron Executive Network.

Town and Gown Talk

Woody Hall, director of the Center for Business and Economic Services, and Shelly Hoover, director of the Center for Leadership Education and Service, will present "Town and Gown: The Relationship Between UNCW and the Wilmington Community" at noon April 11 at Sticky Fingers, 5044 Market Street.

The Cape Fear Communicators Roundtable is sponsoring this talk. A buffet lunch will be served. The cost is $7.50, which does not include tax or gratuity. To attend, call Randy Bobbitt at ext. 7635 or e-mail bobbittw.

Cameron Museum Exhibit

The Cameron Art Museum will host the display "Rev. McKendree Robbins Long: Picture Painter of the Apocalypse" through June 29. In conjunction with the exhibit, the museum is sponsoring the educational events listed below.

- "Apocalypse When? A Cultural Context for McKendree Long," 2 p.m. April 12. Walt Conser, philosophy and religion, will discuss the cultural context of Long based upon the artist's religion and Southern upbringing.

- "Reverend McKendree Long: Outsider Artist?" 2 p.m. April 19. William Moore, history, will examine the art of Rev. Long, who was academy trained but labeled an outsider, and will discuss how Long really fits more into a traditional artistic heritage.

These events are free with museum admission. For more information, call 395-5999.

Administrative Openings

The Office of the Provost is accepting applications for an assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs. The application deadline is April 14. For more information, call ext. 3389.

The College of Arts and Sciences is seeking an associate dean of academic policy. Letters of applications are due April 18; interviews begin April 21. For more information, call ext. 3111.

Benjamin Hooks to Lecture

Noted civil rights leader Benjamin Hooks will present "Dark and Difficult Days Ahead" at 7 p.m. April 14 in Kenan Auditorium. Hooks was scheduled to speak in January at the university's annual King commemoration, but his talk was canceled due to inclement weather.

This lecture, sponsored by the Office of Campus Diversity, is free and open to the public. Tickets are required and are available at the auditorium box office by calling ext. 3500. Tickets for the Jan. 23 lecture will not be honored.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

J. Craig Bailey, biological sciences, had the paper "The Pinguiphyceae Classis Nova: A New Class of Chromophyte Algae Whose Members Produce Large Amounts of Omega-3 Fatty Acids" selected as best paper in 2002 by the Japanese Phycological Society. It was co-authored by M. Kawachi, I. Inouye, D. Honda, C. O'Kelly, R. Bidigare and R. Andersen.

Tom Macie, art and theatre, demonstrated his techniques in using CAD and 3D modeling to design theatre scenery at the annual meeting of the Digital Content Consortium for the Media Integration Project at UNC Pembroke

Leslie Rand-Pickett, career services, received the Outstanding State/International Division Leader Award from the American College Personnel Association at the group's annual conference in Minneapolis. This is one of two national ACPA awards presented each year.

John Clifford, English, read the paper "On the Visual Rhetoric of Ground Zero" at the annual meeting of College Rhetoric and Composition Teachers in New York. He had the second edition of Making Literature Matter published by Bedford. An instructor's manual for the work, written by Joyce Hollingsworth, English, was also published. In an athletic rather than academic endeavor, Clifford won the national championship in the 60-meter hurdles at the Masters Championships held at the Reggie Lewis Center in Boston. Clifford also placed third in the 60-meter dash. Both times qualify him for the World Championships in Australia later this spring.

Joan Willey, chemistry, attended the N.C. Academy of Science meeting where Leslie Bradshaw, Michael Long, Michelle Smith and Sue Zvalaren, graduate students from UNCW's Marine and Atmospheric Chemistry Research Lab, presented talks. Bradshaw and Long spoke on "Ammonium in the Cape Fear River Estuary: The Role of Sediment-water Column Interactions," Smith presented "Photochemically Initiated Changes in Cu Speciation During Sediment Resuspension Events," and Zvalaren talked about "Chromium Speciation in Coastal Rainwater."

Robert Konopaske, management and marketing, had the paper "A Set of Recommendations and Managerial Implications for Deterring White-Collar Crime" accepted for publication in the Academy of Management Executive. Co-authors were John Ivancevich of the University of Houston, Thomas Duening of the Applied Management Sciences Institute and Jacqueline Gilbert of Middle Tennessee State University.

Tom Hudson, computer science, presented the paper "Managing Collaboration in the Distributed Nanomanipulator" at the 2003 IEEE Virtual Reality conference in Los Angeles. It was co-authored by colleagues at Third Tech Incorporated and UNC Chapel Hill.

Stephen Skrabal, chemistry, presented "Copper and Zinc Complexing Ligands in Estuarine Waters: The Role of Sediment-water Exchange" and "Photochemically Initiated Changes of DOC and Copper Speciation During Sediment Resuspension Events" at the American Chemical Society national meeting in New Orleans. Chris Shank, postdoctoral research associate at UNC Chapel Hill; Robert Whitehead, postdoctoral research associate; and Robert Kieber, chemistry, along with former and current graduate students, Ken MacGillivray and Kristic Lieseke, were co-authors of the first presentation. Whitehead, Kieber, Shank and graduate student Michelle Smith co-wrote the second.

Patricia Kelley, earth sciences, had the book Predator-Prey Interactions in the Fossil Record published by Kluwer Academic/Plenum Publishers. Kelley was lead editor on the book along with Michal Kowalewski, Virginia Tech, and Thor Hansen, Western Washington University, and she wrote the chapter "The Fossil Record of Drilling Predation on Bivalves and Gastropods." The work also includes the chapter "The Fossil Record of Shell-breaking Predation on Marine Bivalves and Gastropods" co-authored by Gregory Dietl, CMS.

Mike Perko, health and applied human sciences, was a source for the April 7 Sports Illustrated article "Jolt of Reality." The story centered on young athletes and dietary supplements. Perko had the following articles published: "Self-reported Alcohol Use and Sexual Behaviors of Adolescents" in Psychological Reports and "From Ephedra to Creatine: Using Behavioral Theory to Respond to Sport Supplement Use in Young Athletes" in American Journal of Health Studies.

Leslie Langer, SBTDC, received $54,850 from the U.S. Department of Defense to continue the position of government procurement counselor. Langer also received $8,300 in supplemental funding from the U.S. Small Business Administration for program operation.

Terry Theodore, art and theatre, served as a film juror for the annual student Academy Awards competition. Approximately 130 to 150 films were submitted in the categories of animation, narrative, documentary and alternative/experimental. Theodore was the only film academic/historian represented among a panel of professional filmmakers for the judging, held at the Portland Film Center in Oregon. This was his fourth invitation to participate.

Community Link continued from Page 1

UNCW Community Link will also give regional nonprofit organizations air time, said Sanders.

"There are so many not-for-profit agencies that have terrific stories to tell," Sanders said. "UNCW Community Link provides a forum to tell the human interest side of their stories."

The half-hour show will air at 7:30 p.m. Mondays, 4:30 p.m. Wednesdays and 1:30 p.m. Thursdays on the Learning Network broadcast on Time Warner Cable Channel 5 and Charter Communications Channel 12. The program will also air in Pender, Carteret and Onslow counties.

Fall Electronic Reserves

To comply with copyright guidelines, all reserve material will be taken off line at the end of the semester. Faculty who plan to re-use reserve readings for the fall semester, must e-mail a list of titles, along with course numbers, to John Osinski at osinskij. Send new readings for fall with complete bibliographic citations by July 15 to ensure that they are online for the start of classes. Requests will be processed in the order received.

Trustee Named Top Businesswoman

UNCW trustee Krista Tillman, president of BellSouth's North Carolina operations, was named 2002 Charlotte Businesswoman of the Year. The award is cosponsored by Queens University, Wachovia and First Union.

Randall Library Easter Break Schedule

Randall Library will observe the following schedule during the Easter break:

April 16 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.
April 17-18 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The regular schedule resumes April 19.

Farewell Reception

Faculty and staff are invited to a university-wide cookout and reception for Chancellor James R. Leutze and his family from 4 to 6 p.m. April 30 on the Campus Commons.

Deferred Compensation

Tammy Parker, a representative with North Carolina's 457 deferred compensation plan, will conduct a presentation at 10 a.m. April 22 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. A door prize drawing will be held.

To schedule an individual appointment, contact Parker at 888-600-2763 ext. 125 or e-mail tammy.parker@gwl.com.

Spring Faculty Meeting

Faculty and administrators are encouraged to attend the spring faculty meeting scheduled for 4 p.m. April 10 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium.

Summer Hours

The university will observe summer hours from May 19 through Aug. 11. Official hours will be 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday with a 30-minute lunch break and 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Trustee Meetings

The UNCW Board of Trustees will hold quarterly committee meetings April 14. The educational planning and programs committee will meet at 11 a.m. in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite. The business affairs and external affairs committees will meet at 2 p.m. in Alderman Hall, Rooms 215 and 211, respectively. The full board will meet at 9 a.m. April 15 in Wagoner Hall, Madeline Suite.

Be a Part of Graduation

The commencement committee and Division of Student Affairs remind faculty and staff that spring commencement ceremonies will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. May 17 in Trask Coliseum.

Volunteers will be needed to assist with student line-up in Hanover Gym as well as the ceremony in the coliseum.

Prospective volunteers should contact Mary Crookes, university events coordinator, at ext. 7505 or e-mail crookesm.

Down Times Scheduled

The ITSD Departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved April 26-27, July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance.

Information is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Thomas Addison, campus services; Kenneth Lapen, facilities planning and design, Charles Ruch, CMS; and Michael Wolfe, construction services.

Shared Leave

Melanie Kelley, university police, and Candice Madden, accounting, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

IRB Reviews Due April 14

All faculty, students and staff who plan to conduct research involving human subjects during the summer must submit protocols for approval by the UNCW Institutional Review Board by April 14. Researchers must send one original, signed hard copy of protocols to Candace Gauthier, philosophy and religion. E-mail one copy to Tiffany Mattson, sponsored programs, at mattson.t. Protocol submission forms are available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/ora/.

Staff Training

Dealing with Extended Leaves, 2 to 4 p.m. April 29.

Leading Others Through Change, 9 to 11:30 a.m. April 30.

Maintaining and Reading Your Budget, 10 a.m. to noon April 24.

Understanding FRS Reports and Screens, 9 a.m. to noon April 22.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23168 Technology Assistance Center Specialist	April 11
23169 Office Assistant III	April 11

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 37 April 17, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW Hosting Accessible Recreation Day

UNCW Wilmington will host the second annual Accessible Recreation Day from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 25 in the parking lots of Trask Coliseum and Hanover Hall.

Events will include clinics and demonstrations highlighting various recreational opportunities open to people who are wheelchair users as well as those with other physical disabilities, said Dan Johnson, assistant professor in the Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences. He teaches in the therapeutic recreation curriculum.

"By cosponsoring Accessible Recreation Day, we hope to increase awareness and remove some of the barriers that exist as to the recreation possibilities open to people with disabilities," Johnson said.

There will be demonstrations of wheelchair golf, tennis and basketball as well as dance clinics conducted by Atlanta-based Show Stoppers Dance Co.

Amputees in Motion. Vendors of specialized recreational equipment will enable people with disabilities to "try out" a sport without having to purchase the equipment up front, said Johnson.

Accessible Recreation Day is a collaborative effort by Coastal Carolina Partnership for Accessible Recreation which includes Coastal Rehabilitation Hospital at New Hanover Regional Medical Center, N.C. Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, the Wilmington Disabled Athletic Association and the Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences. Students from the department's therapeutic recreation curriculum will assist with various clinics and demonstrations. Therapeutic recreation, which recently added 16 credit hours to its curriculum, is a program that prepares graduates to design and implement treatments to see Accessible Recreation on Page 4

Pilgrim Wins BOG Teaching Award

Psychology professor Carol Pilgrim is among the recipients of the Award for Teaching Excellence presented by the UNC Board of Governors. She will receive a commemorative bronze medallion and a $7,500 cash prize during a recognition luncheon next month.

Pilgrim

Pilgrim, who joined UNCW in 1986, was recognized for her role as an active researcher and her leadership positions in various professional organizations. UNC officials also cited her impact on students who "regularly attend and present posters at international, national and regional conferences. Several have won awards for their research, and

see Teaching Award on Page 4

PPD Head Donates $1.75 Million to Athletics

Fred Eshelman, founder and CEO of PPD Inc., donated $1.75 million to the Athletics Department. His gift, which was combined with matching funds, will benefit student-athlete scholarships and the renovation of the strength and conditioning complex in Hanover Hall.

Eshelman

"We are very grateful to Dr. Eshelman for his generosity," said Peg Bradley-Doppes, director of athletics. "We are experiencing tremendous growth and success, and Dr. Eshelman's contribution will help move us closer to our ultimate goal of completely endowing the program."

Eshelman said his decision to support UNCW was a result of the success of the athletics program.

"UNCW is producing quality student-athletes and doing it the right way," said Eshelman. "UNCW has its priorities in order - academics first and then athletics. Hopefully this contribution will encourage even better student-athletes to see Eshelman Donation on Page 4

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Gornto Receives Lineberger Service Award

Mary Gornto, vice chancellor for university advancement, received the UNC Lineberger Comprehensive Cancer Center's Outstanding Service Award. It was presented at the center's spring 2003 Board of Visitors meeting in Chapel Hill.

Gornto, who served two terms as chair of the center's board of visitors, was recognized for "superior leadership, service and loyal support."

United Nations Lecture

Robert Toplin, history, will lecture on "The Relevancy of the United Nations" at 7:30 p.m. April 30 in Randall Library Auditorium. The Coastal Carolina chapter of the United Nations Association is sponsoring this free, public talk.

Allen Golf Tournament

The Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences will host the eighth annual Earl Allen Memorial Golf Tournament May 10 at the Old Pointe Golf Course in Hampstead. Registration and lunch is at noon; tournament play begins with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Entry fee is $75 per player and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and dinner. Tournament proceeds will benefit the Earl Allen Scholarship Fund. For more information, call ext. 4268.

Easter Buffet

Campus dining will host an Easter lunch buffet from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. April 20 in Wagoner Hall. The menu will feature cooked-to-order omelets and traditional breakfast fare along with carved prime rib and baked ham, vegetarian manicotti with marinara sauce, mashed potatoes, corn O'Brien, green bean casserole, assorted salads, breads, desserts and beverages. The cost is $7.35 for adults and $3.67 for children age three to 12. Children younger than three eat free.

Student Leader Recognition Ceremony

The Division for Student Affairs will honor student leaders at a ceremony scheduled for 6 p.m. April 23 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Recipients of the senior medallion, distinguished service and leadership excellence awards, Lippitt and Duncan Scholarships and other student awards will be announced. A reception will follow.

WSO to Perform Candide

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will conclude its 31st season with the performance of Leonard Bernstein's Candide at 8 p.m. May 3 in Kenan Auditorium.

Candide, which premiered in 1956, is based on a 1759 novella by Voltaire, a French playwright and satirist. The plot tells of the philosophical awakening of a noble youth.

Featured soloists for this performance include Nancy King and Emery Stephens, music, along with Joy Murrell, Kenney Potter, Michael Rallis and Thomas Speckhard. Tony Rivenbark will narrate.

For ticket information, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

N.C. Budget Forum

A town hall forum on the North Carolina budget will be held at 7 p.m. April 22 in King Hall Auditorium.

Speakers will include Audrey Albrecht, a retired teacher and principal; Charlie West, a member of the Wilmington chapter of N.C. Common Cause; Woody White, a New Hanover county attorney; and Zack Wynne from the UNCW Student Government Association.

N.C. Common Cause Education Fund and the Departments of Social Work, Political Science and Sociology and Criminal Justice are cosponsoring this free, public event.

Stompin' at the Savoy

Electric Image Band from Rocky Mount will be the featured performer for Stompin' at the Savoy, an annual fund-raiser sponsored by campus diversity. This event is scheduled for 8 p.m. April 26 at the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe. Tickets are $50 per person and must be purchased in advance. Proceeds will benefit merit scholarships. For more information, contact Lee Ann Dulatre at ext. 3832.

Seahawk Club Tournament Fund-raiser

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Entry fee is $125 per person and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and course beverages as well as dinner provided by Rucker John's. Proceeds will benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

Artist Recital Series

Frank Bongiorno and the UNCW saxophone quartet will perform at 4 p.m. April 27 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Music Department's Artist Recital Series. Admission is $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12. UNCW students admitted free with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium box office the day of the event.

Girls Soccer Camps

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a junior day camp for girls ages five to 14 June 23-27 and a senior residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 19-23.

The cost for the junior camp is $230 for full day (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) and $120 for half day (9 a.m. to noon). For seniors, the camp is $430 for residents, $330 for commuters.

Daughters of UNCW employees receive a $25 discount. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairney at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

FEATURES

Political Scientist Compiling Database of Disaster Experts

Faculty at North Carolina universities and community colleges have the knowledge to ease the state's vulnerability to disasters, but finding out who they are can be difficult, says political scientist Stephen Meinhold.

Meinhold

"Currently, there isn't a single location that lists faculty who have expertise or interest in natural or man-made hazards," said Meinhold, an associate professor in the Department of Political Science.

Using a grant from the UNC Office of the President, Meinhold is compiling a database of UNC system and community college professors with expertise in natural and technological disasters. He will give a presentation on the project at next month's workshop "The State of Hazards Research, Instruction and Outreach in North Carolina" being held at East Carolina University.

The workshop is the first step to determine the institute's official agenda, said Meinhold. The UNC Board of Governors granted the Office of the President permission to establish the North Carolina Institute of Disaster Studies in January.

"North Carolina is extremely vulnerable to disasters," Meinhold said. "Between 1996 and 2001, the state experienced 10 disasters of sufficient magnitude to warrant presidential disaster declarations and is still recovering from Hurricane Floyd which struck in 1999."

In addition to natural disasters, the after effects of Sept. 11, 2001, emphasize the need to prepare for technological hazards such as biological/chemical terrorism and computer sabotage, Meinhold said. This listing of experts, which is a collaborative effort between the UNC system and the state community college system, will serve as a key component in the proposed institute, he added.

"University and college researchers can provide assistance to communities to mitigate the effects of a disaster as well as speed recovery efforts in affected areas," said Meinhold. "Forecasting, flood mapping and evacuation planning are just a few examples of how the database and the institute could benefit the state."

In addition, North Carolina's increasing urbanization will require studying how to protect critical infrastructures such as electrical and commu-

see Disaster Database on Page 5

CLES Sponsors Two Alternative Spring Break Service-learning Trips

New York and New Orleans aren't traditional spring break destinations for UNCW students, unless you are more interested in service than sun.

Through UNCW's Alternative Spring Break Program, more than 30 students, faculty and staff spent their semester vacation as community volunteers. Sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service, the program has offered service-learning trips for several years, but this year was the first to feature two simultaneous experiences, said Shelly Hoover, CLES director.

"Breaking the one-trip barrier is key to future expansion opportunities," said Hoover. "Many other schools have large alternative spring break programs that provide challenging and rewarding experiences not only for students, but faculty, staff and the service agencies with which they volunteer."

Junior Jennie Genthner agreed.

"This trip really changed how I view the world. It really gave me a greater awareness of how service can make a difference in people's lives," she said.

Genthner helped plan the New York trip where she, 16 fellow students and three staff advisers volunteered at a community kitchen affiliated with Broadway Presbyterian Church in Manhattan. The effort was coordinated through Youth Service Opportunities Project, a nonprofit organization founded by the Quakers in 1983. The organization sponsors work camps that combine communal living with volunteer work and learning programs.

While serving dinner, Genthner said the group had the chance to really interact with kitchen patrons.

"We learned about their lives and their opinions on a variety of issues," said Genthner. "Sometimes the homeless are viewed as objects. This experience was powerful and meaningful because we got the chance to find out about them as people."

The same was true for New Orleans, said senior Raven Davis. She was

see Alternative Break on Page 4

Alternative spring break participants in New York helped out in a community kitchen (above). The New Orleans group volunteered at an AIDS group home.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Events in Brief

Lectures: "Building a Quantum Computer Atom by Atom," 7 p.m. April 23 in Dobo Hall, Room 134.

"Race Talk: The Perpetuation of Racism Through Private Discourse," 12:30 p.m. April 24 in Dobo Hall, Room 205.

Play: Picnic, 8 p.m. April 24-26, April 30-May 1 and 2 p.m. April 27 and May 4 in Kenan Auditorium.

Concert: Willie E. Atkinson and the UNCW Big Band, 8 p.m. April 25 in Kenan Auditorium. For tickets, call ext. 3500.

Leadership Film

Lord of the Rings will be shown at 7 p.m. April 24 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, as part of the Leadership Film Discussion Series. Clyde McDaniel, sociology and criminal justice, will facilitate the discussion.

Alternative Break continued from Page 3

---

among a group of 10 honors students who volunteered at Belle Reve, an organization that provides housing and support services for people with AIDS/HIV. Participants cleaned and painted rooms, doors and furniture. They also did yard work.

"Going into the trip, I expected the residents to be depressed. But they had a great outlook on life. It was an exciting experience that helped me appreciate what life has to offer," said Davis, who organized the event and proposed the involvement of the honors students, who were enrolled in Honors 120: HIV/AIDS Service Learning. Finalizing this collaborative effort involved Davis, Hoover at CLES, Kate Bruce in the Honors Scholars Program and Deborah Bowen in the Department of Social Work.

"Prior to the trip, the students met weekly to discuss and complete assignments on the psychological, biological and sociological aspects of HIV/AIDS, and how it affects both the person with the illnesses and his or her environment," said Bowen. "During the trip, we cleaned and painted, but most important, we interacted with the residents. Any preconceived notions the students had prior to the trip about people living with AIDS were dispelled rapidly. Real people with real names taught all of us so much about the illness, the issues surrounding it and ourselves."

Honors student Jamie Herring seconded Bowen's observation.

"This trip changed my outlook. We got to see AIDS patients as people, not statistics," Herring said. "We all enjoyed ourselves, and the service was the greatest part. It has inspired me to want to do more in the future."

Hoover and Bowen said they were both pleased at the excitement and interest in this year's trips. They hope it's a trend that will continue and that will lead to opportunities for other collaborations.

"No classroom experience can take the place of actual work with a given population," said Bowen. "I would strongly recommend faculty to become more involved in service learning. This opportunity to collaborate across disciplines has been wonderful, and I hope it laid the groundwork for future endeavors."

Fall Electronic Reserves

To comply with copyright guidelines, all reserve material will be taken off line at the end of the semester. Faculty who plan to re-use reserve readings for the fall semester, must e-mail a list of titles, along with course numbers, to John Osinski at osinskij. Send new readings for fall with complete bibliographic citations by July 15 to ensure that they are online for the start of classes. Requests will be processed in the order received.

Support Our Troops

Students in the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice are sponsoring "Support Our Troops" from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. April 22 and 23 in the Randall Library. Attendees can pick up a ribbon and write a letter to troops and their families. For more information, e-mail Jammie Price at pricej.

Accessible Recreation continued from Page 1

assist people with disabilities to live fuller lives.

"Our goal is to help people live regular lives – to pursue interests, play with friends and be part of their community. Our curriculum is designed to prepare graduates to develop strategies and programs that will allow people with disabilities to participate in recreational activities that will have a positive impact on their lives," said Johnson. "People with disabilities sometimes become isolated and have fewer opportunities. Accessible Recreation Day is one way to show that people with disabilities can have many options in life."

Teaching Award continued from Page 1

some have been co-authors on publications."

The Board of Governors bestows its Award for Teaching Excellence to a recipient at each of the system's 16 constituent institutions. Established in 1994, the honor is given annually to tenured faculty members. Winners must have taught at their present institutions for at least seven years.

Eshelman Donation continued from Page 1

come to UNCW and continue the school's outstanding record both academically and athletically."

Eshelman added the donation also stemmed from UNCW's contributions to the community.

"UNCW has given this area so much, and this is our way of giving back. Many of our employees and friends are graduates of UNCW and have a great deal of pride in their alma mater," he noted.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Laela Sayigh, biological sciences and CMS, presented the poster "Signature Whistles: A Review" at the European Cetacean Society conference in Gran Canaria, Canary Islands.

Robert Argenbright, earth sciences, presented the papers "Revolutionary Space vs. the Friction of Human Geography" and "Communist Ethics, Stash and Suicide" at the annual meeting of the Southern Conference on Slavic Studies in Savannah.

Wilson Freshwater, CMS, received $2,923 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Identification and Distribution of an Abundant Gracilariaria Species in South-eastern North Carolina."

Tom Barth, political science, gave a presentation on the Master of Public Administration program to the Burgaw Rotary Club.

Barry Wray, information systems and operations management, had the article "Incorporating Negative Information into Rule Induction: An Analysis of a Kanban-Based Just-in-Time Production System" published in a special issue of Production Planning and Control, vol. 13. Rick Mathieu from St. Louis University and Ina Markham from James Madison University were co-authors.

Arthur Frankel, social work, received $5,040 from Wilmington Housing and Urban Development to evaluate Kids Making It, a woodworking program for children at risk. He also received $2,000 from the United Way for the project "United Way Success by Six Expansion Initiative" and $1,600 from the Parenting Place to evaluate the program Community Family Strengthening.

Robert Konopaske, management and marketing, had the papers "A Preliminary Model of Spouse Influence on Managerial Global Assignment Willingness" and "International Benefits Policy and Global Assignment Characteristics: Do They Influence Managers' Willingness to Accept a Global Assignment?" accepted for presentation at the Academy of Management national conference, scheduled for August in Seattle. Chet Robie of Wilfrid Laurier University and John Ivancevich of the University of Houston were co-authors of the first paper. Steve Werner of the University of Houston co-authored the second.

Joanne Halls and Lynne Leonard, earth sciences, received $5,000 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Marsh Fragmentation and Extent Versus Barrier Island Topography: An Investigation Using Aerial Photography, Digital Terrain Modeling and GIS."

Heidi Messina, UNCW-TV, won an Award of Excellence for best station promotion from the Southeastern Alliance for Community Media.

Disaster Database continued from Page 3

nication lines, water supplies and transportation networks in the event of biological disasters and natural disasters, said Meinhold.

Assessing the need for underground power lines and devising disaster shelter plans in the wake of winter ice storms, which virtually paralyzed parts of North Carolina, are examples of how an Institute for Disaster Studies would benefit the state's populace, said David Godschalk, a professor in the Department of City and Regional Planning at UNC Chapel Hill and planning chair for the institute.

"The Disaster Studies Institute would be an invaluable resource for North Carolina by providing organized resources for educating disaster managers as well as up-to-date information on hazard mitigation techniques. Dr. Meinhold's database will be an important component that will enable state and local governments to find specialized knowledge about disaster issues," said Godschalk.

Grant to Fund Cultural Immersion Trip to Chile

Fifteen faculty members will spend five weeks this summer immersing themselves in Spanish culture through a $66,000 grant from the Fulbright Hays Program.

Spanish lecturer Valerie Rider will lead the trip to Valparaiso, Chile. It will include 10 UNCW faculty members along with five from UNC Asheville. During the first four weeks, participants will live with native Chileans and attend intensive language and culture classes at the Universidad Catolica. They will also participate in field trips and will meet with Chilean colleagues.

Denise DiPuccio, grant author and chair of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, said this travel program was important because "when faculty can share such experiences with students, it expands students' cultural and linguistic horizons. Although this will be a fun experience, it is primarily a learning experience."

She added the partnership with UNC Asheville will provide even broader possibilities for the program as well as allow UNCW faculty to establish connections with colleagues at a sister institution.

Jo Ann Seiple, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, agreed with the program's benefits.

"Participating faculty should attain greater sensitivity to the experiences of their Hispanic students as well as new directions for research and curriculum development," said Seiple.

The concept for the trip was an outgrowth of Rider's two-semester class "Spanish for Faculty." Rider said the class is enthusiastic about learning the language and developing an appreciation for Spanish and Spanish-American culture.

"I'm honored to lead this trip to Chile, and after its conclusion, I look forward to the contributions each participant will make back at home," said Rider.

Chile's selection as the trip destination was due to the established, active student exchange programs with the Universidad Catolica, DiPuccio said.

The Fulbright Hays Projects Abroad Program provides grants to support overseas projects in training, research and curriculum development in modern foreign languages. It is administered by the Fulbright Program, American's flagship educational exchange program, which is sponsored by the U.S. Information Agency.

VALIC Representative

David Hayden, a representative with VALIC, will be available for individual consultations concerning optional retirement or investment programs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 14 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an appointment, call Kelly Kennedy at ext. 3006 or e-mail kennedyk.

Career Banding

UNCW is participating in the state-wide project Career Banding. Initiated by the Office of State Personnel, this effort is designed to improve the employee classification and pay system.

According to Mark Steelman, director of employment and compensation, the project will develop a new system to classify positions, encourage career development and promote decision-making at the department level.

"Career banding will offer opportunities for career development and pay that is based upon factors related to market condition and employee skills and abilities," said Steelman. "UNCW is committed to paying market-competitive salaries to all employees regardless of their classification, as funding allows. University funding to support pay increases for banded classes will be considered and prioritized along with all other employee pay needs."

During the next few months, UNCW, along with NC State, UNC Chapel Hill, NC Central and other state agencies will study its classification of police officers and information technology staff positions.

Expansion of this project beyond the initial study groups has not been established. For more information, contact Steelman at ext. 3628 or Dale Lockwood at ext. 3161.

WebCT Training

Suzanne Craymer from Collegis Learning Technology will lead training sessions on WebCT at 12:30 and 3 p.m. April 22 in Hoggard Hall, Room 226. For more information, visit the Web site www.uncwil.edu/itsd/client/online-dev.html.

Health Privacy

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 included privacy provisions that took effect April 14, 2003. These provisions affect how patient information and claims are handled by health care providers.

The State Health Plan will require written authorization before discussing protected health information with another person. Each covered person, including spouse or child older than 18, must sign a separate authorization to release protected information. Forms and additional information are available on the Web at statehealthplan.state.nc.us. Direct questions to HR at ext. 3713 or 3006.

Print Shop Move

Renovations to the print shop are complete, and operations will move into the space April 28-30. The shop will remain open during the move, but users should allow extra time for the completion of print jobs due to equipment being off line during this period.

Effective April 29, print shop visitors should use the main entrance that was moved to the west side of the building.

Employee Appreciation

The annual employee appreciation breakfast will be served from 5:30 to 6:30 and 7:30 to 9 a.m. April 28. The ice cream social will be from 1 to 3 p.m. May 1. All events will be in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Rental Cars

Enterprise and Triangle are the two car rental agencies on state contract. Employees must use one of these agencies for travel unless neither agency is in the travel location or neither has cars for rent. If an alternate car rental agency is used, an explanation must be attached to travel reimbursements.

As a reminder, insurance is not a reimbursable expense for employees; UNCW's policy covers employees. Students are not covered by the policy and must purchase insurance.

Farewell Reception

Faculty and staff are invited to a university-wide cookout and reception for Chancellor James R. Leutze and his family from 4 to 6 p.m. April 30 on the Campus Commons.

Summer Hours

The university will observe summer hours from May 19 through Aug. 11. Official hours will be 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday with a 30-minute lunch break and 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Friday.

Deferred Compensation

Tammy Parker, a representative with North Carolina's 457 deferred compensation plan, will conduct a presentation at 10 a.m. April 22 in the human resources training room, 5051 New Centre Drive. A drawing will be held for a door prize. To schedule an individual appointment, contact Parker at 888-600-2763 ext. 125 or e-mail tammy.parker@gwl.com.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employee: Teresa Kesler, housing and residence life.

Shared Leave

Melanie Kelley, university police, and Candice Madden, accounting, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23172 Project Assessor	April 28
23173 Student Services Assistant	April 28
23174 Housekeeper	April 28
23175 Grounds Supervisor I	April 28
23176 Grounds Worker	April 28
23177 Gen. Utility Worker	April 28

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 38 April 24, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Eye on UNCW Provides a Virtual Glimpse at Campus Life

Through Eye on UNCW, prospective students or employees as well as everyday Web surfers get a virtual glimpse of the campus.

"Imagine being able to access a campus photo album or live views of the campus as well as videos of faculty, staff and students via the Web," said Robert E. Tyndall, vice chancellor of the Information Technology Systems Division and associate provost. "Eye on UNCW is a portal that will provide those who may be interested in making UNCW their institution of choice an opportunity to experience a sample of what we have to offer."

Eye on UNCW, which went live last week following a demonstration to the UNCW Board of Trustees, is not meant to be a comprehensive view of the university, said Kim Kelly, ITSD special projects coordinator and Eye on UNCW project director.

"It is a snapshot of many of the experiences and opportunities that are going on here," she said.

The largest component of Eye on UNCW is the film clips that provide information about the university as a whole as well as the College of Arts and Sciences and the professional schools.

"We knew we wanted strong video archives," said Kelly. "Prior to filming, which started last year, we contacted deans and senior administrators and asked for their input to determine areas they wanted to highlight."

Kelly and videographer Andrew Buchanan, an international award-winning filmmaker, collected interviews and campus footage to compile the more than 50 movie clips that can be accessed using Real Video Player.

"Eye was a lot of fun to work on because we tried to utilize some of the most modern and dynamic film production techniques," Buchanan said. "The platform resembles 'reality' television, so these vignettes (videos) have a very 'in the moment' feeling to them."

The photo album section of the portal uses 20 base pictures. It is designed for slower download connections, said Kelly. The live portal views are shots taken by Web cameras stationed at three locations across campus. A fourth camera, housed in Trask Coliseum, is portable. It allows the Athletics Department the capability to stream events over the Web.

"Eye on UNCW serves as a living document that will constantly change and develop," said Kelly. Future plans include additional videos during the next year that will enhance the portal's student life section. There are also plans to add two live camera views of the campus.

Browsers use this control console to access Eye on UNCW sections.

"The obvious hope is that Eye on UNCW will bring more visibility to the institution and all that it has to offer," Kelly said.

Creation and development of Eye on UNCW was a collaborative effort that took several months to bring from conception to reality, said Kelly. In addition to Buchanan and Kelly, the team included Michel Fougères, university webmaster, who created the Web interface and spearheaded testing; William Wetherill, a digital animation specialist, who created the portal's multimedia opening; Steve Perry,

see Eye on UNCW on Page 5

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Farewell Reception

Faculty and staff along with their families are invited to an informal university-wide cocktail and reception in honor of Chancellor James K. Leutze and his family from 4 to 6 p.m. April 30 in the Campus Commons.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Chancellor-elect DePaolo Honored by Georgia

The Georgia Senate honored Rosemary DePaolo, Georgia College and State University president and UNCW chancellor-elect, with a resolution that recognized her achievements at the university and congratulated her on being selected as UNCW's next chancellor.

The resolution said that DePaolo "will bring to UNC Wilmington a proven record of leadership in administration, a passionate commitment to excellence in undergraduate education, and an understanding of the special relationship between public institutions and the regions they serve."

DePaolo announced March 21 that she had accepted the position at UNC Wilmington. She has been president of GC&SU since 1997. Before joining GC&SU, she was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Western Carolina University. She was the ninth and first female president of Georgia College & State University. DePaolo will succeed Chancellor James R. Leutze who is retiring after a 13-year career.

Connection Luncheon

Black faculty, staff and students are invited to an end-of-year luncheon hosted by the Black Campus Connection. It is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. April 30 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Direct questions to Linda MacRae at ext. 7435.

Leutze Legacy on Display

Randall Library will host the exhibit "Opening Doors, Opening Minds: The Legacy of Chancellor James R. Leutze" throughout May in its main exhibit display case.

Vice Chancellor on Search Committee

Patricia Leonard, vice chancellor for student affairs, is a member of the search committee for the chief executive officer of New Hanover Regional Medical Center Network. Leonard is on the network's board of trustees.

Historian to Lecture on Developments in Brazil

James Green, associate professor of Latin American history at California State University, Long Beach, will discuss "President Lula, Social Movements and Current Developments in Brazil" at 7 p.m. April 28 in King Hall, Room 101.

Green, who is president of the Brazilian Studies Association, will talk about the impact of the October 2002 election of Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva, a former metalworker and union leader, as president of Brazil. According to Green, Lula's victory is perhaps the most important positive political and social event in that country since the abolition of slavery in 1888.

The author of Male Homosexuality in 20th Century Brazil, Green is completing the work No Time for Tears: Opposition to the Brazilian Military Dictatorship in the United States, 1964-85.

The UNCW Departments of History, Foreign Languages and Literatures and Sociology and Criminal Justice are sponsoring this free, public lecture.

UNCW Students Present Research to Legislators

UNCW students Kemp Burdette, Michael Hollister, H. Carter Morrisette, Geoffrey Ravilius, Kristy Van Etten, Nicole Vollmer and Diana Wu showcased their research to state legislators in Raleigh as part of the Research in the Capital symposium. They were among a group of 90 undergraduate students from 15 UNC campuses selected to participate in the April 22 event.

Gauguin Print Displayed in Lakeside

A print of Paul Gauguin's Matamoe, donated by Hampstead Arts, is on display in the lobby of Lakeside Hall as part of Child Abuse Prevention Awareness Month.

The artwork is "representative of a tranquil and peaceful environment which is what we wish all children could experience," said Karen Sandell, social work. Students in her seminar on children and youth along with members of the Social Work Club organized a ceremony, held earlier this month, to dedicate the print.

Landfall Grants

The Landfall Foundation is accepting applications from nonprofit organizations and agencies for its 2003-04 funding cycle. Last November, the foundation awarded grants to 41 agencies totaling $80,005. Allocations target health and welfare activities, education and the arts. Priority is given organizations with low administrative overhead and high volunteer participation. Grants range from $500 to $3,000.

Application guidelines and forms are available on the Web at www.landfallfoundation.org or can be requested by writing the foundation in care of 2009 Spanish Wells Drive. The deadline to submit four copies of the application is 5 p.m. July 11.

Agencies are allowed to submit one application each.

Directory Correction

The correct e-mail address for Adina Lack Riggins, Randall Library archives, is rigginsa. The phone extension is the same.

Artist Recital Series

Frank Bongiorno and the UNCW saxophone quartet will perform at 4 p.m. April 27 in Kenan Auditorium as part of the Music Department's Artist Recital Series. Admission is $5; $2.50 for faculty, staff, senior citizens and children under 12. UNCW students admitted free with valid ID. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium box office the day of the event.

Gauguin's "Matamoe"

United Nations Lecture

Robert Toplin, history, will lecture on "The Relevancy of the United Nations" at 7:30 p.m. April 30 in Randall Library Auditorium. The Coastal Carolina chapter of the United Nations Association is sponsoring this free, public talk.

Graduate Defenses

Patrick Carroll will defend "Pilot Production of Hatchery-reared Summer Flounder Paralichthys dentatus in a Marine Recirculating Aquaculture System: The Effects of Ration Level on Growth and Nitrification Rates of a Microbead Biological Filter" at 2 p.m. April 24. Melissa Ernst will defend "The Effects of Hypobaric Hypoxia on Aspects of Oxygen Transport and Utilization in Mice with an Inherited Tolerance for Hypoxic Exercise" at 2 p.m. April 25. Both presentations will be in Dobo Hall, Room 103.

Brent Manning will defend "Topographic Analysis of the Oculina Habitat Area of Particular Concern Using a Multimedia Geographic Information System" at 2 p.m. April 25 in DeLoach Hall, Room 114.

Allen Golf Tournament

The Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences will host the eighth annual Earl Allen Memorial Golf Tournament May 10 at the Old Pointe Golf Course in Hampstead. Registration and lunch is at noon; tournament play begins with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Entry fee is $75 per player and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and dinner. Tournament proceeds will benefit the Earl Allen Scholarship Fund. For more information, call ext. 4268.

Physics Colloquium

Moorad Alexanian, physics and physical oceanography, will present "The No-cloning Theorem" at 2 p.m. April 25 in DeLoach Hall, Room 212.

Yard Sale to Raise Funds for Scholarship

English majors will hold a yard sale from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 26 at 101 Brookwood Road to raise money toward establishing a scholarship in memory of Mary Ethel Richardson, who was the grandmother of English professors Sue and Stephanie Richardson. For more information, call ext. 3748.

WSO to Perform Candide

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will conclude its 31st season with the performance of Leonard Bernstein's Candide at 8 p.m. May 3 in Kenan Auditorium.

Candide, which premiered in 1956, is based on a 1759 novella by Voltaire, a French playwright and satirist. The plot tells of the philosophical awakening of a noble youth.

Featured soloists for this performance include Nancy King and Emery Stephens, music, along with Joy Murrell, Kenney Potter, Michael Rallis and Thomas Speckhard. Tony Ribenbark will narrate.

For ticket information, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Willie Atkinson to Perform at Jazz Benefit Concert

Jazz and blues vocalist Willie E. Atkinson will perform with the UNCW Big Band at 8 p.m. April 25 in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is $10 and free to UNCW students with a valid ID. Tickets will be available at the auditorium box office on the night of the concert. Proceeds will benefit scholarships for students in the Music Department's Jazz Studies Program.

Atkinson, a native of Johnston County, has performed at jazz festivals in the United States and internationally in Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. His repertoire includes favorites such as Summertime, Round Midnight and Stormy Monday Blues as well as songs by Irving Berlin, Thelonious Monk, Cole Porter and T. Bone Walker. Atkinson began his professional music career in the 1960s as a high school student in Raleigh.

The UNCW Big Band, under the direction of Frank Bongiorno, will perform several compositions arranged by jazz faculty member Jerald Shynett and several UNCW jazz students. The UNCW Jazz Combos, led by Shynett, will open the concert.

This performance is possible through the Cape Fear Jazz Society, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the preservation and presentation of jazz.

Open Hanging

Faculty, staff and students are invited to participate in an "open hanging" sponsored by the University Union Exhibit Series.

Bring ready-to-hang artwork to the Warwick Center gallery from 5 to 7 p.m. April 29 or 1 to 3 p.m. April 30. Pieces will be displayed on a first-come, first served basis. The exhibit will run through August.

For more information, contact Shannon Hooker at ext. 7600.

Center Stage Buffets

The Center Stage lunch buffets, served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Warwick Center, Seahawk Grille, will feature the menus listed below. The cost for these all-you-care-to-eat buffets is $5.50.

Friday - Citrus soy marinated chicken, vegetable tetrastini, fruited wild rice, carrots, green beans, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Tuesday - Sliced roast beef, vegetable lasagna, mashed potatoes with gravy, broccoli with cheese sauce, spiced apples, assorted rolls, salads, desserts and beverages.

Atkinson

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Maurice Martinez, specialty studies, presented the paper "Separate and Unequal: Patterns of Re-segregation in America and the Impact on Education" at the 31st annual conference of the National Association for Ethnic Studies held in Phoenix.

Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, presented "Chemical Defenses of Coral Reef Sponges: Are They Optimized?" at the 32nd annual Benthic Ecology meeting in Groton, Conn. At the same meeting doctoral student Jonathan Cowart talked on "The Reproductive Strategy of a Pterasterid Sea Star: Hermaphroditism, Sperm Storage or Parthenogenesis?" and graduate students Shobu Odate and Kyle Waters gave the respective presentations "The Role of Vanadium in the Chemical Defense of the Solitary Tunicate Phallusia nigra" and "Do Chemically Defended Sponges Heal Wounds at Different Rates than Sponges that Are Grazed by Fishes?" Graduate student Adam Jones presented the poster "Sponge Physical Chemistry: Are Chemical Defenses Affected by Structural Elements?"

Mike Mallin, Larry Cahoon, Mike Durako, Tara MacPherson, Jay Souza and David Wells, biological sciences and CMS, presented "Chlorophyll and Nutrient Patterns in River-influenced Long Bay Versus Nonriver-influenced Onslow Bay Ocean Regions" at the Southeastern Estuarine Research Society conference in Atlantic Beach. At the same meeting, MacPherson, Mallin and Cahoon presented "Rates of Oxygen Uptake in Southeastern North Carolina Tidal Creek Habitats."

Rick Olsen, communication studies, delivered the paper "Frank, Vern, Hilda . . . and Ken?: A Burkeian Analysis of Trading Spaces" at the 2003 Southern States Communication Association in Birmingham, Ala. The paper attempts to explain the popularity of the TLC program. He was also an invited participant for a panel on media and social behavior.

Brooks Avery, Robert Kieber, Charles Ward and Joan Willey, chemistry, attended the 225th American Chemical Society meeting in New Orleans where Kieber, Whitehead, Willey and student Rance Hardison presented "Photochemical Production of Fe(II) in Rainwater." Ward presented "Enhancing Student Discussion with an Interactive Student Response System." Avery presented the poster "Rates of Carbon Remineralization in Coastal Wetland Sediments Under Sulfate Reducing and Methanogenic Conditions: Implications for Sea Level Rise and Global Warming."

Chip Hackler, film studies, had his film Dawn Patrol included in the main body of the Cocalorus Film Festival. After the screening, Hackler participated in a question-and-answer session about the film's production. The film was featured in an article in Lumina News.

Earl Sheridan, political science, presented the paper "Conservative Implications of the Irrelevance of Racism in Contemporary African-American Cinema" at the annual meeting of the National Association for Ethnic Studies in Phoenix.

Tim McNeilly, Robin Bell, Bob Gough and Audra McBride, campus recreation, attended the 2003 National Intramural Recreation Sports Association (NIRSA) annual conference and recreational sports exposition in Cleveland. McNeilly received the NIRSA's National Service Award in recognition of "exceptional performance or dedication, creativity and innovations and a standard of excellence in professional achievement" for his work with the regional flag football championships. Bell and Gough gave the presentation "Water Fitness Gymnasium for KIDZ." McBride presented "Taking the 'Mandatory' Out of Training."

Jenny Yates, liberal studies, had the paper "A Dream of Sophia, Hokhmah, Shekinah" published in Cambridge 2001.

Martin Posey and Troy Alphin, biological sciences and CMS, attended the 32nd annual Benthic Ecology meetings in Groton, Conn., along with eight students from UNCW's Benthic Ecology Lab. Posey and Alphin presented "Growth, Reproduction and Survivorship Responses to Food Enhancement for Two Species of Estuarine Polychaetes" with student Meredith Owens. They also presented "Utilization of Spartina alterniflora and Woody Debris Patches by Four Estuarine Fish Species" with student Brian Boutin; "Laboratory and Field Comparison of Habitat Utilization by Callinectes sapidus and Callinectes similis" with student Jonathan Hartsell; "Patterns of Larval Distribution and Settlement in a River-dominated Estuary" with student Russ Barbour; "Relative Use of Seagrass, Woody Debris and Oyster Shell Habitats in Estuarine Systems" with student Joe Sonnier; "Fragmentation and Habitat Function in Created Oyster Reefs" with student Heather Harwell; and "Relationship Between Predation Pressure and Juvenile Callinectes sapidus Distribution Patterns in a River-dominated Estuary" with student Bryan Allen. At the same meeting Posey, Alphin, Michael Mallin, CMS, Lynn Leonard, earth sciences, along with student Kimberly Cressman, presented "Effects of Intertidal Oyster Reefs on Water Quality in a Tidal Creek." Posey, Alphin, Leonard, Lawrence Cahoon, biological sciences, and student Tom Molesky presented "The Influence of Created Oyster Reefs on a Southeastern North Carolina Intertidal Sandflat: Benthic Microalgae Biomass and Biogeochemical Fluxes." Posey, Alphin, Harwell and Molesky presented "Effects of Reef Complexity on Habitat Use and Oyster Recruitment."

George Zervos, philosophy and religion, will read the paper "Caught in the Act: Mary and the Adulteress" during the Christian Apocrypha section of the annual meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature in Atlanta. The paper is based on research that he is preparing for publication.

FEATURE

Longtime Director Terry Rogers Bringing Curtain Down on University Career

By Heather White,
University Relations Intern

When the final curtain descends on the University Theatre production of Picnic, it will signal the end of an era for director W. Terry Rogers.

During his more than 30 years at UNCW, Rogers has directed approximately 100 productions and worked with hundreds of students on their acting, stage design and production.

"My job here has been to guide students into a play, and once they are there let them go," said Rogers. "I have always encouraged my students to contribute their own thoughts and feelings into their work."

Rogers took an unusual path to the stage. After graduating high school in Jacksonville, Fla., he attended Jones County Junior College on a football scholarship. As a sluke, he decided to audition for two productions. He landed roles in The Importance of Being Earnest and HMS Pinafore. Captivated by the experiences, Rogers decided to drop athletics and transfer to the University of Florida at Gainesville to pursue his interest in theatre and education.

Rogers

"The first night I stepped onto the University of Florida campus, I felt that I belonged and that I had made the right decision," said Rogers.

After earning a bachelor's degree in 1956, Rogers spent three years in the Navy. Following the service, he taught high school English and drama for two years where he directed the plays Blythe Spirit and Curious Savage. He also joined a new theatre company, the Arlington Players. He directed their productions of Bell, Book and Candle, Rope and Flowers and Bees.

In 1960, Rogers received a graduate degree in English education and started teaching at Jacksonville University where he continued to act. After earning a second master's degree in theatre and completing his doctorate, Rogers joined UNCW in 1967.

At that time, the university did not offer a theatre major. Rogers said that while he discovered the program was reminiscent of high school, he was determined to turn it into a college-level experience.

In his second year, Rogers was named chair of the Art and Theatre Department. As head of the department for 10 years, Rogers was involved in the structuring of the department and developing the curriculum. He was also instrumental in establishing a theatre major. In addition, Rogers initiated the university's first film studies courses teaching film history and aesthetics. He also started summer theatre productions in the community and served as president of the North Carolina Theatre Conference.

In recognition of Rogers' contributions, the Department of Art and Theatre plans to establish an award in his honor that will fund student production of lesser-known theatrical works. Rogers classifies these works as "avant-garde theatre with philosophical and thoughtful ideas." Their production has been a hallmark of his tenure.

"I'm honored and flattered at the prospect of this award," said Rogers. "I especially appreciate that it is designed to give students the opportunity to do work that they would not have the chance to otherwise do."

Tom Macie, who has worked with Rogers for 17 years in art and theatre, said the award was a well-deserved tribute.

"He (Rogers) has a gentle soul and a genuine concern for everyone involved in his productions. He is a favorite director for students and faculty alike," said Macie.

Proceeds from the April 26 production of Picnic, scheduled for 8 p.m. in Kenan Hall, SRO Theatre, will benefit this award. Tickets are $18 and include a reception. Additional performances will be held April 24-25 and April 30 through May 3. Matinees will be performed at 2 p.m. April 27 and May 4.

Summer Hours

The university will observe summer hours from May 19 through Aug. 11. Official hours will be 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday with a 30-minute lunch break, and 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Friday.

Discount Coupons

Fun club cards offering discount admission to King's Dominion theme park are available in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Fall Electronic Reserves

To comply with copyright guidelines, all reserve material will be taken off line at the end of the semester. Faculty who plan to re-use reserve readings for the fall semester, must e-mail a list of titles, along with course numbers, to John Osinski at osinskij. Any new readings for fall should be sent, with complete bibliographic citations, no later than July 15, to ensure that they are online for the start of classes. Requests are processed in the order received.

Eye on UNCW continued from Page 1

university Web manager, who provided the live camera portal set up; Mimi Cunningham, assistant to the chancellor for university relations, who provided input on the selection of photos and text for captions; and John Golden, a local graphic designer.

To view Eye on UNCW, go to the News and Events Web site at www.uncw.edu/news.

CAS Convocation

The College of Arts and Sciences will hold its annual spring convocation at 2 p.m. April 30 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium. Recipients of the Chancellor's Teaching Excellence Awards will be announced. In addition, retiring faculty as well as those who received exemplary ratings on post-tenure reviews will be recognized, and there will be a memorial tribute to biological sciences professor David Sieren who died during the past year following a long illness.

Weight Watchers

Weight Watchers Corporate Solutions will begin a new 15-week session April 30. The group meets at noon Wednesdays in the James Hall conference room. The cost is $165, which can be paid in installments of $55. Three checks written at the time of enrollment should be dated April 30, June 3 and July 3; they will be deposited on those dates.

Student Employment

Offices and departments are reminded to list campus student employment opportunities for summer and fall with career services. Fax positions to ext. 4257 or e-mail Lisa Small at smalll.

VALIC Representative

David Hayden, a representative with VALIC, will be available for individual consultations concerning optional retirement or investment programs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 14 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an appointment, call Kelly Kennedy at ext. 3006 or e-mail kennedyk.

Staff Training

Dealing with Extended Leaves, 2 to 4 p.m. April 29.

Leading Others Through Change, 9 to 11:30 a.m. April 30.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Print Shop Move

Renovations to the print shop are complete, and operations will move into the space April 28-30. The shop will remain open during the move, but users should allow extra time for the completion of print jobs due to equipment being off line during this period.

Effective April 29, print shop visitors should use the main entrance that was moved to the west side of the building.

Employee Appreciation

The annual employee appreciation breakfast will be served from 5:30 to 6:30 and 7:30 to 9 a.m. April 28. The ice cream social will be from 1 to 3 p.m. May 1. All events will be in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

The Board of Governors approved a resolution at its January meeting recognizing staff for their support of UNC's missions of teaching, scholarship and service and honoring their dedication and contributions to the system.

Nominees Sought for Crews Faculty Award

The UNC-W Alumni Association is accepting nominations for the 2003 J. Marshall Crews Distinguished Faculty Award, recognizing faculty who have made a difference in the lives of their students. The deadline for nominations is June 15.

Nominees must be/or have been a full-time faculty member with a minimum of seven years of service to Wilmington College and/or UNC-W. The award may be given posthumously. The recipient will receive a $500 cash award and a medallion.

Nomination forms can be downloaded in PDF format from the alumni association Web site, www.uncwil.edu/ alumni. Letters, limited to two pages, must indicate how the nominee meets the criteria set forth. Send nominations to Patricia Smith, Wise Alumni House. For more information, call ext. 2682.

Be a Part of Graduation

The commencement committee and Division of Student Affairs remind faculty and staff that spring commencement ceremonies will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. May 17 in Trask Coliseum.

Volunteers are needed to assist with student line-up in Hanover Gym as well as the ceremony in the coliseum.

Prospective volunteers should contact Mary Crookes, university events coordinator, at ext. 7505 or e-mail crookesm.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employee: Anita Jones, accounting.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23172 Project Assessor	April 28
23173 Student Services Assistant	April 28
23174 Housekeeper	April 28
23175 Grounds Supervisor I	April 28
23176 Grounds Worker	April 28
23177 Gen. Utility Worker	April 28

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Shared Leave

Alex Astrab, physical plant; Melanie Kelley, university police; and Candice Madden, accounting, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Accessible Recreation

UNCW will host the second annual Accessible Recreation Day from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 25 in the parking lots of Trask Coliseum and Hanover Hall.

Events will include clinics and demonstrations highlighting various recreational opportunities open to people who are wheelchair users as well as those with other physical disabilities.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 39 May 1, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Harris Teeter, Six Others Get Razor Walkers

Harris Teeter and six individuals who have made a significant impact on the lives of children in North Carolina received the Razor Walker Award during an April 28 ceremony in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

The Razor Walker Award, established in 1993 by the Watson School of Education, is recognized as one of the state's most prestigious and unique service awards. It is presented annually to a select group of individuals and a corporation who have, through commitment and tenacity, made a significant impact on the lives and the education of children in North Carolina.

Harris Teeter was recognized for its "Together In Education" program, which donates thousands of dollars each year to local schools to help buy needed supplies to educate children. Since its inception in August 1998, the program has contributed $3,443,287 to schools across seven southeastern states and the District of Columbia.

Individual recipients were John Carriker, New Hanover County district attorney; John Edwards, U.S. senator; Nathaniel Irvin II, assistant dean for MBA student development at Wake Forest University and executive professor of future studies; Tannis Nelson, president of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers; Constance Parker, founder and executive director of Wilmington Health Access for Teens (WHAT); and Dan Strickland, associate superintendent of Columbus County Schools.

Carriker was recognized for establishing a teen court and other programs that have helped child victims and their families access local community services such as counseling and support groups.

Edwards was honored for his emphasis on public school reform. His platform calls for financial incentives to encourage people to teach. He also encourages stronger connections between colleges and secondary schools.

Irvin was cited for founding Future Focus 2020 to work with groups and organizations, particularly young people, to examine social, political, economic, technological and environmental issues that are expected to have the greatest effects on urban communities by the year 2020.

Nelson was honored for her work on numerous nonprofit boards addressing education, health and welfare needs of children and their families. Her efforts

see Razor Walker Award Winners on Page 4

Carriker

Edwards

Irvin

Nelson

Parker

Strickland

McLellan Named Environmental Hero

Research scientist William McLellan received the Environmental Hero Award from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), an agency of the Department of Commerce, during an April 27 ceremony at Greenfield Park Amphitheatre as part of the Lower Cape Fear celebration of Earth Day.

McLellan was one of 35 individuals honored and the only one in North Carolina. The award recognized McLellan's "outstanding efforts to respond to and investigate marine mammal strandings throughout the nation." Laurie Allen of Silver Spring, Md., director for the Office of Protected Resources, NOAA Fisheries, presented the honor.

The Environmental Hero Award honors NOAA volunteers for their see Environmental Hero on Page 3

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Graduate Assistant Sought

The Center for Leadership Education and Service is seeking applicants for a new graduate assistant/intern position. This individual will primarily work to promote leadership education programs and recruit student participants. The individual will work 20 hours a week and will receive a stipend of $8,000 for the assignment period of Aug. 1 through May 15. For more information, contact Shelly Hoover at ext. 3797.

Student Film Screenings

The Film Studies Department will host a screening of student films at 2 p.m. May 2 in Morton Hall, Bryan Auditorium, and at 8 p.m. May 7 at Hollywood East Cinema Grille.

The May 2 event features projects by students enrolled in "Introduction to Film Production" and the senior production seminar. The May 7 screening also includes films by students enrolled in cinematography, directing and computer animation classes. Food and beverages will be on sale at Cinema Grille.

Astronaut to Speak

Astronaut Curtis Brown will speak about his experience with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at 7:30 p.m. May 8 in Dobo Hall, Room 134. This free event, sponsored by the Master of Public Administration Program, is in conjunction with Public Service Recognition Week.

Brown, a native of Elizabethtown, received a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from the Air Force Academy in 1978. In 1987, Brown was selected as an astronaut candidate. After completing a one-year training and evaluation program, he qualified for flight assignment as a pilot. A veteran of six space flights, Brown has logged more than 1,300 hours in space. He served as pilot on shuttle missions in 1992, 1994 and 1996 and was spacecraft commander on missions in 1997, 1998 and 1999.

Songs of Hollywood

"The Songs of Hollywood," a musical performance surveying the history of song in film, will be presented at 8 p.m. May 18 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets for this concert, which benefit WHQR public radio, are $15 and are on sale at the auditorium box office.

Written and narrated by Philip Furia, creative writing, "The Songs of Hollywood" will include performances by Stephanie Nakasian, Brad Moranz, Jeffrey Phillips and Sara White along with the Hod O'Brien Quartet, featuring saxophonist Frank Bongiorno, chair of the Department of Music. This concert is based upon a work-in-progress by Furia and Laurie Patterson, a lecturer in computer science.

Nakasian, producer and director of "The Songs of Hollywood," is recognized by The New Biographical Encyclopedia of Jazz as one of the most important jazz singers in the world today. She has performed on television and radio including performances with the Jim Cullum Jazz Band for public radio's Riverwalk series.

Moranz, a singer and dancer, played Groucho Marx in Tommy Tune's Broadway production A Day in Hollywood, A Night in the Ukraine and Fred Astaire in the film Radioland Murders.

Phillips starred in Thalian Hall productions of Kiss Me, Kate and Smokey Joe's Cafe, and White, a soprano, performed with the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra. Hod O'Brien, part of New York's jazz scene since the 1950s, played in clubs like Birdland with jazz legends such as Chet Baker, Art Farmer and Stan Getz.

The Cape Fear Jazz Society, WHQR, Kenan Auditorium and the Department of Creative Writing are cosponsoring this benefit performance.

Walk and Jog Program

Campus recreation is offering a directed walk/jog program from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Student Recreation Center, Room 114. For more information, call ext. 7443.

Dawson's Creek Farewell

Todd Berliner, film studies, spoke at the city's farewell tribute to the television show Dawson's Creek April 26. The program, which filmed in the area for six years, used the campus as a shooting location about 65 times. A plaque dedicated to the show is posted on a bench at Alderman Hall, which was the location of the fictional Capeside High School.

The "Dawson's Creek" Bench

Picnic Continues

University Theatre's production of William Inge's play Picnic continues May 1-3. Performances of this comic, human drama are at 8 p.m. in Kenan Hall's SRO Theatre. A matinee will be presented at 2 p.m. May 4. Admission is $8, $2 for UNCW students with valid ID.

Discount Coupons

Fun club cards offering discount admission to King's Dominion theme park are available in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Allen Golf Tournament

The Department of Health and Applied Human Sciences will host the eighth annual Earl Allen Memorial Golf Tournament May 10 at the Old Pointe Golf Course in Hampstead. Registration and lunch is at noon; tournament play begins with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Entry fee is $75 per player and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and dinner. Tournament proceeds will benefit the Earl Allen Scholarship Fund. For more information, call ext. 4268.

Recreation Major Named Tournament MVP

UNCW junior Freddie Smith is a hoops star. Not with the Seahawks, but the Port City Spokesmen, a local wheelchair basketball team.

In February, the Spokesman won a national championship and Smith took Most Valuable Player honors.

Playing in the National Wheelchair Basketball Association's Division III national tournament, Smith, a therapeutic recreation major, scored more than 130 points during six games. Fifteen other teams from seven states and Canada competed in the tournament, which was held in Cleveland. The team's victory was featured in the Star-News article "Dream Realized: Local Wheelchair Hoops Team Wins National Title."

Leadership Awards

Jennifer Chin, a lecturer in communication studies, received the Outstanding Adviser Award for her work with the Communication Studies Society. The honor was presented as part of the 2002-03 Student Organization Leadership Awards sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center.

Other honorees were the psychology honors society Psi Chi, which received outstanding community service; Theta Chi won outstanding educational program for their Brothers Against Drunk Driving campaign; the Native American Student Organization received outstanding publicity campaign for their fall powwow; the Association for Campus Entertainment won outstanding social program for homecoming; the UNCW chapter of the NAACP won Diversity Program of the Year for its Heritage Ball; and the Environmental Concerns Organization was named outstanding student organization. Students Sarah Medley, Hannah Renwick and Nicole Marschhauser were also honored. Medley won the Unsung Hero Award for her work with the Communications Studies Society. Renwick and Marschhauser, members of the ECO Club, were named outstanding new student leader and outstanding student organization leader, respectively.

Battleship Hosting Fabulous 50 Cents Film Festival

Dave Monahan, creative writing and film studies, is the host for the Fabulous 50 Cents Film Festival sponsored by the USS North Carolina Battleship. For four Fridays in May, outstanding comedies from four decades will be shown on the battleship's deck. The schedule is listed below. In case of rain, the films will be shown in the Visitor Center Auditorium. Admission is 50 cents. Screenings begin at 8 p.m.

• May 2 – Duck Soup

This satiric 1933 film starring the Marx Brothers, features Groucho as the prime minister of Freedonia, a postage-stamped size country that declares war on neighboring Sylvania just because.

• May 9 – The Lady Eve

Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda are paired as a brassy con artist and prissy professor in this 1941 movie. The pair, who meet on a liner, engage in a humorous battle of the sexes.

• May 16 – Some Like It Hot

In this 1959 comedy directed by Billy Wilder, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon play jazz musicians on the run from the mob after witnessing the St. Valentine's Day massacre. They masquerade in drag as members of an all-girl band heading for Miami.

• May 23 – The Apartment

Another Billy Wilder film, this 1960 feature won Oscars for best picture, director, screenplay, editing and art direction-set direction. Jack Lemmon attempts to climb the corporate ladder by loaning his apartment to senior executives for their extramarital trysts, but it backfires when he falls for his boss's latest girlfriend played by Shirley MacLaine.

Proposal Workshop

The Office of Sponsored Programs will hold a workshop on issues related to submitting the perfect grant proposal from 11 a.m. to noon May 9 in the University Union, Room 103B. For more information, call ext. 3810.

Shared Leave

Alex Astrab and Robert Kidd, physical plant; Melanie Kelley, university police; and Candice Madden, accounting, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Environmental Hero continued from Page 1

McLellan with NOAA's
Environmental Hero Award

"tireless efforts to preserve and protect our nation's environment."

McLellan, who has responded to strandings for more than 18 years, is the large whale necropsy team leader for the Mid-Atlantic and the North Carolina state stranding coordinator. He has volunteered numerous hours and driven thousands of miles in his effort to assist the stranding network and scientists in understanding the causes of strandings, including human-induced mortalities, basic biology and the causes of die-offs.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

WSO to Perform Candide

The Wilmington Symphony Orchestra will conclude its 31st season with the performance of Leonard Bernstein's Candide at 8 p.m. May 3 in Kenan Auditorium.

Candide, which premiered in 1956, is based on a 1759 novella by Voltaire, a French playwright and satirist. The plot tells of the philosophical awakening of a noble youth.

Featured soloists for this performance include Nancy King and Emery Stephens, music, along with Joy Murrell, Kenney Potter, Michael Rallis and Thomas Speckhard. Tony Rivenbark will narrate.

For ticket information, contact the auditorium box office at ext. 3500.

Seahawk Club Tournament Fund-raiser

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Entry fee is $125 per person and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and course beverages as well as dinner provided by Rucker John's. Proceeds will benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

Youth Orchestra

The Wilmington Symphony Youth Orchestra will perform at 7:30 p.m. May 4 at the Scottish Rite Temple Auditorium. Tickets are $3 at the door.

Girls Soccer Camps

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a junior day camp for girls ages five to 14 June 23-27 and a senior residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 19-23.

The cost for the junior camp is $230 for full day (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) and $120 for half day (9 a.m. to noon). For seniors, the camp is $430 for residents, $330 for commuters.

Daughters of UNCW employees receive a $25 discount. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairney at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

Landfall Foundations Seeking Grant Applicants; Guidelines Established for Single UNCW Submission

The Landfall Foundation is accepting applications from nonprofit organizations and agencies for its 2003-04 funding cycle. Last November, the foundation awarded grants to 41 agencies totaling $80,005. Allocations target health and welfare activities, education and the arts. Priority is given organizations with low administrative overhead and high volunteer participation. Grants range from $500 to $3,000.

Application guidelines and forms are available on the Web at www.landfallfoundation.org or can be requested by writing the foundation in care of 2009 Spanish Wells Drive. The deadline to submit four copies of the application is 5 p.m. July 11.

Agencies are allowed to submit one application per entity. To comply with this guideline, the following process was established for UNCW proposals.

Applicants should submit a one-page summary of their project along with an estimated grant amount to the Office of the Chancellor by 5 p.m. June 20. The chancellor will review summaries and select the single concept for submission to the Landfall Foundation. Applicants will be notified of this selection by June 30. This will provide the author of the selected proposal time to complete the formal application, which must be submitted to the Office of Sponsored Programs for internal routing and review prior to its submission to the Landfall Foundation.

Nominees Sought for Crews Faculty Award

The UNCW Alumni Association is accepting nominations for the 2003 J. Marshall Crews Distinguished Faculty Award, recognizing faculty who have made a difference in the lives of their students. The deadline for nominations is June 15.

Nominees must be/or have been a full-time faculty member with a minimum of seven years of service to Wilmington College and/or UNCW. The award may be given posthumously. The recipient will receive a $500 cash award and a medallion.

Nominators must describe ways the faculty member supported students beyond the walls of the classroom such as adviser, reference, mentor or coach in regard to scholarship, leadership or other significant ways. They must describe examples of the individual's research and creativity, contributions to the field of study/academia, committee service, Faculty Senate or other leadership roles.

Nomination forms can be downloaded in PDF format from the alumni association Web site, www.uncwil.edu/alumni. Letters, limited to two pages, must indicate how the nominee meets the criteria set forth. Send nominations to Patricia Smith, Wise Alumni House. For more information, call ext. 2682.

Razor Walker Award Winners continued from Page 1

include: promoting parent and family involvement, supporting character education and addressing 100 percent tobacco-free schools.

Parker was recognized for her work with WHAT, a health care center that provides comprehensive physical and mental health care to unserved and underserved teens in Southeastern North Carolina. Since 1997, more than 4,500 teens have made more than 36,000 health care visits to WHAT, not including those who have participated in the health education and community outreach programs.

Strickland was cited for his leadership in Columbus County Schools that has enabled the system's arts education program to become one of the premier programs in the state. He has engaged the community to provide the human and fiscal resources for supplies/materials, technology, facilities, productions and equipment - all designed for enhanced learning opportunities for children and appreciation of the arts by the citizenry.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Terry Theodore, art and theatre, was appointed an external expert reviewer of teacher education programs by the Office of Higher Education for the State Education Department of New York. Theodore will help evaluate standards of quality for accreditation of theatre programs that prepare classroom teachers at colleges and universities in New York State. He will examine accredited programs for their commitment to and vision for preparing all graduates to be effective teachers as well as their philosophy, purposes and objectives; standards for program registration; teaching effectiveness of graduates; and assessment of candidate achievement. In addition, he will examine if institutions meet standards with regard to financial resources, support services, advertising, candidate complaints, public disclosure of accreditation status and annual reports.

Wade Watanabe, CMS, attended the National Aquaculture Association conference in Louisville, where he and Constantinos Moustakas presented "Photoperiod and Salinity Effects on Growth, Survival and Whole Body Osmolality of Larval Southern Flounder." At the same meeting, Kim Copeland, CMS, presented "Economic Evaluation of a Small-scale Recirculating System for Production of Black Sea Bass in North Carolina" with Christopher Dumas, economics and finance. Copeland also presented "Growth and Feed Utilization of Hatchery-reared Juvenile Southern Flounder Fed a Practical Diet in a Recirculating System Under Two Different Salinities" with Frank Montgomery. Graduate student Christopher Woolridge presented "Alterations in the Composition of Phosphorylated Compounds During Embryonic Development in Southern Flounder Examined by 31-P Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectroscopy" with Stephen Kinsey, biological sciences. Graduate student Allison White presented "Induced Volitional Spawning of Black Sea Bass with Pelleted LHRH-a at Two Dose Levels," and Patrick Carroll, CMS, presented "Intensive Rotifer Culture in a Commercial Scale Recirculating System Using the Condensed Microalgae Nannochloropsis oculata" with Amy Riedel from Aquatic Ecosystems Inc.

Anping Wu and Dan Pfohl, Randall Library, had the paper "Employing CatME's Efficiency, Ease and Economy" published in the Online Computer Library Center's Systems and Services.

Carol Pendergrast, art and theatre and communication studies, received a scholarship from the Sons of Norway to attend the International Summer School at the University of Oslo, where she will take courses on Norwegian language, life and society. She will also study Argentine tango at one of Oslo's studios combining the exploration of Norwegian heritage with her long-term interests in Hispanic culture.

Bill Dinome, student affairs, was the inaugural recipient of the Chairman's Award of Excellence presented by the Student Media Board. The award recognized Dinome for his support and advocacy of student media above and beyond his role as student media coordinator.

Chris Shank, chemistry, presented the paper "Photochemically Initiated Changes of DOC and Copper Speciation During Sediment Resuspension Events" at the 225th American Chemical Society meeting in New Orleans. Co-authors of the paper were Robert Whitehead, Robert Kieber and Steve Skrabal, chemistry, along with graduate student Michelle Smith.

Rob Konopaske, management and marketing, is faculty advisor for the newly founded Human Resource Association, a student chapter of the National Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM). Anna Barrett, chapter president, had the article "Creativity + Fun - Enthusiasm" accepted for publication in Echoes, the SHRM national newsletter.

Scale Measures Anti-white Attitudes Among Blacks

Health care professionals want to know why fewer blacks than whites seek radiation treatment after being diagnosed with cancer. A scale developed by two UNCW psychologists, initially to measure anti-white attitudes among blacks, may uncover the reasons.

"It is expected that the greater anti-white bias score an individual receives, the less trust in the health care system and white health care providers. Thus, high levels of anti-white bias may lead blacks to be more reluctant to seek health care or seek health care only when the symptoms are extreme," said James Johnson who developed the Johnson-Lecci Scale with fellow psychology professor, Len Lecci. If approved, they will test this hypothesis as part of a $3.5 million dollar grant that New Hanover Regional Medical Center has proposed to the National Cancer Institute.

According to Johnson the scale is the first of its kind.

"Several scales have been developed to measure anti-black attitudes, but none have been developed to accurately measure anti-white attitudes," he said.

The scale, which was outlined in the March publication of Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin, is based on a test comprised of 20 self-reported statements from black students enrolled in a historically black college in the South. Students were asked to report statements of attitudes and beliefs that a close friend of theirs who 'really dislikes whites' would be likely to express or enact. The statements reported include a variety of attitudes and beliefs that reflect anti-white bias, such as, "I believe most whites think they are superior to blacks."

After a second pool of respondents at the college rated the accuracy of the initial respondents' statements, the statements were reduced from 187 to 20 to be used for the final version of the test. Individuals using the test to measure their own anti-white bias would rate the statements by selecting 'strongly agree,' 'agree,' 'disagree' or 'strongly disagree.'

According to Lecci, the scale employs the themes of in-group directed stigmatization and discriminatory expectations (e.g., "I believe that most whites would harm blacks if they could get away with it"), out-group directed negative beliefs, (e.g., "I believe that the success of a white person is due to their color"), negative views towards in-group/out-group relations (e.g., "I have referred to mixed couples as 'sell outs'") and negative verbal expressions toward whites (e.g., "I have insulted a white person.").

"Each of these themes represents potentially important additional information that can help us to predict if an individual is likely to interpret an action as discriminatory and even whether or not they will respond to that perceived discrimination," said Lecci.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 38 <sup>40th</sup> May 8, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Local Business Provides Marketing Class with Real World Experience

If you teach them, they will forget. If you show them, they will remember. If you involve them, they will understand. This is the teaching philosophy employed by Patricia Voli, visiting assistant professor of marketing, who initiated a class project that resulted in a television commercial for Jay Taylor Ter-ro Exterminating Co.

The commercial started airing on local and cable television stations in March and will continue for the next three months.

This fall, Voli divided two of her classes into 16 advertising agencies to compete for Taylor's account. Students were given these options: create a direct mailer, draft a brochure along with a distribution strategy, develop a public relations campaign or create other promotional strategies for the company's Sentricon Termite Elimination System.

The projects that created the most buzz included the commercial and brochures that could be used as a direct mailer for residential and commercial sectors.

After developing the concept for the commercial, class members worked with Bill Bolduc, communication studies, and Jeff Horton, a UNCW alumnus, to film it.

Students Erica Smith and Alex Bryant said they enjoyed working with Taylor on the marketing plans.

"This project allowed us to work as a small agency and get experience that will truly aid us in our future endeavors," said Smith. "It brought the real world to the classroom."

Bryant, a senior who was involved with the production of the commercial, said working with the Communication Studies Department was instrumental in the success of the project.

"In the future, I would like to see departments working together on more projects," he added.

Before this project, Taylor had a limited budget for television media.

"Due to the ideas I received from the marketing students, I have increased my advertising budget substantially this year," said Taylor. "This project has inspired me to reexamine my marketing strategies for the future. Because of Dr. Voli and her students, I have a better understanding of brand loyalty and marketing concepts needed for my company, and I had immediate use for several of the ideas that were presented."

In March, Taylor donated $1,500 to the Department of Management and Marketing and $500 to the Department of Communication Studies in appreciation of their assistance with the commercial.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

UNCW Hosting Quality of Life Conference

Much talk focuses on preserving the "quality of life" that attracts people to the Cape Fear area and keeps them here, but what does the phrase actually mean?

Community leaders, policy makers and representatives from the media and other regional organizations will try to answer that question at the second annual Quality of Life conference scheduled for 8 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. May 9 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. The Department of Political Science is hosting this free event.

According to Milan Dluhy, chair of political science and event organizer, UNCW, in conjunction with other local governments and non-profit agencies, will look at a range of data describing and detailing the region and its people. This information, which will be presented at the conference, will also be available online.

"Eventually, UNCW and others will develop quality of life indicators that will be published annually to measure the progress of the region modeled after the very successful Oregon Benchmarking Project developed over 20 years ago," Dluhy said.

The conference will use the data to help identify regional problems for agenda see Quality of Life on Page 3

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Grant Management

The Office of Sponsored Programs will hold the seminar "Managing Your Grant: We're Not in Kansas Anymore" from 2:30 to 4 p.m. May 21 in the University Union, Room 105. The workshop will cover university policies and procedures regarding the use of grant funding. To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starksms.

Project Give Back

Undergraduate students enrolled in the Psychology Department's practicum courses prepared more than 550 care packages of "home comforts" for member of the 2nd Battalion 25th Marines Platoon G Company as part of Project Give Back. Packages also contained letters from students.

Sue Lamb, psychology, implemented the project as "a lesson of the importance of service to the community and as a way to 'give back' to the men and women stationed in Iraq who have given so much of themselves." She and her counseling students donated items for the packages that included books, gum, candy, games, sewing kits and other objects that would fit in a shoe box.

Leadership Grove

Michael Bradley, psychology; Billy Dawson, university police; Walt Devries, IOP/L; Roy Harkin, specialty studies; Michelle Howard-Vital, public service and continuing studies; Linda Moore, advancement; and Geri Vital, academic affairs, were recognized for their leadership on behalf of or as a member of the university community at a rededication ceremony for the Leadership Grove May 1. The ceremony also recognized the following donors to Randall Library: Robert Brown, John Hetrick, Anthony Janson, C. Sue Lamb, David Landy, Derrick and Virginia Sherman and Stephen and Jo Whalen. Trees, which were donated on behalf of the honorees, were planted in the Leadership Grove, which is located near the University Union.

Daughtridge Joins Advancement Division

Suzanne Daughtridge has joined the Division for University Advancement as director of advancement services.

Daughtridge

In her role, Daughtridge is responsible for overseeing the various database and report needs of development and alumni staff. She will also manage the division's transition to the new advancement module during the university's migration to SCT Banner software.

Prior to joining UNCW, Daughtridge served as assistant director of advancement services for the Fuqua School of Business at Duke University, where she managed the school's alumni database and worked closely with the annual fund director to develop giving strategies. Daughtridge earned a bachelor's degree in history from UNC Chapel Hill.

Songs of Hollywood

"The Songs of Hollywood," a musical performance surveying the history of song in film, will be presented at 8 p.m. May 18 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets for this concert, which benefit WHQR public radio, are $15 and are on sale at the auditorium box office.

Written and narrated by Philip Furia, creative writing, "The Songs of Hollywood" will include performances by Stephanie Nakasian, Brad Moranz, Jeffrey Phillips and Sara White along with the Hod O'Brien Quartet, featuring saxophonist Frank Bongiorno, chair of the Department of Music. This concert is based upon a work-in-progress by Furia and Laurie Patterson, a lecturer in computer science.

The Cape Fear Jazz Society is sponsoring this benefit performance in conjunction with WHQR, Kenan Auditorium and the Department of Creative Writing.

Recreation Programs

Campus recreation is sponsoring two new fitness programs: aqua fitness and directed walk/jog. Aqua fitness, which starts May 19, will be held from 5:15 to 6 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays in the natatorium in Hanover Hall.

Directed walk/jog will be offered from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Student Recreation Center, Room 114. The program starts May 20.

For more information, call ext. 7443.

Astronaut to Speak

Astronaut Curtis Brown will speak about his experience with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at 7:30 p.m. May 8 in Dobo Hall, Room 134. This free event, sponsored by the Master of Public Administration Program, is in conjunction with Public Service Recognition Week.

Members of the university community said "farewell" to Chancellor James R. Leutze during a campus-wide reception April 30. Leutze is retiring this summer after a 13-year tenure.

Chancellor's Staff Advisory Committee Meeting

The Chancellor's Staff Advisory Committee will meet at noon May 13 in Alderman Hall, Room 215. Members of the committee are: Annie Aldrich, telecommunications; Lisa Allred, payroll; Carolyn Andrews, Randall Library; Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies; Glenda Bowen, Watson School of Education; Phillip Brown, university relations; Susie Goodrum, institutional research; Faith Joyce, physical plant; Lori Leitch, biological sciences; Mike Lloyd, printing services; Steve Mastro, CMS; Charles Mills, physical plant; Annette Richards, nursing; and Karen Thompson, career services. Staff are encouraged to share comments and suggestions with committee members.

Graduation Volunteers

Spring commencement ceremonies will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. May 17 in Trask Coliseum. Volunteers are needed to assist with student line up in Hanover Gym as well as the ceremonies in the coliseum. Contact Mary Crookes, university events coordinator, at ext. 7505 or e-mail crookesm.

Landfall Foundations Seeking Grant Applicants; Guidelines Established for Single UNCW Submission

The Landfall Foundation is accepting applications from nonprofit organizations and agencies for its 2003-04 funding cycle. Last November, the foundation awarded grants to 41 agencies totaling $80,005. Allocations target health and welfare activities, education and the arts. Priority is given organizations with low administrative overhead and high volunteer participation. Grants range from $500 to $3,000.

Application guidelines and forms are available on the Web at www.landfallfoundation.org or can be requested by writing the foundation in care of 2009 Spanish Wells Drive. The deadline to submit four copies of the application is 5 p.m. July 11.

Agencies are allowed to submit one application per entity. To comply with this guideline, the following process was established for UNCW proposals.

Applicants should submit a one-page summary of their project along with an estimated grant amount to the Office of the Chancellor by 5 p.m. June 20. The chancellor will review summaries and select the single concept for submission to the Landfall Foundation. Applicants will be notified of this selection by June 30. This will provide the author of the selected proposal time to complete the formal application, which must be submitted to the Office of Sponsored Programs for internal routing and review prior to its submission to the Landfall Foundation.

Girls Inc. Benefit Luncheon

North Carolina author Lee Smith will be the featured speaker at the Girls Inc. annual fund-raising luncheon scheduled for noon June 3 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Smith's latest novel The Last Girls tells the story of how college friends who grew up in an era when they were still called "girls" have negotiated life as "women." She is a retired professor of English at NC State University and resides in Hillsborough. A book signing in the Warwick Center lobby will follow with Two Sisters Bookery selling copies of Smith's books. Proceeds benefit Girls Inc.

Tickets for the luncheon are $50 per person. A table for eight is available for $400. For more information, contact Melissa Ramsay at 763-6674.

Girls Soccer Camps

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a junior day camp for girls ages five to 14 June 23-27 and a senior residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 19-23. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairncy at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

U.S. Rep. Mike McIntyre (second from the left) presented Provost Paul Hosier a check for $860,000 in federal funding to support mariculture research and a pilot project for disaster mitigation. Wade Watanabe, right, heads the mariculture project. Sharon Boyd, assistant vice chancellor for business affairs, will direct the Disaster Resistant University project. McIntyre toured the university's Wrightsville Beach mariculture facility during his May 5 visit.

Quality of Life continued from Page 1

setting purposes as well as the most critical indicators for tracking progress, said Dluhy. Community leaders will discuss the feasibility of setting up a regional progress board to monitor efforts to improve the area's quality of life, he added.

Lunch will be served at noon. There is no cost, but reservations are required by calling Ruth Lawrence at ext. 3220.

Seahawk Club Tournament Fund-raiser

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Entry fee is $125 per person and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and course beverages as well as dinner provided by Rucker John's. Proceeds will benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

---

Tracy Hargrove, curricular studies, wrote the book The Unintended Consequences of High-Stakes Testing with M. Gail Jones and Brett D. Jones. It was released by Rowman and Littlefield Publishers Inc.

Edna Collins and Edith Skipper, curricular studies, co-authored the article "Making the NCTM Standards User-Friendly for Child Care Teachers," which appeared in the March issue of Teaching Children Mathematics.

Jack Hall, environmental studies, received a letter of commendation from the North Carolina Science Olympiad for his work as the organization's regional director.

Richard Huber, curricular studies, had the article "The Impact of a Standards Guided Equity and Problem Solving Institute on Participating Science Teachers and Their Students" published in The North Carolina Journal of Teacher Education. Robert Smith and Paul Shotsberger, mathematics and statistics, were co-authors. Huber and Chris Moore had the article "High Stakes Testing and Science Learning Assessment" published in The Science Educator. In addition, Huber had the article "Field Trips Online," co-authored with B. Munson, R. Axler, G. Host, C. Hagle, C. Moore and G. Merrick, published in The Science Teacher.

Ann Stapleton, biological sciences, gave a presentation on a bioinformatics software prototype created by Thomas Hudson, computer sciences, Jeffery Brown, mathematics and statistics, and student Kenisha Johnson at the 45th annual Maize Genetics meeting in Lake Geneva, Wisc. At the same meeting, graduate student Yibing Fu presented the poster "Whole-Genome Mapping of Maize UV Responses." It included work by undergraduate student Carletha Blasing.

Bradford Walker and Richard Huber, curricular studies, co-authored the article "Helping Students Read Textbooks," which was published in Science Scope.

Jim Herstine, health and applied human science; John Whitehead, economics and finance; William Hall, Center for Business and Economic Services; and Wendy Larimer, SBTDC, received $4,995 from N.C. Sea Grant to analyze the economic impacts and benefits of recreational boating on the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway in North Carolina.

Wade Watanabe, Ami Wilbur and Troy Alphin, biological sciences and CMS, received $19,999 from the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration for the project "Biological Treatment of Effluent from an Intensive Marine Finfish Recirculating Aquaculture Facility by Cultivation of Marine Microalgae and Bivalves."

William McLellan and Ann Pabst, biological sciences, received $74,240 from the National Marine Fisheries Service for the project "Enhanced Evaluation of Human Interactions with Bottlenose Dolphins in North Carolina and Virginia."

Richard Huber, curricular studies, wrote the invited article "Rethinking the Way We Teach Science: Providing Science Teachers with Internet Tools for Facilitating Inquiry" for the Proceedings of the K-12 Outreach from University Science Departments: 2002, published by North Carolina State University Press. He also presented "Preparing Pre-service Science Teachers for Teaching about Evolution" at the international conference for the Association for the Education of Science Teachers in St. Louis and "Interactive Internet Tools for Scientific Inquiry" to the Society for Information Technology and Teacher Education international conference in Albuquerque.

Tanya Covington, curricular studies, was a contributor to the revised edition of the Infant/Toddler Environment Rating Scale published by Harms, Cryer and Clifford. The scale is a nationally recognized assessment tool that is used to evaluate infant and toddler classrooms as part of North Carolina's star-rated licensing system for child care facilities.

Hengameh Kermani, curricular studies, presented the workshop "Teaching Children in Early Childhood Classroom about Diversity" at the Child Advocacy Council Child Care conference in Wilmington. At the same conference, she and Edna Collins, curricular studies, presented the workshop "It's More than Shapes, Colors, Numbers and Letters." At the Association for Educational Communications and Technologies conference in Dallas, Kermani presented "Handheld, Wireless Computers and Their Effects on the Design and Development of an Interactive Instruction," and at the Information and Communication Technologies in Education conference in Spain, she presented "Handheld, Wireless Computers: How Can They Improve Learning and Instruction?"

Mark Imperial, political science, gave the invited presentation "Implementing Ecosystem Management in the United States: Lessons from Watershed Management Programs" at a workshop on the ecosystem approach in the Baltic Sea. The workshop, which was sponsored by the Swedish Ministry of Environment's Commission on the Marine Environment, was held in Vaxholm, Sweden.

Joan Willey, chemistry, gave the talk "Effects of Rainwater Fe(II), Fe(III) and Hydrogen Peroxide on Chlorophyll a Production in Sargasso Seawater Bioassays: A Delicate Balance" at the joint meeting of the American Geophysical Union, the European Geophysical Society and the European Union of Geosciences in Nice, France. Robert Kieber and Brooks Avery, chemistry, along with graduate student D. Ransom Hardison were co-authors.

Granetta Richardson and Stephanie Richardson, English, presented "Cooks and Books" as part of a panel about innovative approaches to teaching an honors enrichment seminar at the South Regional Honors Council in Greensboro. Sophomore honors students Jessica Jones and Demetrius Sidberry assisted with the presentation, which was based upon the Honors 120 course "Luscious Literature."

Library Intersession and Summer Schedule

Randall Library will observe the following schedule prior to the start of summer sessions:

May 11	closed
May 12-16	8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
May 17-18	closed
May 19-21	8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

During summer sessions, the library will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1 to 10 p.m. Sunday.

Proposal Workshop

The Office of Sponsored Programs will hold a workshop on issues related to submitting the perfect grant proposal from 11 a.m. to noon May 9 in the University Union, Room 103B. For more information, call ext. 3810.

Travel Change

Adams World Travel is no longer a university-preferred agency for employee travel. Faculty and staff should utilize the services of the following agencies: Freedom Travel, IN Travel, Travel Consultants and World Wide Travel.

Fee comparisons are available through the E-Travel system or by calling Sandy Ellington at ext. 7504.

Summer Ads

Starting with the May 22 issue, the Campus Communique will publish personal ads while the university observes summer hours. Employees can submit ads via e-mail to communique@uncw.edu, fax to ext. 3847 or campus mail to Westside Hall, Room 130. Include contact information. Ads will be printed on a space-available basis. Direct questions to ext. 7223.

Discount Coupons

Fun club cards offering discount admission to King's Dominion theme park are available in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Job Title Change

Heather Smith is assistant vice chancellor for student affairs.

In announcing the change, Pat Leonard, vice chancellor for student affairs, said Smith has played "an invaluable role in the division, and I am proud that her new title more accurately reflects her leadership responsibilities."

Farewell Social

The Information Technology Systems Division will host a farewell ice cream social for Christi O'Sullivan, client services, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. May 15 in the reception area of offices located at 5051 New Centre Drive. O'Sullivan, who has been with the division two years, is taking a position with Pfizer Corp.

VALIC Representative

David Hayden, a representative with VALIC, will be available for individual consultations concerning optional retirement or investment programs from 8:30 to 5 p.m. May 14 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an appointment, call Kelly Kennedy at ext. 3006 or e-mail kennedyk.

Fall Electronic Reserves

To comply with copyright guidelines, all reserve material will be taken off line at the end of the semester. Faculty who plan to re-use reserve readings for the fall semester, must e-mail a list of titles, along with course numbers, to John Osinski at osinskij. Any new readings for fall should be sent, with complete bibliographic citations, no later than July 15, to ensure that they are online for the start of classes. Requests are processed in the order received.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Elizabeth Fugate-Whitlock, gerontology and environmental studies; LaRee Hendricks, accounting; Dede Orr, university police; and Debora Quirk, admissions.

Summer Hours

The university will observe summer hours from May 19 through Aug. 11. Official hours will be 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday with a 30-minute lunch break and 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Staff Training

Disciplinary Actions and Appeals, 9 to 11:30 a.m. May 21.

Situational Leadership, 9 to 11:30 a.m. June 3.

Write to the Point, 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. June 4.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Swansea Director

The Office of International Programs is seeking faculty interested in the position of resident faculty director for the UNCW/University of Wales Swansea study abroad program during spring 2005.

For more information, contact Elizabeth Adams, education abroad coordinator, or Jim McNab, assistant provost for international programs, at ext. 3685.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23178 Marine Specialist	May 9
23179 Budget Specialist	May 9
23180 Office Assistant IV	May 9
23181 Assistant Director,
Advancement Services	May 30
23182 Nurse Practitioner	May 16
23183 Operator Supervisor	May 16

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Shared Leave

Alex Astrab and Robert Kidd, physical plant; Melanie Kelley, university police; Candice Madden, accounting; and Diane Reed, career services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

This is recyclable.

Kudos Reception

Fifty-eight employees were recognized at a Kudos reception April 24 at Kenan House.

The honorees were Lee Ann Dulatre, Linda MacRae, Gori Vital, academic affairs; Deborah Cronin and Sharon Lindgren, College of Arts and Sciences; Geneva Bacik, Gerry Compeau, Colon Roberts, Melissa Smith and Sandra Williams, CMS; Pat Austin, Claude Brown, Jerry Bullock, Bonnie Clements, Bill Ferencak, Mary Forsythe, Jeff Fullwood, Joan Greene, Tommy Guinn, Nita Hartless, Faith Joyce, John Matney, Roosevelt Miller, Karen Moorefield, Harvey Porter, Mike Smith, Derrick Spencer, Dan Suits, George Syles and Willie Verner, business affairs; Phillip Brown, Sam Connally, Bob Fry, Elizabeth Greene, Kelly Kennedy, Dale Lockwood, JoAnn McDowell and Lori Preiss, chancellor's office; Annie Aldridge, Brian Barrett, Chet Harvey, Liz Hosier, Jeff Jolly, Gia Long, Jim Moravansky, Michael McQuery, Lori Speakman, Betsy Stallard, Michael Swart, Beverly Vagnerini and Laura Zeffiretto, information technology systems; Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies; and Carolyn Farley, Suzi French, Linda Miller, Dana McKoy, Monica Peterson, Aimee Schooley and Tina Strickland, student affairs.

The Kudos Program, established in 1997, is designed to recognize university employees who demonstrate exceptional customer service in their work. To nominate a colleague, go to the Web site www.uncwil.edu/hr/kudos.htm, complete the nomination form and forward it to human resources.

VALIC Representative

David Hayden, a representative with VALIC, will be available for individual consultations concerning optional retirement or investment programs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 14 in human resources, 5051 New Centre Drive. To schedule an appointment, call Kelly Kennedy at ext. 3006 or e-mail kennedyk.

Library Exam Hours

During the spring final exam period, Randall Library will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. May 3 and 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 10.

Starting at 10 a.m. May 4, the library will provide 24-hour service through 2 a.m. May 9.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23178 Marine Specialist (Undersea Research Diver)	May 9
23179 Budget Specialist (Accounting Tech. III)	May 9
23180 Office Assistant IV	May 9

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Volunteers Needed for Commencement

Spring commencement ceremonies will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. May 17 in Trask Coliseum.

Volunteers are needed to assist with student line-up in Hanover Gym as well as the ceremonies in the coliseum. Contact Mary Crookes, university events coordinator, at ext. 7505 or e-mail crooksm.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Catherine Colborn, Student Health Center; Laura Cole, information technology systems; Suzanne Daughtridge, advancement; Linda Gumm, Cameron School of Business; Robert Mann, A/V media services; and Gregg Sales, physical plant.

Applications for Swansea Semester Abroad Director

The Office of International Programs is seeking faculty interested in the position of resident faculty director for the UNCW/University of Wales Swansea study abroad program during spring 2005.

Responsibilities include meeting with OIP staff during the academic year prior to the assignment to receive program information, promoting and recruiting students for the program during spring, summer and fall 2004 as well as the following academic year, teaching one honors enrichment course at UWS, teaching one course relevant to the needs of the Department of American Studies at UWS, reviewing program applications, advising participants before and during the study abroad program, assisting OIP and future resident directors with orientation, promoting and planning the program, managing program funds and maintaining regular contact with all participants through regular office hours and planned program activities.

Preference will be given to a full-time, tenured UNCW instructor who is capable of teaching one American Studies course and a two-credit honors class. The American studies course is open to students from the University of Wales. The honors course is limited to study abroad participants.

Applicants should have previous experience living, working or studying in an overseas setting. In addition, applicants should have a demonstrated ability to generate and implement an effective, energetic recruiting plan for student participants during spring and fall 2004, a willingness to serve as an adviser and mentor to students' academic and personal adjustment in a cross-cultural setting and ability to teach a course in the arts and sciences area at UWS as well as an honors enrichment course.

The director will receive regular salary and benefits from UNCW. Transportation to and from Swansea and housing costs are paid for by the program.

Applicants should send a curriculum vita, cover letter, names of two references, and a brief description of the American Studies and honors courses they propose to teach to University of Wales Swansea Search Committee, International Programs, University Union, Room 103A. Review of applications will begin May 23.

For more information, contact Elizabeth Adams, education abroad coordinator, or Jim McNab, assistant provost for international programs, at ext. 3685. For information on the UWS American Studies Department, visit the Web site www2.swan.ac.uk/.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 40<sup>5</sup> May 15, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Public History Students Receive Preservation Award of Merit

Thirteen UNCW students received a Preservation Award of Merit for their efforts to secure local landmark designations for 13 historic Wilmington structures. The honor was presented May 9 at the Bellamy Mansion as part of the Historic Wilmington Foundation's annual celebration of Preservation Week.

As an assignment for Introduction to Public History (HST 470/570), students spent fall 2002 documenting and researching the historical significance of the following structures: City Hall/Thalian Hall, Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church, Dr. Hubert Eaton's house, Fire Stations No. 2 and 5, First Baptist Church, Giblem Masonic Lodge, Gregory Congregational Church, New Hanover County Courthouse, Sixth Street Truss Bridge, South Water Street Ice House, St. John's Lodge and Williston School. They also prepared preliminary drafts of the local historic landmark applications that were submitted at the December 2002 meeting of the Wilmington Historic Preservation Commission. William Moore, assistant professor of history, and Maggie O'Connor, an historic preservation planner for the city, supervised the students' efforts.

"This work by UNCW students to preserve Wilmington's historic physical fabric is part of UNCW's commitment to service-learning in which students acquire important skills while also making southeast North Carolina a better place to live," said Moore. "UNCW's Public History Program, which is part of the History Department, trains students to pursue professional careers outside the academic environment in specialties such as historic preservation, museums and cultural resource management."

Nursing School Names Outstanding Alumna

Christina Hollis, a registered nurse at New Hanover Regional Medical Center, is the UNCW School of Nursing 2003 Outstanding Alumna. She received the honor at the Nurses Night Celebration held May 8 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Nurses Night Celebration, which was cosponsored by the School of Nursing and the N.C. Nurses Association District 22, is an annual event held during National Nurses Week, May 6-12. It honored registered nurses from Brunswick, New Hanover and Pender counties.

Commencement Ceremonies May 17

UNCW will hold commencement exercises May 17 in Trask Coliseum. Ceremonies for the College of Arts and Sciences will be at 9:30 a.m.; exercises for Cameron School of Business, Watson School of Education and the School of Nursing will be at 1:30 p.m. These will be the final ceremonies over which retiring Chancellor James R. Leutze will preside; he will have special remarks for both groups. Information on departmental receptions is available on the Web at www.uncwil.edu/stuaff/transitions/seniors/commencement.html.

As coordinator for the medical center's Southeastern Regional Advisory Committee on Trauma, Hollis organizes regional disaster preparedness efforts between hospitals, first responders, emergency management and state agencies. She also provides outreach education to emergency medical services and hospitals.

Hollis received a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from UNCW in 1995. She is a member of the Coastal Carolina chapter of the Emergency Nurse's Association and the UNCW School of Nursing Alumni Association chapter.

Hollis

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Graduation Gala

The campus community is invited to a gala honoring graduates and their families. This event, hosted by the Division for Student Affairs, will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. May 16 in the Warwick Center.

Art at WHQR Gallery

Original artwork by Kathleen Nobles, information technology systems, will be displayed during June at the WHQR gallery, 254 Front Street.

Print Interruption

The Print Shop and Copy Center will be closed from noon to 2 p.m. May 28. Direct questions to Betty Moore at ext. 3289.

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in the 2003-04 class of Leadership Wilmington, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

Sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation, the program educates participants about community challenges and needs and the dynamics of social and economic changes in the region.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213.

Young Writers' Workshop

The Creative Writing Department will hold its second annual Young Writers' Workshop June 24-28. Designed for 10th- to 12th-grade students, the workshop will provide five days of intensive writing study and interaction with department faculty, graduate students and guest authors.

Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. The cost is $325 which includes tuition, housing and three daily meals. For more information, call ext. 7063.

Girl's Basketball Camps

The Women's Basketball Program will hold summer day camps for girls ages eight to 15 June 23-26 and July 28-31. Employee discounts are available. For more information, call ext. 3418.

Girls Inc. Benefit

North Carolina author Lee Smith will be the featured speaker at the Girls Inc. annual fund-raising luncheon scheduled for noon June 3 in the Warwick Center Ballroom.

Smith's latest novel The Last Girls tells the story of how college friends who grew up in an era when they were still called "girls" have negotiated life as "women." She is a retired professor of English at NC State University and resides in Hillsborough. A book signing in the Warwick Center lobby will follow with Two Sisters Bookery selling copies of Smith's books. Proceeds benefit Girls Inc.

Tickets for the luncheon are $50 per person. A table for eight is available for $400. For more information, contact Melissa Ramsay at 763-6674.

Grant Management

The Office of Sponsored Programs will hold the seminar "Managing Your Grant: We're Not in Kansas Anymore" from 2:30 to 4 p.m. May 21 in the University Union, Room 201. The workshop will cover university policies and procedures regarding the use of grant funding. To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starks.m.

Recreation Programs

Campus recreation is sponsoring two new fitness programs: aqua fitness and directed walk/jog. Aqua fitness, which starts May 19, will be held from 5:15 to 6 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays in the natatorium in Hanover Hall.

Directed walk/jog will be offered from noon to 1 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Student Recreation Center, Room 114. The program starts May 20.

For more information, call ext. 7443.

Songs of Hollywood

"The Songs of Hollywood," a musical performance surveying the history of song in film, will be presented at 8 p.m. May 18 in Kenan Auditorium. Tickets for this concert, which benefit WHQR public radio, are $15 and are on sale at the auditorium box office.

Summer Ads

Starting with the May 22 issue, the Campus Communique will publish personal ads while the university observes summer hours. Employees can submit ads via e-mail to communique@uncw.edu, fax to ext. 3847 or campus mail to Westside Hall, Room 130. Include contact information. Ads will be printed on a space-available basis. Direct questions to ext. 7223.

Fantail Film Festival

The 1959 comedy Some Like It Hot will be shown at 8 p.m. May 16 as part of the Fabulous 50 Cents Fantail Film Festival sponsored by the USS North Carolina Memorial Battleship. Dave Monahan, creative writing, will host the screening, which will be on the battleship's deck. Admission is 50 cents.

Girls Soccer Camps

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a junior day camp for girls ages five to 14 June 23-27 and a senior residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 19-23. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairney at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

Seahawk Club Tournament Fund-raiser

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Entry fee is $125 per person and includes cart, green fees, range balls, lunch and course beverages as well as dinner provided by Rucker John's. Proceeds will benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Mark Imperial, political science, received $15,000 from the IBM Endowment for the Business of Government to produce the report "Using Performance Measures to Improve Collaborative Processes: Lessons from Three Watershed Management Programs."

Hengameh Kermani and Mahnaz Moalleem, curricular studies, and Sue-Jen Chen, specialty studies, presented the paper "Incorporating Computer Assistance in Assessment: The Use and Benefits of Handheld, Wireless Computers in Student Learning and Quality of Instruction" at the annual meeting of the National Consortium for Instruction and Cognition in Chicago. They also presented "Using Handheld Computers to Apply Principles of Effective Instruction" at the Teaching and Technology conference in Greensboro. Kermani, along with Helena Janes from California State University, Stanislaus, presented the poster "Life Curricula for Survival: Immigrant Latina's Mothers Uptake of a Family Literacy Project" at the annual meeting of the American Educational Research Association in Chicago.

Mike Mallin, CMS, presented "Watershed Development, Rainfall Runoff and Coastal Stream Pollution" at the Eastern Regional American Waterworks Association meeting in Wilmington. Undergraduate biological sciences student Jenny Johnson was co-presenter.

Eleanor Covan, gerontology, presented the workshop "Aging in Thailand: Family Roles in a Changing Cultural Context" along with Dena Shenk, director of gerontology at UNC Charlotte, at the annual meeting of the Southern Gerontology Society in Richmond. It was based on data gathered in Khon Kaen, Thailand, during summer 2002.

Heidi Messina, UNCW-TV, received an Award of Distinction from the Videographer Awards for a 30-second commercial about the university that she produced. The Videographer Awards, based in Arlington, Texas, is an international awards organization that helps set the standard for the video production industry.

Granetta Richardson, English, had the essay "Screen Play: Ethos and Dialectics in A Time to Kill" published in the monograph The Terministic Screen: Rhetorical Perspectives on Film, edited by David Blakesley and published by Southern Illinois University Press.

James Johnson, psychology, was interviewed by Los Angeles radio station KCSN regarding the Johnson-Lecci scale to measure anti-white bias.

Mike Adams, sociology and criminal justice, was a guest on the May 2 edition of The O'Reilly Factor, which airs on the Fox News Network. He discussed his opposition to race-based affirmative action. He will serve as an invited columnist for the Heritage Foundation, a Washington, D.C.-based conservative think tank.

Karen Shafer, SMEC, received $238,400 from UNC Chapel Hill for the project "North Carolina Partnership for Improving Mathematics and Science."

Lisa Williams, Jerry Parnell and Sue Cody, Randall Library, presented the poster "Prospecting for New Collaborations: Mining Syllabi for Library Service Opportunities" at the Association of College and Research Libraries conference in Charlotte.

Charles Ward, chemistry, presented the invited talk "Using Handheld Computers in the Chemistry Classroom" at the 117th meeting of the North Carolina section of the American Chemical Society held at UNC Chapel Hill. James Reeves and Barbara Heath, chemistry, were co-authors.

Patricia Kelley, earth sciences, is a member of the board of trustees of the Paleontological Research Institution, Ithaca, N.Y. Effective July 1, she will be the board's first vice chair.

Liping Gan, physics and physical oceanography, received $57,160 from the National Science Foundation for the project "Precision Measurement of Electromagnetic Properties of Light Pseudoscalar Mesons Via the Primakoff Effect."

Annie Aldrich (pictured fifth from right), telecommunications and 10-year cancer survivor, organized the UNCW team that took part in the American Cancer Society's 24-hour Relay for Life May 2 and 3. The team was comprised of students as well as the following UNCW employees: Frances Carr and Lisa Small, cancer services; Kim Copeland and Allison White, CMS; Lynne Goodspeed, chancellor's office; Rebecca Hunter and Dianne Matthews, student development; Gail Joy and Patricia Knauss, advancement; Kelly Kennedy, human resources; Sandy Marlow and Lonice Wilson, telecommunications; Michelle Starks, sponsored programs; Helen Rice, housing and residence life; Sondra Roark, accounting; Sandy Rogers, sociology and criminal justice; Judy Siko, academic affairs and relay team captain; Jeff Stanfield, audiovisual and media services; and Laura Zefiretto, information technology systems. Chancellor James R. Leutze and Robert E. Tyndall, vice chancellor for information technology systems, were team sponsors.

Chris Halkides, chemistry, received $140,083 from the National Institute of Health to study the movement of bacteria up or down a chemical concentration gradient and the role of the protein CheY in this process.

Jessica Burt, CROSSROADS, received $12,000 from the N.C. Governor's Institute on Alcohol and Substance Abuse for the project "Campus Community Coalition."

Fixed Assets Change

The Department of Fixed Assets now reports to the director of purchasing services and its office has been relocated to the purchasing building. Send mail for fixed assets to Campus Box 5615; the department's new fax number is ext. 3829. Carol Sgambati remains the contact. Her extension is 3875.

CAS Closes Job Search

Due to the uncertainty of the 2003-04 fiscal year budget, the College of Arts and Sciences has closed its search for a new associate dean. Steve Pullum will remain in this position.

Farewell Reception

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies will hold a farewell reception for Michelle Howard-Vital from 3 to 5 p.m. June 2 in the University Union Living Room. Howard-Vital is joining the UNC Office of the President July 1, where she will serve as associate vice president for academic affairs.

Campus Map Revised

Copies of the latest campus map are available for ordering through centralized forms. This version will be used in publications contracted through printing services.

University Union, Warwick Center Summer Hours

The University Union and Warwick Center will observe the following schedule during summer hours: 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday and closed Saturday and Sunday.

Open House

Printing services will hold an open house from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m., May 21. There will be tours of the press operation; attendees can register for door prizes.

Student Recreation Center Summer Schedule

The Student Recreation Center will observe the following summer schedule: 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday. Recreational swim will be held from noon to 2 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and noon to 2 p.m. Friday.

Retirement Receptions

Printing services will host a retirement reception for Brenda Nelson, manager of printing services, from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. May 21. Nelson is retiring after 25 years of service.

Student development services will host a retirement reception for Judy Bowers from 3 to 5 p.m. May 21 in the University Union Living Room. Bowers is retiring after 15 years as director of student health services. During this tenure, she guided the service under contracts with Wilmington Health Associates, Columbia Health Systems, Cape Fear Memorial Hospital and New Hanover Regional Medical Center. In 1999, Bowers helped establish the Student Health Center as a university operation.

Farewell Social

The Information Technology Systems Division will host a farewell ice cream social for Christi O'Sullivan, client services, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. May 15 in the reception area of offices located at 5051 New Centre Drive. O'Sullivan, who has been with the division two years, is taking a position with Pfizer Corp.

Summer Hours

The university will observe summer hours from May 19 through Aug. 11. Official hours will be 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday with a 30-minute lunch break and 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Shared Leave

Alex Astrab and Robert Kidd, physical plant; Melanie Kelley, university police; Candice Madden, accounting; and Diane Reed, career services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Andrew Fletcher, financial aid and veterans services, and Andrea Powell, human resources.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23181 Assistant Director, Advancement Services	May 30
23182 Nurse Practitioner	May 16
23183 Operator Supervisor	May 16
23185 Director of Accounting/Assistant Comptroller	May 23
23186 Assistant Director of Admissions
Transfer Coordinator	May 23
23187 Network Technician	May 23
23188 Irrigation/Spray Specialist	May 23

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Swansea Director

The Office of International Programs is seeking faculty interested in the position of resident faculty director for the UNCW/University of Wales Swansea study abroad program during spring 2005.

Applicants should send a curriculum vita, cover letter, names of two references, and a brief description of the American Studies and honors courses they propose to teach to University of Wales Swansea Search Committee, International Programs, University Union, Room 103A. Review of applications will begin May 23.

For more information, contact Elizabeth Adams, education abroad coordinator, or Jim McNab, assistant provost for international programs, at ext. 3685.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 41 May 22, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Nursing School Planning First Bachelor's in Clinical Research

The UNCW School of Nursing plans to establish the UNC system's first Bachelor of Science in Clinical Research. Wilmington-based PPD Inc. is providing $300,000 to develop the program.

"Clinical research provides information that ultimately improves health care for all through the development of new medications, devices and treatments," said Virginia Adams, dean of the School of Nursing. "We're excited that PPD, a leading global provider of discovery and development services to the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries, is investing in the preparation and education of clinical researchers."

According to Adams, UNCW's program will provide graduates with the health assessment background, communication and critical thinking skills and understanding of the clinical environment needed to manage research studies.

"Graduates will be able to function as administrators, coordinators or consultants in clinical research," said Adams.

"With the existing shortage of registered nurses and others knowledgeable in clinical research, this new program will undoubtedly benefit clinical research organizations throughout eastern North Carolina and across the state," said Fred Eshelman, chief executive officer of PPD. "We are pleased to work with the UNCW School of Nursing in developing this program and look forward to recruiting its top graduates to help us meet the growing global demand for our drug development services."

see Clinical Research on Page 3

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

DePaolo Names Max Allen Special Assistant

Max Allen, executive assistant to the president and director of university relations at Georgia College & State University has accepted the position of special assistant to the chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, effective in mid-July. He will oversee the operations of the Chancellor's Office and university relations.

"I am thrilled that Max Allen will be joining me at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington," said Chancellor-elect Rosemary DePaolo, now president of Georgia College & State University. She assumes her role at UNCW July 14.

"He is someone I rely on tremendously, both on a daily basis and in challenging times. Max has consistently proven to be an extremely effective communicator and administrator. He has gained the admiration and respect of a wide range of groups - faculty, staff, students, townspeople and influential leaders of the state. While GC&SU and the Milledgeville community will undoubtedly miss him, I look forward to continue utilizing his talents at UNCW," DePaolo said.

Allen has been employed at GC&SU for nine years. During that time, he served two presidents and utilized his public relations skills to develop many new initiatives, including the creation of a new statewide profile and image for GC&SU and its liberal arts mission. He chaired the committee to change the name from Georgia College to Georgia College & State University, orchestrated the use of the campus as a training site for Olympic badminton prior to the 1996 Olympic games in Atlanta and planned the visit of the Georgia General Assembly to the Old Governor's Mansion in 2001. He also serves as the university's liaison to the Board of Regents.

Allen, who is active in Milledgeville and the central Georgia community, serves on the following boards and organizations: the Knight Foundation's local advisory board for Milledgeville (chair), the Tri-County EMC Foundation board, the Milledgeville Mainstreet/Downtown Development Authority,

Allen

see Special Assistant on Page 4

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Fantail Film Festival

The Apartment, a 1960 comedy starring Jack Lemmon, Shirley MacLaine and Fred MacMurray, will be shown at 8 p.m. May 23 as part of the Fabulous 50 Cents Fantail Film Festival sponsored by the USS North Carolina Memorial Battleship. Dave Monahan, creative writing, will host the screening, which will be on the battleship's deck. Admission is 50 cents.

Men's Soccer Camps

The UNCW Men's Soccer Program will hold day camps for boys ages five to 14 June 9-13 and July 14-18 and a residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 25-29. For more information, contact Jeremy Wisdo at ext. 3044.

Kayak Trips

The Discover Outdoor Center is sponsoring the following kayak trips:

- Harbor Island Night Paddle, 6 to 10 p.m. June 12. Participants will paddle to Harbor Island near Wrightsville Beach.
- South River, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 28. Located in Sampson County, South River offers participants an opportunity to practice their paddling skills.
- Wrightsville Beach Estuaries, 8 to 11 a.m. July 12. Paddlers will explore the estuaries off the Intracoastal Waterway.
- Brunswick River, 1 to 5 p.m. July 20. An excellent trip for people learning to paddle, this excursion will take participants through a salt marsh and tidal wetlands.
- Hammock's Beach, 8 a.m. Aug. 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 3. Trip participants will paddle approximately two miles through the salt marsh to Bear Island and finally end at Hammock's Beach.

Day trips are $30 each for faculty and staff; the two-day trip is $50. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Aquarius Mission

Mary Alice Coffroth, State University of New York at Buffalo, and Jerry Ault, University of Miami, are principal investigators for the first Aquarius mission of the 2003 season. Working in the second of a two-year program, the researchers will study coral sizes, growth rates, mortality estimates and fine-scale surveys of coral recruits with an analysis of the genetic structure of corals on the reef.

Aquarius, located in the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary, is owned by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and operated by UNCW.

Kayak Clinics

The Discover Outdoor Center will hold clinics on kayak basics June 8 and 29 and kayak roll clinics on June 15 and July 13. Attendance is $7 per person, per clinic. To register, call ext. 4052.

Discover Workshops

The Discover Outdoor Center will offer the workshop "Get Around Above Ground" from 1 to 5 p.m. May 31 in the Student Recreation Center.

There will also be a workshop on backpacking and outdoor equipment June 3 and sessions about the climbing wall June 14 and 22. The cost is $5 per person, per workshop. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Print Interruption

The Print Shop and Copy Center will be closed from noon to 2 p.m. May 28. Direct questions to Betty Moore at ext. 3289.

Pier Fishing Tournament

The third annual U.S. Open Pier Fishing Tournament will be held June 7-8 on the Long Beach and Ocean Crest piers in Oak Island. Anglers can register to compete in three categories; all ages and skill levels are eligible. For more information, contact the Southport-Oak Island Area Chamber of Commerce at 800-457-6964 or visit the Web site www.usopenpiertournament.com.

Chamber Choir Auditions

The Bach Chamber Choir of Wilmington is holding auditions for singers of all voice parts for its fall season. For more information, contact Ryan Kasten, artistic director, at 762-9693 ext. 212.

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in the 2003-04 class of Leadership Wilmington, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213, or download the insert from the Web site www.uncw.edu/news/communique/2003/may/22/leadership\_wilmington.pdf.

Young Writers Workshop

The Creative Writing Department will hold its second annual Young Writers' Workshop June 24-28. Designed for 10th- to 12th-grade students, the workshop will provide five days of intensive writing study and interaction with department faculty, graduate students and guest authors. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. The cost is $325 which includes tuition, housing and three daily meals. For more information, call ext. 7063.

Seahawk Club Golf Tournament

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Proceeds benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

Summer Soccer

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a junior day camp for girls ages five to 14 June 23-27 and a senior residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 19-23. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairney at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

Clinical Research continued from Page 1

The proposed degree requires 127 semester hours of course credits including 63 hours of courses in the clinical research concentration. An internship with a clinical research organization, such as PPD, will also be required. UNCW will be the first public university in the state to offer a four-year nursing degree with a concentration in clinical research. Durham Technical Community College offers a two-year program. Duke University has a Master of Science in Nursing with a focus on clinical research. Campbell University offers bachelor's and master's degrees in clinical research through its School of Pharmacy.

Adams said she anticipates program planning will begin this fall. Prior to enrolling students, the UNC Board of Governors must approve the establishment of the degree.

In addition to providing startup funding over a three-year period, PPD will help plan the degree curriculum, and the UNCW School of Nursing will use qualified PPD staff as adjunct faculty, said Adams.

Shared Leave

Melanie Kelley, university police, and David Kidd, physical plant, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Girl's Basketball Camps

The Women's Basketball Program will hold summer day camps for girls ages eight to 15 June 23-26 and July 28-31. Employee discounts are available. For more information, call ext. 3418.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Bettie Glenn and Nancy McLeMore, nursing, received $16,529 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services/HRSA to fund an advanced education nursing traineeship program.

Karen Thompson, career services, co-chaired a statewide conference for the N.C. Association of Colleges and Employers. Other employees from career services who contributed to the conference were: Leslie Rand-Pickett, who chaired the new member orientation session and oversaw all printing operations for the conference; Susan Albach, who served as local arrangements chair; and Thom Rakes, who moderated a panel for a session on best practices.

Lisa Pollard, history, had the book Families of a New World: Gender, Politics and State Development in a Global Context published by Routledge. The work was co-edited with Lynne Haney, NYU.

Eric Henry, earth sciences, had an article summarizing the current state of knowledge about the use of surfactants to decontaminate soil and groundwater published in the May issue of Vadose Zone Journal. Surfactants dissolve oil or dry cleaning fluids in the soil in the same way dishwashing detergents clean greasy dishes by causing the contaminants to move more rapidly through the vadose zone to reach the water table. The article was co-authored by James Smith from McMaster University.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: 1990 Hyundai Excel. Four-speed, two-door hatchback with air conditioning and CD player. One owner. Runs well. 92,000 miles. $1,100. Call ext. 3215.

For sale: White German shepherd puppies. AKC registered, born March 19. Call 452-7489.

For sale: 1998 Ford Windstar. 86,000 miles. Excellent condition, serviced every 3,000 miles. $8,000. Call ext. 1131 or 686-2353.

For sale: Six oak Windsor arm chairs, $350; 30x42-inch adjustable wood drafting table with parallel rule and blueprint clamp, $125; 1995 V-8 Mercury Cougar, $4,000. Call ext. 3656.

For sale: 2000 Honda Accord. White, four-door model. CD player. Keyless entry. $11,500. Call ext. 7007.

For sale: Dark wooden table with leaf and four chairs, $120. Riding lawn mower with 46-inch cutting path and 18.5 HP engine, $500. 1973 Ford tractor with attachments, $6,500. Nordic Flex Gold with attachments, $150. Call Gloria at ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: Almond-colored dryer in excellent condition. Call ext. 3280.

For sale: Yamaha Wave Runner with trailer, $1,400. Call ext. 3645.

For sale: 1988 Volvo 240 DL wagon. Five-speed transmission. Excellent condition. One owner. Call ext. 3575.

For sale: One-year-old Horizon Elliptical exercise machine with arms and digital readout, $375. 2001 Polaris Scrambler four-wheeler, $900. Set of four 16-inch rims for a Pontiac GTA Trans Am, $250. Call 392-3525.

For rent: Single, furnished room with private bath near UNCW. Available during academic year. No smoking or pets. Kitchen privileges. $300 per month. Call 799-1886.

For rent: Furnished bedroom with sitting room and private bath near UNCW. Separate entrance. Room could be shared. Available during academic year. No smoking or pets. Kitchen privileges. $500 per month. Call 799-1886.

Lessons: Private swim instruction from certified lifeguard. Call 591-9240.

Seeking roommate: Professional male seeks faculty member or graduate student to share condominium near Wrightsville Beach. Fully furnished except for bedroom. $410 per month plus half utilities. Call Kurt at 256-5119.

Retirement Reception

The Office of the Chancellor will host a retirement reception for Robert Fry, assistant to the chancellor for planning and institutional research, from 3 to 5 p.m. May 29 in the University Union Living Room. Fry is retiring after 30 years of service.

Award of Excellence

June 18 is the deadline to submit nominations for the UNCW Staff Award of Excellence. Permanent career SPA or 12-month EPA employees are eligible for nomination in the following categories: outstanding state service, innovations, safety and heroism, human relations and public service.

The 2003 recipient will be named during the annual service awards luncheon, which is scheduled for noon Aug. 7 in the Warwick Center. The location for the luncheon is a change from its traditional setting in Wagoner Hall due to scheduled renovations.

Staff Award of Excellence recipients receive a $1,500 check presented on behalf of the Board of Trustees, a reserved parking space for one year and three days of vacation leave. Nomination forms are available from human resources.

University Union/Warwick Center Summer Schedule

The University Union and Warwick Center will observe the following schedule during summer hours: 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday and closed Saturday and Sunday.

Recreation Center Summer Hours

The Student Recreation Center will observe the following summer hours schedule: 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday. Recreational swim will be held from noon to 2 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and noon to 2 p.m. Friday.

Landfall Grants

The Landfall Foundation is accepting applications from nonprofit organizations and agencies for its 2003-04 funding cycle. Allocations target health and welfare activities, education and the arts. Grants range from $500 to $3,000.

Application guidelines and forms are available on the Web at www.landfallfoundation.org or can be requested by writing the foundation in care of 2009 Spanish Wells Drive. The deadline to submit four copies of the application is 5 p.m. July 11.

Agencies are allowed to submit one application per entity. To comply with this guideline, the following process was established for UNCW proposals.

Applicants should submit a one-page summary of their project along with an estimated grant amount to the Office of the Chancellor by 5 p.m. June 20. The chancellor will review summaries and select the single concept for submission to the Landfall Foundation. Applicants will be notified of this selection by June 30. This will provide the author of the selected proposal time to complete the formal application, which must be submitted to the Office of Sponsored Programs for internal routing and review prior to its submission to the Landfall Foundation.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23181 Asst. Dir., Advancement Services	May 30
23185 Dir. of Accounting/Assistant Comptroller	May 23
23186 Asst. Dir. of Admissions/Transfer Coordinator	May 23
23187 Network Technician	May 23
23188 Irrigation/Spray Spec.	May 23
23189 Marine Trades Spec.	June 2
23190 Laboratory and Environment Safety Officer	June 3
23191 Program Assistant IV	June 2
23192 Telecom. Technician	June 2

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Randall Library Exhibit Honors Retiring Chancellor

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Opening Doors, Opening Minds: The Legacy of Chancellor James R. Leutze" in its main exhibit case. The display includes artifacts, photos and a short film about Leutze and his roles as teacher, researcher, administrator and community leader.

Special Assistant continued from Page 1

the Government Affairs Committee for the Greater Macon Chamber of Commerce, Forward Baldwin (executive committee), the Sinclair Water Authority, BB&T Milledgeville-Lake Oconee Advisory Board, 100 Black Men of Milledgeville-Oconee, Region Six Advisory Council for the Georgia Department of Community Affairs and Sigma Pi Phi (Beta Chi) fraternity. He is on the statewide Georgia Education Advancement Council Board of Directors and received this organization's Distinguished Service Award for Public Relations in November 2002.

Prior to joining Georgia College & State University, Allen was a lieutenant commander in the United States Navy. He retired after 18 years of service as a public affairs officer, including spokesman for the Navy's involvement in the Challenger space shuttle disaster.

Allen holds a bachelor's degree from Jacksonville University in Florida and is a graduate of the Naval War College in Newport, R.I. He is also a graduate of Leadership Georgia Class of 2000.

DePaolo has asked Mark Lanier, special assistant to Chancellor James R. Leutze, to remain as an assistant and oversee state and federal governmental relations, Board of Trustees affairs and planning. Mimi Cunningham, the university's public information officer who has reported to Lanier, will continue in her role and will report to Allen.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 42 May 29, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW Student Receives Fulbright Grant to Study in Canada

Kemp Burdette, a May 2003 graduate, received a Fulbright scholarship to study in Canada. He is the ninth UNCW student awarded this prestigious grant.

"I have spent my undergraduate career preparing for this opportunity," said Burdette. He will use the scholarship to study maritime history at Memorial University of Newfoundland. Burdette said Memorial Univer-

"A year of study in Canada will provide a unique opportunity to learn maritime history at a leading university in this field," said Burdette.

A Wilmington native, Burdette graduated magna cum laude with majors in history and geology and focused his studies on maritime history. He has written extensively on the subject including "The Black River: History, Evolution and Impacts on Southeastern North Carolina" and "Point Caswell: A Steamboat Town at the End of the 19th Century." Copies of both papers are located in Randall Library Special Collections and the New Hanover County Public Library. Burdette's honors thesis "Cape Fear Ballast Stones: A Tool for Historians" will be published by the Honors Scholars Program.

Burdette will leave for Canada in mid-August for his one-year assignment. He will study and conduct research with Lewis R. Fischer, a professor of history and editor-in-chief of the International Journal of Maritime History.

Upon completion of his graduate work, Burdette wants to go into education. For the past three summers, Burdette worked as a teaching assistant for Duke University's Talent Identification Program. He said this experience has influenced his career plans.

"I hope to combine my love of research with my desire to teach others what I've learned," said Burdette. "There is still so much that we can learn about the role of the sea in the history of man, and I am ready to get started."

Burdette

sity, located in the port city of St. John's, is an ideal place to continue his studies.

Music Department Sponsoring Concert Series During Summer Jazz Workshop

The UNCW Department of Music is sponsoring a series of concerts as part of its Summer Jazz Workshop scheduled for June 22-28.

The Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra will present the first concert in the series on June 23; a performance by the UNCW Jazz Faculty Combo is set for June 24. The final concert, scheduled for June 28, will feature jazz workshop students in both small and large ensembles. All performances will be at 7:30 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Admission to the Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra and the UNCW Jazz Faculty Combo concerts is $5. The student performances are free.

The UNCW Summer Jazz Workshop, directed by Frank Bongiorno, chair of the Music Department, provides middle and high school students from throughout the state and abroad a week of intensive jazz study and interaction with the department's jazz faculty and guest artists. Students' daily schedule will include basic jazz theory and improvisation classes for beginner, intermediate and advanced practitioners; an overview of jazz history; and master classes on each instrument of the jazz ensemble.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CPA Review

Candidates for the November Uniform CPA examination can register to take the Becker Conviser CPA review, which will be offered from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, Aug. 20 through Oct. 27, in Cameron Hall. For more information on this program, sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Department of Accountancy and Business Law, call 800-443-3045 or contact Richard Roscher at ext. 3507 or visit the Web site www.beckerconviser.com.

Basketball Camps

The UNCW Men's Basketball Program will hold summer camps for boys age eight to rising high school senior June 9-13 and for boys age eight through eighth grade July 14-18. The cost is $175 per person, per camp. For more information, contact Jimmy Garity at ext. 7530.

Student Affairs Awards

Employees in the Division for Student Affairs were recognized for their service during the division's annual awards luncheon May 14. Peggy Hendrix, University Union, received the "Behind the Scenes" award; Jessica Burt, CROSSROADS, won outstanding achiever; and Judy Bowers received the Outstanding Service Award. The University Union building services staff, comprised of Jeff Lesley, Lee Pridgen, Tina Strickland and Sarah Yackly, won outstanding team. The Innovative Program award went to Alcohol Awareness Week sponsored by CROSSROADS.

SEANC Meeting

The State Employees Association of North Carolina District 62 will hold its annual meeting from 7:30 to 9 p.m. June 23 at Castle Hayne Riverside Park. A free social hour and dinner precedes the meeting at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call ext. 3623.

Pastoral Summit

Transforming churches, rebuilding trust after sexual scandals, reaching young people, reinvigorating worship – these are just a few of the topics that will be addressed at the Pastoral Summit in Indianapolis June 17-19.

The Pastoral Summit's aim is simple and straightforward – to make churches the best they can possibly be, said Paul Wilkes, founder and project director of the summit, which is based at UNCW. It works in conjunction with the Institute for Church Life at the University of Notre Dame.

"Through our workshops, worship, keynote addresses and the sheer power of committed pastors, staff and lay leaders who see the power of the local church, the Pastoral Summit offers what is best in churches across the country," said Wilkes. "What our participants take home is not just theoretical, but actually reproducible. You could call the Pastoral Summit 'one-stop shopping' for models of local church excellence."

This national conference, funded by a grant from the Lilly Endowment, will bring together Catholics and Protestants from across the country to concentrate on local churches – how to make them better and how to deal with the intractable issues with which they contend.

Conference speakers will include Donald Cozzens, best-selling author of The Changing Face of the Priesthood, and Tommy Kyllonen, also known in the Christian hip-hop world as Urban D, whose Assembly of God church in Tampa, Fla., is drawing hip-hop congregants by the hundreds and whose sanctuary is comprised of a break-dance floor, graffiti art, gel and intelligent lighting and rap mixes of popular praise and worship music.

Pastoral Summit Indianapolis is one of three national gatherings that builds upon the initial 2001 conference held in New Orleans that drew some 700 participants. Earlier this year, a conference was held in San Antonio. The third conference is set for Oct. 6-8 in Boston.

New on the Web

The Department of Social Work has redesigned its Web site. To view it, go to www.uncw.edu/swk.

Arts in Action Schedule

The 2003-04 Arts in Action Performance Series, sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, will feature the following events:

- Oct. 4 – Turtle Island String Quartet
- Oct. 18 – Blind Boys of Alabama
- Nov. 7 – Paul Winter Consort
- Jan. 26 – Umbilical Brothers
- Feb. 11 – Les Yeux Noirs
- March 26 – Bruce Wood Dance Co.

All performances will be at 8 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Priority seating for series subscribers will go on sale July 7. Season tickets for the public will go on sale July 28; tickets for individual events go on sale Aug. 25. For more information, call ext. 3827.

Note of Appreciation

The staff of printing services would like to thank all employees who attended its open house May 23 and congratulate the following door prize winners:

Kevin Ulmer, business applications, who won a VIP wings party for 10 at Hooters; Lisa Small, career services, dinner for two at Bennegins; Terry Blake, facilities administration, a $30 gift certificate to Applebee's Neighborhood Grill & Bar; Susan Fritzen, construction, a $25 gift certificate to Romanelli's donated by B.W. Wilson Paper Co.; Linda Wright, university police, dinner for two at Perkins; Crystal Greene, Cameron School of Business, two buffet dinners at Golden Corral; Bonnie Clements, facilities administration, a selection of Christmas gift wrap donated by Xpedx; Robin Bell, campus recreation, dinner at K&W Cafeteria; Vince Mannella, construction services, a cheese ball and dish donated by Xpedx; and Amanda Rose, purchasing, lunch at the Hawk's Nest.

Landfall Grants

The Landfall Foundation is accepting applications from nonprofit organizations and agencies for its 2003-04 funding cycle. Grants range from $500 to $3,000.

Application guidelines and forms are available on the Web at www.landfallfoundation.org or can be requested by writing the foundation in care of 2009 Spanish Wells Drive. The deadline to submit four copies of the application is 5 p.m. July 11.

Agencies are allowed to submit one application per entity. To comply with this guideline, the following process was established for UNCW proposals.

Applicants should submit a one-page summary of their project along with an estimated grant amount to the Office of the Chancellor by 5 p.m. June 20. The chancellor will review summaries and select the single concept for submission to the Landfall Foundation. Applicants will be notified of this selection by June 30. This will provide the author of the selected proposal time to complete the formal application, which must be submitted to the Office of Sponsored Programs for internal routing and review prior to its submission to the Landfall Foundation.

Kayak Clinics

The Discover Outdoor Center will hold clinics on kayak basics June 8 and 29 and kayak roll clinics on June 15 and July 13. Attendance is $7 per person, per clinic. To register, call ext. 4052.

SUMMER ADS

For rent: 2BR, two-bath town house in Merestone. All appliances. New carpet and paint. $750 per month plus deposit. Call 799-9854.

For sale: 4BR, two-and-a-half bath home. 126 Chelsea Lane. Fenced yard, two-car garage. Excellent condition. $199,900. Call 470-0900 or 799-1389.

Wanted: Phonograph player for 33rpm records. Call 452-4923 before June 2.

For sale: Commercial riding mower with 46-inch cutting path and 18.5 HP engine, $500. Camcorder with bag, charger and tripod, $150. 1973 Ford tractor with four attachments, $6,500. Nordic Flex Gold with attachments, $150. All items in great condition. Call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: Murray push mower with a 21-inch cutting path, 3.5 HP engine and rear collection bag. Good condition. $100. Call Ned at ext. 3453 or 791-7868.

For sale: Adorable baby bunnies, ready for new homes. Call M. J. at ext. 3809 or 793-9916.

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in the 2003-04 class of Leadership Wilmington, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213, or download the insert from the Web site www.uncw.edu/news/communique/2003/may/29/leadership\_wilmington.pdf.

Men's Soccer Camps

The UNCW Men's Soccer Program will hold day camps for boys ages five to 14 June 9-13 and July 14-18 and a residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 25-29. For more information, contact Jeremy Wisdo at ext. 3044.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Mike Perko, health and applied human sciences, was a guest on ESPN's Outside the Lines Nightly. His segment, which aired live May 20, focused on the dietary supplement ephedra which has been linked to several deaths among athletes at the high school, college and professional level.

Steven Miller, CMS/NURC, received $2,554,233 from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for annual funding for the center.

Young Writers Workshop

The Creative Writing Department will hold its second annual Young Writers' Workshop June 24-28. Designed for 10th- to 12th-grade students, the workshop will provide five days of intensive writing study and interaction with department faculty, graduate students and guest authors. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. The cost is $325 which includes tuition, housing and three daily meals. For more information, call ext. 7063.

Seahawk Club Golf Tournament

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Proceeds benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

Paul Wilkes, English, co-edited Best Practices from America's Best Churches, a collection of essays based on talks given at the 2001 Pastoral Summit, a conference held in New Orleans that brought together Protestants and Catholics from across the country to talk about issues facing their local churches. Essay topics include transforming uninvolved churchgoers into enthusiastic lay leaders; encouraging church members to tithe time, talents and resources; and preventing burnout among pastors and lay leaders. Marty Minchin, a former lecturer in English, co-edited the work, published by Paulist Press.

Robert Kieber, chemistry, received $11,160 in supplemental funding from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Increasing Ammonium Concentration in the Cape Fear River Estuary: Where Is It Coming From?"

Ann Pabst, William McLellan and Erin Meagher, biological sciences, received $34,393 from Mote to investigate season patterns in thermoregulatory function in bottlenose dolphins.

Farewell Reception

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies will host a farewell reception for Vice Chancellor Michelle R. Howard-Vital from 3 to 5 p.m. June 2 in the University Union Living Room. Howard-Vital, who joined UNCW in October 1993, accepted the position of associate vice president for academic affairs in the UNC Office of the President.

IACUC Protocols

The UNCW Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee will meet at 3 p.m. June 12 in Alderman Hall, Room 215, to review protocols that involve vertebrate animals. Faculty, staff and students planning research or teaching classes that use animals must submit signed protocols for new or continuing projects to the Office of Sponsored Programs by June 5. Electronic protocols and their accompanying signed originals not received by the deadline will not be reviewed at this meeting.

A protocol form in MS Word format is available from the Web site www.uncwil.edu/ora/forms.htm. E-mail completed forms as attachments to Tiffany Mattson at mattson.t. Send a signed copy via campus mail to sponsored program. Direct questions to ext. 7774.

Human and Animal Safety

The Office of Sponsored Programs will host the workshop "Compliance: Human, Animal, Safety" from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. June 4 in the University Union, Room 105. Tiffany Mattson, regulatory compliance officer, and Stan Harts, director of environmental health and safety, will discuss federal and state regulations and institutional policies regarding conducting research responsibly. To register, e-mail Michelle Starks at starksm.

Retirement Reception

The Office of the Chancellor will host a retirement reception for Robert Fry, assistant to the chancellor for planning, from 3 to 5 p.m. May 29 in the University Union Living Room. Fry is retiring after 30 years of service.

Staff Award of Excellence

June 18 is the deadline to submit nominations for the UNCW Staff Award of Excellence. Permanent career SPA or 12-month EPA employees are eligible for nomination in the following categories: outstanding state service, innovations, safety and heroism, human relations and public service.

The 2003 recipient will be named during the annual service awards luncheon, which is scheduled for noon Aug. 7 in the Warwick Center. The location for the luncheon is a change from its traditional setting in Wagoner Hall due to scheduled renovations.

Staff Award of Excellence recipients receive a $1,500 check presented on behalf of the Board of Trustees, a reserved parking space for one year and three days of vacation leave. Nomination forms are available from human resources.

Fall Electronic Reserves

To comply with copyright guidelines, all reserve material was taken off line at the end of the spring semester. Faculty who plan to re-use reserve readings for the fall semester, must e-mail a list of titles, along with course numbers, to John Osinski at osinskij. New readings should be sent, with complete bibliographic citations, no later than July 15, to ensure that they are online for the start of classes. Requests will be processed in the order received.

Shared Leave

David Kidd, physical plant; Melanie Kelley and Tracey Rackley, university police; and Diane Reed, career services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

To donate leave, submit an application for leave form (HR2.10L), check the "donated leave" space, and include the recipient's name and department. Indicate the number of vacation hours being donated, and sign and date the form. A supervisor's signature is also required.

Staff Training

Situational Leadership, 9 to 11:30 a.m. June 3.

Write to the Point, 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. June 4.

Refer to the Staff Training and Development Booklet for registration information.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23181 Asst. Dir., Advancement Services	May 30
23189 Marine Trades Specialist	June 2
23190 Laboratory and Environment Safety Officer	June 3
23191 Program Assistant IV	June 2
23192 Telecom. Technician	June 2
23194 Accounting Specialist I	June 6
23195 Work Order Clerk	June 6
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Randall Library Exhibit Honors Retiring Chancellor

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Opening Doors, Opening Minds: The Legacy of Chancellor James R. Leutze" in its main exhibit case. The display includes artifacts, photos and a short film about Leutze and his roles as teacher, researcher, administrator and community leader.

Girl's Basketball Camps

The Women's Basketball Program will hold summer day camps for girls ages eight to 15 June 23-26 and July 28-31. Employee discounts are available. For more information, call ext. 3418.

Crews Award Deadline

June 15 is the deadline for nominations for the 2003 J. Marshall Crews Distinguished Faculty Award, sponsored by the UNCW Alumni Association. It recognizes faculty who have made a difference in the lives of their students.

Nomination forms can be downloaded in PDF format from Web site www.uncwil.edu/alumni.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 43 June 5, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

Creative Writing Receives National Grant to Promote Literacy

Imaginative children should make for better readers and in turn better learners. The Creative Writing Department plans to test this hypothesis through the project "Community Creativity: Closing the Achievement Gap."

Using a $10,000 grant from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, creative writing faculty and graduate students will work with low-income children and their families to improve literacy. UNCW's proposal is one of nine from across the country to receive funding.

"Our goal is to instill a sense of fun, exploration and pleasure in the learning process," said Mark Cox, creative writing chair and co-author of the grant. Starting this fall and working in conjunction with the Parenting Place of the Exchange Clubs, the Southeastern Alliance for Community Change (SACC), the Cape Fear Literacy Center, the Student Coalition for Adult Literacy Education and the Boys Club, Cox said his department will conduct weekly workshops for up to 70 children to improve their literacy level. They will use activities such as storytelling, reading, writing and imaginative play, which will be geared for children ages three to 10. Graduate students, who will conduct the workshops, will benefit through the opportunity to design and teach curricula promoting literacy.

"This initiative owes a great deal to Naomi Swinton, one of our graduate students, and the board chair of the SACC," said Cox. "Our hope is that these activities will strike a chord in these children and encourage them to continue to read and learn."

The department will also conduct monthly "Families Create" sessions. These three-hour workshops, held with the oversight and expertise of parent educators and local literacy groups, will help parents learn motivational and instructional skills to involve their children in the learning process, Cox stated.

"We want parents to understand that learning to read and write at an early age is important. Numerous studies indicate that children whose parents promoted reading and writing at an early age achieved more success later in life," said Cox.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, based in Princeton, N.J., has its origins in a program that began in 1946 and helped create a generation of college teachers and intellectual leaders. Today, the foundation funds programs that promote a renaissance for liberal arts and sciences in higher education, liberal arts-based partnerships between schools and universities that bridge their historical divide or initiatives to increase access to educational opportunities for all.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

UNCW Wins Statewide SECC Award

UNCW received the State Employees Combined Campaign (SECC) Chairman's STAR Award. The honor recognizes agencies who helped employees to better understand the SECC through innovative publicity, communications, special events or audio/visual programs. UNCW was the only state agency given the award. Margaret Bailey, public service and continuing studies, accepted the honor on behalf of the university.

UNCW's campaign, which was chaired by Michelle Howard-Vital, vice chancellor for the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies, ran Sept. 27 through Nov. 1. It raised more than $55,000. The division hosted an informational Web site about the SECC, and contributors were eligible for weekly drawings.

Bailey (right) accepts Chairman's Award.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Public Service Promotion

Harold "Hunter" Thompson is assistant vice chancellor for public service in the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies. Thompson, who has been with the division for more than eight years, is also co-host of Community Link, an interactive public affairs show produced by UNCW-TV.

Thompson serves on numerous public service boards locally and statewide including the Cape Fear Regional Partnership Network, the Council of Neighborhood Associations and the N.C. Board of Public Telecommunications Commissioners. He is also director of the Southeast Public Interest Network of North Carolina, a community-based public interest network designed to help people gather and share information in an 11-county region.

Yoga Classes

Campus recreation will offer yoga classes from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Mondays and 5:45 to 7 p.m. Wednesdays June 9 through July 30 in the aerobics room of the Student Recreation Center. For more information, call ext. 4168.

More Aqua Fitness

Due to increased interest, campus recreation is adding a second aqua fitness class. This new course will be held from 5:15 to 6 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at the natatorium in Hanover Hall. A Monday/Wednesday class is held at the same time and location. For more information, call ext. 4168.

Group Exercise

Campus recreation will offer the following aerobics classes from noon to 1 p.m. at the Student Recreation Center:

Monday	Step and Sculpt
Tuesday	Total Body
	Conditioning
Wednesday	Step and Slide
Thursday	Total Body
	Conditioning

For more information, call ext. 4168.

Summer Hours for Campus Dining Facilities

The Hawk's Nest will observe the following summer schedule:

Monday through Thursday	7:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.
Friday	7:15 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.
Saturday and Sunday	10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Java City Coffee Bar in Randall Library will operate:

Monday through Thursday	8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Friday	8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Seahawk Station convenience store in Apartment M will observe the following hours:

Sunday through Thursday	2 to 9 p.m.
-------------------------	-------------

Jazz Concerts

The UNCW Department of Music is sponsoring a series of concerts as part of its Summer Jazz Workshop scheduled for June 22-28.

The Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra will present the first concert in the series on June 23; a performance by the UNCW Jazz Faculty Combo is set for June 24. The final concert, scheduled for June 28, will feature jazz workshop students in both small and large ensembles. All performances will be at 7:30 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Admission to the Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra and the UNCW Jazz Faculty Combo concerts is $5. The student performances are free.

CPA Review

Candidates for the November Uniform CPA examination can register to take the Becker Conviser CPA review, which will be offered from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, Aug. 20 through Oct. 27, in Cameron Hall. For more information on this program, sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Department of Accountancy and Business Law, call 800-443-3045, contact Richard Roscher at ext. 3507 or visit the Web site www.beckerconviser.com.

SEANC Meeting

The State Employees Association of North Carolina District 62 will hold its annual meeting from 7:30 to 9 p.m. June 23 at Castle Hayne Riverside Park. A free social hour and dinner precedes the meeting at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call ext. 3623.

Basketball Camps

The UNCW Men's Basketball Program will hold summer camps for boys age eight to rising high school senior June 9-13 and for boys age eight through eighth grade July 14-18. The cost is $175 per person, per camp. For more information, contact Jimmy Garrity at ext. 7530.

Arts in Action Schedule

The 2003-04 Arts in Action Performance Series, sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, will feature the following events:

- Oct. 4 – Turtle Island String Quartet
- Oct. 18 – Blind Boys of Alabama
- Nov. 7 – Paul Winter Consort
- Jan. 26 – Umbilical Brothers
- Feb. 11 – Les Yeux Noirs
- March 26 – Bruce Wood Dance Co.

All performances will be at 8 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Priority seating for series subscribers will go on sale July 7. Season tickets for the public will go on sale July 28; tickets for individual events go on sale Aug. 25. For more information, call ext. 3827.

Senior Pageant

The Ms. North Carolina Senior America pageant is accepting applications from women ages 60 and older who are interested in competing. Contestants will be judged on philosophy of life, evening gown and talent. The pageant will be held at 6 p.m. Aug. 2 at Roland-Grise Middle School. For more information, call 792-6886. The application deadline is June 30.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Helena Lee, campus diversity, received a letter of appreciation from the Family and Neighborhoods Institute of North Carolina for her assistance in recruiting 13 UNCW students to serve as mentors for the institute's Rhodes Scholar Afterschool Academic Enrichment Program. From November to May, volunteers Khalil Clette, Jerrod Copeland, Angelique Cortes, John Deberry, Britanni Ellerby, Chris Frederick, Crystal Harris, Jessica Jones, Paula King, Carlo Laurore, Thomasine Lewis, Jamie Owens and Demetrius Sidberry helped approximately 25 third-, fourth- and fifth-grade students improve their reading and math skills in preparation for end-of-grade testing.

Martin Posey and Troy Alphin, biological sciences, received $32,544 in supplemental funding from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Oyster Reefs as Fisheries Habitat: The Influence of Edge Characteristics and Vertical Complexity."

Wade Watanabe, CMS, received $14,128 in supplemental funding from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Aquaculture of Southern Flounder: Improved Fingerling Production and Development of Growout Technology."

Wilson Freshwater, CMS, received $15,157 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Identification, Distribution and Seasonality of a Gracilaria Species that Is Hampering Commercial Fishing Operations in Southeastern North Carolina."

Joseph Pawlik, biological sciences, received $23,456 from NURC/UNCW for the project "Ecology of Caribbean Sponges."

Alina Szmant, biological sciences, received $70,791 from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for the project "Seeding of Wellwood Restoration Site with Larvae of Montastraea faveolata and Monitoring of Spat Survivorship."

Carol Pendergast, art and theatre and communication studies, served as a visiting professor at the University of Florida, Gainesville, in May, where she taught an intensive workshop in voice, speech and Shakespeare for MFA students in the Department of Theatre and Dance.

Katherine Bruce, honors scholars, and Midori Albert, anthropology, had the work "Introducing the Video Web-board as a Technologic Enhancement to Your Honors Course" published in the Journal of the National Collegiate Honors Council, vol. 3, no. 2.

Robert Kieber, Joan Willey and Stephen Skrabal, chemistry, received $155,068 in supplemental funding from the National Science Foundation for the project "RUI: Iron Speciation in Rainwater - The Influence of Organic Complexation, Photochemistry and Redox-active Trace Constituents."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Young Writers' Workshop

The Creative Writing Department will hold its second annual Young Writers' Workshop June 24-28. Designed for 10th- to 12th-grade students, the workshop will provide five days of intensive writing study and interaction with department faculty, graduate students and guest authors. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. The cost is $325 which includes tuition, housing and three daily meals. For more information, call ext. 7063.

Leadership Wilmington

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in the 2003-04 class of Leadership Wilmington, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213, or download the insert from the Web site www.uncw.edu/news/communique/2003/june/5/leadership\_wilmington.pdf.

Seahawk Club Golf Tournament

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Proceeds benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

Men's Soccer Camps

The UNCW Men's Soccer Program will hold day camps for boys ages five to 14 June 9-13 and July 14-18 and a residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 25-29. For more information, contact Jeremy Wisdo at ext. 3044.

Landfall Foundation Seeking Grant Applicants; Guidelines Established for Single UNCW Submission

The Landfall Foundation is accepting applications from nonprofit organizations and agencies for its 2003-04 funding cycle. Grants range from $500 to $3,000.

Application guidelines and forms are available on the Web at www.landfallfoundation.org or can be requested by writing the foundation in care of 2009 Spanish Wells Drive. The deadline to submit four copies of the application is 5 p.m. July 11.

Agencies are allowed to submit one application per entity. To comply with this guideline, the following process was established for UNCW proposals.

Applicants should submit a one-page summary of their project along with an estimated grant amount to the Office of the Chancellor by 5 p.m. June 20. The chancellor will review summaries and select the single concept for submission to the Landfall Foundation. Applicants will be notified of this selection by June 30. This will provide the author of the selected proposal time to complete the formal application, which must be submitted to the Office of Sponsored Programs for internal routing and review prior to its submission to the Landfall Foundation.

CAS Personnel Changes

Effective July 1, Richard Laws will be chair of the Department of Earth Sciences. Patricia Kelley, who served as chair for the past six years, will return to teaching in the department.

R. Dale McCall will succeed James Sabella as director of the Anthropology Program, effective Aug. 1.

New Work Order E-mail

Effective June 1, physical plant work order requests can be e-mailed to ppwork@uncw.edu. Requests can also be phoned in to ext. 3101.

Petty Cash Forms

Petty cash reimbursement forms are available in PDF format at the Web site www.uncwil.edu/sp/admproc/Csh120.htm. Forms can be filled out through the Web and printed for signatures.

Fixed Assets Inventories

Approved and verified departmental inventory printouts were due in fixed assets May 30. Offices and departments with outstanding printouts should complete and submit them as soon as possible. Direct questions to Carol Sgambati at ext. 3875.

IACUC Protocols

The UNCW Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee will meet at 3 p.m. June 12 in Alderman Hall, Room 215, to review protocols that involve vertebrate animals. Faculty, staff and students planning research or teaching classes that use animals must submit signed protocols for new or continuing projects to the Office of Sponsored Programs by June 5. Electronic protocols and their accompanying signed originals not received by the deadline will not be reviewed at this meeting.

A protocol form in MS Word format is available from the Web site www.uncwil.edu/ora/forms.htm. E-mail completed forms as attachments to Tiffany Mattson at mattson. Send a signed copy via campus mail to sponsored programs. Direct questions to ext. 7774.

End-of-Year Deadlines

Interdepartmental invoices to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received in accounting by June 23. Direct questions to Teri Riddle at ext. 3150.

Travel reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be finalized and received by the travel office by June 27.

Check requests to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by June 27 in accounts payable.

All petty cash reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by noon June 27 in the cashier's office.

2003-04 Fiscal Year Travel

Travel that will occur after July 1 can be entered in the E-Travel system starting July 7.

Randall Library Exhibit Honors Retiring Chancellor

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Opening Doors, Opening Minds: The Legacy of Chancellor James R. Leutze" in its main exhibit case. The display includes artifacts, photos and a short film about Leutze and his roles as teacher, researcher, administrator and community leader.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Kea Foreman, CMS/NURC; Gleana Pate, dean of students office; Megan Porter, curricular studies; and April Stephens, athletics.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23194 Accounting Specialist I	June 6
23195 Work Order Clerk	June 6
23196 Accounting Specialist I	June 13

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Shared Leave

David Kidd, physical plant; Tracey Rackley, university police; and Diane Reed, career services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Girl's Basketball Camps

The Women's Basketball Program will hold summer day camps for girls ages eight to 15 June 23-26 and July 28-31. Employee discounts are available. For more information, call ext. 3418.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: 2001 GMC 1500 Sierra SLT, four-door extended cab. White, V-8 automatic, Z71, four-wheel drive. CD player, power windows and doors. 27,000 miles. Call 371-2692.

For sale: 1983 Honda Nighthawk 650 motorcycle. $990. Very good condition. 24,000 miles. Call John at ext. 7312.

For sale: Orange tabby, four years old, very sweet. Owner leaving country and must find quiet, loving home. $20. Call Jennings at 452-2335.

For sale: 2000 Hyundai wagon. Automatic transmission. Air conditioning. Clean; excellent running condition. $2,700 or best offer. Call 755-5466.

For sale: Sony camcorder with bag, charger and tripod, $150. 1973 Ford tractor with four attachments, $6,500. Auto speaker, $25. All in great condition. Call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: 3BR home in the Town Creek area of Brunswick County. Call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: Governors Collection 30x60-inch cherry desk with navy leather chair. Excellent condition. $600. Call 686-1792.

For lease: 3BR, two-and-a-half bath Ashton town home. End unit. Available June 15. $1,200 per month. Security deposit required. Call 262-0213.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 44 June 12, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

School of Nursing Receives Funding to Operate Bolton Center

Congressman Mike McIntyre (D-NC, 7th District) presented the UNCW School of Nursing a check for $570,000 June 9 to operate the Bolton Health and Wellness Center.

Rep. McIntyre (left) points to a rendering of what the Bolton Health and Wellness Center will look like when construction is complete.

The funding includes $400,000 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services that was appropriated as part of the 2003 budget bill. It will staff, equip and supply the center for one year. In 2000, UNCW received $170,000 for construction of the 2,000-square-foot facility.

The center, which is expected to be completed by September, will consist of four examination rooms. Its 10-member staff will include nurse practitioners, social workers and clerical and billing personnel as well as students from the university's School of Nursing and the Department of Social Work.

Virginia Adams, dean of the School of Nursing, said the funding "will help the university achieve its mission of engaging in community partnerships as well as enable the school to develop meaningful strategies to address particular health issues in our communities."

The Bolton Health and Wellness Center is a collaborative effort to improve the health of citizens in these rural communities, said Perri Bomar, associate dean for research and community partnerships at the School of Nursing.

"Our goal is to teach people how to live and be well. At the same time, university students will gain some exposure of the various health issues that affect populations who live in a rural setting," Bomar said.

UNCW faculty and students from academic disciplines such as nursing, education, gerontology, sociology, social work and health and applied human sciences will conduct hands-on service learning opportunities at the center related to health education and promotion, community and diversity.

"This (health and wellness center) is a major victory for the families in our area who deserve quality health care," said McIntyre. "These funds will play an important role in making health care services more affordable and accessible. I look forward to working with UNCW and these communities on this important initiative to expand rural health care."

The School of Nursing will operate the center in collaboration with a 15-member advisory board that includes representatives from Bolton, Sandyfield, the Waccamaw-Siouan Tribal Council and UNC Wilmington.

Jazz Concerts Set

The Department of Music is sponsoring a series of concerts as part of its Summer Jazz Workshop scheduled for June 22-28.

The Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra will present the first concert in the series on June 23; a performance by the UNCW Jazz Faculty Combo is set for June 24. The final concert, scheduled for June 28, will feature jazz workshop students in both small and large ensembles. All performances will be at 7:30 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Admission to the Cape Fear Jazz Orchestra and the UNCW Jazz Faculty Combo concerts is $5. The student performances are free.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Involvement Carnival

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center is soliciting departments and offices interested in participating in its annual Involvement Carnival, which is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Aug. 27 on the Campus Commons. The event is designed to provide new and returning students an awareness of activities available on and off campus. Student organizations as well as area churches, community service agencies and businesses are expected to attend.

Departments and offices interested in participating should e-mail their department name and contact information to activities@uncw.edu. Include promotional material(s) that will be distributed and any special requirements to operate a booth.

For more information, contact Faydra Stratton at ext. 7601.

MarineQuest Scholarships

UNCW's MarineQuest Summer Sea Day Camp is offering 10 scholarships for financially challenged students who meet the state school system's financial aid criteria. The camp, geared for children ages seven to 11, focuses on marine science and environmental studies. Scholarship recipients can attend camps scheduled for July 28 to Aug. 1 or Aug. 4-8. Sessions will be held from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The scholarship deadline is July 15. For more information, call ext. 2386.

Trustee Featured

Krista Tillman, a member of the UNCW Board of Trustees, is featured in the June issue of North Carolina magazine, published by North Carolina Citizens for Business and Industry.

Note of Appreciation

Sandy Easley, accounts payable, would like to express her appreciation for the "prayers, calls, cards and plants that I received during the loss of my father-in-law."

New on the Web

The Department of English has redesigned its Web site. To view it, go to www.uncw.edu/english.

Physical Plant Assisting Injured Co-worker

Physical plant employees are sponsoring a food drive and raffle to assist co-worker David Wuske, who was injured in a car accident.

Raffle tickets are $1, and the winner will receive a DVD player. The drawing will be July 1; entrants need not be present to win. For more information, call ext. 3582.

Staff Award of Excellence

June 18 is the deadline to submit nominations for the UNCW Staff Award of Excellence. Each year, the university selects an outstanding staff employee who exemplifies service to the campus or community. Permanent career SPA or 12-month EPA employees are eligible for nomination in the following categories: outstanding state service, innovations, safety and heroism, human relations and public service. The 2003 recipient will be announced during the annual service awards luncheon, scheduled for noon Aug. 7. It will be held in the Warwick Center instead of Wagoner Hall due to renovations to the dining facility. Nomination forms are available from human resources.

Seahawk Club Golf Tournament

The annual Seahawk Club Golf Challenge will be held June 23 at River Landing Golf Course in Wallace. Proceeds benefit student-athlete scholarships. For more information, contact April Stephens at ext. 7737.

Men's Soccer Camps

The UNCW Men's Soccer Program will hold day camps for boys ages five to 14 July 14-18 and a residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 25-29. For more information, contact Jeremy Wisdo at ext. 3044.

SEANC Meeting

The State Employees Association of North Carolina District 62 will hold its annual meeting from 7:30 to 9 p.m. June 23 at Castle Hayne Riverside Park. A free social hour and dinner precedes the meeting at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call ext. 3623.

Girls Soccer Camps

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a junior day camp for girls ages five to 14 June 23-27 and a senior residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 19-23. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairney at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

Discount Coupons

Discount coupons for admission to King's Dominion theme park are available in human resources. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Arts in Action Schedule

The 2003-04 Arts in Action Performance Series, sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, will feature the following events:

- Oct. 4 – Turtle Island String Quartet
- Oct. 18 – Blind Boys of Alabama
- Nov. 7 – Paul Winter Consort
- Jan. 26 – Umbilical Brothers
- Feb. 5 – N.C. Jazz Festival Preview
- Feb. 11 – Les Yeux Noirs
- March 26 – Bruce Wood Dance Co.
- April 17 – Sam Bush

All performances will be at 8 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. The Feb. 5 event is sponsored in conjunction with N.C. Jazz Festival Inc. and the Music Department. The April 17 concert is co-sponsored by the Thalian Hall Center for the Performing Arts.

Priority seating for series subscribers will go on sale July 7. Season tickets for the public will go on sale July 28; tickets for individual events go on sale Aug. 25. For more information, call ext. 3827.

Randall Library Exhibit Honors Retiring Chancellor

Randall Library is hosting the exhibit "Opening Doors, Opening Minds: The Legacy of Chancellor James R. Leutez" in its main exhibit case. The display includes artifacts, photos and a short film about Leutez and his roles as teacher, researcher, administrator and community leader.

Summer Hours for Campus Dining Facilities

The Hawk's Nest will observe the following summer schedule:

Monday through Thursday	7:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.
Friday	7:15 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.
Saturday and Sunday	10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Java City Coffee Bar in Randall Library will operate:

Monday through Thursday	8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Friday	8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Seahawk Station convenience store in Apartment M will observe the following hours:

Sunday through Thursday	2 to 9 p.m.
-------------------------	-------------

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

James Merritt and Spencer Rogers, CMS, received $196,983 in supplemental funding from N.C. Sea Grant to coordinate and implement a Sea Grant extension program.

Ned Martin, chemistry, gave the talk "An Analysis of Computational Probes of Through-space Magnetic Shielding" at the Southeast Theoretical Chemistry Association annual meeting in Clemson, S.C.

James Reeves, chemistry, received $30,737 in supplemental funding from the University of Colorado at Denver for the project "Anytime, Anywhere Chemistry."

Troy Alphin, Martin Posey and Ami Wilbur, biological sciences, received $43,350 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Evaluation of Stock Differentiation of the Eastern Oyster (Crassostrea virginica) in North Carolina."

Wade Watanabe, CMS, received $49,937 from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Advancing Black Sea Bass Aquaculture in North Carolina: Developing Grow-out Technologies for Hatchery-reared Fingerlings and Intensifying On-growing of Captive Wild Stock in Recirculating Tank Systems."

Laela Sayigh and Alessandro Bocconcelli, biological sciences and CMS, received $16,800 in supplemental funding from Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution for a marine mammal monitoring project.

David La Vere, history, wrote nine articles that are featured in the June issue of Our State magazine. The stories are part of the series "Spanning the Decades," which takes a look at 70 years of notable people, places and defining events since the magazine's founding in June 1933.

Martin Posey and Troy Alphin, biological sciences, received $18,614 in supplemental funding from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Oyster Reefs as Fisheries Habitat: The Influence of Edge Characteristics and Vertical Complexity."

Robert Kieber, Joan Willey and Stephen Skrabal, chemistry, received $18,614 in supplemental funding from N.C. Sea Grant for the project "Increasing Ammonium Concentrations in the Cape Fear River Estuary: Where Is It Coming From?"

Stephen Meinhold, political science, received $9,570 in supplemental funding from the UNC Office of the President to create a database of information on UNC faculty who have expertise in natural and technological disasters.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: 70x42-inch glass-top dining table with stone base and six upholstered chairs, $600. Large wooden chest with hand-painted rabbit on top, $200. Glass-top end table with stone base, $50. Contact Dianne at ext. 3822.

For rent: 2BR, two-bath home with large yard and deck in downtown Wilmington. Brand new. Open floor plan. $825 per month. Call Judy at ext. 3089, 681-0859 or 228-8724.

For sale: Raffle tickets benefiting the Pender County Humane Society. $100 donation buys a chance to win $2,500, $1,000 or $500. Only 300 tickets will be sold. E-mail Mary Forsythe at forsythem.

For sale: Two-piece china hutch with matching server. Cherry finish. Collectible Barbies and Hallmark ornaments from 1993 to 2000. Call 845-2917.

For rent: 3BR, two-bath home in Hampstead. Screened porch, large yard. All appliances. Call 232-5519.

For sale: Murray push lawn mower with 21-inch cutting path, 3.5HP engine and collection bag. New blade and tune-up. $95. Call Ned at ext. 3453 or 791-7868.

For sale: 1973 Ford tractor with four attachments, $6,500. Auto speaker, $25. Cordless phone, $40. Call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: 3BR home in the Town Creek area of Brunswick County. To make an offer, call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: Adorable baby bunnies. Hand-raised and very affectionate. Call M.J. at ext. 3809 or 793-9916.

FRS System Down

The Financial Records System will be down July 11 and 12 to close out the 2002-03 fiscal year. E-Print will be available during this time.

New Withholding Tables

New income tax withholding tables will take effect with June paychecks. These tables resulted from the Jobs and Growth Tax Reconciliation Act signed by President Bush. Direct questions to payroll at ext. 3163.

Construction Notice

Lot A will be closed to traffic June 16-21 for construction related to the primary electrical distribution system. Relocate vehicles from this lot by June 15. Direct questions to Todd Manning at ext. 7560.

Physical Plant Retiree

Faith Joyce, physical plant, is retiring June 27. Per her request, there will not be a retirement reception. The facilities office encourages interested campus members to send Joyce best wishes via cards through campus mail or e-mail joycef.

Farewell Reception

The General College is hosting a farewell reception for Jane Scott from 3 to 5 p.m. June 17 in the University Union Living Room.

Central Stores Inventory

Central stores will close June 24-30 for fiscal year-end inventory. Call ext. 3180 or 3097 with emergency orders. Regular operations will resume July 1.

Copy Center Relocation

The Copy Center will move from Westside Hall to the Warwick Center June 16-17. It will continue to process orders during the move. Effective June 18, all orders will be produced at the Warwick Center location.

Office Relocation

Melton McLaurin's office is now in Randall Library, Room 2061. His telephone extension is 4046.

Printing Inventory

The Print Shop and Copy Center will close June 26-30 to conduct fiscal year-end inventories. Contact Mike Lloyd at ext. 3084 or Betty Moore at ext. 3289 for emergency print jobs during this period.

Copy machine operators should check their paper and toner and order adequate supplies from Ann Green at ext. 3697 prior to June 23.

Web Server Change

The Application Services Department's Appserv01 Web server will be unavailable June 26. The department is replacing this unit with a larger server. No changes will be needed to address the server which will be available June 27. This change affects the following applications: campus surveys, home page directories, Quizmaker, SIS housing, SPOT, GPA calculator, ClassList, lost alumni, financial aid, institutional research, high school mailing labels, Specfund, GDList, Outdial, HRSearch and application services projects review.

Direct questions to Jeanne Cole at ext. 3631.

Safety Move

The Department of Environmental Health and Safety has moved into new offices in Building 42, which is on the east side of the warehouse expansion on Plyler Drive.

2003-04 Fiscal Year Travel

Travel that will occur after July 1 can be entered in the E-Travel system starting July 7.

Shared Leave

Robert Kidd, physical plant; Tracey Rackley, university police; and Diane Reed, career services, need shared leave donations. Send vacation leave donations to Alice Maile in human resources.

Note of Appreciation

Mark Steelman, human resources, would like to thank the campus community for "the incredible outpouring of love and support following the death of my wife Debbie. Your expressions of sympathy through phone calls, cards, food and flowers were very much appreciated by Debbie's family and me."

Fiscal Year-end Deadlines

Interdepartmental invoices to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received in accounting by June 23. Direct questions to Teri Riddle at ext. 3150.

Travel reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be finalized and received by the travel office by June 27.

Check requests to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by June 27 in accounts payable.

All petty cash reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by noon June 27 in the cashier's office.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23196 Accounting Specialist I	June 13
23197 Associate Director for Union Business Services	June 27
23198 Accountant I	June 20
23199 Marine Specialist	June 20
23200 Police Officer I	June 20
23201 Grounds Worker	June 20
23202 General Utility Worker	June 20
Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Network Down Times

The ITSD departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance. For more information, go to the Web site www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 45 June 19, 2003

Phillip Brown, editor

UNCW, Cameron Museum Partner to Showcase Kenan Artifacts

UNC Wilmington and the Louise Wells Cameron Art Museum are working together to produce an exhibit showcasing the rich decorative history of one of the city's most well-known homes.

"Gilded Wilmington: Decorative Art from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington" will feature paintings, sculpture and furniture from Kenan House. The exhibit opens June 26 in the museum's Permanent Collection Wing.

"Gilded Wilmington" will include art and objects collected by the Kenans during the early 20th century as they traveled abroad," said Richard Sceiford, coordinator of communications and outreach for Cameron Art Museum. The display represents the pinnacle of Wilmington's Gilded Age when "families of means" traveled Europe collecting art and furnishings befitting their social status, Sceiford added.

Among the exhibition highlights will be works by Spanish, English and French artists including portraits by Sir William Beechey and Jean Marie Nattier and a sculpture by Aime Jules Dalou. Decorative works will include 18th- and 19th-century clocks, chests, desks and other items.

Located at 1705 Market Street, Kenan House was built in 1908. It was home to Sarah Graham Kenan from 1923 until her death in 1968, when it was donated to UNCW by her nephew James Graham Kenan. The official residence of the university chancellor, Kenan House will undergo major renovations during the next year.

Workers with Art Services, a Durham-based company, prepare Kenan House treasures for transport to Cameron Art Museum.

Campus Communique Holiday Schedule

Due to the Independence Day holiday, the Campus Communique will not publish July 3. The publication will resume July 10.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Lecture Series Announces 2003-04 Schedule

The 2003-04 Leadership Lecture Series, sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, will feature the following presentations:

- Sept. 22 – "The Call to Leadership" by Arianna Huffington, a syndicated columnist and political commentator. The Center for Leadership Education and Service is co-sponsoring this talk.
- Oct. 27 – "Scared Stupid: Why America Resists Media Literacy" by Douglas Rushkoff, a leading authority on the impact of technology and media on society. The Student Media Board is co-sponsoring this event.
- Jan. 22 – "Eyes on the Prize: The Truths of American Race Relations" by Juan Williams, an author and national political correspondent. The Office of Campus Diversity is sponsoring this presentation as part of its annual Martin Luther King commemoration.

see Leadership Lecture Series on Page 3

Campus Communique

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SEANC Raffle Scheduled

Win a 2003 Ford Ranger pickup truck or a 25-inch color television in a raffle sponsored by the State Employees Association of North Carolina. Tickets are $1. Proceeds will benefit the association's scholarship fund. The drawing will be held at the association's annual meeting Sept. 6. For more information, call Gloria Willis at ext. 3876.

OSP Budget Seminar

The Office of Sponsored Programs will present the seminar "Exploring the Lifecycle of Costs: Budget to Audit" from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 24 in Randall Library, Room 2044. Sandie Moore, a grants officer, will discuss issues related to the budgeting and auditing of research proposals.

Seahawk Shop Sale

The Seahawk Shop, located in the Trask Coliseum lobby, has a variety of apparel and gifts on sale. The store is open from 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Faculty and staff receive a 10 percent discount. For more information, contact Angela Pucher at ext. 7319.

Aquarius Hosting Astronauts

Aquarius, the undersea laboratory managed by NURC/UNCW, is participating in this year's NASA Extreme Environment Mission Operations (NEEMO) program. Astronauts Peggy Whitson, Clayton Anderson and Garrett Reisman along with space station support scientist Emma Hwang will live aboard Aquarius through June 29 to practice long-duration space habitation. The undersea habitat is similar to the living module of the International Space Station.

NEEMO programs are a cooperative project of the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration, NASA and NURC/UNCW. Ryan Snow and James Talacek, UNCW staff members, will lead operational support inside Aquarius during the mission.

Campus Communique Editor Leaving Position

The June 19 Campus Communique is the final issue for which Phillip Brown will serve as editor. He is relocating to Columbia to pursue a Master of Mass Communication at the University of South Carolina.

"It has been an honor and privilege to oversee the university's internal communications program," said Brown. "My six-year tenure has been marked with many challenges and opportunities, and I am confident my experiences here will prove valuable during graduate school and in my future endeavors."

Elizabeth King Humphrey will be interim editor. Humphrey earned her Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing from UNCW in May. As a graduate student, Humphrey was a member of the UNCW Publishing Lab's student advisory board and co-directed the commemorative book project honoring Chancellor James R. Leutze. Prior to graduate school, she worked for Associated Press Broadcast Technology in Washington, D.C.

As a reminder, e-mail Campus Communique submissions to communique@uncw.edu. Brown's e-mail account (brownp) will be inactive after July 1.

The Department of University Relations is hosting a farewell reception in Brown's honor from 3 to 5 p.m. June 26 in Westside Hall, Room 130.

UNCW-TV Head Resigns

Kate Walsh, director of UNCW-TV, has resigned. She is leaving the position to study in the university's Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing program.

Benefit Concert

Country artist T. Graham Brown is among the performers for the Benefit for Life concert scheduled for noon to 6 p.m. June 28 at Hugh MacRae Park. Tickets are $10 and are on sale at the Time Warner Store at Westfield Shopping Town. Proceeds benefit Lower Cape Fear Hospice. For more information, call Bob Jones at 772-5478.

Battleship Hootenanny

The third annual Battleship Hootenanny will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. June 24 at the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial.

Produced by local folk singer John Golden, the event will feature a variety of artists including Catesby Jones, the Hewletts Creek Boys, Warren Elliot and Anne Haley.

Tickets, which are $10, will be on sale at the door. Proceeds benefit the Friends of the Battleship. For more information, call 251-5797.

State Treasurer to Hold Town Hall Meetings

Westside Hall, Room 160, UNCW's distance learning classroom, is one of the host sites for an interactive town hall meeting on state and local government retirement issues.

State treasurer Richard Moore will discuss the retirement fund, cost of living adjustment and improvements to the retirement system via a video-conference at 10 a.m. June 24. The broadcast will originate from Central Piedmont Community College. For more information, contact Leah Anne Rice at 919/580-1025.

Technology Store Sale

All printers, scanners, CD burners and Zip drives along with selected computer peripherals are discounted 15 percent at the Technology Store, located in the Burney Student Center. In addition, save 25 percent on backpacks. Discounts are in effect until June 27.

Discount Coupons

Discount coupons for admission to King's Dominion theme park are available in human resources. For more information, call ext. 3160.

Osprey Web Camera

Seahawk Club member Jim Teachey is giving Web browsers an opportunity to watch a Seahawk (osprey) family grow. To check out the site, go to <http://home.ec.rr.com/ospreynest/>.

MarineQuest Scholarships

UNCW's MarineQuest Summer Sea Day Camp is offering 10 scholarships for financially challenged students who meet the state school system's financial aid criteria. The camp, geared for children ages seven to 11, focuses on marine science and environmental studies. Scholarship recipients can attend camps scheduled for July 28 to Aug. 1 or Aug. 4-8. The scholarship deadline is July 15. For more information, call ext. 2386.

SEANC Meeting

The State Employees Association of North Carolina District 62 will hold its annual meeting from 7:30 to 9 p.m. June 23 at Castle Hayne Riverside Park. A free social hour and dinner precede the meeting at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call ext. 3623.

Involvement Carnival

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center is soliciting departments and offices interested in participating in its annual Involvement Carnival, which is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Aug. 27 on the Campus Commons. The event is designed to provide new and returning students an awareness of activities available on and off campus. Student organizations as well as area churches, community service agencies and businesses are expected to attend.

Departments and offices interested in participating should e-mail their department name and contact information to activities@uncw.edu. Include promotional material(s) that will be distributed and any special requirements to operate a booth.

For more information, contact Faydra Stratton at ext. 7601.

Central Stores Inventory

Central stores will close June 24-30 for fiscal year-end inventory. Call ext. 3180 or 3097 with emergency orders.

Leadership Lecture Series continued from Page 1

- Feb. 2 – "Enhancing the Human: Genomics, Science Fiction and Ethics Collide" by Gregory Stock, a physician. The Honors Scholars Program is co-sponsoring this lecture.
- March 29 – "Globalization: The Next Phase" by Farced Zakaria, editor of Newsweek International.

All presentations are scheduled for 7 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is free for UNCW students, faculty and staff, $6 for the public. For more information, visit the Web site www.uncw.edu/stuaff/arts.

Printing Inventory

The Print Shop and Copy Center will close June 26-30 to conduct fiscal year-end inventories. Contact Mike Lloyd at ext. 3084 or Betty Moore at ext. 3289 for emergency print jobs during this period.

2003-04 Fiscal Year Travel

Travel that will occur after July 1 can be entered in the E-Travel system starting July 7.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Steven Miller, NURC/UNCW, received $7,500 in supplemental funding from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to conduct remotely operated vehicle operations at the Flower Garden Banks National Marine Sanctuary.

Eric Henry, earth sciences, had the work "Comment on Effect of Temperature on Surfactant-Driven Water Movement in Wet 'Unsaturated' Sand" published in Langmuir, vol. 19, no. 9. His co-author was James E. Smith of McMaster University.

Lavonne Adams, creative writing, had the poem "Composition" featured in the June 15 News & Observer's journal section.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: 1995 Mercury Cougar. Silver. V-8 engine. Excellent condition. $4,000. Six oak Windsor arm chairs. $300. Call ext. 3656.

For sale: 48x34x24-inch pet cage, $225. 68x44x44-inch pet cage, $425. Call 791-2443.

For sale: Princess House crystal place setting for eight, $100. Assorted serving items. Call Betty at ext. 3289 or 523-8573.

For sale: Washer and dryer. Matching set. Less than one year old. Excellent condition. $250. Call ext. 3088 or 228-8092.

For sale: 4BR, two-and-a-half bath Colonial house in Woods Edge. Approximately 2,200 square feet. Two-car garage. Call 395-2699 or ext. 4177.

For sale: 100-watt Kenwood home stereo speakers, $75. Kenwood stereo cabinet, $25. O'Neill wetsuit, $50. Call ext. 7389.

Wanted: Loving home for young, gray and possibly pregnant female tabby cat. Call Tammy at ext. 3280.

For sale: Packages of assorted-brand golf balls. Pack contains 36 balls. $10 each, six for $50 or 13 for $100. Call ext. 3774.

For sale: 2001 GMC 1500 Sierra SLT, four-door extended cab. White, V-8 automatic, Z71, four-wheel drive. Gray and black interior. CD player, power windows and doors. 27,000 miles. Call 371-2692.

For rent: 3BR, two-bath home in Hampstead. Screened porch, large yard. All appliances. Available Sept. 1. Call 232-5519.

For sale: 1973 Ford tractor with four attachments, $6,500. Auto speaker, $25. Cordless phone, $40. Call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

Mass E-mail Policy

Mass e-mail messages to employees are reserved for crisis-level announcements. The Campus Communique is the official method for employee news. It is produced Thursdays year-round except for major holidays or official closings. Departments and offices are reminded to use the Communique to disseminate news across campus. The submission deadline is noon Tuesday for that week's publication. News, official notices and announcements can be sent via e-mail to communique@uncw.edu, campus mail to Communique, Box 5993 or fax to ext. 3847.

"The Department of University Relations understands the need to keep the campus community informed of important university news and events," said Mimi Cunningham, assistant to the chancellor for university relations. "At the same time, the use of mass e-mails must be reserved for messages of the utmost importance. Bob Fry's retirement presented an opportunity to reinforce the proper use of the mass e-mail system and eliminate 'Fry-grams.' Bob received numerous complaints about e-mails that promoted events that had been featured previously in Communique. Our office is in the process of restructuring the Communique to be updated more frequently to handle time-sensitive matters."

Timekeeping Reminder

Vacation, bonus and sick leave balances are due in human resources July 2 for inclusion in the university's annual financial report. Offices and departments will receive lists to collect and report employee balances. Direct questions to JoAnn McDowell at ext. 3712.

Safety Move

The Department of Environmental Health and Safety has moved into new offices in Building 42, which is on the east side of the warehouse expansion on Plyler Drive.

Construction Notices

Traffic along Riegel Road at Price Drive will be restricted to one lane June 19 for the connection of a new water line as part of Phase II campus infrastructure improvements.

Parking spaces adjacent to Hamilton Drive in Lot A will be closed to traffic June 23-27 for construction related to the primary electrical distribution system.

Posting Grades

Faculty can post summer session I grades to SEAWEB starting at 9 a.m. June 23. All grades must be posted by 2 p.m. June 27. Direct questions to the registrar's office at ext. 3126.

Budget Office Announces Personnel Changes

Amy Gibson, budget specialist in the budget office, was promoted to accountant I. She will serve as the university's liaison to the North Carolina Accounting System. Her telephone extension remains 7407.

Judy Siko is now the budget specialist. Siko, who transferred to the office from academic affairs, will handle the day-to-day maintenance of the university budget in the Financial Records System as well as assist departments with budget matters. Her extension is 3914.

Fiscal Year-end Deadlines

Interdepartmental invoices to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received in accounting by June 23. Direct questions to Teri Riddle at ext. 3150.

Travel reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be finalized and received by the travel office by June 27.

Check requests to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by June 27 in accounts payable.

All petty cash reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by noon June 27 in the cashier's office.

FRS System Down

The Financial Records System will be down July 11 and 12 to close out the 2002-03 fiscal year. E-Print will be available during this time.

Web Server Change

The Application Services Department's Appserv01 Web server will be unavailable June 26. The department is replacing this unit with a larger server. No changes will be needed to address the server which will be available June 27. This change affects the following applications: campus surveys, home page directories, Quizmaker, SIS housing, SPOT, GPA calculator, ClassList, lost alumni, financial aid, institutional research, high school mailing labels, Specfund, GDList, Outdial, HRSearch and application services projects review. Direct questions to Jeanne Cole at ext. 3631.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Regina Anderson, Jimmy Bonds, Glenn May, Richard Reid and Steven Smith, physical plant; Kea Foreman and Rogelio Garcia, NURC; and Cathy Griffin, National Testing Program.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23197 Associate Director for Union Business Services	June 27
23198 Accountant I	June 20
23199 Marine Specialist	June 20
23200 Police Officer I	June 20
23201 Grounds Worker	June 20
23202 Gen. Utility Worker	June 20
23204 Director, UNCW-TV	June 27
23205 Director, Resources Management	June 27
23206 Painter	June 27
23207 Housekeeper	June 27

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 46 June 26, 2003

Elizabeth King Humphrey, editor

Biology Professor Accepts NSF Appointment

Pawlik

Joseph Pawlik was awarded a two-year appointment with the National Science Foundation in Washington, D.C.

Pawlik, professor of biological sciences and specialist in marine chemical ecology, is serving as the foundation's associate program director for the Biological Oceanography Program, Division of Ocean Sciences and Directorate of Geosciences.

"I'm excited about the opportunity to work with the NSF. I bring my research and teaching background to help with the evaluation of programs within the division. In turn the university will benefit from the knowledge and experience I will gain in the program and policy-level matters and issues at the federal level," Pawlik said.

As part of his responsibilities Pawlik oversees the panel that meets twice a year to grant research funding. He said this review process is very competitive with only 20 percent of proposals receiving funding.

While on assignment with the National Science Foundation, Pawlik will continue to devote time to his research at the Center for Marine Science.

New Location and Name for Copy Center

Dittos...The Copy Spot is now open in the Warwick Center (across from the student post boxes). Summer hours are 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday. Formerly the Copy Center, Dittos moved to its new location from Westside Hall. According to a Dittos representative the Warwick Center location is "more accessible for students while still centrally located for departments."

Dittos employee Laura Warren discusses a print job with a customer.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas, suggestions and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Chancellor DePaolo Welcome Breakfast

The university community is invited to a "Welcome to UNCW" breakfast for incoming Chancellor Rosemary DePaolo at 8 a.m. July 14 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Employees are encouraged to wear their nametags during the first few weeks of her tenure.

UNCW-TV Wins National Award

The UNCW-TV program Isn't It Time We Talked? won a 2003 Home-town Video Award from the Alliance for Community Media. The program, nominated in the senior-professional category, was a live call-in forum dealing with end-of-life issues. It was produced by Betty Ann Sanders,

See UNCW-TV Award on Page 3

ANNOUNCEMENTS

---

Student Jazz Concert

A free concert featuring jazz workshop students will be held at 7:30 p.m. June 28 in Kenan Auditorium.

Blood Drive

The Center for Leadership Education and Service and the American Red Cross will sponsor a blood drive from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. July 10 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. To schedule an appointment to donate, call ext. 3877.

Speakers Needed

The Student Organization Leadership Conference (SOLC) is seeking faculty and staff to lead workshops at an event scheduled Sept. 19-20. Suggested presentation topics include goal setting, fundraising, motivating members, time management and applying leadership skills in the job market. Interested faculty and staff should e-mail a proposal to activities@uncw.edu. Forms are available from the Web site www.uncw.edu/stuaff/storgs or at the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, University Union, Room 209.

Program Hosts Required

The English as a Second Language Program (ESL) is seeking faculty and staff to host an outing or dinner for Korean students attending Summer Session II. No overnight stays are expected. The program will sponsor a chance to meet the students July 8. For more details, contact Maike Walbrecht, ESL coordinator, at ext. 7354 or e-mail walbrechtm.

Burt Accepts New Position

Effective July 1, Raymond Burt, professor of German and associate dean, College of Arts and Sciences, will be assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs in the Office of the Provost.

Burt, who succeeds Melton McLaurin, will be responsible for academic policies and faculty development, as well as overseeing the Honors Scholars Program and addressing student issues for academic affairs.

Retirement Reception

The Information Technology Systems Division will host a farewell reception for Betsy Stallard, telecommunications, from 2 to 4 p.m. June 30 in the Warwick Center, Center Stage Cafe.

SEANC Raffle

Win a 2003 Ford Ranger pickup truck or a 25-inch color television in a raffle sponsored by the State Employees Association of North Carolina. Tickets are $1 and proceeds will benefit the association's scholarship fund. The drawing will be held at the SEANC annual meeting Sept. 6. For more information, call Gloria Willis at ext. 3876.

Seahawk Shop Sale

The Seahawk Shop, located in the Trask Coliseum lobby, has a variety of apparel and gifts on sale. The store is open from 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Faculty and staff receive a 10 percent discount. For more information, contact Angela Pucher at ext. 7319.

Benefit Concert

Country artist T. Graham Brown is among the performers for the Benefit for Life concert scheduled for 1 to 6 p.m. June 28 at Hugh MacRae Park. Tickets are $10 and are on sale at the Time Warner Store at Westfield Shopping Town. Proceeds benefit Lower Cape Fear Hospice. For more information, call Bob Jones at 772-5478.

Technology Store Sale

Printers, scanners, CD burners and Zip drives as well as selected computer peripherals are discounted 15 percent at the Technology Store, located in the Burney Student Center. In addition, there is a 25 percent on backpacks. Discounts are in effect until June 27.

Involvement Carnival

The Campus Activities and Involvement Center is soliciting departments and offices to participate in its annual Involvement Carnival scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Aug. 27 on the Campus Commons. The event is designed to provide new and returning students an awareness of activities available on and off campus. Student organizations as well as area churches, community service agencies and businesses are expected to attend.

University departments and offices interested in participating should e-mail their department name and contact information to activities@uncw.edu. Include promotional material being distributed and any special needs.

For more information, contact Faydra Stratton at ext. 7601.

MarineQuest Scholarships

UNCW's MarineQuest Summer Sea Day Camp is offering 10 scholarships for financially challenged students who meet the state school system's financial aid criteria. The camp, geared for children ages seven to 11, focuses on marine science and environmental studies. Scholarship recipients can attend camps scheduled for July 28 to Aug. 1 or Aug. 4-8. Sessions are held from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The scholarship deadline is July 15. For more information, call ext. 2386.

CPA Review

Candidates for the November Uniform CPA examination can register to take the Becker Conviser CPA review which will be offered from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, Aug. 20 through Oct. 27, in Cameron Hall. For more information on this program, sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Department of Accountancy and Business Law, call 800/868-3900 or contact Richard Roscher at ext. 3507 or visit the Web site www.beckerconviser.com.

Kayak Trips

The Discover Outdoor Center is sponsoring the following kayak trips:

- South River, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 28. Located in Sampson County, South River offers participants an opportunity to practice their paddling skills.
- Wrightsville Beach estuaries, 8 to 11 a.m. July 12. Paddlers will explore the estuaries off the Intracoastal Waterway.
- Hammock's Beach, 8 a.m. Aug. 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 3. Trip participants will paddle approximately two miles through the salt marsh to Bear Island and end at Hammock's Beach.

Day trips are $30 each for faculty and staff; the two-day trip is $50. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in the 2003-04 class of Leadership Wilmington, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

Sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation, the program educates participants about community challenges and needs and the dynamics of social and economic changes in the region.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213.

UNCW-TV Award continued from Page 1

directed by Kate Walsh and set up for live broadcast and production by Heidi Messina and Dustin Miller. The award will be presented in July in Tacoma, Wash. UNCW-TV is an educational television channel run under the auspices of the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies.

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Michael Mallin and James Merritt, CMS, received $16,400 from the town of Carolina Beach to conduct quarterly water sampling as part of the Lower Cape Fear River Program.

Richard Veit, English, presented "The Koran Controversy at Chapel Hill and Academic Freedom" at the annual meeting of the American Association of University Professors in Washington, D.C. At the same meeting UNC President Molly Broad received the Alexander Meiklejohn Award for Academic Freedom.

William Harris, earth science, and Karen Shafer, SMEC, received $337,728 from NSF to conduct the second installment of a three-year program with the New Hanover County Schools to improve science education in middle schools utilizing select science graduate students.

Bob Blundo and Jeanne Denny, social work, accompanied more than a dozen students to Brenton, W.Va., for one week of volunteer work with the Appalachian Service Project as part of the course Generalist Social Work in Rural Communities. Participants repaired homes and visited with locals to learn about their rural lives and culture.

Mike Mallin, CMS, and Larry Cahoon, biological sciences, published "Industrialized Animal Production - A Major Source of Nutrient and Microbial Pollution to Aquatic Ecosystems" in the journal Population and Environment.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: 1974 Triumph TR6. White with black interior. Excellent condition. $6,000. Call ext. 7446 or 313-6621.

For sale: 2000 Honda Accord LX. White, four-door, CD player and keyless entry. Great condition. Call ext. 7007.

For sale: Upright Starck piano, manufactured between 1911 and 1915. Good condition. Excellent for beginning piano student. $750. Contact Michelle at dickensm, ext. 3717 or 392-5578.

For sale: Temple Stewart maple dining room table with six chairs, two leaves and table pads. $500. Call 270-1497.

For sale: 1998 Ford Explorer. Two-door model. 84,000 miles. Automatic with overdrive, V-6 engine, power package, front and rear A/C, CD/tape deck/radio, cloth seats, luggage rack, center console with plenty of cup holders for front and rear passengers. New tires. $8,200 or best offer. Call Amy or Bob at ext. 5200 or e-mail golkpr@hotmail.com.

For sale: 1998 Ford Windstar. Light green. 87,000 miles. Excellent condition. Front and rear A/C, power windows. Serviced every 3,000 miles. $7,500. Call ext. 7136 or 686-2353.

Lost: 25-pound pug-mix dog, fawn-colored with curly tail. Last seen on campus June 12. Reward offered. Call Rick Wendt, 336/407-1862, 336/945-9112 or e-mail RBW77@aol.com.

For sale: 1991 Camaro RS. Convertible with low mileage. Mint condition. $4,500. Call 675-9224.

For sale: Ragazzi crib and matching changing table. Natural finish with amaretto trim. Excellent condition. Paid $1,300, asking $500. Rainbow Fish nursery set also available. Call 794-1412.

For sale: 1993 Jeep Cherokee. Two-wheel drive. A/C. $3,700. Call 799-8616.

Power Outage Affecting Campus Dining Services

Campus dining offices will close from 1 to 5 p.m. July 11 for a power outage associated with the Wagoner Hall renovations. Contact J.P. Fesperman at ext. 3209 with any emergency issues during this time.

July 4 Holiday Policy

July 4 is a university holiday. Employees working the summer hours schedule are entitled to eight hours of holiday time (prorated for part-time employees). Schedules should be adjusted, additional time-off scheduled, or leave used to account for eight hours of holiday time.

Supervisors should work with full-time employees scheduled to work four hours on Independence Day to arrange an additional four hours of holiday time.

Direct questions to Kim Roughton, human resources, at roughtonk.

Library Intersession and Holiday Schedule

Randall Library will observe the following intersession and holiday schedule: 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 26 and 27 and from 1 to 5 p.m. June 28 and 29 and closed on July 4 and 5.

Summer Conferences and Camps

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies will host the following camps in July: Coast Trek, OceanLab and Ocean Chemotion (commuter). In addition, the division will oversee the conferences sponsored by these organizations: AFL-CIO, Universal Cheerleaders, N.C. Baptist All-State Youth Choir, Teen Leadership, Enviro-Expedition, St. John's Baptist Church Youth Choir and National Association of Marine Educators. For more information, call ext. 3195.

2003-04 Fiscal Year Travel

Travel that will occur after July 1 can be entered in the E-Travel system starting July 7.

Year-end Purchases

June 30 is the deadline to receive orders purchased with fiscal year 2002-03 state-appropriated funds. Purchasing and central receiving will remain open the afternoon of June 27 to accept delivery of goods and applicable documentation. Offices and departments should ensure paperwork is received in purchasing by 5 p.m. June 30.

New Fiscal Year Tax Code

Effective July 1, offices and departments should use the T7 tax code for requisitions. This will adjust the sales tax rate from 6.5 to 7 percent.

Requisitioning Reminder

To create requisitions using a 5x5x object code, offices and departments should enter the account number on the line item for proper review and categorization. Direct questions to ext. 3158.

Timekeeping Note

Vacation, bonus and sick leave balances are due in human resources July 2 for inclusion in the university's annual financial report. Offices and departments will receive lists to collect and report employee balances. Direct questions to JoAnn McDowell at ext. 3712.

FRS System Down

The Financial Records System will be down July 11 and 12 to close out the 2002-03 fiscal year. E-Print will be available during this time.

Fiscal Year-end Deadlines

Travel reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be finalized and received by the travel office by June 27.

Check requests to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received in accounts payable by June 27.

All petty cash reimbursements to be paid from fiscal year 2002-03 funds must be received by noon June 27 in the cashier's office.

Members Sought

Joanne Nottingham, faculty adviser for the UNCW chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, is compiling a list of employees who are ODK members. Interested faculty and staff should contact Nottingham at ext. 3832 or e-mail nottinghamj.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23197 Associate Director for Union Business Services	June 27
23204 Director, UNCW-TV	June 27
23205 Director, Resources Management	June 27
23206 Painter	June 27
23207 Housekeeper	June 27
23208 Perkins Loan Collection Specialist	July 7
23209 Office Assistant III	July 7
23210 Enrollment Services Manager	July 7

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Network Down Times

The ITSD departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance. For more information, go to the Web site www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

Political Science Chair

Effective July 1, Tom Barth will serve as chair of the Department of Political Science. Barth replaces Milan Dluhy, who will be on an extended leave of absence.

Campus Communique Holiday Schedule

Due to the Independence Day holiday, the Campus Communique will not publish July 3. The publication will resume July 10.

CAMPUS COMMUNIQUE

THE OFFICIAL BULLETIN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT WILMINGTON

University Relations

Vol. XXXII, No. 47 July 10, 2003

Elizabeth King Humphrey, editor

Rosemary DePaolo Arrives at UNCW

Rosemary DePaolo, the third chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, began her new position on July 1. She previously served as president of Georgia College & State University.

During her six-year tenure, she led Georgia College & State University through a period of unprecedented change, including a new mission and direction as Georgia's designated public liberal arts university. Under her leadership, the university began nearly $100 million in construction and renovation projects on the Milledgeville campus.

DePaolo's efforts have garnered attention across the state and nation. In January 2001, she was named one of the 100 Most Influential Georgians by Georgia Trend magazine, and a year later, she was named one of the magazine's Most Notable Georgians. In April 2003, the Georgia Senate recognized her achievements with a resolution in her honor.

Prior to Georgia College & State University, DePaolo spent four years as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Western Carolina University. She previously spent 18 years as administrator at Georgia Southern University and as an English professor at Augusta State University.

As DePaolo assumes her new duties, she plans to tour the campus and meet members of the Wilmington and UNCW communities.

More information about Chancellor DePaolo—and how to contact her—is available at <http://www.uncw.edu/chancellor>.

Chancellor DePaolo Welcome Breakfast

Faculty and staff are invited to a "Welcome to UNCW" breakfast for incoming Chancellor Rosemary DePaolo from 8 to 9:30 a.m. July 14 in the Warwick Center Ballroom. Employees are encouraged to wear their nametags to the breakfast and during the first few weeks of her tenure.

Mark Your Calendar

Blood Drive

(details Page 2)

Leadership Wilmington

Application Deadline

(details Page 2)

Projected Parking Lot and #### Road Closures

(details Page 4)

Legislative Actions for SPA Employees

As part of its 2003 budget act, the N.C. General Assembly approved a $550 compensation bonus for SPA staff employed in permanent positions on Oct. 1, 2003. This bonus is expected to be paid on Oct. 31.

Ten days (80 hours) of bonus leave was also granted for SPA employees in leave-earning positions on July 1, 2003. Bonus leave may be used for the same purposes as vacation leave, but it may not be converted to sick leave at the end of the year. This leave will be paid in addition to the maximum of 240 hours of vacation leave at retirement or separation.

Both the compensation bonus and bonus leave are to be prorated for part-time employees.

Information will be communicated once instructions are received from the Office of the President about faculty and EPA compensation bonuses and bonus leave for EPA administrators.

At the same time, the legislature increased the employer contribution for employee medical insurance from $244.38 to $285.92 per month to ensure there would continue to be no payroll deduction for employee-only coverage. Family member coverage premiums increased by 17 percent, from $152.32 to $178.22 for employee and children; and from $365.36 to $427.48 for employee and family. The increase will be effective in September paychecks. Premiums for employees participating in medical insurance who work less than .75 FTE will increase by 17 percent. It is anticipated that there will be no changes to annual deductibles and co-pays.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Blood Drive

July 10 between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. in the Warwick Center Ballroom walk-in donors are welcome to the blood drive sponsored by the Center for Leadership Education and Service and the American Red Cross. Appointments will receive preferential service. To schedule an appointment to donate, call ext. 3877.

Speakers Needed

The Student Organization Leadership Conference is seeking faculty and staff to lead workshops at an event scheduled Sept. 19-20. Suggested presentation topics include goal setting, fundraising, motivating members, time management and applying leadership skills in the job market. Interested faculty and staff should e-mail a proposal to activities@uncw.edu. Forms are available at www.uncw.edu/stuaff/storgs or the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, University Union, Room 209.

SEANC Raffle

Win a 2003 Ford Ranger pickup truck or a 25-inch color television in a raffle sponsored by the State Employees Association of North Carolina. Tickets are $1 and proceeds will benefit the association's scholarship fund. The drawing will be held at the SEANC annual meeting Sept. 6. For more information, call Gloria Willis at ext. 3876.

CPA Review

Candidates for the November Uniform CPA examination can register to take the Becker Conviser CPA review which will be offered from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, Aug. 20 through Oct. 27, in Cameron Hall. For more information on this program, sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Department of Accountancy and Business Law, call 800/868-3900, contact Richard Roscher at ext. 3507 or visit the Web site www.beckerconviser.com.

Seahawk Shop Sale

During July, the Seahawk Shop is giving faculty and staff a 20 percent discount on men's basketball and baseball CAA and NCAA championship shirts and hats. The Seahawk Shop, located in the Trask Coliseum lobby, has a variety of apparel and gifts on sale. The store is open from 9 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday. For more information, contact Angela Pucher at ext. 7319.

MarineQuest Scholarships

UNCW's MarineQuest Summer Sea Day Camp is offering 10 scholarships for financially challenged students who meet the state school system's financial aid criteria. The camp, geared for children ages seven to 11, focuses on marine science and environmental studies. Scholarship recipients can attend camps scheduled for July 28 to Aug. 1 or Aug. 4-8. Sessions are held from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The scholarship deadline is July 15. For more information, call ext. 2386.

Girls' Basketball Camps

The Women's Basketball Program will hold summer day camps for girls ages eight to 15 July 28-31. Employee discounts are available. For more information, call ext. 3418.

Boys' Soccer Camps

The UNCW Men's Soccer Program will hold a day camp for boys ages five to 14 July 14-18 and a residential camp for ages 10 to 18 July 25-29. For more information, contact Jeremy Wisdo at ext. 3044.

Summer Soccer

The UNCW Women's Soccer Program will hold a senior residential camp for girls ages 10 to 18 July 19-23. The cost is $430 for residents, $330 for commuters. Daughters of UNCW employees receive a $25 discount. For a brochure, contact Paul Cairney at ext. 3932 or Tammy DeCesare at ext. 7033.

Kayak Trips

The Discover Outdoor Center is sponsoring the following kayak trips:

- Wrightsville Beach estuaries, 8 to 11 a.m. July 12. Paddlers will explore the estuaries off the Intracoastal Waterway.
- Brunswick River, 1 to 5 p.m. July 20. An excellent trip for people learning to paddle, this excursion will take participants through a salt marsh to Bear Island and end at Hammock's Beach.
- Hammock's Beach, 8 a.m. Aug. 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 3. Trip participants will paddle approximately two miles through the salt marsh to Bear Island and end at Hammock's Beach.

Day trips are $30 each for faculty and staff; the two-day trip is $50. For more information, call ext. 4052.

Leadership Wilmington Seeking Applicants

July 31 is the deadline to enroll in the 2003-04 class of Leadership Wilmington, a program designed to provide the region with a diverse supply of creative leaders.

Sponsored by the Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies and the Greater Wilmington Chamber Foundation, the program educates participants about community challenges and needs and the dynamics of social and economic changes in the region.

For more information, contact Diana Corbett, program manager, at 762-2611 ext. 213.

Psychology Study Subjects Sought

Earn money for participation. Must be a male between 21 and 30 years of age. For more details, contact Chris Goings ext. 7832, e-mail cdg4964@uncw.edu or visit the Social and Behavioral Sciences Building, Room 112. The study is open to the public.

SUMMER ADS

For sale: Gordon Woods, 813 Bay Blossom. Five bedroom, 2-1/2 bath, eat-in-kitchen, dining and living rooms, den, upper deck with screened-in porch, one car garage, detached garage and workshop and optional above-ground pool. Must be pre-qualified. Call Patricia at ext. 7181 or 791-5026.

For sale: Executive-style desk. Middle drawer with three left-hand drawers. Cherry wood. $250. Call ext. 2660 or 270-9796.

For sale: Brick house on tree-lined street with fenced yard. Detached two-car garage. Walking distance to UNCW. $147,900. Call 452-6366.

For sale: 1996 Jeep Grand Cherokee Limited. White. 101,000 miles. V-8 engine, leather interior, and new tires. Excellent condition. $9,000. Call ext. 7138 or 762-9073.

For sale: 1997 VW Passat GLX. Five-speed, leather, sunroof, AM/FM/CD and A/C. Excellent condition. $9,000 or best offer. Phone 452-2719.

For sale: Kayak. Sit on top style. Good condition. Paddles and seat included. Call Matt at 540-5158.

For sale: 1993 Jeep Cherokee. Automatic, power steering/brakes and A/C. $3700. Call ext. 4186.

For sale: Diamondback Viper BMX bicycle. Good condition. $95. Phone 799-3884.

For sale: 1974 Ventura 23-foot sailboat, cutter rig and trailer. Restored and upgraded. Excellent condition. $3,700. Phone 350-1161.

For sale: 1973 Ford 2000 garden tractor with four attachments. Very good condition. Call ext. 3290 or 612-6212.

For sale: 1990 Volvo 740 Turbo wagon. Automatic with third seat and luxury/power steering. Very clean and well maintained. 125,000 miles. $5,200 or best offer. Contact Dave at ext. 3434.

For sale: Aquaterra kayak. Sit on top style. Very good condition. $275 or best offer. Phone Dave at ext. 3434.

For sale: Two Lexmark color toner cartridges (12A1980). Never opened. Purchased wrong cartridge. Asking $40 each. Contact Crystal at ext. 7301.

For sale: 1998 Ford Explorer. 84,000 miles. Automatic with overdrive, V-6 engine, power package, front and rear A/C, cloth seats, luggage rack. New tires. $8,200 or best offer. E-mail Amy or Bob at golkpr@hotmail.com or call ext. 5200.

Leadership Lecture Series

The 2003-04 Leadership Lecture Series, sponsored by the Campus Activities and Involvement Center, will feature the following presentations:

Sept. 22—"The Call to Leadership" by Arianna Huffington. The Center for Leadership Education and Service is co-sponsoring this talk.

Oct. 27—"Scared Stupid: Why America Resists Media Literacy" by Douglas Rushkoff. The Student Media Board is co-sponsoring this event.

Jan. 22—"Eyes on the Prize: The Truths of American Race Relations" by Juan Williams. The Office of Campus Diversity is co-sponsoring this presentation.

Feb. 2—"Enhancing the Human: Genomics, Science Fiction and Ethics Collide" by Gregory Stock. The Honors Scholars Program is co-sponsoring this lecture.

March 29—"Globalization: The Next Phase" by Fareed Zakaria.

All presentations are scheduled for 7 p.m. in Kenan Auditorium. Admission is free for UNCW students, faculty and staff, $6 for the public. The Jan. 22 event is free to the public. For more information, contact the Campus Activities and Involvement Center at ext. 3827 or visit www.uncw.edu/stuaff/ arts. Download a flyer at <http://www.uncw.edu/news/communique/2003/jul/10/index.html>

FOCUS ON FACULTY AND STAFF

Submissions for this section are published in order received. Due to the volume of submissions, there can be a two- to three-week delay in publication. Your patience is appreciated.

Leslie Langer, SBTDC, received $2,128 from the U.S. Small Business Administration for 2003 program year funding.

Danny Edens, EH&S, has completed the Manager of Environmental Health and Safety Certification program, sponsored by NCSU, the Safety and Health Council of N.C. and the N.C. Department of Labor.

Bonnie Clements, facilities administration, received a certificate for her efforts on behalf of the SEANC Scholarship Program.

James Leutze, chancellor emeritus, appeared in Raleigh's News & Observer, "Leutze Makes UNCW Thrive," July 6.

Michael Mallin, CMS, received $15,770 from the Village of Bald Head Island to conduct pre- and post-dredging water quality studies on Bald Head Creek.

Claude Farrell, economics and finance, wrote "The National Economy: Are Tax Cuts the Answer?" for the Spring 2003 issue of Wilmington Business to Business.

Ann Pabst, Bill McLellan, and Heather Koopman, biological sciences, appear in "Swimming to Safety" in the June issue of National Geographic. Pabst contributed a photograph as well.

Mike Adams, sociology and criminal justice, appeared on MSNBC with former Congressman Joe Scarborough (R-FL) to discuss intellectual diversity in higher education.

Robert Konopaske, business, had "Travel Stress: A Model and Set of Propositions" accepted for publication in the Journal of Work and Stress.

Power Outage Affecting Campus Dining Services

Campus dining offices will close from 1 to 5 p.m. July 11 for a power outage associated with the Wagoner Hall renovations. Contact J.P. Fesperman at ext. 3209 with any emergency issues during this time.

Payroll Office Move

July 10-11 the Payroll Office will be relocating to the fieldhouse on Riegel Road, next to the new parking lot. Contact payroll staff by voicemail or e-mail during the move. Once computers and phones are working at the new location, messages will be addressed.

Welcome

Please welcome the following new employees: Lorie Anderson, John Batson and Davy Spencer, physical plant; Brian Johnson, computing services; Michael Little, A/V media services; and Kathryn Parvin, internal audit.

FRS System Down

The Financial Records System will be down July 11 and 12 to close out the 2002-03 fiscal year. E-Print will be available during this time.

About the Communique

The Campus Communique, the weekly newsletter for UNCW faculty and staff, is published Thursdays year-round except holidays and winter break.

E-mail announcements, story ideas and other submissions to communique@uncw.edu by noon Tuesday for inclusion in that week's publication. By campus mail, send to university relations, Westside Hall, Room 130, or fax to ext. 3847.

To contact the editor, call ext. 7223.

Summer Conferences and Camps

The Division for Public Service and Continuing Studies will host the following camps in July: Coast Trek, OceanLab and Ocean Chemotion (commuter). In addition, the division will oversee the conferences sponsored by these organizations: AFL-CIO, Universal Cheerleaders, N.C. Baptist All-State Youth Choir, Teen Leadership, Enviro-Expedition, St. John's Baptist Church Youth Choir and National Association of Marine Educators. For more information, call ext. 3195.

Projected Closures

Parking Lot R-2	July 11 to 12
(in front of Cameron Hall)
Parking Lot R-1	July 18 to 19
(in front of Cameron Hall)
Social and Behavioral Science Bldg.
Parking Lot	July 22 to 23
Parking Lot E	July 24 to Aug. 12
(in front of Warwick Center)
Hamilton Dr.
(from Riegel Rd. to Parking Lot E)

July 21 to 28
For more information on these closures, contact Todd Manning at ext. 7560 or e-mail manningt@uncw.edu.

Staff Vacancies

	Deadline
23211 Paralegal	July 14
23212 Capital Projects Manager	July 14
24001 Grounds Worker	July 14

Call the Jobline at ext. 3791 or visit HR's World Wide Web site for additional information or to download the state application.

Network Down Times

The ITSD Departments of Computing Services and Application Services have reserved July 19-20 and Oct. 25-26 as down times to perform network and system maintenance. For more information, go to www.uncwil.edu/das/down\_time.html.

Members Sought

Joanne Nottingham, faculty adviser for the UNCW chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, is compiling a list of employees who are ODK members. Interested faculty and staff should contact Nottingham at ext. 3832 or e-mail nottinghamj@uncw.edu.

International Program Seeks Hosts

The Office of International Programs needs hosts to assist international students acclimate to their Wilmington surroundings. Almost 90 new students, who will live in on-campus housing, are expected in the program this fall. Community members are requested to offer off-campus experiences, such as occasional meals, transportation assistance and an introduction to local sites. For more information, contact Miranda Boykin, international programs, ext. 7009 or boykinm@uncw.edu.

Upcoming Office Moves

As of July 25 the following offices will move from Westside Hall to the Friday Hall Annex, adjacent to Friday Hall: CrossRoads, Student Health, Pharmacy, Student Development, Disability Services, National Testing, Counseling Services and University Relations. Offices expect to be operational July 28.

Death Notice

A wake for Wayne C. Mitchell, physical plant housekeeper, will be held 6-8 p.m. July 11 at Adkins-Drain Funeral Home, 515 South 8th St.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. July 12 at the ILA Hall, South 5th St.

992 M1 P5608
10/20/03 47000

SC.14

RANDALL LIBRARY - UNCW

3 0490 0881183 2